U.S. OPENS BIG TEST FOR OFFICE JOBS

Vet Aides Must Pass State Test

Move Follows Protest Counsellor Posts Have Been Political Plums

ALBANY, Aug. 13 — A civil service test for the 200 war Veteran Counsellor posts in counties throughout the State at Salaries up to $5,000 is expected in the near future, according to an authoritative informant here.

It is reported that Palmer Harcourt, newly appointed Personnel Director of the State Division of Veterans Affairs, is now preparing the preliminary qualifications which will have to be met to qualify for the test.

Mr. Harcourt, former Assistant Administrative Director of the State Civil Service Commission, was displaced from that position when he failed a competitive examination for the position and was shifted to the veterans' agency.

Law Violation Charged

The Civil Service Reform Association has been opposed to the appointment of the Veterans Counsellors without civil service examination and in the last annual report to its members stated:

"Most of the positions in the Division of Veteran Affairs have been filled and are still filled on partisan political considerations. It is common knowledge that many of these appointees are clearly unqualified, are overpaid, and have been neglectful of their duties."

The reform group added that the appointees "have been serving in clear violation of the state Constitution and Civil Service Law" which require that jobs be

Pass Mark Shows Written Test 16 P.C. Harder Than Patrolman

The official pass mark in the NYC examination for Fireman (F.D.) is 71. This was the mark of the 4,000th in order of percentage score in the written test held on July 13 and was approved by the Civil Service Commission at a special meeting.

The 15,595 who competed in the examination can tell whether they passed the written test by consulting the final official key answers, and comparing their answers to them. The final key answers are now official, also. Only one change was made by the Commission. Question 13, which in the tentative key answer, had only one of the five options (A) as correct, now has two (A or C).

Candidates may thus be able to tell whether they passed before they receive official word from the Commission.

16 P.C. Harder Than Police

The written examination was rated as a tough one by many of the candidates, but the fact that 4,000 got 71 per cent or higher shows that it did not prove too stiff, as a general proposition, for purposes of recruitment, although it did prove harder than the Patrolman written test, in which the pass mark of the 5,000th candidate was 82.5.

On the assumption that the candidates in both examinations were of equal competence, the Fireman written test was 16 per cent harder than the Patrolman written test (five-fourths of 13 per cent). The Fireman papers contained technical and fire duty questions, including many on physics and hydraulics.

Fire Medicals

The medical examinations in the Fireman (F.D.) test will be begun by the NYC Civil Service Commission at its Physical and Medical Bureau at 299 Broadway, Manhattan, during the last week in August. The physical examination will begin about the middle of September at Van Cortlandt Park and continue for a month. Paul M. Brennan, Director of the Bureau, will be in charge of these tests.

Expected Failure Ratio

In the Patrolman test, out of each hundred candidates, 9 failed the mile run, 3 the strength test and one the fence climb. It is expected that the same proportion will prevail in the Fireman physicals.

Patrolman Eligibles To Meet Thursday

Patrolman eligibles are invited to attend a meeting of the Pension Forum, NYC Police Dept., on Thursday, August 15, at 8:30 p.m., at Washington Irving High School, 16th Street and Irving Place. Peter A. Schneider, Executive Secretary of the group, will discuss the police pension system. H. J. Bernard, Executive Editor of The LEADER, will speak on veteran preference.

Public Invited to Try; Insecure Employees Can Get Permanency

An opportunity to qualify for highly-paid permanent Federal jobs in the accounting and auditing fields was unexpectedly thrown open today with the announcement by James E. Rossell, Director of the Second U. S. Civil Service Region, of an examination for Accountant and Auditor, CAF-7 to CAF-14.

CAF-7 salaries range from a starting pay of $3,397 a year, to $4,149.80 by periodic increases of $125.40. For CAF-13 the starting salary is $8,179.50, with advancement to $9, (Continued on Page 8)

New Police List Offers Jobs Fast

The possibility of obtaining only 150 eligibles from the existing list for Patrolman (P.D.), which expires next month, has improved greatly the appointment possibilities of eligibles on the prospective new list for Patrolman. Although the new list has not yet been promulgated, it has been published, and is being revised on the basis of preference claims and results of investigations of character.

The tentative schedule of appointments of Patrolman is: 1946: Sept. 1, 600; Nov. 1, 600; 1947: Jan. 1, 600; March 1, 600; May 1, 600, and June 15, 628; total, 3,628.

There are only about 150 names immediately useful on the present list, so that it is likely that half of the 600 September 1 appointments will come from the new list.

VETS GET INCREMENTS

Following conference with the Transport Workers' Union, the NYC Board of Transportation has announced that returning veterans, promoted after taking special military promotion tests, will receive full increment credit, dated back to when the veteran would have been promoted if he had not been on military leave.

3 Treasury Exams Coming: Revenue, Special Agent And Deputy Collector

The next big series of Federal examinations, which will offer opportunities for the general public to make a place on Federal registers for permanent appointment, and to give present war-service appointees an opportunity to qualify for permanent status will include three popular positions in the Bureau of Internal Revenue, U. S. Treasury Department.

James E. Rossell, Director of the Second U. S. Civil Service Region, has announced that the following examinations will be held in the near future:

Special Agent, Bureau of Internal Revenue, Treasury Department, CAF-7 to CAF-11, $3,397.20 to $4,902 a year.

Internal Revenue Agent, CAF-7 to CAF-12, $3,397.20 to $5,905.20.

Zone Deputy Collector, $2,644.80 a year.

How to Get Permanency

Opportunities to many Federal employees now lacking permanent (classified) status, to attain it, in the Accountant and Auditor examination now open, are not extended to Special Agent, Internal Revenue Agent or Zone Deputy Collector, because there will be separate examinations for these three titles.

"Separate examinations (for these three titles) will be announced at a later date," Director Rossell assured a LEADER reporter.

As soon as the examination is announced, full details concerning it will be published in The LEADER, which promptly publishes news of all examinations—Federal, State, county and city.

N.Y. Raises Tops, Survey Reveals

Comparing increases in pay granted by various States, usually in the form of emergency extra compensation, or bonus, the Public Administration Clearing House, 1313 East 60th Street, Chicago, reports New York State topped them all. It said:

"The biggest percentage increase in the current group of raises, roughly paralleling mounting living costs, is in New York, where State employees receiving $1,500 a year or less were given 30 per cent raises. Salaries were increased 26 per cent in the $1,500 to $2,000 range, 22 per cent in the $2,000 to $3,000 range, and 18 per cent in the $3,000 to $4,000 range. A 14 per cent raise with a maximum $1,000 increase was granted employees earning more than $4,000."

The percentages are cumulative since 1943.

Action in Other States

The comparison continued: "Several States have granted civil service pay raises recently to help maintain salaries abreast of mounting living costs and offset the tendency of employees to seek higher paying jobs in private enterprise.

"The Civil Service Assembly reports that recently California, Colorado, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Virginia and Wisconsin have adjusted pay scales of some civil servants, and that other States, including Maryland, are considering such action. "Emergency action just taken in Colorado raised highway department employees' pay in an effort to keep engineering and technical talent in civil service rather than allowing it to be syphoned into private industry by offers of more money. Temporary department raises were granted varying from $15 to $45 per month. Action on permanent raises of as much or more is expected in the near future.

"Rhode Island also raised the pay late last month of more than 300 civil servants many of whom are top-bracket personnel. The governor characterized the move as a step in the right direction but pointed out that State pay schedules were still out of line with private industry and the federal government. The increases totalled about $85,000 annually and were made retroactive to July 16.

Some Sliding Scales

"Virginia put into effect a new pay formula for all salaried State employees last month. Twenty-four per cent increases were granted on the first $1,200 of salary; 12 per cent increases on the next $3,400; and 6 per cent boosts on whatever fraction of the salary exceeded $4,600 per year. A salary ceiling of $10,000 for State employees was imposed.

"In Connecticut, sliding scale pay boosts for more than 14,000 State employees were made effective July 1. Civil servants receiving $1,980 or less were raised $200 while those with salaries between $1,980 and $6,000 received a $180 increase. No raise was given State employees already receiving $6,000 or more per annum.

