Explanation of proposal:

A major overhaul of this sparsely populated program would be required in order to make it feasible again. Namely, no attention has been paid over the years to changes in Chem Engineering curriculum; some courses that are needed at the potential engineering schools (RPI; Clarkson Univ) are no longer offered here nor are suitable replacements. In fact, RPI does not seem even to remember that such a program exists. In fact, two of the continuation schools listed (Binghamton and New Paltz) have no chem engr program currently. Clearly, major discussions would be required to rectify these circumstances which make advisement well nigh impossible. Thus, we ask for deactivation for the time being; we will accommodate the remaining couple of students currently in the program.
