

CRIMSON AND WHITE

Friday, Nov. 5, 1937
THE MILNE SCHOOL

Albany, N. Y.
 Volume VIII, Number 5

SENIOR NEWS

DO YOU EVER SEE ?

The London Bridge

BY JOVE!

BOO HOO!

A Cannon Ball

I'M SOME

TRUCKER

A Ford Truck

A Hot Dog

ON TO WATERLOO!

A Blooming Idiot

A Horse Fly

WATCH MY SMOKE

A Home Run

The Big Apple

A Cow Slip

SOME FEED

What Romeo's Or

What Juliet

ARF!
 ARF!

A Cat Climb A Tree And Bark

SENIORS DISCUSS BUDGET;
VOTE WILL BE TAKEN

Wednesday during activities period the Senior High School had an assembly to discuss the budget. Reasons for rejecting the budget were considered. The major problems concerned the boys' athletic field and the Christmas issue of the Crimson and White.

Pertaining to the field, the boys find it dangerous to play on because of a limited amount of space and some cement blocks in the center of the field. They proposed adding forty dollars more to the athletic fund in order to rent Ridgefield Park.

Some suggested doing away entirely with the Christmas issue of the Crimson and White or else make it a paying issue.

The field day or excursion allotment was also brought up, but they took no definite action except deciding to vote on it in homeroom on Thursday.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES RINGS AND PINS

The student council discussed a possible change in the rings and pins. A plan was proposed to change the school rings and pins to class rings and pins.

BOYS DISCUSS HOBBIES
NEW MEMBERS JOIN

Kingsley Grigg conducted the last meeting of the Hobby club. The two new members are Jack Skinner and Bruce Clements, who are interested in collecting match boxes and cigar bands and autographs, respectively.

The president, Kingsley Grigg, spoke on autographs. When he finished, the members of the club discussed his talk.

Next week, Jack Skinner will talk on hobbies in general and on his own hobby.

B. A. C. PLANS PURCHASES;
TO USE VOUCHERS

The Boys' Athletic Council discussed a system by which it could keep a complete record of all the purchases made during the coming year. They decided that there would be two vouchers and an order blank for each purchase. One voucher will go to Mr. Kinsella, the other will be kept by the Boys' Athletic Council, and the order blank will be sent to Spaldings.

CREESY, MILNE CAGE STAR,
BREAKS ARM IN SCRIMMAGE;
WILL NOT PLAY FOR MONTH

The Crimson tide suffered a great loss last Tuesday due to the injury of "Marty" Creesy, ace forward and scoring threat of the Milne team. "Marty" after playing a splendid game broke his left wrist in three places during the closing moments of scrimmage. The loss of Creesy, who has been one of our stars in past seasons, is a great blow to Milne. Last year he turned in some excellent work for the squad, and he was expected to be much improved this year. It is believed that he will be out of basketball for at least a month.

GIRLS' HOCKEY TEAM TO PLAY BETHLEHEM CENTRAL

Today, at Delmar, our Hockey team will meet Bethlehem Central, a very old and very friendly rival of ours.

Our team will probably be chosen from the following girls, L. Nesbitt, M. Charles, F. Seymour, E. Simmons, R. Rudnich, P. Gibson, J. McDermott, D. Winshurst, M. Winshurst, K. Newton, R. Rasp, Ruth Selkirk, and Virginia Tripp.

CLUB HAS SIX MEMBERS;
GIRLS START KNITTING

Last week most of the girls brought their yarn and started on their sweaters and various other articles. The members of the Knitting club are Lucille Armistead, Virginia Nichols, Janet Jansing, Nancy Glass, Verna Perkins, and Katherine Newton.

HISTORY C CLASS ATTENDS
FOREIGN POLICY MEETING

Seniors taking History C, attended the foreign policy conference held at the Girls' Academy, on Wednesday. These conferences are held to further interest in foreign affairs and knowledge of history. The meetings take place in the form of a round table discussion and afterwards in separate groups. These meetings are held frequently and all students are urged to attend. They are under the supervision of the Girls' Academy.

The students, who attended, were as follows: Virginia Tripp, Frances Seymour, Marjorie Pond, Margaret Charles, Helen Barker, Dorothy Sherman, Lois Haynor, Janet Crowley, Jack Hoedecker, Edgar Harding, Ed Starkweather, Earl Goodrich, Robert Gardner, Herbert Marx, Lois Nesbitt, Edgar Miller, Dania Winshurst, Patricia Gibson, and Carol Boyce.

