Dedication

To the graduates of Milne who have made the supreme sacrifice in the service of our country, we, the graduates of 1945, dedicate this yearbook. It is with the greatest sorrow and deepest admiration that we acknowledge our obligation to these men who have helped to make it possible for us to go forth into a world of peace and security.

We salute our boys and girls in service.

Class History of '45

7th

Our first days at Milne were spent rather pathetically trying to find our way to the Cafeteria. There were times when we actually had to brave the scorn of a Senior, and ask the direction in our most humble manner.

As our timidity wore off we were soon gleefully squirting each other across the chemistry room where the fortunate of us had some of our classes.

Our first public appearances consisted of assembly programs, one especially in which Sherman showed his talent as "Dopey," wearing ears bigger than himself and tugging his heart out on a "magic" string.

Jim Detwiler's Model A Ford was an object of admiration and curiosity. The parties got in full swing in no time at all, and someone had the bright idea of a hatchet for George Ryder's "going-away" present. The first formal was taken very seriously and was the sole source of conversation for weeks in advance.

8th

Sophistication came in the eighth grade, however. "Eddie's" was discovered, and also the fact of how interesting Kingston Point can be from beyond the little bridge. And Dave Golding duly impressed his guests with "colored" movies at one of the many parties.

9th

The class made its mark in the Junior High and Milne by the election of "Mac" as Student Council President, the first girl to hold the office. The Annex was the after-school haunt and we'll never forget "Edna's" reaction to that milk-bottle "Tower of Pisa" the boys built to a terrifying height.

Friday afternoon tea dances enlivened the social scene, but then there was the time the boys weren't speaking to the girls (could it have been due to the Dawn Patrol?)

Some of our manly males joined the Cooking Club and learned how to be model husbands, and others showed their skill in the Soap Box Derby. John Farnan managed to amuse everyone at the bicycle party by taking an unexpected swim in the pond.

Entering the Senior High was an honor for us all, but not so easy when it came to initiations. The girls were blushing for weeks after the ordeal, and the boys—well, it was weeks before they stopped eating off the mantle. John Mosher (our Navy man) finally got to play in one of the games, making it a memorable event. Early in this year Dottie Hoopes, Mary Paris and Shirley Coburn departed from the Alma Mater, which left us without three fine houses.

One of the funniest scenes (though it was mercifully private) was that of "Ye Old Bridge Club" trying to get the knack of "Chatanooga Choo-Choo." And Mr. Allard's lectures on the evils of gum-chewing gave us lots to think about (oo-la-la).

11th

Our Junior year is unforgettable history. Ted Carlson was elected President of Senior Student Council. Betty Stone and Janice Hauf were selected as editors for the Bricks and Ivy and the Crimson and White, respectively. The basketball team had a winning streak of seven games. Lee Aronowitz made the "All-Albany" and Bob Kerker made the honor roll. The class en masse went beet-pulling at Holmes' farm and still have the scars to prove it. The "Solid South" originated this year and Tad Jones, our own science genius, blew up his chemistry lab at home while performing a vital experiment.

Then came January 7th, at which time the Physics students' assignments were made optional; we called it our Liberation day!

A group of girls discovered how diverting the Hauf camp can be, especially when it's known to be located near the famed "De Kelly" lodge. Bob Phinney drove his mail truck around town that summer before joining the Navy, and Pat George had his spider bites from the A and P before going into the same branch of service. A group of boys visited the "six-mile" water works and the Albany Country Club almost every night for "ice-cold" swims and "Ficher's" afterwards.

September, '44, saw us enter into our Senior year. We started off with a hearty bit of apple-polishing, hoping to start a new leaf (our sixth leaf turned over in as many years). We began to settle down to a difficult year, for everyone was determined to get along with the supervisors at all cost. This did not prove to be a hard task, as the supervisors held the same resolution!

The senior room, quite naturally, was the center of much activity, and a large number of our class attained fame through "personalized" songs and nick-names. A certain individual gained renowned fame as the only known person who could grow a beard in twelve minutes flat! The password, "charge," was echoed through the halls early in the year. About this time we were all duly surprised as we learned Ted Carlson attended church for the first time. Janice Hauf had an open house Christmas night and Al Saunders had a barn party Hallowe'en.

