The tournament will start next Thursday, September 25. The entry list will be closed on Tuesday, September 23, and the schedule of games will be posted Wednesday in order that the tournament may begin promptly on Thursday, she announced.

Each set of players will be allowed two days of fair weather to play off their matches, Miss Cusler said, and they will be dropped from the tournament if the matches are not played off within the specified time.

A cup may be awarded to the winner of the tournament this year to G. A. V., according to Miss Cusler.

SENIORS TO HAVE CAPS AND GOWNS BY THANKSGIVING

Members of the senior class will wear their caps and gowns before Thanksgiving, Lawrence C. Newcomb, president of the senior class, announced today.

Cottrell and Leonard, an Albany firm, will supply the caps and gowns which will cost from $8.25 to $10.00, Newcomb estimated.

Because of an early order, seniors will have their caps and gowns at an unusually early date this year, Newcomb said.

Named for Honor

Horace B. Myers, '31, is first student to receive the Wheelock Scholarship established by the Associated Academic Principals of New York State.

FACULTY SELECTS H. B. MYERS, '31, FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Horace B. Myers, '31, is the student selected for the first award of the Wheelock scholarship by the faculty, according to an announcement made by President A. R. Brubacher at the Commencement exercises last June.

The scholarship was established by the Associated Academic Principals of New York State and is awarded to the man in the junior class who at the end of the third year has shown the greatest promise for educational leadership. Scholarship, leadership, extra-curricular activity participation and conscientiousness are considered. A committee of five members of the faculty made the final selection after the heads of the several departments had made nominations from students in their departments. Fourteen men were nominated, Dr. Brubacher said.

Myers is a member of Kappa Delta Rho fraternity. He has taken a leading part in dramatic productions and has appeared in several Troubadour presentations. Last year he played on the junior basketball team, inter-class champions.

While the amount of the scholarship is not certain, the holder is assured of at least one hundred dollars. When payments to establish the fund are completed, the scholarship will be worth approximately two hundred dollars.

Finance Board To Have First Meeting Tuesday

The first meeting this semester of the student board of finance will be conducted Tuesday at 12 o'clock, Professor George M. York, chairman of the board, announced today. The budgets of the various organizations should be handed in to the finance board as soon as possible, Professor York said.

The following are the members of the board for this year: Clarence A. Hedges, assistant professor of history, treasurer; Professor George M. York, head of the commerce department, chairman; Norman Collins, senior member; Prudell Hall and Robert Rankins, junior members; and Frances McMahon, sophomore member.

Ann Saverioff was elected as the other senior member but resigned as she was also elected class treasurer. A meeting of the senior class will be conducted soon to elect the other senior member, Lawrence C. Newcomb, president of the senior class, announced today.

18 Day Diets Disappear When Girls Eat At Camp Cogswell

A possible re-establishment of the annual New York city Bowery bread line was evidenced Wednesday at the annual play day for freshmen of the Girls' Athletic association at Camp Cogswell when an attempt was made to get three hundred and fifty hungry freshmen and upperclassmen into a suitable line in order that they might be fed.

Dignified seniors, more or less dignified juniors, and gay young sophomores struggled alike with the starving freshmen to obtain supper, which was supplied by Asenath Van Buren, '32, and her hard working committee-men. Several champion frankfurter consumers were discovered among the freshmen present.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS RECEIVE REPAIRS AND ALTERATIONS

A series of general improvement-works are being carried out and completed within the college buildings, according to Clarence J. Deyo, secretary-treasurer of the college.

One of these is the new inclosure which is being built on the peristyle leading from Husted hall to Richardson hall. The inclosure is being made of wooden frames in which windows, that can be opened or closed, are placed. The fact that the strongest winter winds blow across the campus at the point of the peristyle is the reason given by the administrative authorities for the building of the new inclosure.

"The passing of students through the peristyle in inclement weather causes them to be exposed to danger of illness and colds. This will also endanger the general health of all the students," Mr. Deyo said.

The financing of the inclosure will be referred to a special estimate fund of which Mr. Deyo has charge. The cost of the inclosure is estimated at $2,500.

At present the peristyle is not opened to students. It is expected that the erection of the inclosure will be completed before cold weather sets in so that it may be used by students, announced Mr. Deyo.

