Spanish Carnival To Be Tomorrow

Emma Guattery, '36, is Chairman; Queen's Procession to Open Five-Act Program

With gay "caballeros" and "senoritas," the nineteenth annual Spanish Carnival will be the concluding high-light of the week-end tomorrow night in the auditorium of Page hall. Emma Guattery, '36, is general chairman of the program which is being sponsored by the Spanish club.

The evening's festivities will be inaugurated with a procession at 8:30 o'clock, led by the Spanish Queen who was elected in the student assembly two weeks ago. Her identity is a secret; the candidates for queen are Evelyn Anderson, Ruth Brooks, Ruth Crutchley, Aileen Dexter, and Julia Reil, seniors. The two candidates who received the next highest votes will be attendants to the queen.

Following the procession the general program of entertainment will consist of five acts, the themes of which are as follows:

Act I. A program of singing with the theme "The Street Singer," directed by Kathryn Crowell, '35.

Act II. A short play in Spanish, "Careless Love," directed by Betty Gregory, '35.

Act III. A program of guest artists including a trio of three women members of the Albany Women's club, and a guest dancer, Evelyn Blavins, who has studied under several noted New York masters.

Act IV. A comedy, with a theme developed around the idea of a "puppet" show, entitled "The Dreamer."

Act V. A program of dancing directed by Lois McIntyre, '35, the theme of which will be "Carnival in Valencia."

Additional features of the evening will be balloon men, flower girls, and candy girls, who will contribute to the carnival spirit.

Committees who will assist Miss Guattery are as follows: publicity, Sam Silverman, '36; queen, Dorothy Schumacher, '37; and finance, Ruth Rouse, '37.

Sophomore Women To Wear Latest Fashions At Soiree

As the sophomore smoothies dip to the strains of Gene Sammarco's orchestra at the annual sophomore Soiree tonight, trains and flounces of pastel shades will sweep the floors. Among the best-dressed dancers favorite fabrics will be matelasse, satin and organdies. Pink, white and blue will predominate as colors, while a few of the more patriotic will wear red for their class. Low-heeled sandals will be almost exclusively worn.

Amid the golden or raven locks, stars and bars of brilliants will gleam to be reflected in sparkling earrings and crystal necklaces. We even have in its strictest confidence that one young miss is going to keep her curls in place with a coy blue ribbon.

Freshman Class Takes Early Morning Swim

The rest of the Frosh thought the rumor was a joke. Knox didn't know what to make of it. The sophomores were sure something was going to happen. So—Knox got ducked.

A group of sophomore men, undaunted by their long (1:00) vigil the night before which was unsuccessful because of the activities of the stool-pigeons, arose at 6:00 o'clock yesterday morning, apprehended the freshman president on his way to school, tossed him in Washington park lake.

Al Dumont, '37, the chief abolitioner, extended congratulations on the sportsmanlike manner in which Knox took the baptism.

Occasion for the deed: the sophomore desk editors needed a feature for their edition of the News.

Freshman Class Will Have Dinner Wednesday, May 1

The freshman class will conduct a dinner meeting Wednesday, May 1, in the Cafeteria of Husted hall at 6:15 o'clock. The speakers will be Dr. A. R. Brubacher, president, and Dr. Dommal V. Smith, assistant professor of history. Guests expected to attend include: Dr. Milton C. Nelson, dean of the College, and Miss Helen H. Moreland, dean of women.

The committee for the dinner includes: Helen Williams, chairman, Florence Zubres, Grace Yorkey, Harold Reissig, and Elton Murphy.

All freshmen intending to be at the dinner are to sign up on the bulletin board in the rotunda of Draper hall before Tuesday, April 30.

DEBATE POSTPONED

The debate between the teams from the sophomore and freshman classes, part of the interclass rivalry in which the two classes are competing, originally scheduled to take place in assembly this morning, has been postponed until May 3.

