FULL PROGRAM ANNOUNCED High State, City, Federal Officials To Join Leader's Tribute To Public Aides

'CIVIL SERVICE DAY': Mayor Robert F. Wagner, left, is seen presenting Jerry Finkelstein, publisher of The Leader and the New York Law Journal, with the Mayor's proclamation that sets aside June 1 as "Civil Service Day" in New York City. The ceremony, at which Leader editor Paul Kyer was also in attendance, took place last week in City Hall. June 1 is also "Civil Service Day" at the World's Fair, a tribute to public employees being sponsored by The Leader.

"What the Public Servant Does for the Public" is the theme of Civil Service Day at the World's Fair on June 1st, sponsored by the Civil Service Leader. An elaborate program of demonstrations and exhibits will show some aspects of government service in a five-hour program beginning at 10 a.m.

A five-hour demonstration in Singer Bowl is open without charge to the public, from 10 A.M. to 3 P.M.

Reviewing the pageant will be high officials of City, State and Federal governments, as well as other dignitaries.

Following the opening ceremonies, members of the New York City Fire Department will demonstrate rescue techniques with a commentary by Fire Commissioner

Rockland Vetoes Union Request For Election

NEW CITY, May 25 — A resolution of the Board of Supervisors of Rockland County—which the Civil Service Employees Assn. had branded as "highly discriminatory" — was rescinded last week as the result of direct intervention by the Employees Assn. and its 4,000 State and local members in the county.

The resolution had called for an election among a small segment of county employees to determine if they wished to be represented by a labor union.

Rice Argues

The resolution and election were cancelled at a board meeting here last week following an hour-long debate on the issue, during which John C. Rice, CSEA assistant counsel, showed the board that the Employees Association already represented the employees in question and that not only was there no need to hold a union election but that such action could only be interpreted as a highly discriminatory action toward the CSEA.

Rice underlined his point by telling the board that the union had only 30 members in the entire county public employee body. The Civil Service Employees Assn., he showed, has more than 300 of the county's 500 employees, obviously a majority.

The board agreed.

CSEA To Sponsor Photo Contest

ALBANY, May 25 — A photography contest with prizes totaling $300 will be conducted for its members by the Civil Service Employees Assn., in conjunction with CSEA's annual exhibit at the New York State Exposition at Syracuse this year.

Plans for the photo contest were announced today by Joseph F. Felly, president of CSEA. He said purpose of the exhibit at the State Exposition is to give the general public an indication of the many cultural, social and civil endeavors participated in by New York State's public employees.

This year the Association is conducting the photo contest in an effort to gain broad participation by members and their spouses. In the past two years the Association successfully conducted art shows in conjunction with the Exposition.

The Rules

Following are the official rules governing the contest:

1. The contest is open to members of the Civil Service Employees Association and their spouses. The contest is for amateur photographers only. (An amateur photographer is one who does not earn a majority of his living from

Rockefeller Grants Aides Day Off For 'Civil Service Day'

(Special To The Leader)

ALBANY, May 25 — Governor Rockefeller has asked Lieut. Governor Malcolm Wilson to announce that State employees will be permitted to take the day off on Monday, June 1, in order to participate in "Civil Service Day" at the New York World's Fair, it was learned at Leader press time.

Governor Rockefeller had earlier proclaimed June 1 to be "Civil Service Day" as a tribute to all public employees. The World's Fair tribute is being sponsored by The Leader. Federal and New York City employees also are receiving a day off in lieu of the Memorial Day holiday, which falls

Pay Raises Due Thruway Aides

ALBANY, May 25—The State Thruway Authority is expected to grant pay increases to its employees, based on the State salary raise which takes effect Oct. 1.

This was seen after the authority moved recently to provide their workers with a take-home pay raise, effective April 16th by assuming an additional three percentage points of employee contributions to the Retirement System.

The authority action was in keeping with its established policy of giving its workers substantially the same benefits as granted those working for the state.

on a Saturday this year. They, too, have been urged to attend the Civil Service program that will be held in the Fair's Singer Bowl on June 1.

Attendance Urged

Lieut. Governor Wilson declared that "the Governor hopes all State aides will have the opportunity to attend 'Civil Service Day' at the Fair."

Any employee wishing to take part in the tribute to public employees may do so with the consent of their supervisors. Those who are unable to attend the June 1 ceremony will be entitled to compensatory time off prior to the closing of the Fair this year, which is Oct. 18.

State offices will remain open on June 1.

Contest Finalists

This week, The Leader is announcing the semi-finalists from the State and county entrants. They were selected from among the more than 1,000 entries submitted to The Leader. The four winners—one each from the State, Federal, City and County divisions—will be announced and crowned at the Singer Bowl on June 1.