We'll never forget the Kerker-Friedman election feud, either. We were all proud when Lee Aronowitz and Ed Mueheleck made the All-Star team, and sorry when Bob Gibbons graduated into the Navy in January. On New Year's eve a group of boys broke out with yellow jaundice, a dreaded oriental disease. And just to keep up our good will, the Albany Academy received a social call from a certain gang on Hallowe'en night.

Perhaps the one most outstanding academic accomplishment of the year was our senior essays, but we must remember the advanced algebra class. There were many more memorable incidents, and, to mention a few: Herb Lucas succeeded in frightening his teachers by dropping his front tooth every so often; "O.B" Fallek showed his talent on the basketball court and was triumphantly carried off the floor after the game; "Allie" (what could we have done without him) had the swing band named after him; Bob De Moss had his annual haircut and all this while the senior boys were frequenting "De Kelly" house and "De Kelly" camp. These centers became just like home—only more so. Incidentally, a large group of boys still maintain faith in Si Odell.

Thus the year passed all too quickly. Before long, the yearbook, final exams, class night and finally graduation became a reality. And so our six years at Milne have ended. Individually, we shall set out to mold our future life patterns. But we shall take with us the loving memories of our experiences in Milne—experiences not to be soon forgotten.

Class Prophecies

Barbara Arnold has given up budgeting her expenses. What would you do if you were stuck with one "bill" for the rest of your life?

Leo is now the flashy star of his own basketball team. This team consists of all six-footers except for Leo, but he always was a little forward.

Bob Baldwin has been wowing record fans with his smooth trumpeteering. Music critics, comparing him with elderly Harry James, say, "He's got everything but Grable!"

Judy is working with the Metropolitan Opera. Her latest triumph, "Romeo and Judy," is recommended for each girl who wishes to learn how to get her man and keep him, too.

Bob Bellinger has finally forced Arthur Murray out of the dancing business. Bob specializes in teaching beautiful girls how to dance cheek to cheek.

"Bizzy" can be found any night on the Palace stage doing impersonations. Her specialty is the hula-hula; can that girl wiggle!

Audrey is now running a telephone exchange and doing quite well. Just call up any time and give her a ring.

Having taken New York by storm, Bogie, when asked about her numerous admirers, replies:

"Each is nice, Bill, Bob, and Tommy,
But I still prefer my little Johnny."

Step into any bookkeeping office and you will find Janet still trying to decide whether assets are debits or credits. At Milne, she gave the teachers quite a workout.

Steamark Bulger has broken into the world spotlight by his great invention called "Steamer's Supersensational Synthetic Cigarettes." The ingredients are, of course, a secret, but it's said he uses avocado fuzz.

In his fourth term acceptance speech, Franklin Delano Carlson said in a wily tone, "I hate averages!"

Beverly can't make up her mind whether to continue with art or piano. Tell us—which is the most entertaining?

Barbara Cooper is now the manager of her own basketball team. She calls it, "Cooper's Super Hoopers."

Turn on the radio anytime and you can hear "The Chirper," Joan Davidson, singing, "He's Just My Bill" or "Piccollo Pete." She wows the men folk especially.

Bluebeard De Moss, who spent ninety percent of his time shaving, has settled down to a happy home life, raising his seven little shavers.

Jeanne De Proesse's popularity isn't from her new super deluxe rocket—1955 model—but from her latest book titled, "Why Men Turn Grey," or "Smaash," or "I'll Have No Remarks About My Driving."

Hiram Detwiler has bought himself a chicken farm and has placed a huge neon sign on the coop reading: "Hiram's Healthy Hens, Rosey Roosters, and Slick Chicks."

Doogal-lass has become world-renowned as the only one who can make a Ford run with nine-tenths of its parts missing. His latest development is a jet-propelled Model A.

Sandy Duncan now operates the express elevator in the Empire State Building. He finds his job very interesting in spite of its ups and downs.

O. B. Fallek has invented a product called "Sam's Secret Substance." It's guaranteed to take the ice out of a cold shoulder; take the dust from a dirty look, and take the starch out of a stiff neck.

Jim Fallon is now a film director for M.G.M., where he focuses his lenses on the curves of Hollywood's famous beauties. Commenting on his job, Jim said, "Wow!"

Sheik Farnan may be seen at your neighborhood theatre in his latest screen triumph, "Mohammedan Moonshine." This time, as in his last seventeen films, his only line is, "Allie be praised!"