Editorial Staff

Editor-in-Chief	Virginia Tripp
Associate Editor	Betty Barden
Senior Associate Editor	Alfred Wheeler
Managing Editor	George Farrington
Society Editor	Janet Cole
Exchange Editors	Janet Crowley Lois Hayner
Club Editor	Marion McCormack
Student Council Rep.	Seeley Funk
Feature Editor	Betty Schultz
Sports Editor	Richard Game
Sports Writers	Richard Selkirk Kingsley Grigg Ed Harding
Girls' Sports Editor	Margaret Charles
Girls' Sports Writer	Dania Winhurst

Reporters

Helon Barker	Betty Holmes
Doris Welsh	Ruth Selkirk
Betty Fincher	Nancy Glass
Miriam Fround	Jean Best
Dorothy Shattuck	Ed Starkweather
Charles Sanderson	Charles McCulloch
Jane Grace
Business Managers	Herbert Marx Franklin Steinhardt
Distributing	William Burgess John Wykes
Mimeographers	Earl Goodrich George Scovill
Printer	Dick Poland
Typists	Marjerie Stanton Barbara Soper Lucille Armistead

Miss Katherine E. Wheeling
Faculty Advisor

Published weekly by the CRIMSON AND WHITE staff at the Milne School, Albany, New York.

Terms: $1.00 a year, payable in advance.
Free to students paying student tax.

A MOVE FOR THE BETTER

It seems that Prof. Sayles wishes to change the entrance rules of the boys' societies so that anyone may enter who cares to. To us, this appears to be a very good solution of the society problem. To be sure, they are fun, and they give to their small group of very select members the idea that they are the real stuff. It sooths their ego.

But the people who are left out, who are not as forward in their manners as their better known companions, are the unfortunates. They feel that they are left out. They might develop an inferiority complex that will stay with them all their lives. We know some of them. We know some of the boys who have never been asked. They are as fine boys as any who have been asked.

We come to school to learn. Why does the school run itself so that it teaches some people to get on with theirs, while it neglects ten or twelve boys from each class. We must open the doors of the boys' societies.

THE LAST EMPRESS

"The Last Empress", by Daniel Varo, ranks as one of the most vivid biographies—and one of the best stories of China that I have ever read. The heroine was an extremely beautiful and clever young girl. Yehonala was in love with her cousin, Jung Lu, but being a Manchu of good blood, she went to the palace as one of the Emperor's concubines and was promptly forgotten.

One day, as she ate in the garden, humming a sorrowful little song, the Emperor chanced to hear her. Yehonala soon became Empress of the Western Palace. Her advice was needed before the emperor would decide any matter of state.

Empress Tzu-hsi reigned many years indirectly as the Emperor's favorite. When he died, Yehonala plotted unscrupulously until their son was proclaimed Emperor and herself Regent. The old Empress was three times Regent of China; throughout her life she always managed to keep her finger in the governmental pies. Yehonala disliked foreign intervention in China, and she fought valiantly and ruthlessly to keep even the ambassadors out. Remember the Boxer rebellions? The Empress Tzu-hsi inspired that outrage. Everyone, rich and poor alike, loved "the Old One". Yehonala was the last link with the glorious past of the Chinese nation. When she died in 1909, at the age of seventy-three, the Chinese Empire died with her.

If you like to learn about the oriental splendor of the Chinese Empire, and if you like thrilling stories that are written exceptionally well; then get your midnight oil ready and settle down to read Daniel Varo's "The Last Empire".

SATISFIED?

The marks from the first monthly tests are just staring you in the face. Do they satisfy you? Or, even more to the point, do they represent the best that you can do? Remember, this first report card is more than likely to set a standard for the rest of the school year.

The higher you raise your standard the more satisfactory your school career will be to you. The person who is able to keep his marks high is the one who is also able to take part in a maximum of school activities without lowering his average. The solution to this is plain.

This person obviously budgets his time in order to get the most benefit from it. If a certain amount of time is put aside from studying each night, extra activities can easily be planned outside these hours.

Every student in Milne can benefit by this plan. It is the long, strong, pull that does the job rather than the little spurts of energy. And so it is the steady study that rewards with good marks that a few hours cramming before exams can never bring.

* * * * *
* SOCIETIES *
* * * * *

* * * * *
* EXCHANGES *
* * * * *

Quin:

The members discussed the initiatives and attempted an agreement between Sigma and Quin. The officers of both societies will confer on the subject of new members for the groups.

Theta Nu:

Richard Andrews, vice-president, conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Richard Selkirk.

There was a discussion of programs for the meetings of the coming year and of the dance to be given by the boys societies. Plans for a committee meeting with Adelphei followed. The initiation committee requests that all boys except members and initiates of Theta Nu leave the locker room as promptly after school as possible.

Sigma:

Doris Welsh is the new chairman of the food committee and Lee Armstead is in charge of ribbons which she will get from her father. The decoration committee is going to have a meeting Wednesday and the play committee will meet Tuesday morning. Betty Douglas gave an interesting report on "Yang and Yin" by Hobart. In the book are the struggles of American ideas of medicine against Chinese ideas. Sigma discussed the invitations.

Adelphei:

Leonard Benjamin gave a report on Carl Carmer's book, "Listen For a Lonesome Drum." If anyone wishes to learn the legends and stories of New York State, Leonard suggests that you read this book. Carl Carmer also wrote the book, "Stars Fell On Alabama."

DRAMATICS CLUB MEETS;
GROUPS ARE ACTIVE

The Advanced Make-up and Elementary Make-up organizations held their last meetings jointly. The advanced group is teaching the elementary group the fundamentals of stage make-up.