The State Employee

By Frank L. Tolman
President, The Association of State Civil Service Employees

"WHAT IS A NURSE TO DO WHEN—"

FRANK AND FEARLESS consideration of the nursing situation in all State hospitals is long overdue. Two main issues are involved:

1. The necessary nursing care of patients.
2. Justice to those who have devoted or plan to devote their lives to one of the noblest and most exacting of all the professions.

The two objectives are inextricably intertwined. The minute you lower nursing standards, or pay nurses low salaries, to that degree or more, the patients suffer and die unnecessarily.

Nurses are scarce these days. Nurses' salaries, particularly in Federal Hospitals, are high.

There is a solution that has been adapted by the United States Civil Service Commission.

There is a palliative that is being applied by the State of New York. Webster defines "palliative" in its primary meaning, as "disguising and hiding" and in a secondary meaning, "to ease without curing." Surely the medical profession has a stake in finding a cure rather than a palliative for the nursing shortage. Let us consider the palliative first.

AN INSULTING CLASSIFICATION

The State has denied full professional recognition to graduate nurses. Hospital nurses, whether graduate nurses or not, are in the junior professional service, which is a disguised name for what was once correctly called the sub-professional service. The entire profession is hurt and insulted by this classification.

Nurses are underpaid in the State service and are therefore hard to get. Practical Nurses are suggested as a cheaper substitute. Free training is offered as an inducement with the result that many, if not most of the best trainees leave the State service when they find out the truth about working conditions and salary scales.

So much for the palliative—now what of the cure?

I suggest the following:

1. Full professional recognition by placing all nursing positions in the professional class, as has been done by the Federal Civil Service Commission.
2. Adequate salaries in general of at least the same level as is paid by the largest single employer of nurses—the U. S. government.
3. Classification of all nurses in the competitive class of the Civil Service.

Many nurses will agree with the first two propositions, but will hesitate to advocate the third. To them I say that the third is the foundation on which the first two must eventually stand. They surely do not fear testing of their qualifications either for appointment or for promotion. They should have the protection of tenure. But most of all, they need the recognition of professional status which is complete only when it rests solidly built into the fabric of civil service.

LABOR UNIONS IN GOVERNMENT

THE INSTITUTE ON POST-WAR RECONSTRUCTION is interested in human relations. It believes the development of teamwork in industry to be one of the discoveries of the war which should be carried over into the future to secure peace and prosperity in America.

WHAT WORKERS WANT

"Economic Affairs," the voice of the Institute finds that "workers want to be treated fairly with no favoritism and without being subject to the whim of . . . supervisors. They want also status on their job, a feeling of some importance—in the social system of the plant and in the community outside. In addition, at least the better workers want opportunity, a sense of getting somewhere, of progress and achievement. Perhaps the strongest desire of the worker is for security in his job."

WHY WORKERS ORGANIZE

"The individual worker is apt to feel himself alone in a hostile world.

"Since the world is too big for him, he is likely to attract himself to a group of co-workers with an informal leader." From such groups grow the labor unions. Such groups are usually protective devices against unfair practices.

"It is possible to transform such groups from the defense against management to teams working in whole-hearted cooperation with management."

This is not easy. It represents the next phase in the evolution of industrial management.

Some interesting experiments are noted of success in forming worker-management cooperation and team play as a result of the new cooperative technique. Morale was greatly improved. Production was greatly increased. The business itself was sometimes transformed.

It is evident that the moralization of industry as suggested by the Institute will bring about the end of strikes, but not the end of worker organizations.

The shop will become one big union or brotherhood and the laborer will have a real part in management.

Government is, I think, likely to attain real team-work and industrial peace more promptly than private industry.

UNIONS IN GOVERNMENT

Impartial observers of traditional labor unions in Government generally agree that trade unions do not work as well in Government as in private business. The union generally acts on the principle that the employer and the workers are and always must be implacable foes. They do not recognize the essential differences between employment under rules set by law in Government and rules set by contracts with private business. Certain labor unions are now preaching the old gospel of force in direct relation to government employment and in spite of no-strike pledges, and the Federal government is passing no-strike provisions in its appropriation acts.

While the unions prepare for war, the Association of State Civil Service Employees prepares for peace. It urges teamwork and fair play. It agrees with the Institute that no fundamental difference of interest divides the public employee from his employer, whether the word "employer" be taken to mean "Administration" or the people of the State.

It should be clear that the common interest is potent enough to make possible both teamwork and mutual understanding throughout the entire fabric of the public service. This will be easier by reason of those organizations of public employees which are motivated by the desire to make government the servant of all the people of the State, and to attain the fair demands of the employees by conference and mutual understanding.

A State employee demonstrates the ease with which chest X-rays can be taken under the auspices of the State Department of Health and the Personnel Council as part of the State-wide program aimed at the elimination of tuberculosis in New York State. All that is required is that the subject step before the X-ray machine, assume the posture taken by the model and hold such posture for a few seconds. To expedite the taking of the X-rays, the subjects will not be required to disrobe.

Special to The LEADER

ALBANY, Aug. 13—Governor Dewey wants every State employee to get a checkup through the State-wide chest X-ray service, to begin early next month. This free service is part of a general plan in the State to eliminate tuberculosis by 1965. The X-ray is speedy and does not require the removal of any clothing.

Compliance is entirely voluntary.

Close Co-operation

The State Health Department and the Personnel Council are co-operating in the State employee part of the endeavor.

Governor Dewey said: "When the cards for the X-ray service are distributed in your Department, I invite you to be first among the thousands who will welcome this opportunity.

"Your X-ray will take only a few seconds to complete, but its value will return to you a thousand fold in stamping out this dread disease from our generation and, I hope, from all generations to come."

Negotiations have been completed to have a commercial X-ray service company use its own equipment and supplies to do the actual X-raying of employees. This company will furnish to the Health Department finished X-ray films ready for interpretation, which will be made by the staff of the Tuberculosis Division. Detailed arrangements for this program, the cards to be filled out for each employee, the place and times of X-raying are being worked out.

Reports Secret

All X-ray reports will be confidential and sent directly to each employee in a sealed envelope. If abnormal findings are noted, a report will be sent to the employee's private physician and the employee advised to consult his physician for a more detailed interpretation of the film.

Veteran Preference Questions Answered

WHERE eligibles standing high on a list decline temporarily, and "military duty" eligibles at the bottom of the list thereby become reachable for certification and entitled to special eligible list status, do such "military duty" eligibles get priority in appointment over those standing higher on the regular eligible list who declined such appointments temporarily?—E. V.

No. Eligibles on a special eligible list get preference only over eligibles on a subsequent list and not over eligibles on the regular list.

MUST appointments from a special eligible list be made in 1, 2, 3 order?—J. B. E.

No. Appointments are made in the regular manner (i.e., one out of the highest three) subject to the preference rights of veterans and disabled veterans. If a special eligible list contains fewer than three names, none of whom are veterans, the appointing officer may consider the names of the special eligibles together with enough additional names from a subsequent list in order to give him a choice of one out of three.

IF THERE ARE several eligibles on a special eligible list for the same position, who were originally certified from different lists, in what relative order should they be certified from the special eligible list?—T. E.

In the order of the dates of their certifications from the regular eligible lists.

FOR WHAT period of time may an eligible on a special eligible list be certified?—L. V. E.

Eligibles on such list are entitled to be certified for the period of two years from the dates of termination of their military duty.

ON and after January 1, 1946, may an eligible list be deemed exhausted if it contains less than three eligibles, if one of such eligibles is a veteran?—W. T. O.

No. The veteran is entitled to preference in appointment on any list.

ON and after January 1, 1946, must veterans be appointed in the order of standing on the eligible list or may the appointing officer select any one of three veterans standing highest on the eligible list?—J. V. E.

The appointing officer may select any one of the three highest veterans on an eligible list. If there are only two veterans, he may select any one of the two. If there is one veteran, he must appoint such veteran before he can consider non-veterans.

WHERE a military eligible is appointed while on military duty, what are his rights?—T. E. L.