Another improvement is the repair of all the floors in Milne and Draper halls. These floors have all been sanded, scraped and filled with a preservative material called permatite. This project is also financed by the Special Fund Estimate Plan. The door opening from the lower floor of Husted hall into the peristyle has been taken away and a large archway has been built.

1934 WILL MEET TONIGHT AT 8:00

Class will be in Auditorium to Learn of Traditions and 33 Rules

College traditions and the sophomore rules will be explained to the freshmen, at the annual Freshman Welcome to be conducted in the Page hall auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Welcome is given by the sophomore class under the supervision of Myskania. Betty Gordon, president of the sophomore class, will preside. Freshmen will assemble in the auditorium and will be escorted to their seats by sophomore ushers. Rows of seats will be marked with alternating class colors for the freshmen and sophomores.

The meeting will open with the singing of the college alma mater, led by Katherine Long, sophomore song leader.

Only the members of the freshmen and sophomore classes, the members of Myskania, and the faculty will attend, according to Carol Kelley, '31, Myskania, chairman of the party.

Explanation of tradition and rules for inter-class rivalry will be made by a member of Myskania, and Miss Gordon will hear the sophomore rules.

The attendance of freshmen at the welcome party will be checked by the sophomores and penalties for non-attendance will be enacted under the supervision of Myskania.

After the explanation of the rules the freshmen will be escorted to the Page hall gymnasium by the sophomores where they will be introduced to the faculty. At the entrances to the gymnasium buttons and caps and toques will be distributed to the freshmen under the direction of Frances McMahon, chairman of the freshmen insignia committee. Members of Myskania, the faculty, the sophomores and the freshmen will have individual tags as identification.

The faculty will be at their department sections in the gymnasium, where the freshmen will be presented to them by the sophomores. There will be dancing until 11:30 o'clock and refreshments will be served.

Mary A. Keilly is the sophomore general chairman. Her committees include: decorations, Marcia Gold, chairman; Alene Wolfe, Carol Cedarquist, Ben Ingraham, Clayton Stewart, and Arlon Bush; refreshments, William Collins, chairman; floor, George Hiser; and door committee, Alvina R. Lewis, chairman, Bernard Kerbel, J. Bruce Filby, Frances McMahon, John Detelson, and Helen Waltermire.

STATE STUDENTS MAY HEAR SERIES OF 7 LECTURES

Arrangements to give State college students an opportunity to hear the series of lectures presented under the auspices of the Jewish Community Center during the coming year will be under the direction of George P. Rice, '32.

Seven speakers of international fame in law, social science, and religion will be included in the series. Five lectures by individual speakers and one debate will be presented.

The following lecturers will talk on the dates scheduled: Scott Nearing on Sunday, November 23; Judge Ben Lindsey, Sunday, December 7; Lewis Browne, Sunday, December 21; Dr. Ora Wide will debate U. S. Constitution on Sunday, January 11; Rabbi Stephen Wise will talk on Sunday, February 8; and John Hayes Hines, economist, will conclude the lectures on Sunday, April 5.

The lecture on December 21 is the only one which occurs during a vacation period which might prevent some of the students from attending.

Special rates for the students may be obtained from the executive director of the Center, Rice said. The price will probably depend upon the number sold at the college.

Last year Emanuel Green, '30, had charge. Student demands absorbed nearly 150 tickets.

Tickets for this year will probably be available around the end of this month or early in October.

Dr. Croasdale Describes Infirmary Fund; Money Is Used For Emergencies Only

The following article on the infirmary fund and its uses was written for the News by Dr. C. Caroline Croasdale, College physician and professor of hygiene. In it she explains, particularly, for the benefit of the freshmen, but also to the upperclassmen the manner in which the infirmary fund is distributed.

It is good to see you all again and to see you looking so well. We hope you'll go on looking that way right through the year. But if you don't, you should get such, which places Heaven you don't then right away you'll want to know about the Infirmary Fund. So please read this carefully now, because you know seniors, even who are not yet quite certain how the Fund works.

But two dollars from each student goes to the Infirmary Fund. This is very little. In most colleges the Infirmary has a five dollar per year. Of course you could vote a larger amount of your pocket money to Infirmary if you wanted. But if you could increase the total tax. Think it over, will you?