Ed Fay, engineer on a coast-to-coast streamliner, passes through Salt Lake City at bedtime. As the sleek train passes by the dimly-lighted windows, engineer Fay clears the tracks with a loud "Woo, Woo!"

Footer may be seen zooming back and forth between Albany and Round Lake in his helicopter taxi. Although he has great will power, sometimes he drops into dives along the way.

Ipana, Colgate, Pepsodent and Kolynos are all urging Barbara Friedman to pose for ads showing her lovely smile and pretty pearls.

The fuel shortage may return again, but Lois Friedman isn't worried because she knows that Peat will keep her nice and warm.

Did you see those lovely locks in Charm Magazine? Well, they belong to our own Greta Gade, who poses for shampoo advertisements. Her golden tresses are the envy of all.

Gib-bones has just invented a new nightcap called "Liquid Dynamite," as it shakes the clothes off you, lifts you gently out of your shoes, throws you into bed, and puts you to sleep in half the time you could do it yourself.

Davie Golding has just finished running for Alderman of Albany County. It was a close race, but as usual, Davie ended up out in front.

Franny Hillard is just wild about Armstrong heaters. She has been keeping warm this way for quite a number of years—especially now that it comes in uniform style.

Bob Hotaling, the eminent horticulturist, recently succeeded in his experiments to perfect a non-squirt grapefruit—it just drools!

Helen, our own red-headed pin-up girl, spends her time making the boys in service happy. The Marines have named her the girl they would most like to celebrate the armistice with.

Norma Johnson and Barbara Brookman are going to open a riding academy for Milne with the money their horse will win in the Kentucky Derby—they hope! Best of luck.

Tad has been acclaimed the greatest scientist of the era after winning the Nobel Prize. He has discovered an ingenious way of making anyone laugh at jokes.

De Kelly has reconverted his house into a nightclub, called "De Kelly Klub." He finds that with Mrs. De Kelly at the piano and Mr. De Kelly as M.C., he has to turn back the frenzied crowds.

Koikee has become famous, not just because he beat Joe DiMaggio out of his centerfield position, but because he is the only man in baseball that can swear at the umpires in ten different languages.

Dr. Shimmerman now owns the first flying hospital. It's very unique, in that people can look back and say they had their appendix out between Albany and Castleton at ten thousand feet.

"Dr. Kotzin, call plastic surgery!" Jerry specializes in making new faces for Dick Tracy characters who want to settle down and live peacefully.

Marcia is now starring in the sequel to "Best Foot Forward." She finally got out of the habit of putting them both forward at the same time.

Dr. Lucas is vacationing from his position as professor of mathematics at Columbia. During last semester he was particularly annoyed by A. K. Hossenpfeifer, a student who grated his nerves by constantly correcting him.

Mac and Janice, our angels of mercy, are giving their full time to a convalescent home which specializes in treating basketball players suffering from heart trouble. They hope to open their own home in the near future.

Jim Magilton is now the leader of his own band, called "Magilton's Melody-Mad Musicians." Their hot rendition of "Oh, Promise Me" is sweeping the nation.

Ralph Manweiler is making a career of convalescing. He is being carefully attended for a stiff neck by a red-headed nurse.

Lapper McGrath, who has just graduated a full-fledged engineer, has started a project which is the dream of most Milne boys—an underground tunnel to Ed's.

When complimented on her wit, Lois Meehan, now famous for her fabulous New York penthouse, just replies, "Oh, I'm not so good. I even know a poet who is wittier."

Allie Mendel is now a baker, but it is said that he won't last, as every bit of dough he gets his hands on, he wants to save.

The Hotel Astoria is now having "Shirley Meskil's Moody Music." Not only does she sing, but plays the Brown clarinet and piano as well.

Messant's art gallery is located on Park Avenue. From what we hear, there is quite a collection, ranging from glamour drawings up to still-life.

Doggie Muehleck has entered the bee business. His place is known for its original signs, such as: "If you think you have hives, you should see ours." "Buy our bees—you won't get stung." "Our business is always buzzing."

Chuck Neydorff is beating it out on the drums at the Paramount in New York. His theme song, "Buzz, Buzz, Buzz, Went the Buzz Saw," is helping hep cats cut the rug.