Classes Will Move Up And Out, But No Sidewalks For May 17

"No, it's not to be a swimming pool; guess again."

"Well, it might be for shuffleboard, or else to keep us off the grass."

"Wrong again, your guess was as good as mine until I became curious and inquired from Ben Lockwood, who is in charge of the workmen on the big excavation out in front of Page hall."

Here's news what is news! Straight goods, too. The replacing of the expansive crisscrossing sidewalks between Richardson and Milne buildings will not be completed for another six or eight weeks—probably some time in June. And just think, Moving-up day is scheduled for Friday, May 17. There's where the problem comes in. It looks as if we'll have to walk the straight and narrow paths that morning and stay within the red lanterns at night. However, the work is being done by sections, and the center strip will be untouched until after that colorful day.

Soiree to be from 9:00 to 2:00; Sammarco's Californians to Furnish Music

The class of 1937's first major social event will begin tonight at 9:00 o'clock in the ballroom of the Aurania club, when members of the sophomore class and their guests open the spring social season with their Soiree. Alice Allard, vice-president of the class, is general chairman of the event.

Gene Sammarco and his NBC orchestra will be the featured artists for the dance. Sammarco's Californians also furnished the music for Junior Tea dance.

Three Subjects To Hold Interest In 11:10 Assembly

The interest of the student body will be centered around three important matters to be taken up in the 11:10 o'clock student assembly in Page hall auditorium this morning, according to Clifford Rail, '35, president of the student association.

The first business in order will be consideration of the proposed amendments to the constitution, which were debated at the last meeting, and which are to come up again at this meeting for further discussion.

A vote will also be taken on the resolution introduced at a previous meeting to drop from the college budget any item not supported by 80% of the student body. It is felt by some that this is a high percentage, and keenly anticipated on this measure.

Lastly, there will be nomination for student association officers for next year. According to the constitution, the president will be nominated from the members of the incoming senior class, a vice-president from the incoming junior class, a secretary from the incoming sophomore class, a faculty member of the finance board, and a song leader, a men's cheer leader, and a women's cheer leader. Each class will submit two candidates for office of song leader, and one man and one woman for the office of cheer leader. Election of the above officers will take place on May 3, the first meeting after the spring recess.

The freshman-sophomore debate, originally scheduled for this morning, has been postponed.

SOPHOMORES

The class of 1937 . . . Freshmen . . . Moving-up Day . . . Sophomores . . . a sequence of events through which every class must pass. And now we come to our first social recognition, Sophomore Soiree, our debut in the limelight of the Aurania club, to which we have aspired throughout our two college years, rounded out and filled with events, significant and progressive. Receptions, followed by rivalry with '36, our "Moving-up" with farewell to beloved freshman traditions, and then with the year 1935, a new class, '38, to orientate into the annals of State and from which to dispel the traditional freshman verdancy in a new and more successful rivalry. Such has been our career.

And now our Soiree is at hand, and at this apex of our year, may we interview ourselves and show that we merit our sophomore appellation by our conduct, aspirations and achievements. With a Grecian background for our name Sophomores, sophos—wise and moros—foolish, we have come to realize how apropos it is. Obviously enough as in our name, our wisdom, intensified and augmented by freshman experiences, has now come to precede our more foolish inclinations, although we are prone to confess the possibilities of further improvement and acknowledge the greater wisdom of our sister upperclassmen. However, our objective shall continue in the future as it has in the past, to achieve the fitness and perfection in culture and living which we see manifest in our superiors of '35 and '36.

So we terminate our reminiscences and strive for a Soiree tonight which will be a tribute to '37 and a confirmation to our superiors of our ability and merit as sophomores.

ATTEND ASSEMBLY!

At the present time there are three questions before the student association: the constitutional amendments; the budget resolution; and the nomination of student association officers. To hope to finish these matters in one assembly seems practically impossible; what is needed is discussion, in the open, without bickering, on the first two topics, especially. To delay discussion until after the Easter recess is impractical. In order to have the machinery needed in working order in time for Moving-up Day, these matters must be cleared up immediately.