Rockefeller's New

STATE primaries are the big news in the Presidential sweepstakes these days but for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller the key to his ambitions for the GOP nomination may lie in the annual Governors' Conference, being held this year in Cleveland on June 6, four days after the California primary.

If Rockefeller can do for himself, at that Conference, what Thomas E. Dewey did for Eisenhower at the 1952 Governors' Conference, it is still possible the New York Governor could nail down the nomination in Cleveland. It was at the

The Veteran's Counselor

By FRANK V. VOTTO

Several new laws, of interest to veterans, were recently signed by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller. A resume of these laws follows:

Chap. 15, L. 1964

Benevolent Orders Law

Amends Section 2 of the Benevolent Orders Law by adding thereto subdivision (45a) which recognizes a post, county, district or departmental organization of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Italian American War Veterans of the United States, Inc., which is duly chartered and installed according to the regulations of that organization. Section 7 of the Benevolent Orders Law is amended by adding thereto subdivision (16h) which recognizes any member of a unit of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Italian American War Veterans of the United States, Inc., chartered and installed according to the regulations of that organization.

Chap. 3, L. 1964—

Conservation Law

This amendment further provides that such a member of the armed forces must have in his possession at the time he is hunting or fishing a copy of his furlough or a copy of an order granting him a leave of absence from which it may be determined that he is not stationed within the state and has not been here longer than thirty days on leave or furlough, as well as his service identification tag.

Chap. 807, L. 1964—

Conservation Law

The only requirements are that such a disabled veteran must show that he has been a resident of the state for at least three months immediately prior to the date of his application for such a license and a statement from either the Veterans Administration or the branch of the armed forces which he served as to the degree of disability.

Chap. 273, L. 1964—

Education Law

Section 6556, subdivision 5 of the Education Law has been amended to provide that service in the armed forces of the United States shall be deemed the equivalent of having been engaged in the chiropractic practice of this state provided the applicant was engaged in such practice in this state at the time of his induction or entry into the armed forces.

Congressman Charles A. Buckley (D. Bronx) informed The Leader last week that he will vote for a pay raise for Federal employees this year. "This," said Buckley, "is in line with my consistent record of concern for all public employees."

The House Rules Committee only last week voted out a bill to give raises to U.S. aides. An earlier proposal was turned down by Congress and the present measure is a modification of that proposal.

Buckley is chairman of the House Public Works Committee.

1952 meeting that Dewey formed a coalition of Governors to stop the late Sen. Robert Taft's drive for the Presidential nomination and swing the Governors behind Eisenhower.

Same Arguments

Oddly enough, Rockefeller could use Dewey's same arguments in a general sense. Dewey's main argument for stopping the Taft drive was that the Senator was too conservative and would draw only Republican votes whereas Eisenhower would appeal to Republicans, uncommitted voters and a good sprinkling of Democrats. As it turned out, he was right.

Rockefeller is convinced that these same arguments apply for himself and against his greatest current rival, Sen. Barry Goldwater. In other words, Rockefeller will argue that Goldwater will draw only conservative Republican voters—and might eventually cost the GOP some regular party votes. The New York Governor will claim, of course, that his generally liberal record, combined with his fiscal policies, basically conservative, will attract voters of all political faiths.

Governors Importance

In many states, convention delegates are controlled by the governor of the state. One device used by many governors to control the delegation is the "favorite son" technique, whereby they go into a convention uncommitted to any particular candidate.

It is believed that the degree of success Rockefeller will have with his fellow state executives depends a good deal on his showing in the California primary next week. There is no doubt that his big win recently in Oregon did much to boost the Rockefeller stock but the convention road is still a long one—and Rockefeller knows this.

Rockefeller grabbed the headlines at the Governors' Conference in Florida last year by pushing the governors to take a firm stand on civil rights. The Conference never did take a stand but the issue made Rockefeller the dominant figure throughout the meeting. It can be expected that he will bring some equally controversial theme to the Cleveland session—plus all his arguments as to why Goldwater can't win if nominated.

Liberal Dem Needed

What does all this mean as far as Attorney General Robert Kennedy and Sen. Hubert Humphrey go? In essence, it means that the Democrats would need a wholly liberal ticket if Rockefeller's strength continues to grow, particularly if he either gets the GOP nomination or, at the GOP convention, holds the key to the dominating issues of the Republican campaign.

With Barry Goldwater as his opponent, President Johnson would have had little concern over middle-of-the-road and liberal voting elements along the Eastern Seaboard. But with Rockefeller as an opponent Johnson would find himself in battle in the East with a GOP candidate that is generally rated a liberal Republican and is an outspoken advocate of civil rights.