He is entitled to a mandatory leave of absence for the duration of his military duty and must be restored at the termination of his military duty with all the rights and privileges given to public employees on military duty.

WHERE a military eligible is appointed from an open competitive list while on military duty, must he serve a probationary term?—V.

If he continues on military duty for a period longer than the duration of the probationary term, he is deemed to have satisfactorily

'White Horse' in Mist Is Elusive Rare Deer

Special to The LEADER

BEAR MOUNTAIN, Aug. 13—Patrolman Joseph Martin of the Bear Mountain Police, while on patrol at the junction of the Breakneck-Johnstown Roads in the Harriman Section of the park, saw what appeared to be a white horse ahead, in the early morning mists. Knowing that there were no horses in this section, he made a closer examination and found it was a gigantic albino buck deer with a large spread of horns.

The deer has been reported seen in this same section by many other persons. However, the ever alert camera enthusiasts in following up on the story have not been able to get a picture of this rare animal. The park officials are anxious to obtain such a picture for display at the State Park, which has no albino deer pictures.

completed his probationary service. If his military duty covers a shorter period than his probationary term, he must serve the balance of his probationary term after restoration to his position.

WHERE ONE appointment is to be made and one of the three highest eligibles is on military duty, is the appointing officer's selection limited to the two remaining eligibles or should the name of another eligible be added to the certification?—L. K. G.

As an appointing officer is entitled to select any one out of the three highest eligibles available for appointment, another name should be added to the certification. The law gives an appointing officer the discretionary right to skip over eligibles on military duty and does not limit his prerogative of selecting one out of the three highest eligibles who are available for service.

Failure of 79th Congress To Exempt Pensions From Tax Is Deplored

Special to The LEADER

ALBANY, Aug. 13—The Association of State Civil Service Employees is disappointed that the 79th Congress did not see fit to act upon United States Senator James M. Mead's Senate Bill 2478, or Congressman William T. Byrne's House Bill 6140, which would have exempted from Federal income tax a part of the pensions received by State and other public workers. Other bills to carry out this exemption also failed to receive approval.

The Association has pointed out that the pensioner is in the class of citizens most adversely affected by the high cost of necessities of life. He has, of course, not shared in the helpfulness of increased wages coming to active workers.

As Ralph L. Van Name, Secretary of the New York City Employees' Retirement System, pointed out in an article in The LEADER on May 14, the imposition of income tax on retired public employees' pensions is not the result of any directive of Congress; Congress simply did not expressly exempt income of public pensioners from taxation and that inspired the Treasury Department practice of taxing such pensions. Says Mr. Van Name:

"There is no tenable argument for retaining the present system of taxation of pension and annuity, and Congress should hasten to remedy the Treasury's present injustice to public employees, which injustice has always lacked direct Congressional sanction."

Senator Mead and Congressman Byrne have both expressed to the Association regret for lack of action by Congress but have assured that they will continue their efforts for pension exemption from taxation through the passage of bills introduced by them or other measures with the new Congress.

WHAT EVERY STATE EMPLOYEE SHOULD KNOW

Preference Amendment Held Consistent With Provisions of the Federal Constitution

By THEODORE BECKER

THE VETERAN PREFERENCE amendment to the New York State Constitution (Article V, Section 6) does not violate the United States Constitution, according to an opinion rendered by the Supreme Court of New York County in a case involving eligibles on a NYC list. The principles involved apply equally to eligibles on State lists.

The case was brought by non-veteran eligibles on promotion lists for Captain, Lieutenant and Sergeant to have their names restored to the relative positions they occupied on December 31, 1945, the day before the constitutional amendment took effect.

Mostly World War I Vets

Most of the veterans whose names had been placed ahead of these non-veterans, had served in World War I. A considerably smaller number had served in World War II.

The petitioners urged that unless the constitutional preference were applied only to veterans of World War II and not to non-disabled veterans of World War I, there would be so many veterans entitled to preference that no non-veteran could be appointed or promoted. This result, they felt, would violate the "equal protection" clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Federal Constitution.

Equal Protection Not Denied

The court reviewed the authorities dealing with veterans preference in New York State and cited prior rulings to the effect that the preference to veterans is not a denial to others of equal protection of the law and where based on a provision in the State Constitution, is entirely proper.

The court stated that clear language of the constitutional amendment required the granting of preference to veterans of World War I as well as to those of World War II.

"A preference in appointment or promotion in the civil service position is in the nature of the payment of a debt of gratitude by the people of the State to persons who loyally served their country in time of war. The people may properly feel that passage of time should not dissipate or extinguish the debt of gratitude owing to veterans of wars prior to World War II."

Points Made by Court

Answering petitioners' argument regarding the freezing-out of non-veterans, the court made the following points:

1. The constitutionality of the preference should not depend on the ratio between the number of veterans preferred and the number of jobs to be filled.

2. There is no proof regarding the number of non-disabled veterans of wars prior to World War II who would be appointed.

3. The preference to non-disabled veterans is limited to a five-year period and is, therefore, not as drastic as urged.

Amendment Applies to Old Vets

Another issue raised by the petitioners and considered by the court was the applicability of the veterans preference amendment to eligible lists established prior to January 1, 1946.

Commenting on the Attorney-General's opinion of January 23, 1946, holding the amendment applicable to lists in existence before January 1, the court noted that this opinion was supported by Chapter 521 of the Laws of 1946. The court also pointed out that while the constitutional amendment may look to the future, as urged by the petitioners, the language of the amendment makes it applicable to future appointments and promotions rather than to future eligible lists.

Wisdom Not In Issue

Justice Koch, who decided the case against the petitioners, concluded his opinion in the following words:

"It is quite true that the three petitioners in the present proceedings will probably lose all chance of promotion for some time as the result of their being placed further down on eligible lists which are likely to expire before their names can be reached. It may also be true that their failure to render military service was involuntary on their part. Although one cannot but sympathize with them in the unfortunate position in which they find themselves as a result of the constitutional amendment, it must be borne in mind that any preference to some necessarily has an adverse effect on others. The people of the State decided to favor those who had served in active defense of their country over those who had not. It is neither necessary nor appropriate here to consider the wisdom of that decision." (Bateman v. Marsh.)

Firmer Eligible Lists Sought By NYC Board

One of the studies to be undertaken by the NYC Civil Service Commission is aimed at eliminating changes, so far as practicable, from eligible lists after they have been promulgated. Now changes are made often in long lists, because of the admission of candidates subject to correction, before appointment, of medical conditions or to investigation. Questions concerning character are usually involved in the investigation. If the conditions of both types could be eliminated, the average appointment opportunities of eligibles would be increased, as decisions that eliminate eligibles after promulgation would be decided before promulgation.

Commissioner Joseph A. McNamara is strongly interested in achieving the improved result, as part of the growing plan of the Commission, under the new presidency of Ferdinand Q. Morton, to expedite the promulgation of lists and to issue them only in the most stable form.

Appointment Order Favored

Study also will be made of the possibility of publishing or promulgating lists only when veteran preferences has been effectuated. The largest two lists recently issued gave the names of the candidates in the relative order of final average for Patrolman eligibles and written examination scores of Car Cleaner eligibles. The DVPC notation next to a name denoted disabled veteran preference claim and VPC, non-disabled veteran preference claim, but the list of names in order of appointment would have to show the disabled veterans in the top group, the non-disabled veterans next and the non-veterans last.

The Patrolman list was only "published," i.e., announced in the form of a list, to comply with the legal requirements of making the names known as soon as practicable, while the Car Cleaner list was promulgated, i.e., officially declared ready for appointment use, although in both instances the names were not only not in the appointment order, but the percentage standing gave every candidate on both lists a different, and usually far different, number than the final result, with veteran preference introduced, will require.

Candidates Can Help

The practice of promulgating an eligible list in the order of percentages, instead of in the order of appointment, was explained as being the quickest way, but the reforming of the list, by assuming preference claims to be valid, is only a one-day job, and efforts are expected to be made hereafter to promulgate, and even merely publish, lists with names in the order in keeping with the constitution and the civil service law.

