Administrative History

Man in the Northeast is a magazine focusing on anthropological research in the Northeastern United States. Between at least 1982 and 1991, the magazine was published by the Department of Anthropology at the State University of New York at Albany, first through the Institute for Northeast Anthropology and later by the Institute for Archeological Studies. Through the period covered in this collection, Dean R. Snow of the State University of New York at Albany served as the magazine's editor.

Scope and Contents

This collection contains copies of the anthropological research magazine Man in the Northeast, covering most issues of the magazine released between 1982 and 1991. While the magazine released a number of volumes before this time, Man in the Northeast appears to have begun publishing under the auspices of the various Institutes within Albany's Department of Anthropology in the Spring of 1983. It is during this period when Man in the Northeast was published in Albany that this collection focuses upon. Currently no copies before Issue #24 or after Issue #42 are held.