Most Democratic pros feel that a ticket in New York State headed by Johnson, with the liberal Sen. Hubert Humphrey or Bob Kennedy as vice president or Kennedy as Senator, could completely offset the liberal appeal of Rockefeller.

Kennedy's Position

What is most important right now to these same pros is the fact that they feel Kennedy should declare his intent about the New York race and stop hedging. They know he has easily won all the polls conducted by unofficial Democratic sources here, although it is conceded these polls were not conducted in terms of full competition.

If Kennedy wants to run here he will get plenty of backing. But his New York friends want him to speak out definitely and not confuse his intentions with such statements as "it would be better for a New York citizen to run."

Note: Democratic politicians are not concerned with the question of Robert Kennedy's New York residence because he has lived in New York City as much as any place else. Not only that; they know also that much of the initial impetus for the whole Kennedy civil rights program started here and was accelerated after one particular meeting at a Kennedy residence in New York City, 24 Central Park South, where the Attorney General held his widely-reported meeting with Negro leaders representing their race in cultural, theatrical, religious, educational and organizational groups.

CSEA Protests Removal Of Written Exam For PA Internship Recruits

ALBANY, May 25—The removal of the written examination requirement from the State Civil Service Department's recruitment program for public administration internships this year has been protested by the Civil Service Employees Assn.

The Association's action came after it was learned that the internship recruitment program for 1964-65 has no provision for a written examination, as in the past. Instead, the examination will be based entirely on oral testing.

Asked Explanation

CSEA, which long has been a foe of oral testing for promotional purposes, took issue with the announced procedure and requested an explanation from the Department so that the Association's Oral Examinations Committee could study the matter. In his request for information, Joseph F. Feily, CSEA president, cited the Association's long standing support for the Civil Service Merit System. He said, "For many years it was felt that the surest way to assure appointment on the basis of merit and fitness without any interference from various influences was to test by written examination."

Feily also charged that:

—the positions would be filled on a "first come, first serve" basis rather than through open competition;

—the testing procedure is improper because it does not allow for an appeal of scores, —the educational requirements (a masters degree) are kept so high that they defeat the competition hoped for, and —the Department should be required to give preference to college graduates who are citizens of New York State before recruiting outside the state.

Referring to the limited period in which applications would be accepted, Feily said, "This sounds like a first come, first service basis rather than open competition to which all qualified citizens, possessing the educational requirements, should be admitted on an equal basis."

Murray's Reply

In answer to the CSEA objections, William J. Murray, Administrative Director of the Department of Civil Service, made the following points:

1. There has been a gradual falling-off of competition for the internship positions in recent years.
2. The number of individuals with masters degrees the state has been able to recruit has been constantly diminishing in recent years.
3. One of the reasons given by college representatives and appointing officers for diminished interest was that the state insisted on a written test, the rating of which made the state late in signing up people for jobs.

Murray explained, "More than anything else, the written test has been cited as a reason for our failure to get a fair share of the available crop." He said for these reasons we decided that this year we would attempt to streamline our process by eliminating the written test."

Will Keep On

Concerning the Association's claim that the positions would be filled on a "first come, first serve" basis, Murray explained, "until we know that all our jobs are filled, we will keep on accepting applications." He said further, "anyone who is seriously interested and can appear for an interview in New York State, at anytime between January 1 and probably May, will have a fair chance of appointment — assuming he can pass the oral test."

With respect to appeals, Murray said there seems to be no interest because anyone who fails usually has other job offers and does not desire to appeal his rating.

As to recruiting outside New York State, it was explained that the department has not been able to get the mandated amount of qualified people from New York State or even in surrounding states.

CORRECTION

Staats Says:

"Bi-Partisan Aid Spurs Pay Raise"

Bi-partisan support of the Morrison Bill is the key issue to its passage, according to an exclusive telephone interview with Elmer Staats, deputy director of the Budget.

Staats expressed hope for early Senatorial action on the bill which would provide substantial pay raises for many Federal employees. "I am very much encouraged by the Senate hearings on the bill and hope for Senate approval in the near future," he said.

Washington sources predict that action on the bill will be more positive after local and regional primaries. Last week, the Rules Committee, by a vote of 9-3, cleared the bill for further action. It will be called up in the House early in June. "It is more urgent now than ever before," Staats concluded.

Accounting And Poetry Occupy Daily Life Of Miss Kay Magenheimer

(From Leader Correspondent)

BABYLON, May 25—Accounting and poetry may appear to be two widely-separated endeavors but Kay Magenheimer of Babylon, Long Island, is successful in both fields.