U. S. Pension Gain Is Spur To NYC and State Workers

THE drive of public employees in local and State units of government for a revision of pension laws to grant retiring civil employes and annuitants benefits in accordance with today's conditions can gain new hope from a change in Federal retirement policies, effectuated by President Truman's signature of an amendment to the Civil Service Retirement Act.

Persons involuntarily separated from positions in the Federal service during a two-year period between July 1, 1945 and June 30, 1947, after having served 25 years or more and who at date of separation were 55 years of age or over, are now eligible for more liberal retirement annuities than previously permitted.

The new law provides for a more liberal method of computing annuities for such persons who are separated through no fault on their part.

Protects Old-Timers

Since V-J Day, large numbers of Government employes with long periods of service have been or will be separated because of curtailment of Federal activities or by the return of veterans to civilian employment. The amendment will provide such employes with retirement annuities more nearly approximating those they would have received if they had continued in the Federal service until they retired with full retirement benefits.

The provisions of the amendment cover persons who, during the two-year period, left the Federal service after involuntary separation and also those who accepted a lower-grade position after involuntary separation from a higher position since June 30, 1945 and who resigned or will resign prior to June 30, 1947. In the latter case, the separation from the lower-grade position may be voluntary and still qualify the individual for the benefits provided by the amendment.

Age 60 Retirement Is Basis

Retirement annuities provided for under the amendment will be the same as those paid employes retiring at the age of 60 (if they have 30 years of service) minus a deduction of 2 per cent for each full year the individual is under the age of 60. For persons with 25 years of service but less than 30, the deduction is 2 per cent for each full year the individual is under the age of 62. Fractional parts of a year will be given due consideration in determining the percentage of reduction.

Male annuitants with less than 30 years service who are eligible for the benefits of the new law formerly received, at the age of 55, annuities of approximately 56 per cent of the full rate paid employes retiring at the age of 62 (percentages for women were slightly higher), whereas under the amendment the annuity is 86 per cent of the full rate. Percentages now allowed under the amendment for men of other ages are: 56 years, 88 per cent; 57, 90 per cent; 58, 92 per cent; 59, 94 per cent; 60, 96 per cent; and 61, 98 per cent.

New York State employes, who have been working towards an equal contribution 55-year retirement, now have another cogent argument to present at the next session of the Legislature.

BETTER PUBLIC RELATIONS SOUGHT BY NYC POLICE

The establishment of improved public relations has become an integral function of the NYC Police Department with the addition of a new section of the Department's "Manual of Procedure" by Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallander.

The new section, titled "Public Relations," states in part:

"A uniform program of public relations shall be maintained throughout this Department. Although favorable publicity is highly desirable, it is only a minor part, as this program is not intended to be one of high pressure publicity or propaganda.

"Public relations in so far as it relates to this Department is the sum total of the attitudes, impressions and opinions of the public in its relationship with the Police Department.

"Good public relations are of paramount importance in securing for this Department the confidence, respect and approval of the public. Such an attitude on the part of the public will assist this Department tremendously in the efficient performance of its various functions."

Merit Man

The Master Sergeant with Vision

JAMES A. DEUCHAR

HE IS an unusual position, says James A. Deuchar. He is a State employee, because the State pays him, and he is a member of the State Employees' Retirement System, but is under military law and depends for promotion on the recommendations of the commanding officer.

He describes his duties as those of a technical man at the 5th Regiment Armory in The Bronx. They include everything from typist to cook. Repair of small arms is part of his job.

He started in that service almost 30 years ago and was first a NYC employee, but came under the State when a change in the law brought NYC armories under State government.

Travels on Maneuvers

An old-time Regular Army man, he served in the Field Artillery from 1910 to 1913 and maintained an active membership in the National Guard since leaving the Regular Army. His National Guard rating was Master Sergeant when the Guard was Federalized in October, 1940, but the Army examiners figured that there were enough younger men in the outfit to do the fighting, so he was mustered out.

Now part of his job is to travel on maneuvers with his regiment and he has just returned from a jaunt out to Ardsley, where three machine gun companies practiced.

He is married and has a son, Robert, 28, who recently was discharged from service and is working for a NYC bank. At the time of his marriage, the now Mrs. Deuchar was a script girl in the movies.

Salaries Same As In '24

Adding a bit more about his peculiar status, he points out that the Armory workers are under military schedules, not Feld-Hamilton, and that there hasn't been a salary revision for them since 1924.

The Armory Employee's Association, which he headed for seven years, and which, it is reported, he will head again, come the November election, has a membership of 97 per cent of eligible employes, and became affiliated with the Association of State Civil Service Employees soon after the men came into the State service and were qualified for membership. The Armory Association includes employes of armories in all five boroughs of NYC, and Mr. Deuchar visualizes a similar chain of armory groups, organized on City-wide or brigade basis, all affiliated with the State Association for their mutual advantage.

McManus Named to NYC Insurance Post

Arthur T. McManus has been appointed Director of Information, Health Insurance Plan of Greater N. Y. Mr. McManus will be associated with Robbins and Barber, public relations counsel to HIP. Mr. McManus was Deputy Manager of the Payroll Savings Division of the War Finance Committee for New York for nearly five years. He will continue to serve the Treasury Department as industrial relations consultant.

DEWEY APPOINTMENT

William G. Yungstrom, of Elmira, was named by Gov. Dewey Treasurer of Chumung County.

State Library's Exhibit Opens Vista of History

By Charles F. Gosnell

State Librarian

All kinds of public records, ranging from the Minutes of the Ulster County Court of 1711 to papers of the New York State Assembly Ways and Means Committee for 1943, are now on display for visitors to the State Library in Albany.

The exhibition was planned to show public officials, historians and all others interested, how much archives and manuscript records are preserved and made available in the State Library. Miss Edna Jacobsen, Head of the Manuscripts and History Section of the Library, selected and arranged the material.

The outstanding record on display is the official text of the State constitution, which was framed in convention assembled on June 1, 1846, and adopted on November 3 of that year, a century ago.

FAREWELL TO FEUDAL SYSTEM

The feudal-like system of land tenure which had prevailed in the State and which was the cause of anti-rent riots and other disturbances, was abolished by the 1846 constitution, which forbade the granting of leases for a period longer than twelve years. On display are perpetual leases and three life leases, which constitute part of the State Library's large holding of archives relating to land, as well as field books of surveyors and manuscript maps. One volume contains Christopher Hurlburt's surveys of State and other roads in 1813; other volumes relate to Benjamin Wright's surveys in the Eleven Towns in Black River, 1796, and in parts of Scriba's Patent 1795. Among the other State archives exhibited are two volumes of official records of the New York-Pennsylvania boundary survey, marriage bonds previous to 1784, and an official list of fifty-six persons banished in 1779 from New York State because of Loyalist sympathies.

Local archives—of town, city, and village—represent various phases of local government activities, including town meetings, school matters, and taxation. One document on display is the volume of Minutes of the Albany Common Council 1636-1694, the first entry in which, July 26, 1686, records the arrival of the Dongan Charter brought from New York City to Albany by Pieter Schuyler and Robert Livingston.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR'S USO

Articles of incorporation, lists of stockholders and certificate of incorporation of the Meredith Turnpike Company, signed by Governor William H. Seward, February 8, 1842, represent another type of official records to be found at the State Library. Book A, 1777-1778, Contingent expenses and abstracts of sales of the Commissioners of Sequestration for Tryon (now Montgomery) County, furnishes official data on the activities of that group of patriots, who performed services similar to the present day USO and American Red Cross.

amendment to the Constitution of the sex qualification for suffrage."

There were charges for transporting families, one group being carried ninety and one-half miles in two sleighs early in January, 1778; for payments to women working in harvest fields; for funerals; and for the care of children left homeless.

Archives of various kinds of semi-public or private organizations are represented by the minutes of the A. M. Welles Hook and Ladder Company 1 of Salem, Washington County, 1875-1879; records of the Putnam County Agricultural Association, 1880-1916; and the minute book, 1891-1896, of the Cattaraugus County Political Equality Club. That club, meeting in convention May 25, 1893, resolved to use its utmost endeavors "to secure the election of such candidates for delegates to the coming constitutional convention as are to be relied on to vote and work for an amendment to the Constitution of the State of New York to remove

Fire Gun Club Active
Editor, The LEADER:

The response from old and new members of the N. Y. Fire Department Rifle and Revolver Club is very heartening since the publication of articles about it in The LEADER. Seems they all read it and look for Gun Club news as desert after the excellent and complete coverage of civil service information and events.

