Nominations for queen for campus day will be made by the student association at the assembly at 11:40 o'clock this morning. Katherine Moore, '33, president said.

Each member of the student association writes the name of his choice on a separate card on a ballot provided by the student association. Only seniors are eligible for this honor. The five women receiving the highest number of votes are considered candidates. The name of these candidates will be posted for two weeks. Another vote will be taken at the end of the period. The person receiving the highest number of votes in that ballot will be queen, while the two receiving the next highest number of votes are her attendants from the senior class. Identity of the queen will be kept secret until campus day, Saturday, October 22. Attendants from each of the other classes will be chosen later.

Council Will Present Lecturer October 14

The dramatic and art council will present Daniel Frohman, "Dean of Central Managers", on Friday, October 14, at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium of Page hall in a lecture entitled "Commencement of the stage and its stars." Frances McMahon, '33, president, announced.

Mr. Frohman has to his credit the claim of having managed such famous stars as Richard Mansfield, Sir Charles Wyndham, the Skimmer Wilham Galleter, Mandy Adams, Ellen Terry, and Sarah Bernhardt.

As president of the Actors' Fund of America, Mr. Frohman maintains a contact not only with the members of the fund, but also with the stage stars. His personal experience covers a period of half a century with the luminaries of the theatre. An idea of his ability as a writer of the theatrical stage can be seen in his plays.

LOUNGE TO HAVE HOSTESS PROGRAM

Leaders to Add Reading Corner; Studying to Be Banned, Miss Service Says

The College Lounge committee will initiate the first feature of its program for the year, with the student hostess schedule, beginning Monday, Margaret Service, '33 student chairman, announced today.

The committee is to carry on a more extensive program, in regard to the use of the lounge, than has been used before.

Beginning Monday, no one will be allowed to study in the lounge, she announced. Students are urged to use this place for social purposes only.

A corner will be provided, where students may find and read current magazines. Card tables will be made available for student use. Also, in response to a general student desire, members of the faculty will be glad to accept informal invitations to meet students in the lounge for informal discussions.

A hostess program has been arranged for the year, whereby one member of the lounge committee will act as student hostess of the lounge, each hour, between 9 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The committee for this year was chosen last spring. Ten new members will be added next week, five graduate students, and five people to represent the freshman class, Mrs. Martha Prichard, head of the library club, and faculty chairman, announced.

The members of the faculty on the lounge committee are: Miss Goble a Bill, supervisor of mathematics in Milne High school; Miss Marion Kellpatrick, instructor in English; William G. Keene, assistant professor of chemistry; and Miss Laura Thompson, manager of the College canteen. The senior members are: Miss Service, Stewart Gay, May Gahmberg, Lois Burdett, and Edith Tepper. Junior representatives on the committee are: Dorothy Grauer, Marion Howard, Marie Doherty, Charles Robinson, and Ruth Meskin. Florence Clummet, Helen Dexter, George Pratt, and Kenneth Johnson represent the sophomores.

Freshmen To Yodel "Life Is Very Different" For College

"Life is very different, so very different here. College life is very queer, rum, tum, tum"—thus the freshmen will sing this morning as they march around the auditorium with bowed heads as a climax to the regulations of the sophomores which 1936 have obeyed during this week.

Freshman women in light dresses and black cotton stockings, and freshman men with yellow ties and shirt-sleeves instead of the conventional coats and sweaters, have been apparent on the campus. Attempts by members of the sophomore class to force certain disobedient yearlings to doff their sweaters and coats have resulted in scuffles in dark corners and corridors, from which freshmen and sophomore have emerged in a disheveled condition.

Large white bills tied with yellow ribbon, and announcing to the public that the wearer is "John Jones" or "Helen Smith," have dangled from the necks of obedient freshmen. Wayward members of the class have posed as upperclassmen and faculty members in their attempts to evade the sophomore rules.

DRAMATICS CLASS PLANS TO STAGE PLAY OCTOBER 11

The plays presented under the direction of members of the advanced dramatics class will be given this year on alternate Tuesday nights in the auditorium of Page hall. Miss Agnes Enterrer, assistant professor of English, announced today. The first play will be on Tuesday, October 11, and will be directed by Maybelle Matthews, '34.

The play is directed by a member of the class under the supervision of Miss Enterrer. The class enrollment is made up of seventeen seniors and juniors. No admission is charged for a ticket collection is taken at the door to help defray the expenses of each production, Miss Enterrer explained.