In the business world, Miss Magenheimer is the principal account clerk at the Long Island State Park Commission headquarters in Babylon, where she helps oversee the financial operations of the multi-million dollar agency. In the world of literature, she is a poetess and writer, whose first volume of poetry, "Love's Stigmata" won the Publisher's Award for 1963 and is now in its second printing.

The $100 prize which Miss Magenheimer won will go to the new Kennedy Memorial Library to be built in Cambridge Mass. She is also going to give the library something even more valuable than money, a gold-framed engraving of the poem she wrote on Nov. 25, 1963, the day on which the late President John F. Kennedy was buried.

Winning Poem

The poem is entitled "Ask Not . . ." after the late President's most famous quotation, "Ask not what your country can do for you. Ask what you can do for your country." The poem reads, in part:

"This man . . . this beacon for humanity . . ."

With heart cast of oak and daring
Made his great resolve
And nailed his colors to the mast.
Above the thunder of the wild sea
Breaking against his bleak
New England coast
His voice rose to shake the mighty halls of earth
To rouse men from their sleep."

"Ask Not . . ." was printed in the Congressional Record Jan. 14 by U.S. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-Rochester) and is the highlight of the combination lecture and poetry reading which Miss Magenheimer is being called upon, increasingly, to give for a variety of organizations on Long Island. She has won recognition for her writing in other ways, too. Rep. Leo O'Brien (D-Albany) cited a poem which Miss Magenheimer wrote about the late Eleanor Roosevelt in the Congressional Record of Nov. 21, 1963. He noted, "I am pleased, indeed, that a friend should contribute to the all too slender stream of American poetry. Beyond that, I am impressed by the delicacy of expression and the depth of understanding in each of these little gems."

Former Newswoman

Miss Magenheimer met both Mrs. Roosevelt and Mr. O'Brien during the early 1920's when she worked as a feature writer on the Albany Times-Union. A former director of advertising and publicity for a phonograph record company, Miss Magenheimer has devoted much of her free time to religious and charitable organization work.

She has been active in interracial work and for 10 years served as a member of the board of directors of Our Lady of Consolation Home for the Aged at Amityville, Long Island. Another book of poetry is due to be published next year and a novel is also in the works. "What I'm trying to do," says Miss Magenheimer, "is to help people understand the meaning of life."

POETESS IN PARIS — Kay Magenheimer is seen here at one of the famous book stalls along the Seine River in Paris. An employee of the Long Island Park Commission, she is a prize-winning poetess.

President Johnson:

How About Naming A Career Employee?

ONE group of people that President Johnson hasn't completely sold yet is the public employee. This can be attributed to the various statements made by him and for him in connection with the Federal job freeze as well as the lessening of the number of government employees.

Whether he is right or wrong is still being debated and discussed. However, one thing he can do is to promote career people to top spots from within.

Career people have indicated a dedication to staying on the job and giving their entire working life to the service.

Now, Mr. President—how about considering a career employee for the position recently vacated by Mortimer Caplin as Commissioner of Internal Revenue?

Police Review Boards

JOHN Cassese, leader of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association this week notified all members of the New York City Council, in an 11-page memorandum, that his 25,000 members are against any outside interference by civilian police review boards.

Pointing out that such review board would weaken department discipline, drastically reduce morale and water down the authority of the Police Commissioner, Cassese noted that there was, in fact, no necessity of appointing such a board.

The proposed board, the topic of legislation now before the City Council, would review charges of brutality against policemen and have the power to take action against the defendant policeman.

Cassese argues that the discipline of the department, under Police Commissioner Michael Murphy, is at a high level. Murphy is stern—but just, he says. As a former policeman, he sits as an impartial judge and has been known to hand out stiff sentences where necessary, the PBA feels.

We urge the City Council to study closely the memorandum from Cassese and the PBA.

The Coffee Break

ARGUMENTS for and against that now firm American institution—the coffee break—drew an argument in the affirmative recently from the New York State Grievance Appeals Board.

It seems that employees in the State Insurance Fund offices here in New York felt discriminated against because the coffee break is prohibited to them.

In agreeing that this comprised a grievance that should be remedied, the Board declared "Required hours of work contemplate periods of non-work of from 10 to 20 minutes. Many State departments consider a coffee break a rest period related, if not equal, to personal leave. The practice is of long standing and has been recognized as proper by those who determine work hours.

"In conclusion, the Grievance Appeals Board suggests that the State Insurance Fund seriously consider the fact that so many other State agencies have adopted this practice and the possible effects on employee morale of prohibiting the practice in the State Insurance Fund."

