Rockland CSEA Blasts County On Using Law For 'Union Busting'

NEW CITY-Rockland County legislature, without any consultation with the Rockland County chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn., has interpreted a recent amendment of the Taylor Law as allowing it to adjust its contract with CSEA and bar unclassified and exempt employees, department heads and executive personnel from CSEA membership.

The act would remove 100 cf the 1,300 County employees from Employees Association membership roles effective Jan. 1, 1972.

The legislative move by the County was coupled with a proposal, now being studied in committee, that would freeze all personnel changes, such as appointments and promotions and the prevention of provisional and probationary employees from receiving permanent status even though they come from civil service lists.

Albert Lowry, president of the chapter, said that he would ask CSEA's Albany Headquarters to institute immediate litigation against the County's unilateral action concerning the ban on CSEA membership.

"The majority of these 100 members are middle-strata employees," Lowry said, "They are not in policy-making positions.

Cheap Move

"This move is an attempt to harass CSEA - a cheap unionbusting try. But the County will find that CSEA will become even stronger in the fact of this action. We are 1,500 strong in the County employ. We are, however, part of a great 200,000member team. There are over 15,000 members of this CSEA team living in Rockland County.

"That's 15,000 CSEA families who live and vote here. They and their friends will 'Remember in November' the actions taken

Win Compensation For Holiday Work

ALBANY - At Leader press-Assn. had just received word through the State Office of Employee Relations that Richard L. Dunham, director of State operations, has given final approval on overtime compensation for holiday time worked for seasonal full-time employees.

CSEA has requested OER to approve the overtime on the basis of past practices from the 1970 season. The employees will benefit from the decision on both the July 4 (retroactive) and Labor Day holidays.

members when they were fighting to protect the 8,200 State employees who were threatened with job loss. They will, I'm sure, join us in our fight to protect the rights of our 100 members who are threatened with loss of bargaining rights and union representation.

'The proposal of the County to freeze all hiring may be a fiscal necessity, but we will be watching for any attempt to hire outside the competitive civil service system or to force any outof-title work. Any violation of our contract will be met with

Bendet Urges CSEA Back Rockland Suit

Solomon Bendet, second vicepresident of the Civil Service Employees Assn., has urged the CSEA to challenge immediately the Rockland County legislature

In a letter to CSEA president Theodore C. Wenzl, he wrote

Well, it has happened. I warned again and again that the Administration would use the Taylor Law as a union busting weapon, particularly against the CSEA, Inc.

"As you know, Rockland County has one collective bargaining unit. This week, under the recent amendment to the Taylor Law, the Rockland County legislature passed a resolution which excludes executive, managerial, administrative, confidential, supervisory, and professional titles from the bargaining unit. The partial list referred to in the resolution approximates 10 percent of the membership of the Rockland County chapter.

"This action should be challenged at once. I urgently request that the proper legal personnel immediately communicate with Mr. Albert Lowry, president of the Rockland County chapter, so that the requisite litigation may be instituted.

"Mr. Lowry and I have been in communication on this threat to CSEA. I have taken the liberty of assuring him that all of CSEA is behind his chapter in fighting this direct assault on the basic right-assured by law-by the way-of public employees to be represented by an employee organization of their choice.

"Your cooperation is urgently

CSEA Receives First Of Progress Reports On State Rehirings

ALBANY-The first progress report on rehiring of laid-off permanent State employees was to be given to the Civil Service Employees Assn. yesterday (Monday), a spokesman said at Leader presstime.

Joseph D. Lochner, CSEA executive director, said that a series of weekly reports from the Office of Employee Relations to CSEA would chart the progress of rehiring those permanent State employees who were fired for economy reasons and that the matching up of those employees with available job openings was expected to be completed by Aug. 1.

The State acceded to CSEA's demands to rehire the employees after CSEA prepared itself for a strike to protest the planned 8,250 layoffs in State employment. The settlement came a bare 24 hours before some 110,-000 State-employed CSEA members were set to walk off their

"CSEA demanded, immediately after the settlement, that the State give us weekly reports on the rehiring process," Lochner said at presstime, "and we will audit those reports to make sure that all of the permanent employees who were laid off get a chance to get back on the payroll in jobs comparable to the ones they had before."

The State has agreed to furnish the following information for each rehired employee to CSEA weekly:

- · The name of the laid-off permanent employee who is rehired;
- The State agency from which he was laid off;
- The position title from which he was laid off;
- The jurisdictional classification of the position title from which he was laid off;
 - · The name of the State agency in which he is rehired; he is rehired:

· The type of appointment upon rehiring; · The position title into which

 The jurisdictional classification of the position title into which he is rehired;

· The date on which he is rehired.

Lochner said that the State would also give CSEA the names and information about laid-off employees who are given offers of Jobs by the State but who decline acceptance of the positions.