Everyone agrees that Lawrence Tibbit, who keeps hunting for his ideal, "Chloe," will have to learn "Anchors Aweigh" if he wishes to win a certain Chloe we know.

If you droop, try Richardson's course in muscle-building. Barbara guarantees that you will be left with no sag. Oh!

Ed Rick-kels has turned out to be a world-renowned bowler. He paints little faces on his personal, solid gold ball for all the pinboys he puts out of action.

Robinson's little drug store is quite the thing on Madison Avenue. It seems she demonstrates how to hold, drag and inhale Wings. Her favorite song is even "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes."

Ruth Rosenfeld now teaches Spanish to all servicemen who think they might use it in the future. She sure has attentive pupils in her class, especially one certain soldier.

Cookie Saunders is now drawing the majority of pictures for "Esquire." He contributes his success to the practice he got in Milne—in drawing the boys; for he always said they had the better lines.

Sago has moved to Norway where there is plenty of snow. On the side, he gives skiing lessons to all the blue-eyed blondes who want to learn how to ski.

Schamy now has her own fashion salon in New York City, where she designs and models her own clothes. Her label, "Shaper-elle," is known all over the world.

Elaine Sexton's two daughters, like their mother, think the Navy is tops. If they follow in her footsteps, they will undoubtedly make two cute sailor boys very happy someday.

Lionel is now the top comedian at the Stork Club. When asked how he got the job, he said, "The manager asked me if I could keep them laughing, and I said, 'Listen, brother, I'm always Sharp.'"

At her weekly news conference, District Attorney Elizabeth Stone told reporters that she had just finished her last "case," and added that she was thankful that a lawyer had to pass the "bar" only once.

Joan McConnell and Marjorie Sundin are now in a partnership managing their own tea shop. Their motto is:

Our tea room is close by,
No bother—

Just try it once,
You'll go no farther.

Laurel, our own personality kid, is teaching Hollywood starlets how to impress their public. Laurel says it's an easy job, but just look at the practice she got in Milne.

Lorraine, besides writing "Things To Know About Physics and Chemistry," is experimenting with colors, her latest being demon red. She hopes to advance further along these lines in the near future.

Zelda's leg-art has been greatly improved by her exclusively designed shoes and new type of leg covering. According to latest reports, "Baggie's Bagless Bags" are rapidly gaining popularity.

Ruth Welsh was given the key to New York City for her splendid performance in the Ballet Russe. She certainly is up on her toes.

Janet Wiley, as America's first lady, will play charming hostess should you ever drop in at the White House. Instead of a dog named Fella, she has a Teddy-Bear.

Walter certainly keeps his ivories sparkling with Pepsodent! Yes sir, Walt's piano glows at the Astor Roof, where he is now appearing nightly.

Rolloff has invented a new insect poison. His motto is: "Try Brown's Bug Embalmer—It Shirley Mes-kill them."

Class Will 1945

We leave Elaine Sexton's ability to get her man to Marjorie Norton. (She's bound to "come up" in the world now!)

To those who love to tell tall tales, we leave Greta's and Sage's gullibility.

We leave a foot and a half of Tad Jones to Frankie Belleville.

Jim Fallon leaves his steady post in the projection room to Larry Hicks.

We leave the decorum (?) with which the Crimson and White is issued to future editors by courtesy of Janice Hauf.

We are much too selfish to leave any of Bev Cohen's talents to Milne, so we'll just take them along with us.

We leave the booth that Judy and "Coop" vacate at the diner to all those who like atmosphere, music and warmth with their food . . . all for a dime.

By the looks of Doogal-lass's car, we leave it right where it is.

We leave Joan Davidson's extensive wardrobe to Ruth Welsh, '46, with the hope that she will abandon her slacks next year.

We leave Marcia "Duck" Leake's feet to Margaret Quinn, who loves to walk in the rain.

Ruth Welsh, our class wolfess, is generous in leaving her power over the fellows to Jay Price—not that she needs it.

The cozy corners of the senior room are left to Jean Pirnie and Robert French.

We don't dare leave anything of Alli's.

We leave Barbara Richardson's habit of "snatching" basketballs to Mary Kilby and Marilyn Arnold.

We leave John B's tee-shirts to Dave Packard.

Lee Aronowitz's tennis racket we will leave to Dick Herrick.