The enrollment of the elementary dramatics class for this year is seventy, fifteen of which are male students. This would indicate an increased interest in dramatics on the part of the men of the college, Miss Enterrer said.

The annual presentation of three one act plays by the members of the elementary class under the direction of Miss Enterrer will take place in January.

FRESHMEN TO MEET

The first meeting of the freshman class will be conducted Monday at 12:00 noon in room 20 of Richardson hall for the purpose of making nominations for class officers for this year. ### LIBRARY SCHEDULE ENLARGED

Announcement by the College Library last week of a new schedule of hours providing for the opening of the library every night from 7:00 to 9:30 o'clock marks the successful culmination of a campaign started by the STATE COLLEGE NEWS last October when it suggested such a procedure in an editorial entitled "Why Not At Night?"

The editorial remarked "Many students have expressed the opinion that some solution of the library problem be prevented immediately. The NEWS suggests that the open hours of the library be changed. Most college libraries allow students to work evenings. Why not State's?"

There is no desire to add to the work of the present staff whose time is well filled already. Yet the predicament of the students ought to be considered. If the facilities of the library were opened to students until 9:30 o'clock, many students would hasten to avail themselves of that privilege.

"It would be advisable for a petition to be circulated among the students. Or a questionnaire might be distributed in assembly in order to gauge student opinion on the matter. If a sufficient number were interested, a committee ought to be appointed by the president of the student association in order to confer with President Brubaker. He would be willing to cooperate and if the plan is at all practical, will endorse it."

"Five additional hours would certainly do much to relieve the afternoon congestion. It would mean that many of the students would be able to postpone supplementary readings in history, English, and science. They might well do this work in the evening in an atmosphere conducive to study, rather than in a crowded room where elbow room is as much as can be reasonably asked."

A new member has been added to the staff of the library, and adequate provisions have been made to take care of the evening hours. It is now the duty and privilege of every student to take advantage of the educational opportunities provided by the library, and accept the staff by adhering to the regulations for the new periods.

The Hawley library work will be completed 1934-1935 Thanksgiving recess, and the crowded situation will be alleviated by the opening of the new building. Until that time, however, students are urged to cooperate with the library staff in order to make the best use of the facilities.

ACTIVITIES DAY

Since the inauguration of this program a year ago, the program has been a success. The details have been improved each year. Next year's committee and leaders should take advantage of the experience of their predecessors.

LOUNGE CAMPAIGN BEGINS

"Beginning Monday, no one will be allowed to study in the Lounge." Such is the statement of the members of the Lounge committee in today's issue of the NEWS inaugurating the committee program for this year. A plan has been organized which provides for a system of student hostesses to be on duty in the Lounge from nine o'clock until four o'clock each day.

The Lounge was secured as a meeting place for students where any one who came into the room with books piled in his arms was supposed to be a social outcast. The room can become an indispensable part of a student's life if it is used properly. Here is a place where members of the faculty and students can break through the restricted barriers of the classroom and learn to know each other through the informal talk which the room may make possible. A college course is enriched when there is a personal touch between instructor and students.

A special corner for books and magazines is being planned, and card tables will be made available at all times. It is not very comfortable to philosophize on hard seats; neither is it enjoyable to sit through a day's work without rest or relaxation.

Student bookworms are depriving other students of their privileges in regard to the uses of the room. The Lounge committee is to be commended for its action in attempting to get rid of these parasites. But it will be impossible for the members of the committee to accomplish anything worthy of terming positive results without the sincere cooperation of each member of the student body. Come into the Lounge with firm steps and un-muffled voices; remember it is for each one of you to enjoy and appreciate. Force the bookworms to withdraw in silence, or lower their banners and join the ranks of the student committee assistants.

BOOKS: EDITH WHARTON'S NOVEL IS ABOUT PATRIAN CLASS

For Sale in the Co-op

The Gods Arrive, By Edith Wharton. D. Appleton and Company, New York City, 432 pages, $2.50.

In an appreciation of Edith Wharton, William Lyons Phelps has written—"Edith Wharton's books are marked by sincerity in art, beauty in construction, distinction in style. She is a master in the creation of original and living characters, and her powers of ironical description are exerted to salutary ends. She is a realist in the best sense of the word, revealing the inner nature of men and women without recourse to sensationalism and keeping ever within the boundaries of true art. She holds a universally recognized place in the front rank of the world's living novelists. She has elevated the level of American literature."