The Sets-Costume groups is planning to complete the model stage which was started last year. There are only three members at the present time.

The Special Acting Group discussed the three-act play which they hope to present in the spring.

The Terrace Tribune of Schenectady is very interesting because of its individuality and clever columns.

The Quitto of Ellenville, New York informs us that they are giving an operetta for the benefit of the student council. This paper is very interesting, with several good editorials.

The Estee of Gloversville, New York, makes its readings more interesting because of several good pictures in each issue.

"Last night I held a little hand, so dainty and so neat, I thought my heart would surely break, so wildly did it beat. No other hand e'er held so tight could greater gladness bring, then one I held last night. It was four aces and a king."

The Tech Talk Bi-Weekly

Doctor: "When did you suspect your husband was not right mentally?"
Wife: "When he shook the coat tree and began feeling around on the floor for apples."

The Quill

Boy: "Did Your watch stop when it hit the floor?"
Girl: "Sure. Did you think it would go on through?"

School Daze

Little Willie: "Mom, you said the bay has your eyes and Daddy's nose, didn't you?"
Mother: "Yes, darling."
Willie: Well, you'd better watch him. He has grandpa's teeth now."

French club to sell candy;
Members play French game

The French Club discussed selling candy and emblems to raise money for the necessities of the club. Recillo Rudnick conducted a game of animal lotto, calling off animals instead of numbers. She called the animals names in French.

Glee Club Sings Spiritual;
Dr. Candlyn Directs

The Glee club practiced two negro spirituals, "Go Down Moses" and "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," and a Christmas Carol, "We Three Kings of Orient Are," at the last meeting. They are singing these songs in three parts. At the present time there are about thirty members in the club, which is under the direction of Dr. Candlyn of State College.

AROUND ABOUT MILNE

Heard at the Quin Rush;

Nothing gives a girl more charm than a graceful carriage, but for a boy to have charm, he must have a sporty roadster.

Did you hear what Brud Davis did in church last Sunday? When the minister announced the number of the closing hymn Brud woke up with a start and shouted, "Bingo".

He: "Will you marry me?"

She: (This might have been either Shirley B. or Janet C.) "No, but I shall always admire your taste."

"Damis", said her father, "I don't mind your young man smoking my cigars, but I do object to him taking the morning papers when he says good night."

"Kingsley, Kingsley!"

"Yes, ma."

"Are you spitting in the fish bowl?"

"No ma, but I'm coming pretty close."

Mr. Game to the infant Dick, "Say son, don't bite that thumb off. You may need that some day when you're old enough to travel."

The modern girl likes spinning wheels but she wants four of them and a spare.

The hardest time to get the baby to sleep is when she's sixteen."

God made women without a sense of humor so they could love men instead of laughing at them.

Here's one of the brain storms b. Dick Andrews. (Or was it Barbara Soper?):

Roses are red
Violets are blue
I wear pink
What color do you wear?

(continued in column two)

WHY I NEVER JOINED A SORORITY

1. I wanted to think for myself and not be led around by a bunch of sisters.
2. I never went in for women's organizations at home.
3. I did not want a lot of fraternity boys calling me up at night.
4. I had never danced with a man in my life and I didn't intend to start.
5. I didn't like the idea of rooming with one girl for a whole semester.
6. I do not look well in low-cut, sleeveless gowns.
7. I am a male.

IDEAL WOMEN

Even a critter like a reporter was surprised at the answers he received when he asked a few of the Milne Romeos what their ideal girl was like. Just take a peek at some of these.

Ed Harding: "I prefer a girl with deep mysterious eyes that only I can really understand and... Oh gosh you're not going to put this in the paper are you?"

Dick Paland: "Well, she's gotta have plenty of pep, vim and vigor if she and I are going to have a good time together for very long."

George Farrington: "Well, of course, a girl with dark ~~hair~~ would show off my blond curls the best and I want someone smart enough to do my homework."

Walt Seim: "I always kinda' hankered for a sweet, home body who can really cook a he-man's dinner."

Ken Lasher: "I do not wish to be quoted but have you a date Friday night?"

Leonard Benjamin: "My only requirement is that she has to have dark hair. It doesn't show up on dark suits."

Marty Creezy: "Haven't I enough trouble without you coming in here pestering me about women? Anyhow, I'm glad I didn't break my wrist before Sip's party."

(continued from column two)

Ed: "Why do you call my girl a silent belle?"

Bob: "Because I kissed her the other night and she never tolled."

This silly little poem has more sense in it than some longer ones:

With Violet cuddling in his arms,
He drove his ford, poor silly,
Where once he held his Violet
Now he holds a lily.

Teach: "Only fools are certain; wise men hesitate."

Seeley: "Are you sure?"

Teach: "Absolutely positive."

Maybe Charley Barnes is right in this little verse, but it sounds pretty complicated.

The more you study
The more you know.
The more you know
The more you forget.
The more you forget
The less you know.
The less you know
The less you forget.
The less you forget
The more you know.
Sooooo-- why study?