Meaning, what do you get for your two dollars? You may call upon the fund for emergency illness or accident provided your tax has already been paid but you must be sure that it's emergency before you call. If you knew last July that you needed glasses and purposely waited till September to get it done out of the Infirmary Fund—well, that isn't emergency—at least not from our point of view. You will not get that, of course.

If you are in need of special advice the Hygiene department will try to be of help. You cannot claim Infirmary benefit if you seek a special piece of advice without being referred to one of the college physicians. If you are taken ill in your room, call a private physician. The hygiene department will gladly make suggestions if you do not know whom to call.

In order to administer the fund intelligently, we must know

121 FRESHMEN TRY FOR NEWS POSTS

Miss Broderick will Instruct 96 Freshmen Each Week in News Writing

Ninety-six freshmen have signed up to try out for the editorial staff of the STATE COLLEGE NEWS. This is the largest number which has ever registered in the "club" class, surpassing last year's record of eighty.

The class is conducted each year by a member of the News board. Owing to the large number who have enrolled this year, however, it will probably be necessary to divide the class into two or three sections.

News writing, proof reading and copy reading will be taught the first semester, and those who complete this course satisfactorily will be eligible to enter a class in headline writing the second semester.

Twenty-five freshmen have also signified their intention of working on the business staff of the News.

The classes will be taught by Catherine E. Broderick, M. A., associate managing editor of the News.

NEARLY 40 VISIT FRESHMEN CAMP

Faculty and Upper-Classmen Speak to 1934 Men on College Life

Approximately 40 students spent last weekend at Cossayama Lake at the first freshman camp ever conducted by the men of State college. The camp was sponsored by the student Young Men's Christian association.

Student leaders addressed the freshmen on various phases of extra-curricular life, and Dr. Harry W. Hastings, chairman of the English department, and President A. R. Brubacher spoke on the orientation problem. President Brubacher cautioned the freshmen from assuming too many outside burdens while attending college.

"Extra-curricular activities," he said, "may be very beneficial, but one must remember that they compare to study as the side-show of a circus compares to the fair show." He warned the freshmen to keep always a proper relation of values, before him and never to allow any desire for popularity to overshadow his intellectual life.

Groups were organized by the general classes to discuss the various problems of the freshmen. A list of problems in various ways discussed at the groups, and the freshmen were urged to meet and discuss the problems that they were having. TWO OF FACULTY AND 26 STUDENTS JOIN NEW SOCIETY

Two fratres in facultate and twenty-six members of the class of 1930 are announced as members of the first group chosen for Signum Laudis, honor scholastic society which was organized last year under the direction of Emanuel Green, '30.

President A. R. Brubacher and Dr. William H. Metzler, dean, are the two members of the administration who were taken into membership last June.

Although the constitution of the society declares that the student having the highest scholastic average in the graduating class shall be president, the group voted to deviate from this. In a regularly conducted election, Louis J. Wolner, a high honor man, was chosen first president, and James Cassidy was chosen secretary-treasurer.

The highest ten per cent of the graduating class inducted includes: Marion F. Botta, Dorothy Brimmer, Raymond T. Byrne, James J. Cassidy, Ruth Chow, Katherine Cornish, Mildred Contant, Miriam A. Dolan, Mae Glockner, Catherine Harrington, Mildred Hawks, Edith Kelly, Thomas Kinsella, Florence Lawless, Francis L. Robinson, Evelyn Sadler, Adolph Schell, Virginia Schultes, Victor Starr, Dorothy Thomas, Phyllis Ulme, Esther Weatherway, Phyllis Williams, Louis J. Wolner, Shirley Wood, and Esther Zimmerman.

Four per cent of the present senior class will be taken into membership in an early assembly, according to officers of the society. Dr. Brubacher has stated that he believes that Wolner and Cassidy will be present at the assembly to induct the new members.

Membership in the organization is awarded on a pro rata basis. A student must have a 3.0 average in his studies. In March, as per cent of the graduating class, students of the senior class will be inducted into the organization.

STATE TEACHERS TO GO TO MEETING

Convention to be in Cleveland Next Thanksgiving and Week-end

Many teachers of New York state schools will be in Cleveland next Thanksgiving and the Friday and Saturday following, to attend the meeting of the National Council of Teachers of English.

William M. French, '29, is a member of the publicity committee.

