Biographical Note

Born in Iowa, spouses Bill (1940-2019) and Kay "Andy" Spence relocated to Voorheesville, N.Y. in 1965. For decades, the two were involved with folk and traditional music in the Capital Region. In 1966, Bill and Andy joined other area folk music lovers to form an organization that would promote the singing and playing of folk music at home, which became Pickin' and Singin' Gatherin' (PSG). The first newsletter was released in May of 1967. That same year, Bill and Andy Spence attended the Fox Hollow Festival in Petersburg, N.Y. where PSG members served as volunteers. PSG helped Bob Beers, the festival's founder, clear land and build areas for the performances and activities. The Fox Hollow Festival was a weekend full of events bringing together folk artists and folk music fans to enjoy performances and vendors. In May 1972, Bob Beers died in a car accident, and, by September 1973, Andy Spence had resigned from her position on the Board of Directors for the Fox Hollow Festival.

Fox Hollow inspired Bill and Andy Spence to establish the nonprofit Old Songs, Inc. in 1977 to present folk and traditional music and dance to the public through concerts, performances, and group instruction. The first Old Songs Festival was held in 1981 in Guilderland, N.Y. before moving to the Altamont Fairgrounds the following year. Andy served as director of the festival until 2017. The festival, held each June, is the largest event conducted by the organization, drawing in thousands of folk music devotees annually for a weekend of camping, workshops, and listening to and performing folk music. In 1994, Andy was at the forefront of Old Songs' sponsorship of the construction of an 18th century style Dutch barn on the Altamont Fairgrounds to become the Center for Traditional Arts and Agriculture.

Andy Spence served as executive director of Old Songs, Inc. until 2018 when she became executive director emeritus. In 1998, Bill Spence retired from the University of New York at Albany where he worked as a specialist in television, audio, and graphic design. The two also formed Andy's Front Hall, a full-service mail-order business for selected folk music recordings, books, instruments, and accessories which they operated for decades. Bill was a musician for more than 60 years. He played banjo, guitar, and Autoharp but was best known for playing the hammered dulcimer. In 1970 he formed a string band named Fennig's All-Star String Band with musicians living in the Albany area brought together by PSG. Bill also produced some LPs. From 2008 to 2017, Andy actively created and directed local musicals, with Bill starring as one of the performers.

Bill and Andy Spence were also involved in the launching of the Hudson River Sloop "Clearwater." In 1969 and 1970, Bill served on the Board of Directors for the Hudson River Sloop Restoration Inc., and even conceived the name "Clearwater."

Bill and Andy Spence had one daughter, Hannah, a graduate of Oberlin Conservatory of Music, Oberlin, Ohio.

Content Description

The Bill and Andy Spence Papers are divided into five series: 1.) Fox Hollow, 2.) Subject Files, 3.) Pickin' and Singin' Gatherin', 4.) Old Songs Administration and 5.) Old Songs Activities. The records were originally compiled by Andy, with handwritten notes explaining the couples' relation to and the significance of organizations like Fox Hollow and the Hudson River Sloop. The collection includes flyers, newsletters, news clippings, publications, conference records, financial statements, meeting minutes, pamphlets, advertisements, correspondence, photographs, and audiovisual materials.

The bulk of the Fox Hollow materials are from Andy Spence's scrapbook on the folk festival as well as LPs. The Subject Files series deals heavily with the Spences' association with the North American Folk Music and Dance Alliance, the Hudson River Sloop "Clearwater," and arts in the New York Capital Region, as well as the musicals created and directed by Andy. Newspaper clippings saved by Andy relating to folk musicians and events are available in this series. Some folk albums and CDs retained by Andy also are part of Subject Files. Pickin' and Singin' Gatherin' is a smaller series consisting of newsletters and information on the folk music organization's events. The Old Songs Inc. materials comprise the bulk of the collection, given its founding by Bill and Andy in 1977 and Andy's executive role with the organization and the Board of Directors. The organization's administrative records include correspondence between Andy and her fellow Board members, finances, meeting minutes, emails, and reports. The Old Songs Activities series contains a large portion of information on the Old Songs Festival, including paper records, CDs, and photographs of the festival, as well as flyers from the wide variety of general events that Old Songs staged. Oversize posters from the Fox Hollow Festival and Old Songs productions are notable in the series. Maps and site plans for the Dutch barn on the Altamont Fairgrounds sponsored by Old Songs may also be of interest to researchers.

Scope and Contents

Folk music aficionados Bill and Andy Spence retained photographs, newspaper clippings, posters, schedules, flyers, and audio of the Fox Hollow Festival, of which they were involved in through their Capital District folk organization, Pick'n' and Sing'n' Gather'n' (PSG). The Beers family (Robert, Evelyne, and Martha) of Petersburg, N.Y. held the Fox Hollow Festival on their family farm celebrating the traditions of folk music and arts every year from 1966 to 1980. The Festival consisted of multiple days packed with folk singing groups, workshops, art showings, activities, entertainment, dancing, games, speakers, crafts, and special guests with camping and other site accommodations upon request. This festival served as inspiration for the Old Songs Festival created in 1981 by Andy. The passing of Robert Beers in May 1972 signaled a shift for the Fox Hollow Festival, and Bill and Andy's last year of participation was 1973. PSG were involved as volunteers with the festival from 1966 to 1973, and Andy resigned from the Fox Hollow Board of Directors in September of that same year.

This series includes Andy's scrapbook pages (the bulk of the series' contents), LPs and CDs, and black and white photographs taken by Dick Levine at the festival from 1966 to 1971. LPs of recordings from some of the festivals are included.

The biggest event held by Old Songs, Inc. was and still is the annual Old Songs Festival each June. The Old Songs Festival is a festival of folk, traditional, Celtic and world music and dance, sponsored and organized by Old Songs, Inc., bringing in musicians from around the globe. A large portion of this series is photographs and negatives from the annual festival and other performances. This festival was first held in Guilderland, N.Y. in 1981, before moving permanently to the fairgrounds in Altamont, New York the following year. Each June, thousands of folk music enthusiasts travel to the festival, often camping out, to enjoy an entire weekend of folk performances, classes, participatory workshops, dancing, crafts, games, vendors, children's activities, and food. Andy's festival planning notebooks (detailing the festival programs, guests, lodging, grounds, accommodations, etc.) are available in this series. In 1994, Old Songs embarked on a plan to sponsor the construction of an 18th century style Dutch barn on the Altamont fairgrounds to become the Center for Traditional Arts and Agriculture, with maps, site plans, and information on the old Dutch barn included here. The series contains A/V materials, including CDs, cassettes, VHS tapes, audio reels, DATs and more from the Old Songs Festivals.

Records of other activities held by Old Songs, Inc., which include band performances, musicals, instrumental classes, and dance workshops year-round, also are available in this series. Annual reports appear in this series as they list all festivals, concerts, dances, classes, camps, programs, and rentals, and not just expenses and income.