One remedy has been suggested: an assembly on Monday or Wednesday at 11:10 o'clock. This, however, on second thought is also impractical. Not only would students be taken needlessly from their class work, but also, there would undoubtedly be so few attending the meeting that there would be little or no possibility of truly representative discussion, a thing sadly lacking, as a rule, in our regular assemblies.

The only other possibility would seem to be a full and enthusiastic attendance at our 11:10 assembly on Friday morning. The News strongly urges all members of the student association to be present in the auditorium Friday; to express their approval or disapproval of the questions under discussion; to dispose of these questions as the assembly, and a representative assembly, desires.

STATESMAN

There are rumors floating around that the Sophs have two banners in their possession. Goodness, Frosh, lose gracefully . . . What delayed the curtain Saturday night? Was it because The Farmer in the Dell and one of the Profs had a temperamental attack? . . . Why did Mae leave the handball game in such a hurry the other day? Good goods, eh, Bill? . . . What would the girls think if they knew of the male who dances noontimes solely for physical culture purposes! . . . Did you see the three Potter men tearing up Washington avenue the other morning ahead of an indignant mob? It seems that a red light was discovered in the window of Chisler's Inn and the boys were out with bricks to uphold their reputation (?) . . . Just when is John going to settle down? . . . It seems to be a custom at Tappa Haffa Keg to throw the bottles out of the rear window and the guests out of the front. And it's a second-story window, too . . . Did you notice, Bill's got his pin back once more. Well, variety keeps one young . . . Was that Christian in the nightgown? It reminded some of the boys of Pop, over there at Wren . . . One senior is determined to get to Soiree. Ahem!!! . . . The phantom in yellow has been disguised in blue for its nocturnal prowlings!!! . . . And didn't we see a hasty far(w)el being banded toward the Southern Tier over the week-end . . . Maybe our Dapper Dan can find a solution for his problem in our newly-established gigolo agency . . . Rumor has it that Shaben might get to Intersorority this year! And wearing a green tie. Brrrr . . . Lam me see, Bills is going to try to make marey at Soiree this week-end . . . odswell at B. Z. now that they have a duck again . . . NOTE: a bicycle was parked in front of Chi Sig the other night. Must have been an R. P. I. man . . . Request (?) to ye States' men: Have the lights out and the girls in their rooms by 3 o'clock.

GRECIAN GAMBOLS

Alumnae week-end . . . G A A banquet and musical comedy . . . Round Table conference . . . reason enough for the hordes of grads that poured into the halls of State this week-end. Psi Gam heralded the arrival of Hannah Parker, Dorothy Griffin, and Hilda Proper, all '34's; Chi Sig of Maybelle Matthews, Katherine Moore, and Mildred Crowley. At Beta Zeta, Laura Styn, Babette Hutzlenlaub, and Nellie Wood made their presence known. Pi Alpha Tau, think of it, announces the marriage of three members: Belle Vener, Ruth Vinklestein, and Jane Schulman. At A E Phi, Ruth Lauber was heard from. Laura Bove, E B Phi announces, has joined herself to the ranks. They also had Jessie McAvoy as a guest. The N. Y. C. deposited Marie Green, Eleanor Gage, and Marjorie Langmuir at Union station. They proceeded to Gamma Kap for the week-end.

Class Banner Dispute Goes To High Court

As an aftermath of conflicting opinions as to violation of inter-class rivalry rules by the sophomore class at the class dinner conducted March 27, an investigation was declared by Myskania, senior honorary society. This investigation took place in the form of a court and trial procedure, Wednesday afternoon. Five witnesses from each class were panelled and testified as to the conduct of the various members of their respective classes. At the time of the News going to press, no decision was available from Myskania.