Plan for U. S. Transfers
Editor, The LEADER:

The United Public Workers of America suggested that Executive Order 9691 be amended, so that in the future, all agencies would be required to hire employes for temporary positions from registers set up by the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

This suggestion seems meaningless, for there are at present very few vacancies left in most of the agencies. I would further advise that when these registers are set up, they contain all former permanent employes who lost their job because of the abolishment of the department. The Commission should grade their qualifications and require the agency to hire them in the highest grade. Choice of department should be left to the desire of the employee. Since temporary persons are holding down these positions, these positions should be considered as open and these employes immediately replaced.

State Pay Rise Needed

Editor, The LEADER:

I believe that immediate request should be brought by State employes to the Governor for an adjustment in State salaries to compensate for the least 20 per cent rise in the cost of living in the past two months. I know that the Association is doing everything possible but I believe that all of the members should write in and express their complaints.

The cost of living bonus that the Legislature gave us beginning April 1, 1946, in no way represented the entire increase in cost of living since these salaries were set up, and we now have another 20 per cent rise in the cost of living and no relief in sight before the next fiscal year.

It has been necessary for me to accept outside employment for the past five years to pay medical fees and provide my family with a few of the luxuries of life. Now I cannot even provide my family with the necessities of life from by State salary and must accept outside employment to provide for them. Certainly the salary system will have to be revised on a temporary basis before the end of this fiscal year.

TRUMAN TELLS WARRING OFFICIALS TO SETTLE THEIR DISPUTE OVER NEW CIVIL SERVICE RULES

Special to The LEADER
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 — A dispute between the Budget Bureau and the U. S. Civil Service Commission has held up further the new rules for civil service procedure that were to have been announced three weeks ago.

At the advice of the Budget Bureau, President Truman refused to put his signature on the new rules and regulations.

In a memo to the President, it was learned, the Budget Bureau told Mr. Truman that the new set of rules would be completely "unworkable" and recommended a veto.

The Commission, in opposition to the Budget Bureau, asked the President to ignore the recommendation and to sign the proposed new rules. President Truman was told by the Commission that the new laws were definitely workable and should be made into law.

President Truman countered by ordering the heads of both agencies to get together and settle the issue amicably. Thus far there has been no success.

Post Office Test Beats Schedule

A full week's notice has been given to candidates in the Postal examination for Clerk and Carrier. The test is keeping even beyond schedule.

The temporary employees now in those titles are being examined now, and this group will finish up by Thursday, after which examination of the general public will be resumed.

The examination will wind up on August 30. More than 45,000 applications were received, about 11,000 from Postal employees.

WELFARE EXAM DENIED
 Welfare Department's request for a promotion examination to Administrative Assistant (Building Management) has been denied by the NYC Civil Service Commission.

RECLASSIFICATION ASKED
 Board of Education has requested the Civil Service Commission to place the title Second Assistant Secretary in the Competitive Class.

REDUCTION IN FORCE
 Editor, The LEADER:
 With reference to my letter which you so kindly published in the Aug. 6 issue, I stated that the U. S. reduction in force could have been solved in a large measure by the retirement of 30-year employees. The word "avoided" appeared in print instead of "solved."

ANNA E. DALTON

Ensign Rating Open to Nurses; 1,000 Vacancies

The Navy needs 1,000 Nurses now, said Commander John L. Maloney, U.S.N., Director of Naval Officer Procurement, New York.

The return to civilian life of many thousands of nurses who served in the Navy during the war has left the Navy Nurse Corps numerically incapable of coping with the problems of convalescence and rehabilitation resulting from service-incurred illnesses and injuries, he said.

Naval hospitals are overcrowded with Navy and Marine Corps sick and wounded.

Where to Apply

Appointments in the rank of Ensign, Navy Nurse Corps, are now being made. An Ensign receives a base pay of $180 per month plus monthly payments for subsistence and quarters where such are not provided by the Navy. Applicants must be between the ages of 22 and 30 inclusive and unmarried (widows and divorcees are accepted). Other basic qualifications are at least ten years' American citizenship, graduation from a school of nursing, registration, and good physical condition. Apply to Navy Procurement, 90 Church Street, Manhattan.

FIREMEN AID HOSPITAL
 In "appreciation of service" members of the 13th, 50th and 51st battalions of the Fire Department have forwarded a check to The Jamaica Hospital Building and Expansion Program. The gift was the first money received in the drive to make possible a greater Jamaica Hospital building to provide added facilities.

120-Word Speed for Steno Test

Special to The LEADER
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 — Preparations are being made for calling the exams for higher grade civil grades of Clerk-Stenos and Clerk-Typists. The LEADER learned exclusively today. The positions cover the grades above CAF-3 and will compare generally with the old Senior Stenographer exams. The last exam given compared with the old Junior Steno exams.

The higher grade exam will, it is understood here, require a speed of 120 words a minute, whereas the lower grade jobs, those for which tests already were given, required about 96 words a minute.

Work is meantime continuing in preparation for the calling of the overall Clerk exam — which will be announced immediately after the higher grade Clerk-Steno and Typist exams.

It is considered certain that both exams will be announced in about a month, although there is a possibility of delay due to legal technicalities.

HOLM A VETERAN
 William Holm, eligible number 2788 on the NYC Patrolman list is a veteran. Through a transposition, his name appeared in The LEADER's list last week as a non-veteran.

Disabled Vets' U.S. Job Search Is Made Easier

By F. X. CLANCY
 Veterans with 10 per cent or greater disability, who desire to have Federal examinations reopened to them, will improve their opportunities of getting a job if they apply for positions which are or will likely be in the active category.

Although the opportunity for them to file for all examinations held within the specified period exists, there are no real opportunities in some titles, because of no vacancies.

A large percentage of the disabled veterans want to be Customs Guard (new title, Port Patrol Officer), or Customs Inspector, but there are no vacancies open to the public, largely because of the restoration of returning veterans to their jobs. The value to disabled veterans of having these exams reopened is rated at nearly zero.

Present prospects for Clerk are also poor.

On the other hand, the Federal government needs Stenographers. Disabled veterans, with their long period of opportunity and non-disabled veterans, taking advantage of the opportunity to apply for an examination within 120 days after their discharge, have excellent prospects of a Stenographer job after getting on the register.

Total Needs Unknown
 The total needs of the Federal service in the Second Region, and in fact throughout the country, are still unknown, and will not be accurately determined until examinations now in progress as well as the series of examinations planned to begin in the fall are completed, and the departments and agencies then report their needs in reference to the new registers of eligibles.

The problem of how to obtain preference confuses many veterans. Many think that the U. S. Civil Service Commission is the only agency to apply to for preference.

It is not. The veteran, if claiming disability, must obtain a statement from the Veterans Administration of its existence and percentage, and must submit his honorable discharge paper. These factors are absolute necessities in hiring and it is up to the Federal departments and agencies to satisfy themselves that the requirements have been met.

Lists May Be Consulted
 Disabled veterans, who may have recent examinations reopened to them at any time, and non-disabled veterans who may apply within 120 days after their discharge, even though the examination is closed to non-veterans, may consult the list of recent examination in the files of the Civil Service LEADER at 97 Duane Street, New York 7, N. Y., or the U. S. Civil Service Commission's bulletin board at Room 203, 641 Washington Street, New York 14, N. Y.

500 Jobs Open As Social Worker At $3,397 Up

Special to The LEADER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The Veterans Administration is now accepting applications from 500 social workers who will be appointed to Social Worker positions, which are almost certain to become permanent.

The positions, graded P-2 through P-5, pay from $3,397 through $5,905 per annum.

The training required for these positions is set at a minimum of one year at an accepted school of social work and one year of experience. Higher grades require greater training.

