Biographical History

John R. Dunne was born in Baldwin, New York on January 28, 1930. Dunne graduated from Georgetown University in 1951 and attended Yale Law School soon after. He served as a Republican member of the New York State Senate from Long Island from 1966 until retiring in 1989 to practice law.

During his time in the Senate, Dunne served as Deputy Majority Leader, Chair of the Judiciary Committee, Chair of the Insurance Committee, and Chair of the Joint Legislative Committee on Crime and Corrections. While in office, Dunne advocated for progressive social issues while working alongside other state senators to get laws and bills passed. These laws and bills can be found in Dunne's collection.

Dunne is most famously known for his involvement in the Attica prison protest in 1971 as chief negotiator and later helped to found the Prisoners' Legal Services of New York.

From 1990-1993, Dunne served as Assistant Attorney General for Civil Rights under President George H.W. Bush. He was senior counsel to the Albany-based Whiteman Osterman & Hanna law firm at the time of his death.

Dunne died on November 1, 2020 and was survived by his wife of 62 years, Denise Maher Dunne, their four children, and nine grandchildren.

Arranged alphabetically.

Scope and Contents

In this series, the topics range from abortion and education to transportation and medical treatments. The abortion files display the different opinions of senators along with Dunne's personal beliefs pertaining to the issue. The education files discuss different practices and initiatives to advance Long Island schools and school districts. The medical files discuss the requirements to receive different medical assistance programs such as Medicaid.

There is also a significant amount of correspondence contained in the series. These include requests to and from constituents to debriefs pertaining to different meetings. Researchers who are interested in both Dunne's personal and professional contacts would find correspondence files in this collection especially useful.