RECEIVES AWARD

As a token of appreciation for the work he has done toward advancing intra-mural sports among the classes at State during the past three years, the men who have participated in the intra-mural program presented Alexander Jadicik, '35, manager of intra-mural sports, with a gold chain and penknife at the intra-mural dinner Wednesday night.

BOOKS: A Colorful Portrait

V. E. S.

(On Sale in the Co-op.)

Elinor Wylie, The Portrait of an Unknown Lady, by Nancy Hoyt. 187 pages. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Company. $2.50.

The cloud of rumor and half-known, half-suspected facts concerning that mysterious and well-beloved American poetess, Elinor Hoyt Wylie, has at last been dispelled by this understanding, explanatory biography by her sister, Nancy Hoyt. Though Nancy was seventeen years younger than Elinor, the gulf between the two always seemed less than half the actual number of years. They were together whenever possible, and shared the delights alike of their literary professions and their domestic lives. This intimate relationship forms the basis of the younger sister's "Portrait of an Unknown Lady," and a lovely, colorful portrait it is.

Elinor Hoyt was born of moderately wealthy parents in a little town in New England to which her family had retired, preferring the quiet life of a small village to the rush of society in a city. However, when her father obtained the position of Assistant Attorney-General of the United States, the family moved to Washington where young Elinor attended school. Here she soon acquired the name of "the infant Keats" because of her facility in phrasing, and her ability to select exactly the right word for the right spot.

Considered as a bluestocking by her associates, she amazed and shocked the select group in which she lived by eloping, after a seemingly happy marriage with a young man of her own set, with Horace Wylie, a much older man. Forced by public opinion to leave America, they settled in England, where they shared an idyllic country life. Here she turned to writing, and more particularly to poetry; an here-to-fore dilatory avocation, in earnest. Her first volume was printed privately but in 1921, when Harcourt, Brace and Howe brought out her "Nets to Catch the Wind," it was immediately acclaimed as a great success. The careful manipulation of words, so evident in her childhood, was here developed to its greatest extent. The success of all future books was assured.

Miss Hoyt traces Elinor's brilliant career, her return to America, her third marriage, to William Rose Benet, all with a careful eye on the little details of which a woman is so fond; tiny word pictures of Elinor in different moods; whimsical and thoroughly feminine vagaries . . . all these go to make up the biography, certainly not a great book, but a thoroughly human one.

—so far as we know tobacco was first used about 400 years ago

—throughout the years what one thing has given so much pleasure..so much satisfaction

Today the Governor of North Carolina says to the Governor of South Carolina—
"Have a cigarette"

TODAY people all over the world use tobacco in one form or another. They chew it, they smoke it in pipes, they smoke cigars and cigarettes, and here is what an eminent physician said about cigarettes:

"I have been something of a student of cigarettes, and it is my belief that they offer the mildest and purest form in which tobacco is used."

Yes, nowadays the cigarette is the most popular form in which tobacco is used. A good cigarette certainly gives men and women a lot of pleasure.

Have a Chesterfield—
For one thing—they're milder.
For another thing—they taste better.

Debate Assembly To Be May 10-11 At State Capitol

The third annual meeting of the assembly of Debaters of the New York state colleges and universities, under the auspices of the New York State Conference of Coaches of Debate, will be conducted in Albany on Friday and Saturday, May 10 and 11, 1935. The host college will be the New York State College for Teachers, and the meetings will be conducted in the assembly chamber of the New York state legislature in the capitol, and at the college.

The motive behind the organization of the Debaters' assembly was to supplement the regular inter-collegiate debating contests by providing for debaters conditions under which they could debate real, live issues without attempting to prove that their side of some definitely worded proposition was right. The first meeting was at Syracuse university in 1933, and was so successful that it was decided to make the meeting annual. The 1934 meeting, with delegations representing 23 colleges, was held at Colgate university.

Three subjects, drawn from Governor Lehman's message to the legislature, have been chosen for this year. They are: "What should the State of New York do about the problem of old age pensions? What should the policy of this state be with regard to the control of milk prices? How should the legislative and congressional districts of this state be reapportioned?"