The positions offered are officially listed as indefinite war service appointments. The Civil Service Commission, however, is planning to issue a call for an unwritten (unassembled) exam for the position, and the experience gathered at VA, it is expected, will practically assure the permanency of the job finally.

The positions are open to men and women. Veteran preference will be given, but the requirements must be met by veterans as well as non-veterans. The positions will be in VA hospitals, VA offices and VA sub-regional establishments.

Applications are being received at the Veterans Administration, Personnel Office, Washington 25, D. C. and at VA at 299 Broadway in NYC, at the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

It's full blast ahead at the Municipal Civil Service Commission's offices on rating the papers of the potential 3rd and 4th Grade Clerks. All who participated in those exams are veterans. Will Sergeant Georgie Groves and Patrolman Bill Robbins, both Police Department eye-openers, be rewarded for nabbing that Morgan Mansion thief?

Budget Examiner John Osborne, of the Municipal Building's 12th floor, busiest man in town, meeting all of those celebrities, etc., in addition to his regular duties as a Budget Examiner, is on vacation.

Ex-veterans Tom Ferrick, Georgie Byrne and Irving Platnick readying themselves to display their manly torsos on the city's beaches for the Park Department. Frank Hamill and Ed O'Donnell are now in the Budget Examiner's service instead of at their old clerical service, the lucky stiff.

A bigger crackdown on restaurant owners is due. Chief Magistrate Edgar Bromberger is keeping the Manhattan Municipal Term Court open during August.

Excited in the Police Commissioners' office were those popular Police Lieutenants Andy McKeon (Arsenal Pct., Central Park) and Herby O'Brien (Hdqtrs), who were promoted to Inspector by the Mayor.

Minnie Riegelhaupt, of Purchase, has that gleam in her eye. So has Eileen Doody of Sanitation, war canteen chanteuse, who spent so much time entertaining the boys during the fracas. Eileen's gleam is for her lost fountain pen.

Nicest boy in town candidate: Johnny Lapelusa of the Department of Hospitals.

Ben Goldberg finally an electrician for Public Works.

Two deserving promotions were Johnny Lynam and Bob Duffy, to Tunnel Sergeants with the Triborough Bridge Authority. TBA's Alice McDonnell is tops among the city's hello girls.

City's rating system is due for once over soon.

Louis Babott, Charley Kahn and Avel Goldsmith on the Assistant Supervisor list in Welfare, were promoted. They're disabled veterans.

Engineers on preferred lists are howling because several large engineering jobs were recently given out to private interests—Transportation Power Modernization project, Staten Island Ferry Terminal and Idlewild Airport.

Police Deputy Inspector Jimmy Meehan picked twenty horses. No, not Saratoga, but for the P.D. Traffic Division.

Debonair bow-tie wearer makes good: Herman Racer, of Board of Water Supply, is now a fourth grade Clerk.

Malcolm Manning, Negro Benevolent's prexy in Sanitation, got married.

Board of Estimate gave Lewis Lang more power. Lewis is a long-time city employee and has risen to the First Deputy Comptrollership.

Although Tommy Anderson, Joe Hofmann, Joe Keenan, George Finley, Joe Pater and Johnny Britt got that $500 increase because they jumped from Police Sergeant to Police Lieutenant, they are waiting until they see it in writing on one of Father Knick's checks before spending it.

Annie Cohen (nee Weintraub), Abe's wife, is looking peachy. Both newlyweds work on Sanitation's seventh floor.

Everybody was thrilled when Janet Patto, Parks Department, was promoted to Assistant Landscape Architect.

Slickest hair in town is worn by Clarence Severn, Budget Examiner.

Bill McCurdy is doing a fine job taking the place of Bill Ellard who's on vacation. Ellard is head of the Real Estate Bureau in the Municipal Building.

The law got the last laugh when Walter Foden and Tom Farrell collared "laughing thugs." Police Commissioner Wallander made a surprise visit to the line-up room to personally congratulate Walt and Tom.

Personnel Jobs Open In Washington State

Non-residents of the State of Washington are eligible for the examinations for Junior and Senior Personnel Technicians, just announced by the Washington State Personnel Board.

College graduates with some experience in personnel work are sought for the positions, which range from $220 to $400 a month, including bonus. If a sufficient number of candidates apply, tests will be held outside the State of Washington.

Complete details are obtainable from Merit System Supervisor, 1209 Smith Tower, Seattle 4, Washington.

Vet Eligibles with Nervous Disability Fail to Get O.K. for NYC Police Jobs

The 182 disabled veterans on the Patrolman (P.D.) list are posing a serious problem for the NYC Civil Service Commission in processing the list of eligibles for appointment to the Police Department. So far the Commission has approved all the disabled veterans eligibles on whose cases final action was taken. They had met the rigid physical and medical requirements of the original examination and were called in for a medical re-check of the condition on which the disability claim was granted.

However, 21 per cent of the disability claims presented have been on psycho-neurotic or nervous conditions, and the Commission has deferred final action on those. Before acting on these eligibles the Commission will require extensive psychiatric examinations and a thorough investigation of the past life of the eligible to make certain that no mental impairment exists which might limit usefulness as a member of the Police force.

The Commission has a policy of rejecting veterans whose disability is definitely psycho-neurotic, although it is aware that "nervousness" is a blanket disability claim, pending definite diagnosis of disability by the Veterans Administration, hence does not rely on blanket disability.

d. Intoxication.
e. Conduct unbecoming an officer.
f. Making a false official statement.

g. Conviction in a court having criminal jurisdiction, may be

i. Dismissed from the department or

ii. Suffer such other punishment as the Police Commissioner may direct.

6. Disorder or neglect to the prejudice of good order, efficiency, or discipline, though not specifically mentioned in the Rules and Regulations, will be taken cognizance of by the Police Commissioner.

P. Suspension

1. A Policeman under suspension, pending charges on trial, shall

a. Surrender all departmental property.

b. All pistols or revolvers.

2. Shall not wear uniform during suspension.

RESIGNED LABORERS' RULE

The NYC Civil Service Commission is considering changing rules covering reinstatement of resigned laborers.

FIRMER ELIGIBLE LISTS SOUGHT

erence claims is largely up to the candidates or eligibles, as with the proper credentials from the Veterans Administration, and submission of honorable discharge, the claim can be readily decided. The investigation function in other particulars is usually more time-consuming, and it is expected that an effort will be made to increase the staff of the Commission's Bureau of Investigation.

Take Much Time

The medical conditions take considerable time, too, because of the examination of the eligibles.

The medical conditions could be required to be remedied sooner, i.e., in time for promulgation, rather than merely to require the WILLIAM J. POWELL, NYC Sanitation Commissioner, has announced that a departmental training course for the promotion examination to Assistant Foreman will start on Aug. 22. More than 800 already have signed up for the course. Mr. Powell will deliver a technical lecture himself.

correction prior to appointment. There are about 300 eligibles on the Patrolman list who were conditionally admitted. They had remediable medical defects.

Lists Become Smaller

It is quite possible that a fair proportion of these will fail to have the condition corrected before appointment time, which, like the deferred investigation cases that turn out unfavorable to the candidate, would reduce the number of final eligibles. Thus the Patrolman list, limited by the mark of the 3,000th candidate in order of final average, will not contain as many as 3,000 effective names; nor will the forthcoming Fireman list contain the full 1,500 for the same reasons, unless the reforms are instituted in time.

PLANNING CAMPAIGN
Most job-hunters never stop to think through their vocational problem. Planning a job campaign means more than visiting a few agencies and reading a few ads. Disorganized job-hunting usually ends in unemployment. Read "An Employment Directory to Jobs in New York City" for tips on how to plan a job-campaign. The booklet is distributed free by the savings banks in the city.

By lectures aided by the use of demonstrative apparatus, such as tank truck covers, license tags, sketches of gasoline and fuel oil tank trucks, sections of air conditioning and refrigerating systems with cross sectional views and diagrams, dummy dynamite sticks, packing cases and time fuses, and nitro-cellulose carrying containers. Answering of verbal questions by civilian members of the Division of Combustibles who are specialists in the particular subject on which they lecture.