We suggest that those in authority at the SIF get together over a cup of coffee and examine the whole problem. We are sure that they will agree that granting the coffee break is inevitable—and not at all a bad idea.

Letters To The Editor

Glad They Belong

Editor, The Leader:

In this day of miracles, and this great city of ours abounds in them, it is indeed gratifying to us that our New York City Firemen have been singled out, in your column for one of their many hazardous routine jobs. The fact that you, a recognized authority in public relations have brought to the public's attention the integrity of our men makes it that much more meaningful.

Please know that we in the U. F. A. are very appreciative of being included in your "Four Miracles" as mentioned in your PR-IQ column. The fact that you have such a large city-employed public does not escape us either. Again, many thanks.

Uniformed Firemen's Assn.
GERALD J. RYAN,
President

He's One Of Ours

Editor, The Leader:

Earlier this month news reports told the story of Andrew B. Valenti who dashed out of his home at 2 a.m. to aid a screaming woman mugged at a bus stop. At great personal risk to himself, he chased the mugger and shot him.

His immediate neighbors heard the screams, but like those who witnessed the recent stabbing of a Queens woman, they did not respond as he did.

Mr. Valenti's instant answer to the cry for help fulfilled his duty as a human being and as a member of a civilized society. Perhaps because he is a special deputy clerk of the Queens County Supreme Court his is a faster reaction to a violation of law.

Whatever the reasons for his action, we of the court personnel are proud of his deed. We think it should be widely publicized because it brings credit to all civil service employees.

M. L. REIN,
President,
Supreme and Surrogate's
Court Attaches Association.

Social Security

"I am unmarried and am the sole support of my aged mother. Will social security help her if I should die?"

Yes, if you are furnishing over half of her support at the time of your death, she could receive a monthly social security check. So while you are working, you are not only building up a monthly retirement income for yourself, but are also providing a monthly income for your mother in the event of your death.

"Does a person getting social security benefits have to limit his earnings to $1200 in the year that he becomes 72 if he wants benefits for all months in that year?"

Starting with the month in which he is 72, a beneficiary receives social security benefits no matter how much he earns. But he must total his earnings for the entire years to determine whether he was due any benefits for the months before he reached 72.

PR Nuggets From Gaynor

WE PROMISED in last week's column to transmit some more prize public relations nuggets offered by James Wm. Gaynor, New York State Commissioner of Housing and Community Renewal, to government executives in his field at a recent international convention.

HERE ARE some of these nuggets, which won for Commissioner Gaynor our public relations blue ribbon award:

• "THE SKILLFUL public official is ruled by two considerations: first, his obligation to submit himself to appropriate public exposure in connection with his job; second, his obligation to keep his eye on the job, not on the headlines."

• "IT HAS BEEN seriously proposed, by toilers in this particular vineyard (urban renewal), that newspapers have a responsibility to develop public acceptance for renewal activities. The official who recognizes that newspapers have no such responsibility is, in public relations at least, one step ahead of his colleagues who wring their hands at news stories of their ineptitudes and errors and, in effect, call for a cover up."

• BE WARY of instituting a weekly press conference. Heads of nations may need press conferences, "but local directors of local offices can hardly be expected to offer a dazzling array of significant problems to be met, decisions to be made and actions to be taken to justify a weekly press conference."

COMMISSIONER GAYNOR gets down to the nuts and bolts of public relations with "these general guide lines", which should be studied diligently by all public officials:

• 1. GIVE INFORMATION when asked. The public has a right to know.

• 2. DRAW A CLEAR distinction between policy and pipe dreams, and keep the pipe dreams to yourself. The (recent) "New York Times" editorial that "there is too much housing by press release, too little real action" would make a vivid wall motto for this purpose.

Public Relations I.Q.

• 3. UTILIZE THE techniques of the professional publicist only if you thoroughly understand their function. Otherwise, depend on your own common sense in planning ceremonies, undertaking TV interviews and issuing reports and news. You cannot gull the public or the press for long, so play it straight.

• 4. SOLICIT HOW-TO-DO-IT advice from the reporter on your beat, if you can develop an atmosphere of mutual trust.

• 5. ACCEPT THE public exposure required by your responsibility in whatever form it is commonly presented—TV interviews, forum discussions, public speaking. Exercise good judgment by turning down any exposure that will not advance public understanding of your program.

• 6. DO YOUR HOMEWORK before you appear in public. You won't be very informative if you're not up to date.

• 7. DISMISS THE IDEA that a reporter considers food and drink either a necessary accompaniment to, or a substitute for, news. Don't, in other words, confuse a press party with a press conference.