Norma Johnson leaves the Saturday night square dances at the Aurania Club to Janet Paxton.

Since Lorraine Webber can't take Larry Clarke with her, we will leave him to the "femmes fatales" of '46.

Ed Fay's happy laugh is left to be admired but not appreciated by all French teachers.

Barbara Brookman's car is left to all the kids who may want to take trips to Averill Park. We hear the surroundings are very nice.

Robin leaves her "Jim"-nastic ability to Jackie Pfeiffer.

To Pete Hunting, we leave Gib-bonez pair of red African dominoes.

Our Lucius Beebe, Jim Magilton, leaves his brown-striped suit to Bill Newton.

We leave "Hiram's" ability to make hay while the sun shines to Morris Kay.

Baggy leaves her unfinished bottle of Henna Auburn Rinse to Sally Duncan. How about it, Sally?

We leave Rick-els' secret loves to his two brothers.

To Derwent Angier, we leave Koikie's ability to resist life's temptations.

We leave all "Cookie" Saunders' drawings to replace the pictures in the Senior Room.

We leave to Scott Hamilton, Jack McGrath's shyness.

To all Milne's future bandleaders, we leave Farnansk's sax-appeal.

We leave our seats in Eddie's to the Freshmen.

We leave De Kelly's gym clothes to the Kilip's Laundry.

September found us again in the familiar halls of Milne, and glad to be back. After exchanging various summer experiences, we settled down for a busy year.

The dances began with our official reception into the Senior High (for those who hadn't crashed them last year) and continued to be fun throughout the year.

Our representatives on the Junior Varsity were: Don Jarrett, Dick French, Al Meskil, John Gade, and Bob Kelly. They all did a swell job, and who wouldn't, with "Winnie" Hauf out there with the cheerleaders to cheer them on.

After our initiations into Quin and Sigma, we decided nothing had ever equalled them. The Senior boys were quite flattered when the Quin girls showed them their compositions on: "Why _____ Is My Favorite Senior." Sigma girls outdid themselves on thousand-word compositions.

The boys' initiations were quite eventful, and, as usual, left their impressions.

This year some of us discovered hayrides; while others remember society dances as something to dream about. Square dancing found its place, too, with everyone swingin' his partner.

We struggled bravely through mid-years, thinking, "If these are mid-years, what will finals be like?" In June we found out, but somehow lived through it, and we can now look back on an especially wonderful Sophomore year.

Bang! Bang! That's the way the Freshman started this year.

We started this year by adding Betty Pfeiffer, Janet Fishack, Beverly Rhinebold and Lloyd Schonbrun to our class.

Our girls learned the art of playing hockey. Of course, they sprained wrists and ankles from all their energetic playing, but they didn't mind.

Doris Long, Janet Fishack and Natalie Woolfolk were cheerleaders and did a grand job.

• Shark Kerker, George Ball, Bob Leslie, Don Miller, Vernon Perry, Clayton Besch, Bill Smith, Norman Stumpf, Bill Farnan and Greg Angier were on the Freshman basketball team and won us a lot of victories. Bob Randles managed them beautifully.

Ben Mendel and Bob Clarke made our class

very proud because they were on the Junior Varsity.

Going to the hospital today? A lot of our gals have worked as volunteers at Albany Hospital after school, on Saturday and during vacation. They fold bandages, serve trays, feed patients, fix flowers and do lots of other interesting things. Those volunteering from our class were: Nancy DeWitt, Doris Einstein, Joan Frumkin, Rosie Kotzin, Nancy McAllister, Janet Rabineau, Rita Sontz, and Shirley Tainter.

The going-away party we had for Howy Eckel was lots of fun but very sad. We also felt sad when Nat Woolfolk was in the hospital for a short while as the result of an automobile accident.

Our parties and everything else we did were lots of fun and made this a year to remember!

When we came back this year we were glad we had someone to look down upon, rather than being looked down upon ourselves.

One of the first eighth grade assemblies of the year was one at which Dr. Stewart from State College told us something about the South American Revolution.

The first dance finally came along and as usual it was the seventh grade reception, at which we met many of the new students. We found them pretty nice!

We were all glad when the basketball season came around and to our surprise we found that the co-captains of the Junior cheerleading squad were from our class. They were Nancy Simmons and Laura Lee Paxton.