The moral responsibility of Fire Hazard Inspectors is stressed; pointing out that the lives and property of the public are dependent in many instances on their ability to discover hazardous conditions which can be remedied by enforcement orders.

Motor and Pump Operators' School

PURPOSE: To obtain the maximum degree of efficiency in the care handling, maintenance and operation of motors and pumps used in the fire service. The accomplishment of this purpose is sought by:

- Promptness in response to alarms.
- Prompt and effective delivery of fire streams.
- Reduction of the number of accidents involving fire apparatus.
- Reduction of costs of maintenance and repairs.
- Maintaining apparatus in the best serviceable condition at all times.
- Apparatus is expensive—carelessness and ignorance should be eliminated in handling it.

PLAN OF OPERATION:

Company Commanders select men to operate motors and pumps, the names of men selected are submitted to the officer in command of the School.

At intervals, groups of men are ordered before the Medical Board of the Fire Department for examination to qualify them physically for such duty. Those found unfit are no longer permitted to drive or operate fire apparatus.

Classes are formed and the names of those selected to attend together with the dates of attendance, are promulgated in the Special Orders.

The number of groups attending classes and the number of members assigned to each group varies according to the system under which they are working. In the old system 6 groups attend, in the other systems 5 groups.

The number of men assigned to each group varies from 10 to 20.

The members attend on their off-duty periods.

Each member attends 10 classes. There is a morning class each day, except Sundays and Holidays, and an afternoon class nearly every day. Members are required to take notes before and after the lecture or during recess.

The entire class takes a written examination on the last day. A member who fails in the written examination or who is guilty of inattention or indifference during the lectures, is no longer permitted to operate the motors and pumps. If the member has any doubts as to the correctness of his answer, or if he feels that he did not understand the question, the examiner explains the problem and, if necessary, takes him to the piece of demonstrative apparatus involved in the question.

An instructor is on duty before and after each session to give individual instruction to a member who has previously graduated from the school, and to answer questions.

Those who graduate are put on list and designated as motor and pump operators, and must be used as such in their own companies or in any other company to which they may be transferred, in preference to any other member not previously designated as such.

COURSE OF STUDY:

Care of apparatus: Cleaning, examining, tightening bolts, nuts, etc., lubrication, removing oil pump, test oil in crank-case.

Carburation: Operation, cleaning, adjusting.

High tension currents: Generators—firing order.

Batteries: Construction, current developed, battery ignition, generator cut out.

Clutches: Paris, adjustments, relationship to other parts of motors and pumps.

Pumps for discharging hose streams: Types as: Ahrens Fox, etc.

Operation of Pumps: From hydrants, relaying water, discharging streams at fixed pressure.

Operation of Pumps: Developing pressures.

Standpipe operation: Relationship to Fire Pump service in buildings. Pressure is required to raise water in high buildings.

Fire Hydrants: Care, construction and use; size of water main connected to hydrants.

Draughting Water: From cellars of buildings and from rivers, lakes, etc., use of various pumps, priming pump and discharging of streams.

Last Day: Written examination, instruction on driving, motion pictures of lubrication.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION:

Lectures aided by use of demonstrative apparatus with cross-sectional views of motors, pumps, and their essential parts. Parts of motors and pumps, showing excessive wear due to improper care or lack of lubrication, are used to impress on the student the necessity of careful examination of these parts.

Moral responsibility of motor and pump operators is stressed. Safety of members of Department and Public is dependent upon them while the apparatus is responding to fires or returning from them and during operation at fires.

The instruction and testing of the operator's ability to handle the pumps and to deliver effective fire streams is given at a dock; other instructions given at the Motor and Pump Operators' School.

Under the Helmet

Assistant Chief of Department Edward G. Conway is designated in command of the uniformed force until the return of Acting Chief of Department Frank Murphy from his vacation leave. . . . Curtis W. Pierce, President of the Factory Insurance Association, was elected to replace Richard E. Vernor as President of the NFPA at the recent 50th annual meeting held in Boston. . . . The National Board of Fire Underwriters estimates the U. S. fire loss for May, 1946, at $46,094,000. This shows a net gain of 11 per cent over May, 1945. . . . Note that the compensation of the Marine Stokers, Bureau of Fire is now at the rate of $2,850 per annum. . . . The mother of Capt. Daniel F. Farren, E. 7, died.

It would take a fireman to do something like this: Out in Teaneck, a fireman bought a six-room house for one dollar. Fred Fader, a City Fireman, bid that amount at a sale by the Town Council, which later notified him that he had to move it away, because the city needed the land.

A Committee of Firemen Veterans are sending out requests to those appointed to the Department under Special Order No. 103 (1944) to attend a meeting to be held at Wederman's Hall, Third Avenue and 16th Street, Manhattan, on August 16 at 8 p.m. . . . The Fire Department Post No. 930, Sons of the American Legion, will hold a meeting in the Hotel Martinique tomorrow evening at 8:30 p.m. . . . Smoke Ejector and Foamite Truck No. 1 has been temporarily placed out of service and is now undergoing a repainting job in the Long Island City Shop where it will lose its drab war gray and return a bright Fire Dept. red as it should be. . . . At that second alarm fire in Prospect Avenue, Brooklyn, much mention was made of the heroism of the Police Sergeant who sounded the alarm and did some rescue work. Full credit to him! But no mention was made of the rescue of the aged woman from the second floor by Firemen Orlo Adams and Frank Hottenroth of H. & L. 131. . . . One of the first acts at the Convention of the New York State Fire Association was the installation of the Uniformed Fire Officers Association of New York City, Local 8540, IAFF, as a member local. . . . The UFOA will be represented at the New York State AFL convention at Rochester by President Elmer Ryan, two secretaries and ABC Winford L. Beebe. . . . The City of Brotherly Love is checking up on its night clubs as well as hotels. The latest club to be closed by fire regulations was Philly's Walton Roof Garden. . . .

Raze Brooklyn "Death Traps"
The City has opened a drive to rid Brooklyn of some 1,600 buildings that have become eyesores and fire hazards. Last week the Department of Housing and Buildings began accepting demolition bids for fourteen of that Borough's "death traps." This idea could well spread to some of the other parts of the City where any Fire Inspector could tell you of more "death traps" in the forms of abandoned structures and the like, long boarded up, many in a state of collapse. Many of these empty houses and lofts become irresistible to children as places of play and more than one serious fire has been started by them. Deputy Building Commissioner Morris C. Comar, under whose direction the buildings will be razed is to be commended for finally getting action on this score.

Forthcoming Social Events

Deputy Chief Taubert Saw Plenty of Action in the Philippines

The postman brought in this interesting note about the military career of Deputy Fire Chief Taubert:

While not a veteran in the sense that he did not serve during a war, Deputy Chief Taubert did see plenty of guerrilla action during his service with the U. S. Army Engineers, 1907-11, in many islands of the Philippines, at the same time being engaged in topographical surveys and designing and constructing foundations for the island of Corregidor in Manila harbor. Foreign service was so arduous that for every year's service, an additional year was credited towards retirement. The pay was $12.50 per month for buck privates. The Sarge, as we old-timers who worked with Chief Taubert knew him, got more. Many of the men succumbed to the disease of the island, Cholera and Dysentery claimed a great number. Malaria and Dengue fever attacks were common. The Sarge had them all and weathered them successfully, suffering occasionally attacks from the fever some years after his return. Dengue, and the care of it, were unknown in U. S. A. for many years. AL FRIEDMAN

FRED SCHEER A VETERAN

The name of Fred Scheer was listed under non-veterans on the Patrolman (P.D.) list in last week's LEADER. This was an error. Mr. Scheer is a veteran.

alarm offenders. So far the judges seem to be rather reluctant to follow the suggestion, however. While admitting that false alarms constitutes a real menace to fireman, the majority of the magistrates seem to think that each case should be decided on its merits and the penalty imposed accordingly. The magistrates have been imposing increased penalties lately, but the desired results do not seem to have been achieved. The July, 1946, false alarms were 1,085, the second largest number in the past decade. Unless something drastic is done to discourage the pranksters, firemen will go on risking their lives unnecessarily.