COMMISSIONER GAYNOR has set a fine example of sharing his PR know-how. We cordially invite all our readers to contribute the PR nuggets they have accumulated over the years. We will publish all such contributions, which, in our professional opinion, would help all in public life do a better job of their public relations.

This is New York State's No. 1 zoo...

The Bronx Zoo, officially the New York Zoological Park is the largest in America, and is especially famous for its zoological rarities. Covering 252 acres, it has more than one thousand different species of animals on display. Many of the animals are shown in natural habitat settings, such as the African Plains exhibit shown in the New York Zoological Society photo above. (The lions live on a deeply moated rock island.)

... and these are New York State's No. 1 Get-Well Cards!

More than 485,000 State employees and employees of many local subdivisions of New York State and their dependents are glad they have them. These New Yorkers depend on the three-way STATEWIDE PLAN — Blue Cross, Blue Shield and Major Medical — to protect them against the costs of hospital, surgical-medical and major medical care.

Caribbean Tour Now Only $499

Because of operational economies effected by Knickerbocker Travel Service, the price of the 15-day island hopping tour of the Caribbean for members of the Civil Service Employees Assn. and their friends has been reduced from $549 to $499.

The $50 reduction in no way reduces the quality of the program. The hotels, plane service and itinerary are exactly the same, a spokesman for Knickerbocker said. The $499 price includes air fare, hotels, most meals, cocktail parties, and golfing fees.

Tour participants will depart from New York on July 19 and head first for Puerto Rico and will stay in the famous Condado Beach Hotel. From there, the group heads for Antigua, one of the most beautiful islands in the Caribbean.

Next stop will be the island of Barbados, where a miniature English community mingles with sugar cane fields, donkey carts and semi-tropical beaches and vegetation.

Last major port will be Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, the home of calypso, carnival and culture in the Caribbean. Optional one-day trips to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands and the popular island of Tobago are available.

Brochures and reservations may be had in upstate New York by writing to Claude E. Rowell, 64 Langslow Street, Rochester, 20, New York. In the Metropolitan New York area, write or call Sylvia Kraunz, Knickerbocker Travel Service, Time & Life Bldg., New York 20, N.Y., or call Plaza 7-5400.

Probation Jobs Open At $6,400

Abraham Multer Leads Group

Brooklyn Congressional Delegation Conducts Its Own War Against Poverty

(Special To The Leader)

WASHINGTON, May 25 — Rep. Abraham J. Multer, veteran Brooklyn legislator, has been elected by his colleagues in Congress to a post probably no other Congressman ever has held.

The Kings County Congressional delegation has formed a permanent committee, with Congressman Multer as Chairman, to act as "spokesman" in Washington on local matters involving the Federal Government.

Civil Service May Help

Brooklyn's needs in the "War on Poverty" sparked formation of the committee. One of the situations it already has taken up is unemployment and the need for vocational re-training. While Brooklyn has tens of thousands of unemployed, many available jobs—including civil service positions—remain unfilled for a lack of qualified applicants.

The seven Brooklyn Congressman call themselves the Brooklyn Congressional Committee on Borough Affairs. It is believed to be the first such county-wide Congressional committee ever formed in a large urban county with multiple representation in the House.

Effectiveness of the new committee was demonstrated when Multer was able to announce at a news conference last Thursday—two days after it was activated—that pledges of assistance in the anti-poverty program had been obtained from four Federal agencies.

At the news conference in the Office of Borough President Abe Stark, Multer estimated that Federal contributions could reach as high as $26 million of the $150 million that Brooklyn officials consider the minimum necessary to underwrite a program for the next five years.

He said that the committee expects Brooklyn's self-starting campaign to draw full support from the City administration—both in the apportionment to Brooklyn of its full share of funds that became available to the City and in the backing of the borough's efforts in its own behalf.

On The Committee

The Congressional committee includes Congressmen Emanuel Sella, Edna Kelly, Eugene J. Keogh, John J. Rooney, Hugh L. Carey and John M. Murphy in addition to Chairman Multer.

As its first major undertaking, it allied itself with the Borough President's Citizen's Action Committee for Equal Opportunity, formed last August with Rabbi Benjamin Z. Kreitman as Chairman.

The two committees met jointly in Washington last Tuesday with Acting Secretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and top representatives of the Federal Housing Administration, Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the President's Task Force on Poverty.

The Thursday news conference took the form of a progress report by Multer, who said:

"We believe that, by joining hands with the Borough President's Committee we now have a uniquely effective instrument for achieving a better life for Brooklyn's underprivileged."