Our second Junior high dance found the boys on one side of the room, and the girls on the other side and no one dancing; at least that's what the chaperones said.

The eighth grade dance was spotlighted by Lou Carr's tricks, which still have us baffled.

The problems that came up during the year were settled capably in the separate home-rooms by their presidents, who were Alan Jones, Dan Westbrook and George DeMoss.

Well, we're finally here!

Our first week was a little confusing, but now we're all settled. After a few weeks we elected homeroom presidents as follows: H.R. 336—Ted McNeil; H.R. 324 — Lorraine Walker; H.R. 233 — Barbara Leete.

We had a Hallowe'en party on October 31, 1944. Some of the boys from H.R. 324 did magic tricks. December we had a Christmas party which was a huge success. That month we also elected class officers. They are: President, "Dick" Richardson; Vice-President, Lorraine Walker; Secretary, "Alec" Pirnie; Treasurer, Ted McNeil. Cheerleaders were chosen and are Janet Hicks, Anne Coniglio, June Hauf and Lorraine Walker. They all look swell in their uniforms.

This year is over and the class of "50" has had an interesting and happy first year at Milne High. We'll all be looking forward to next year, when we won't be the "Little Seventh Graders."

This year under very capable leadership, the student councils of Milne accomplished a great deal.

The Junior Council formed a clean-up committee consisting of one boy from each homeroom in the seventh and eighth grades to act as collectors, and one from each of the ninth grade homerooms to act as inspectors. Orison Salisbury headed the committee, which functioned very efficiently.

At the various dances which were lots of fun, the Coca-Cola concession was handled by Jimmy Clark and Arthur Walker, and the profit was used to purchase new records for the Junior High.

The Senior Council sponsored many successful dances, among them the Fourth Annual Alumni Ball, at which many alumni were present. The Annual Card Party to raise money for the murals was held March 2 this year. It was both socially and financially a great achievement. The sum of $217 was raised, the largest profit ever made.

The Council also sponsored the sale of bonds and stamps at Milne as Milne's contribution to the war effort.

During the war, as in peace, the American Red Cross has been a part of the country's liberal tradition, and is among the most active of the volunteer services. Now the Junior Red Cross has been recognized as an extremely worthy medium through which high school students may contribute their valuable share to the war effort.

The Milne Junior Red Cross is very active. Cheerful tray favors, made with the assistance of Home Economics Department, were sent to the Navy to brighten Christmas dinner. Writing boards for veterans in the nation's hospitals have been made in the Industrial Arts Classes. Calendars were designed and sold by members in order to raise money for the treasury. Other successful activities included the making of utility bags and soft toys. The annual enrollment, with 100% membership as a goal, is another important feature of the Junior Red Cross program for the year.

With Mrs. Moore as advisor and an enthusiastic membership, the Milne Junior Red Cross is truly a model organization.

SEPTEMBER: Back to school and back to Sigma meetings every Tuesday afternoon. A hurried, noisy meeting and then strains of "Zeta Sigma, Zeta Sigma" echoing up the hall.

OCTOBER: Busy plans for a super-rush. And much controversy over which girls were "Sigma material"—and how to get them.

NOVEMBER: At last, the rush. Theme — A night club complete with candlelight, gambling, drinks, and a show.

DECEMBER: The Juniors had their chance for revenge against the poor Sophs. Will we ever forget the talent discovered that afternoon?

JANUARY: Mid-years.

FEBRUARY: Installation luncheon, shaking Sophomores, candlelight, and solemn vows.

MARCH: Basketball games with Quin and bowling matches among ourselves.

APRIL: Quin-Sigma dance and all the girls running around for weeks in advance trying to get their dates straightened out. (Funny thing, more couples attended than at any of our other dances).

MAY: The long-awaited Q.T.S.A. dance and the crowning of the May Queen. Our big Quin-Sigma banquet, presentation of keys, and a happy though sad time for all.

JUNE: Good-bye to the Seniors and fond remembrances of a pretty swell year!

QUINTILLIAN

"Operator, may I have M-I-L-N-E? Yes, I'll hold the line——. Hi, Joe and Josie Milnite! This is Quin talking. I thought I'd call to remind you of the fun we've had this year. First came the Rush. Remember? That was held November 13 in the College lounge. For a brief moment Quin girls revived the good old days with costumes and songs. Who could forget Marcia Leake's old-fashioned, knee-length bathing suit or Betty Bates' and Jo-Ann MacConnell's interpretation of the 'Trolley Song'? Yes, songs, dances and jokes (old and new) filled the afternoon. And then . . . Food!