Creative English will be the keynote of the convention which is for all teachers of English. Section meetings will consider English in the elementary school, in the junior, and in the senior high school. There will be a conference especially for heads of departments and one on teacher training.

Miss Laura Edwards of Glenville High school, Cleveland, is planning an exhibit of student's work which will be national in scope.

The meeting will probably begin with a supper on Thanksgiving afternoon. There will be a dinner on Friday evening. Speakers of national reputation will talk at the general sessions. Drives, a tea, a theatre party and visits to private schools are being planned for the entertainment of visitors. Miss Ruth Weeks of Paseo High school, Kansas City, is president of the Council, which was founded nineteen years ago. It has 6,000 members.

The Council is said to have been powerful in uniting teachers of English not only in all parts of the country but all along the educational levels. It sponsors The English Journal for high school people, another edition of the Journal for college instructors, and the Elementary English Review for those who teach in the grade schools.

Cleveland expects 1,000 teachers at the meeting. Seven hundred attended last year at Kansas City.

LIBRARY SCHOOL GIVES FRESHMEN INVENTORY TEST

The inventory test given by the staff of the library school to the freshmen was for the purpose of finding out how much library training they have received in high school. Miss Martha C. Pritchard, professor of library science, said today.

"According to the state law some training in the use of the library is required in all schools," Miss Pritchard said, "and we are going to make tabulations of the results to determine whether we are training our students to handle their work in the best way."

Part of the test was to determine how familiar the students were with books included in a list of forty standard books prepared by the Bureau of Education at Washington, D. C. Another part consisted of questions pertaining to the use of books and libraries. "The students who showed most progress will be given a more advanced problem in the use of the library," Miss Mary E. Cobb, assistant professor of library science and College librarian, said. "and the others will be given two problems."

"It is our purpose, if we find some students who have had no instruction to make up for that loss by providing the opportunity for such instruction during the year."

HANDBOOK EDITOR DISTRIBUTES 450 BOOKS THIS YEAR

Four hundred and fifty copies of the 1934 freshman handbook have been printed by the Ivory printing company, according to George P. Rice, '32, editor of the book.

Over three hundred and sixty copies have been sent out to members of the freshman class. The remaining copies will be filed with Miss Anna E. Pierce, dean of women, members of the faculty, Myskama, and the student publications.

The object of the handbook is to give in compact and accurate form all College activities and traditions to the freshmen. Several new articles have been added to the book and a number of other changes in style have been instituted, Rice said.

Members of the junior class who have served as associate editors are: Frances Gaynor, Margaret Hilton, Asenath Van Buren, Andrew Hritz, and Samuel Dransky.

All material for the book was in the hands of the printer this year before June 20.

mina Schneider, '31, president of the debate council, announced today.

The debate will be with a team representing several of the leading universities of Scotland. The Scottish squad will tour the United States during the first semester and will meet leading American debate teams. They desire to have a non-decision debate, according to Martha H. Biehle, acting executive secretary of the National Student Federation of America.

If a definite date and subject for the debate can be arranged, try-outs will be conducted for the men's team during the coming week, Miss Schneider said.

INFIRMARY MONEY TO BE AVAILABLE FOR EMERGENCIES

fairly, one of the college doctors must be notified at once when you have called a private physician—before if possible.

Because of administrative difficulties illness outside the city of Albany cannot be covered by the fund. How large a bill will the fund take care of? That depends on how much money the Treasurer happens to have at a given time. At no time can the fund promise to meet your entire bill. It never pays more than $25.00.

Last year about 300 students called upon the fund and we spent more than our allotment of $2,250.

How can we make the Infirmary Fund most effective?
First—Pay your student tax as soon as you are asked.

Second—Don't feel that because you have paid in $2.00 you are certainly entitled to $25.00 out of it during the year.

Third—Don't ask benefit for illness which is not emergency—or at least don't be critical if you are told that yours does not constitute emergency.

Fourth—Don't hesitate to ask the aid of the fund when you really need it—it's not charity, it's insurance.

Fifth—Consider seriously increasing the Infirmary Fee to at least $3.00.

Sixth and last—Carefully refrain from doing anything that will make you sick. Then the fund will last forever and get bigger and bigger and perhaps we could buy a swimming pool or a new library or something.