CSEA Urges Erie Board To Act On Pay Formula

ALBANY, May 25—Joseph F. Feily, president of the 120,000-member Civil Service Employees Association has released the text of a letter to each member of the Erie County Board of Supervisors in regard to the distribution formula for proceeds from the anticipated increase in the proposed Erie County sales tax.

The following is the text of the letter:

"The Civil Service Employees Association has been watching with great interest the actions taken by the Erie County Board of Supervisors with respect to the adoption of a distribution formula to be used in disbursing anticipated proceeds resulting from an increase of from 1 per cent to 3 per cent in the Erie County sales tax.

"Put Away Politics"

"We feel it is time members of the Erie County Board of Supervisors place political considerations in the background and engage in an open expression of statesmanship and diplomacy in resolving the problem of distribution of the aforementioned funds. We are speaking on behalf of more than 8,000 CSEA members in Erie County and particularly on behalf of those who are employees of the City of Buffalo.

"No one can deny that Erie County residents in the employ of the City of Buffalo are currently being paid salaries which are substandard and desperately in need of upward adjustment. Our own analysis of Buffalo City salaries show that an average increase of 19 per cent is needed in order to reach parity with salaries paid by other public jurisdictions and private employers for comparable jobs. The desperate need for city salary increases has also been demonstrated in a survey by a private consulting firm engaged by City officials.

CSEA Made Case

"We have met with the Mayor of the City of Buffalo and leaders of the City Council for the purpose of presenting our salary comparisons and pointing out the irrevocable necessity of a significant upward adjustment in city salaries this year. Subsequently, we appeared at the recent City budget hearing and again presented our case in support of the upward adjustment of City salaries to all members of the City Council.

"We have received assurances from both the Mayor and leaders of the Buffalo City Council that significant salary increases would be granted to city employees this year if appropriate monies were forthcoming as a result of action taken by the Erie County Board of Supervisors with respect to the distribution of funds from anticipated increase in the County sales tax. We realize that you are well aware of the position taken by City Officials with respect to long over-due salary increases for City employees.

Aides' Needs Are First

"The justifiable needs of public employees should never be relegated to a position of secondary importance because of political considerations.

"The Civil Service Employees Association urgently requests that you support the salary tax distribution formula as promulgated by the Liaison Committee which would distribute proceeds on the basis of 1.05 per cent for education; 1.25 per cent for cities, towns and villages, and 0.7 per cent for the county. We believe that any further delay in the adoption of this proposal can only result in the magnification of an atmosphere which is already proving to be detrimental to all parties concerned."

Onondaga CSEA Asks Pay Hike, Improved Benefits For Aides In New Budget

(From Leader Correspondent)

SYRACUSE, May 25 — Pay increases of "at least 10 percent," payment by the county of an additional three percent of employees' retirement costs and other benefits are being recommended to county officials by Onondaga Chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn.

Other requests listed in a letter to County Executive John H. Mulroy include retaining of the 4 p.m. summer closing time for county offices and four weeks of vacation after 15 years—instead of the present 20 years—of continuous employment with the county.

"Extra Compensation"

Also, the letter recommends "some extra compensation" for workers now required to work until 5 p.m. daily when—and if—the county increases the working day of all employees to this hour and boosts their pay for this added time.

The letter requests the pay increases and other benefits for both its members and all other county workers. The chapter membership is made up of both Onondaga County and Syracuse city employees.

Arthur F. Kasson, Jr., chapter president, who signed the letter, said similar requests will be made for city employees.

Mulroy said he will consider the recommendations of the chapter during the 1965 budget preparation this year.

Same Work Week

The county executive also said the county's work week will not be lengthened this year. County employees now work from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in most departments. In others, like the county clerk's offices, the employees must remain on duty until 5 p.m. daily under state law.

Most county offices close at 4 p.m. during July and August—the closing time referred to in Onondaga Chapter's request.

Mulroy said no change in the traditional summer closing time is planned this year.

However, he said, a year-round 35-hour work week will be put into effect next year if county supervisors approve his proposed salary plan and job reclassification. This proposal was defeated last year as "too expensive." However, since supervisors do now face election this year—as they did in 1963—the plan is given a better chance of adoption.

After the proposal was turned down, the supervisors indicated they were willing to have Mulroy lengthen the work day last year. The county executive refused to do this.

New Pay-Reclassification

A new pay-classification plan is slated to be presented to supervisors later this month, said County Personnel Commissioner Louis A. Harrolds.

The Onondaga Chapter letter asks the 10 percent pay boost for all employees now earning less than $10,000 annually.

The added retirement payment by the county—permissible under a 1964 act of the Legislature—would boost workers take-home pay by this three per cent. The county's contribution to employees retirement plans would go to eight per cent of salaries.