Here is perhaps the richest expression of Mrs. Wharton's distinguished art. In "The Gods Arrive," she deals with the peculiar problems of the New York patrician class. Within this class there yet survives order, convention, tradition, and breeding. But in the houses of the rich, as in the poor, unhappy marriages still are contracted. For the conventional aristocrat, however, the escape is more difficult.

Helo Tarrant was high bred, sensitive, tasteful, and brilliant. She was certain of her social power. Yet her marriage was a taskery. Her husband was cold, vain, and unambitious. Divorce was unattractive to her. In the company of Vance Weston, a fascinating though unstable character, she did find a measure of contentment. These two gradually fell in love with each other, though his husband refused to grant a divorce, and the lovers were forced to the dangerous extremity of fleeing to Europe and thus proclaiming their union. And so is unfolded their story. The tale of their mutual experiences, the woman in revolt against her inherited society, the man involved in a deep spiritual struggle against his weaker self. "It is a dramatic, convincing, and deeply moving novel—a true and lasting landmark in American literature."

Phelps adds, "It is a great opportunity for us all, to read a book by our foremost living American novelist just as the audience at an entertaining play in the theater is composed of two classes—those who are purely receptive, and those who have the double delight of being entertained and of watching the display of skill in constructive art, as in reading a new novel." "A Edith Wharton, we may simply enjoy it as a story, and enjoy it we shall, since she is never dull, but we may also, while still following the narrative with pleasure, develop our minds by contact with her."

Books to Knowledge, Edited by William Allan Neilson. Norton, New York City, $3.25.

"If of Knowledge" is edited by William Allan Neilson, a well-known author and editor. It is a collection of essays on various subjects, including literature, art, and science. The book is well-written and contains many interesting facts and figures. It is a good read for anyone interested in these subjects.

SENIOR-SOPHOMORE TEAM WINS GAME

Gil De Laura Strikes Out 12 Men; Young Scores Home Run in Game Saturday

By THOMAS RYAN, '34
SPORTS EDITOR, STATE COLLEGE NEWS

Behind the steady pitching of Gil De Laura, '33, the senior-sophomore baseball team defeated the junior-freshman aggregation, 7-5, in a nine inning game, last Saturday afternoon at the Lincoln Park bowl. De Laura accounted for twelve strikeouts, and kept the junior-fresh hits well scattered.

Frank Young, '33, was the batting star of the day, accounting for a home run, a double, and a single. Omer Brooks and Bud Kissam, juniors, each poked two hits to lead their teammates in this department.

Brooks allowed the senior-sophomore only seven hits, but poor fielding by his mates converted several singles into extra base hits. Both teams were guilty of misplays, but errors were most costly to the junior-fresh team. One hit by Young that should have been held to a single, trickled through the outfield for three extra bases.

Included in the line-ups were John Detlefson, Ray Harris, Le Laura, seniors; Roger Bancroft, Donald Benedict, Thomas Garrett, Brooks, Kissam, juniors; Arlon Bush, Al Jadic, Alfred Lucas, William Jones, Harrison Hall, Idwal Parry, Kall, Kenneth Drake, sophomores; and George Bancroft, Robert Feland, Paul Bulger, Aaron Allen, and Gerald Amyot, freshmen.

Hallie Smith, a special student, acted as umpire for the game. Arrangements were in charge of Kenneth Johnston, '35, class athletic manager.

Committee chairman who will assist Harris include refreshments, Eta Phi, Warbling chipmunks, Naom, M. brecht; Lads, Ellen Murphy; advertising, Lois Burdett; door, Gaston Hertz; floor, Frank Young; and decorations, Marie Judd.

Dean Pierce To Assist Unemployed Students

All students who desire to obtain part time employment are asked to register their available hours and work preferences in the office of Mrs. Anna E. Pierce, dean of women. The requests for college students to work are very few this year, but every opportunity will be tried to increase the amount of employment possibilities, Mrs. Pierce said.

Students who register for work are notified through the student mail boxes in the lower corridor of Draper hall when an appointment has been made for them. Prospective employers are in talking ways of these notices because of the large number of student who are requesting such opportunities are included.

Organizations To Sign For Meeting Permits

All organizations planning to hold meetings in the college building should sign for meeting permits in the office of Mrs. Anna E. Pierce, dean of women, before the start of the term on October 1. The announcement of the regulations for the signing of permits will be made in the next issue of the NEWS. Permits are necessary for all meetings held in the college building. These regulations are necessary in order to provide that no meeting should be held in the college building at the same time in the same room, Mrs. Pierce explained.