The business of the Assembly is carried on in three main sessions. Three committees will be appointed, one for each topic under discussion. Each college and university may send as many as nine official delegates, three to each committee, and as many alternates and observers as it pleases. The delegates will be housed at the Wellington hotel on State street.

Student Council Names Officials For Moving-up Day

The annual Moving-up day ceremonies will begin Friday, May 17, at 8:10 o'clock when the four classes assemble in their respective meeting-places to march to the Page hall auditorium. The classes will then file out of the auditorium and form their class numerals on the Page hall campus during the planting of the ivy. In the afternoon, the class stunts will be presented in the auditorium, and at night the inter-class sing will take place on the steps of Draper hall.

In accordance with the constitutional amendment passed Friday in assembly, Student council has appointed the following to take charge of Moving-up day events: grand marshal, Evelyn Staehle, '35; class speakers, Dorothea Gahagan, '35, Angelo Zannieri, '36, Irwin Stinger, '37, and Paul Dittman, '38; chairman of music, Thurston Paul, '35; chairman of men's pushball, Alexander Jadick, '35; chairman of women's athletics, Harriet Ten Eyck, '35. ## New Issue Of College Catalogue Indicates Changes In Curriculum

Now that the annual College catalogue has been distributed, mention is made of the few changes in requirements and the addition of new courses for 1935-1936. Just in case you haven't obtained your copy of the official register, you may get yours in the Registrar's office in Draper hall.

Perhaps the greatest changes listed in the requirements for graduation are: Economics-Sociology I and Education 10 for the class of 1938 and subsequent classes during the sophomore year. The economics course, carrying six credit hours, will include a lecture and socialized recitations on modern economic society and its social aspects under Professor Adam A. Walker, and Mr. Ralph H. Baker, assistant instructor in government. Education 10, carrying six credit hours in the sophomore year and four in the junior year, will deal with the objec-

Peace, Not Pieces, Contribute To Success Of '38 Banquet

"The President Vanishes." Through the efforts of the sophomores, this seemed to be, for a time, the theme of the freshman banquet, conducted in the cafeteria of Husted hall on May 1 (the day when the "radicals" came out of their holes).

Dr. Brubacher's statement that the class of 1937 took Knox to raise the intellectual level of the sophomore class was highly appreciated by the freshmen.

The coach for the basketball team, George Bancroft, '36, received a gift of a cigarette lighter inscribed with his initials and the numerals "36 from '38," as a token of sincere appreciation for his service rendered to the team. The members of the team who received their letters are: Frank Hildenbrandt, Abe Wasserman, Paul Schmitz, Peter Rodenrys, Lyle Lawton, John O'Brien, John Masko, Neal Kane.

Budget Discussion To Be In Assembly

Balloting for Student Association Officers Will Be Additional Feature on Program

Discussion and voting on the Student association budget for next year in conjunction with the "60% resolution", and balloting for next year's officers, will occupy the 11:10 o'clock student assembly this morning in Page hall auditorium, according to Clifford Rall, '35, president of the association.

Feeling that it is essential that the 1935-36 student budget be passed before the end of this semester, the Student Board of Finance will make the following recommendation to the student association:

The Student Board of Finance recommends to the student association that all preliminary budget discussion be completed today, so that the budget proper may be discussed and passed in the assemblies immediately following Moving-up day.

If this recommendation is followed, the resolution to drop from the college budget any item not supported by 60 per cent of the student body will be disposed of immediately. The resolution, which has been pending for several weeks, originally read "80 per cent" but was amended to read "60 per cent" at the last assembly. If the resolution is passed, there will be a discussion of the items to go into the budget, followed by a preference vote of the student body on these items. The finance board urges that debate be so limited that this procedure may be completed this morning. This will enable the board to know the wishes of the student body as to what items should constitute the 1935-36 budget, which will be presented to the assembly on May 24.