The letter asks that the retirement cost change be made effective as of July 1.

Kasson states in the letter that "we feel justified" in recommending the pay boosts and other benefits "to maintain good morale and keep the services of our employees who have dedicated themselves to promoting efficient county government and serving the taxpayers."

The 4 p.m. summer closing also would "maintain morale and keep in line with the majority of other counties," the letter states.

ROSSITER'S DAY: It was "William Rossiter" day for members of Rochester State Hospital chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., who paid tribute to Rossiter at their annual dinner in Rochester for his dedicated service to CSEA and public employees. Rossiter, second from left, is seen here as he was presented with a watch from the chapter by Patrick J. McCormack, senior business officer at Rochester State. Looking on are Mrs. Rossiter and Joseph F. Feily, CSEA president.

Kasson Describes Value of Payroll Deduction of Dues

SYRACUSE, May 25 — Payroll deductions not only make it easier to pay Civil Service Employees Assn. dues, but also help build chapter membership. Arthur Kasson Jr., Syracuse, told members of the Tioga County Chapter at their recent annual dinner dance last week.

Kasson, president of Onondaga County Chapter, CSEA, was the principal speaker at the affair, held in VFW Hall, Owego. He also is a member of the CSEA public relations committee.

Roberts Speaks

Ben Roberts, CSEA field representative, also spoke briefly at the dinner, attended by local civic leaders.

Kasson explained that payroll deduction plans permit members to pay dues monthly rather than annually or semi-annually. This smaller monthly amount, he said, makes payment of dues easier, and so is a selling point to prospective chapter members. The major part of the talk was devoted to an explanation of the payroll deduction method.

Attending the dinner were Assemblyman Richard Lounsbury of Tioga County; Charles Hill, Town of Owego supervisor, and Mrs. Hill, and Acting Mayor and Mrs. G. C. Boland of Owego.

Burrows Predicts Growth Of Broome County Chapter

(From Leader Correspondent)

BINGHAMTON, May 25—James A. Burrows, president of the Broome County CSEA Chapter, has predicted that more than 100 City of Binghamton employees will join the chapter within a month.

Burrows said about 40 city employees, all members of the General Hospital staff, attended a recent meeting in the courthouse here.

Benjamin Roberts, local CSEA field representative, addressed the potential new members and held a membership sign-up at General Hospital.

Burrows said most of the 40 people were anxious to join, but the sign-up was postponed after one said it was his understanding that hospital officials object to the membership drive.

Roberts immediately met with Gerhard A. Krembs, hospital administrator. Krembs again assured CSEA he will cooperate, Burrows said.

The attendance at the first city membership drive meeting was "very gratifying," the chapter president said. "We will meet with the group again in a few days and I'm confident more than 100 will join within a month."

There are about 1,380 city workers, including 750 General Hospital employees. The Broome County CSEA Chapter presently includes about 600 county employees.

Rochester State Pays Tribute To Rossiter; New Officers Installed

ROCHESTER, May 25 — At its annual dinner here last week, Rochester State Hospital chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn., paid tribute to one of its former presidents, William Rossiter, for his outstanding work over the years in behalf of the CSEA and his fellow public employees.

Highlight of the tributes paid to Rossiter was the presentation of a gold watch from the chapter by the hospital's senior business officer, Patrick J. McCormack.

Claude E. Rowell, CSEA fourth vice president and, himself a former chapter president, opened the program for which Paul Kyer, editor of The Leader, acted as toastmaster.

Major speakers included CSEA President Joseph F. Feily; Dr. Benjamin Pollack, the hospital's assistant director, and Robert Benedict, president of the Board of Visitors, who announced that Mrs. Marion Hickey had been named "Psychiatric Aide of the Year" at the hospital.

Officers Installed

Frederick Cave, Jr., CSEA fifth vice president, installed newly-elected officers of the chapter. They were Mrs. Ellen Stillhard, president; Mrs. Helen Heagney, first vice president; Bruce MacLaren, second vice president; Mrs. Pearl Miles, recording secretary, and Bruce Corby, treasurer.

Guests attending the dinner also heard a report on CSEA successes in the 1964 session in the Legislature and were urged by Feily to start thinking today about employee needs in 1965.

New President Named To Head Arlington Unit

POUGHKEEPSI, May 25—Robert Tuczynski was elected president of the Arlington Unit, Civil Services Employees Assn., at a meeting conducted May 12th in the Drivers' Room of the Arlington Junior High School, here.

Others named to office are Albert Barton, vice president, Albert Gibbs, treasurer, and Henry F. Wallace, recording secretary. The next meeting of the group will be June 9.
