Historical Note

A native of Gloversville, New York, Peter G. Pollak obtained his bachelor's degree from Oberlin College and later received his master's degree in Education in 1970 from SUNY Albany. He subsequently became a Ph. D student in Education at SUNY Albany. Pollak was active in the civil rights movement and was a VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) anti-poverty volunteer in Atlanta before coming to SUNY Albany.

While in Albany, he continued to be engaged in activism on a community and broader level. He served as managing editor of The Albany Liberator, a weekly newspaper designed to serve the needs of the city's Arbor Hill and South End communities. The publication was owned and published by The Brothers, an area civil rights group. Pollak also was a member of the Albany Region/Capital District chapter of SDS

(Students for a Democratic Society). In addition, he helped lead an unsuccessful fight to establish a day care center at the University in the early 1970s.

Following a career spent teaching, editing, and in business, Pollak became a self-published author. After living in the Capital Region of New York for decades he relocated to Elkridge, Md. for the final years of his life and died in October 2021 at age 78.