Amusement

By J. RICHARD BURSTIN

CARY GRANT, now appearing at the Hollywood Theatre in "Night and Day"

Audience participation in radio broadcasts is nothing new, but audience reaction to and participation in juke-box records is a little unusual. This latest idea was cooked up by Audience Records, Inc., a new organization owned by top radio stars and old-timers in the amusement field. Among the prominent stockholders and directors are Edgar Bergen, the George Burns, Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor, Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll (Amos and Andy), Ed (Archie) Gardner and the James Jordenses (Fibber and Mollie McGee). The recordings will be made at the broadcasting studios and theatre stages before a typical radio audience so that the reaction becomes a part of the manufactured disc.
Make way for a new show at Leon & Eddie's tonight. Jackie Whelan is back and it's all out for fun!

Frank McHugh and Marsh Hunt are in town for the filming of "Carnegie Hall."

Katherine Hunham's School of Dance and Theatre has faculty which include a voodoo priest from the West Indies, a professor of philosophy from Paris, and a former criminal investigator in Germany turned costume designer.

Little "Butch" Jenkins is now at State in his new-found stardom, in the M-G-M picture "Boy's Ranch." The dancing Nicholas Brothers are on the stage with "Dizzy" Smith of the Aldrich series as an added attraction.

When Ruth Hussey drops out of "State of the Union" this fall to welcome the stork, Kay Francis will take over the feminine lead in the show.

Two AFL Councils To Meet This Week

New York State Councils 30 and 44 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFLE) will hold two-day conventions at the Hotel Powers, Rochester, August 17 and 18. Council 30 is composed of local unions whose membership is confined to employees of cities and counties within the confines of New York State, and Council 44 is composed of local unions whose membership is confined to New York State employees.

A legislative program to be presented to the 1947 Legislature will be discussed.

Speakers invited to address the delegates are President Thomas Murray and Secretary-Treasurer Harold Hanover of the New York State AFL.

UFOA Asks Unity Of Fire Officers

Thanks O'Dwyer for Signing Pension Bills—Hopes Members of Old-Line Groups Will Join Association

A powerful plea for unity of all officers of the NYC Fire Department was issued by the Executive Board of the Uniformed Fire Officers, an AFL affiliate, after Mayor O'Dwyer signed 3 local laws granting that group and the Uniformed Pilots and Marine Engineers' Association membership on the Board of Trustees of the Fire Department Pension and related funds.

With a plea to all officers to "bury the hatchet" and work together for their mutual benefit, Deputy Chief Henry J. Wittekind, of the UFOA Executive Committee, who spoke at the hearing before the Mayor on the proposed law, later said that the time had arrived to forget all past differences and that signing of the new law should signalize the end of the family quarrel between the old-line officers' association with the UFOA.

95 Per Cent Goal Sought

"At present," said Chief Wittekind, "the UFOA represents 85 per cent of all Fire Department officers and within a few months will have a 95 per cent membership."

He added that all the officers of the Fire Department now gain representation on the Pension Fund board through the UFOA.

"The enactment of the local laws," he said, "gives active organizations representation on the Board in place of inactive or liquidated organizations."

The end of the organizational controversy among Fire officers was welcomed by Chief Wittekind, who pointed out that all the Fire officers have the same goals and objectives. He welcomed members of the older groups into the UFOA, stating that the UFOA could profit by their experience and advice and that they enjoyed the esteem of the present UFOA membership.

On behalf of the UFOA, Chief Wittekind expressed the thanks of the UFOA to Commissioner Frank J. Quayle, of the Fire Department, for his support of the bills and to The LEADER, which campaigned for the change in the pension board; also to Councilman S. Samuel DiFalco, sponsor of the bills and Council Vice-Chairman Joseph T. Sharkey, the Majority Leader, who spurred action on the measure.

Praises O'Dwyer

"Mayor O'Dwyer," Chief Wittekind said, "deserves the thanks of every Fire officer for signing the law. He weighed the arguments carefully and decided understandingly."

The change in the pension board, which had the full support of the Uniformed Firemen's Association, becomes effective Monday, September 23.

At the next meeting of the UFOA, it is expected that a resolution will be introduced allowing retired Fire officers to retain their membership in the Association. Under present rules, an officer may lose his membership in the UFOA on his retirement from the Fire Department. Reduced dues will be proposed for pensioned members, and means for admitting existing pensioners discussed.

Hell-of-a-Swell Guy Bill O'Dwyer Hails Secretary Donoghue's Loyalty

By H. J. BERNARD

To Mayor William O'Dwyer of NYC the epitome of loyalty is his Executive Secretary, William J. Donoghue.

"Bill Donoghue is the kind of fellow who is your friend through thick and thin, and not only when the going is smooth. His loyalty and devotion command the highest laurels."

The first time that Bill Donoghue ever laid eyes on Mr. O'Dwyer was about 16 years ago, when, as an enterprising reporter, Donoghue got the exclusive report that Mr. O'Dwyer was to be named a Magistrate. There is always color and Algerian romance in the news of a policeman rising to the judiciary. Donoghue did a fine, heart-felt story on the subject. The prospective Magistrate never forgot it, nor the man who wrote it.

What was Donoghue's first impression of the prospective Magistrate and future General and Mayor?

"He struck me at once as being a hell of a swell guy," says Donoghue.

He Can Take It

Not only has nothing ever occurred to tempt him to change that opinion, but the years have convinced him that it was too temperate. Bill O'Dwyer grows on one, in Donoghue's opinion, and he is highly gratified to be of assistance to the Mayor in the tough job of running the Big City. Time and effort mean nothing to Donoghue; he is a spendthrift with them, in the good cause. Fortunately, he has a rugged physique, can take it, and more. A friend said that the only way anybody could knock him out would be to shoot him. Donoghue laughs when he tells that one.

One of Mr. Donoghue's duties is to act as clearing agent for the department heads and other Commissioners in connection with news. The Open Door policy on news was instituted by Mr. O'Dwyer as soon as he took office as Mayor. Routine news was to be given to the press just as soon as it was known or ready; news concerning matters of policy was to be cleared through Mr. Donoghue, who knew the answers, or, in those few instances where there was doubt, would consult the Mayor immediately. Thus no time was lost, either way. And besides, the former administration's policy of having practically all news emanate from City Hall, with closure in the departments themselves, was reversed.

Much Alike

As the Mayor has many duties besides those defined in the City Charter, and as the Executive Secretary finds himself occupied with many of these, Mr. Donoghue darts into City Hall among the earliest birds and stays late.

The Mayor and his Executive Secretary have much in common besides their given name and enjoy each other's company profusely. They are both of somewhat the same build, have most engaging personalities, make many and lasting friendships, have Irish countenances that beam freely, but, on occasion, grow very serious; and have unlimited appreciation of a good joke, demonstrated by unrestrained laughter. And both have a passion for tracking down evil-doers.

Mayor O'Dwyer as District Attorney of Kings County established a national reputation as a gang buster, a top prosecutor of racketeers and murderers. Bill Donoghue has helped to expose and trap holdup men and murderers too, but as the sleuth type of ace newspaper reporter. He got many a beat in famous robbery and murder cases when he worked for a Queens news syndicate and later as a reporter on the N. Y. Evening Journal. He ran a political and gossip column on The Journal. For seven following years he was Secretary to State Attorney-General John J. Bennett, the present NYC Corporation Counsel, and was Publicity Director of Mr. Bennett's campaign for Governor in 1942, as he had been in the O'Dwyer campaign for Mayor in 1941 and previously for District Attorney.

War Activities

Came the war, and Mr. Donoghue was editor of the War Department publication, Wartimes; later war correspondent for the Maritime Service, with a year and a half spent in the European Theatre of Operations. Next he became an Aide to Brig. Gen. O'Dwyer and later was on the West Coast as Director of Public Relations for the Maritime Commission and the War Shipping Administration. Now another political campaign service as Publicity Director, for General O'Dwyer had been nominated again for Mayor. This time the election results were quite different. But Bill Donoghue wasn't any different. As the Mayor says—win, lose or draw, he's always the same.