"What's that?"

"Oh, yes! Initiation followed soon. Bathing suits, pincurls, black stockings, and hideous face makeup invaded the usually peaceful (?) lockers and lounge. December 8 screams of laughter emerged from the Juniors and Seniors, but the Sophomores just screamed! We had the Installation Tea January 20, and with the traditional candlelight ceremony, each initiate was received into the society.

"Pardon me? You're right. The rest of the year was a series of important events . . . meetings, Quin-Sigma dance, voting for the May Queen and court, the Quin-Sigma banquet, and finally the all-important Q.T.S.A., at which the May Queen and her court presided.

"Umhmm . . . It was a good year.

"Well, I've got to run along now. Why don't you call next year? You will? Fine! Until then,

"GOOD-BYE."

As we look back over the past ten months, we realize the accomplishments of our society.

We started out by engaging Theta-Nu in a closely-fought bowling match. After this counterment our financial status was extremely irritating. However, thanks to Herb Lucas and his concession committee, our financial worries were over.

The fact of the matter, is that this money taken in at basketball games, was so sufficient that we were able to take part in many entertainments hitherto impossible because of the lack of funds.

In March, we again initiated the inquisitive Sophs — a most pleasing duty.

We were all planning on an inter-society basketball game, but this tradition was discontinued as of this year.

During May, we saw our inter-society dance held, and we closed the year out with a joyful banquet. At this time officers for the coming year were elected.

CRIMSON AND WHITE

The Crimson and White, as the school newspaper, is the main source of school news events for Milne. This year the news staff was inexperienced but had a desire to do a good job and did. This year's staff included Janice Hauf, Editor-in-Chief; Caryl Ferber, Associate Editor; David Packard, News Editor; Lee Aronowitz, Boys' Sports Editor; Ann Robinson, Girls' Sports Editor; Ann Graham and Peggy Gallivan, Co-Advertising Editors, and Laurel Ulrich, Business Manager.

This year a journalism class was formed for the purpose of educating students to work on the paper. The students advanced enough so that their final examination was the task of putting out the paper with full responsibility. This was creditably done, and promises even better papers in the future.

The Boys' Athletic Council was reorganized this year under the direction of Coach Hathaway to become the Milne Boys' Athletic Association. The reason for this was to give better representation to all grades so each will be able to participate in the boys' sports program equally.

PETE HUNTING

WALT WILKINS

The first enterprise was planning the schedule. The Council financed a trip to "the big city" in March when they played Briarcliff.

M.B.A.A., with the G.A.C., presented a gym night "Fiesta Night," which was Latin-American in its theme.

Under this new organization we are looking forward to a bigger and better boys' sport program for the coming year.

LANGUAGES

FRENCH • LATIN • SPANISH

The language courses in Milne include both modern and ancient languages, Spanish, French, and Latin.

Students taking French and Spanish are continually vitalizing their program through audio-visual aids such as records, slides, movies and the newly acquired microphone, which helps to make interesting the oral aspects of modern romance languages.

The French Department has made as its contribution to the assembly program a movie en francais.

Social Language, taken by eighth graders, has as an objective the exploration of the language field. It includes a slight study of each of these five languages: Latin, French, Spanish, Italian, and German.

The Caesar Class has modernized the Gallic Wars by instituting the project of news reports by various members of the class acting as radio commentators.

The Latin Department regularly offers three years of study. This year five seniors: Ann Robinson, Audrey Blume, Jerry Kotzin, Sherman Kimelblot, Robert Hotaling — accelerated and completed two years of work in a year and a half. Thus is the Language Department contributing to the cultural background of Milne!

This year the art room is still the same good old hangout. But it is no longer the senior hangout. The eighth grade has taken it over as a homeroom.

The ninth grade this year has done the posters in halls telling us about the card party. They also did the ones on the Red Cross benefit game. Some of the more outstanding posters were done by Doris Long, Nat Woolfolk, and Arlene Blum.

The ninth grade also did some illustrations of nursery rhymes to be sent to the Children's Hospital.