"Our securing assurances by the State to match up the permanent, laid-off employees with jobs available in the State was won after a long and hard confrontation with the State," Lochner sald. "But CSEA didn't stop there. We are keeping a close watch on the State's rehiring of our people, and we will go over each report as it comes in to us with a fine tooth comb, in order to protect the employees.'

The first report, due yesterday from the OER, was to cover rehiring through July 7. Lochner said that each succeeding report will be given to CSEA on Mondays and will cover information compiled on the rehirings through the preceding Wednes-

Review State Consultants As Well As NYC Contracts.

ALBANY-The Civil Service Employees Assn. has praised the State's decision to require approval by the New York City Board of Estimate of all City consultant contracts worth over $10,000, and at the same time chided Governor

Rockefeller for his failure to mandate legislative approval of the State's own contracts with consultants.

Dr. Theodore C. Wenzl, head of the 200,000-member union. which uncovered surprising discrepancies in the State's consultant contracts this Spring, said, "We would like to see the same sort of public attention and concern brought to all of the consultant contracts given out by the State's various agencies." In response to CSEA demands for information on consultants, the State had admitted that it will pay some $36 million in consultants fees during the year.

Do Unto Others

"The law which Rockefeller signed this week apparently was an attempt to keep a tight rein on New York City's (inances.' Wenzl noted. "Can't we expect and shouldn't we demand, as New York State taxpayers, that the State put a similar watchful eye on its own consultant expenses? CSEA and the press revealed some months ago that the State was wasting large amounts of money by hiring consultants to do work that incumbent State employees are qualified to do. It is also true that the regular State employees

Steingut Sees 1971 Legislature Session A Plus For Democrats

DURING the major part of the past legislative session, Democratic members of the Assembly, like their counterparts in the Senate, endured the stings and pains of neglect. Assembly Minority Leader Stanley Steingut was at no time consulted during the hard days and nights that Gov Notes

A. Rockefeller and the Republican legislative leaders hammered out a tortured excuse for a budget. It was only towards the end of the session, when State fiscal experts grappled with New York City's fiscal experts over Mayor John V. Lindsay's tax package, that Steingut played a significant role in the legislative proc-

Assemblyman Steingut is convinced that the enforced isolation of Democratic Assemblymen from the making of the State budget is a political plus. As he sees it, the Democrats are relieved of all responsibility for a budget that threatens the security of civil service employees and economizes at the expense

State institutions. Moreover, the Democrats are free to saddle Republicans with sole responsibility for the one cent increase in the State sales tax.

A Critical Year

Like all political leaders, Assemblyman Steingut is planning ahead for the 1972 elections. That will be a critical year for Steingut, not only in relation to his personal ambitions to serve as Assembly Speaker, but also from the long range view of State government and politics. Clearly, a State Assembly controlled in 1973 and in 1974 by Democrats would seriously damage the prospects of a candidacy in 1974 for Governor by Speaker Perry B. Duryea.

The high quality of Steingut's leadership was certified in last year's election, when Democrats retained their proportional strength in the Assembly in the face of the sweep of the Rockefeller re-election. Steingut shares the view of many that this legislative session was a shambles and among the most regressive in the State's history. A repeat performance by the session that meets in January 1972 will turn the tide in favor of the Democrats in Steingut's estimation.

The planned Steingut attack against Republican leadership will revolve around tax policy, where Steingut is in favor of closing loopho'ss that pr nit the weel'hy to escape their fair share of the tax burden. Tax reform is the Steingut answer to sales and nuisance taxes. He is 'so prepared to launch a sharp attack on the inequities in the project.

State budget, together with waste and extravagance of the Rockefeller Administration, physically symbolized in the Steingut view of the Albany South Mall

Economy A Factor

Another factor that tribute to the Steingut political strategy is the continued sluggishness of the State economy and the rising level of unemployment. Suffolk County, Speaker Duryeas' home base, has the worst unemployment record in the State, standing at 6.8 percent in May, as against 5.5 in May of 1970. In Monroe County unemployment leaped from 2.9 percent in May 1970 to 5.2 in May 1971. The City of Buffalo has a 6.2 percent unemployment rate, up from 4.4 a year ago. And so it is in every area and region of the State-rising unemployment and low levels of business activity.

It is, of course, possible that the Republicans will recapture some of the favor at the next session that they lost in the past session. Speaker Duryea has refined political instincts and is no less than Steingut acutely aware of the fact that the next year is a significant political year. There is every prospect that State budget problems next year will be as difficult as they proved to be this year. Duryea, the undisputed leader of the majority, will have to make the decisions. Steingut will then be sitting in the catbird seat, enjoying the privilege and political position of second-guessing the opposition.

Unfair Political Restrictions

NOW THAT WE have the 18-year-old vote, isn't it about time firefighters are recognized as real people in the world of politics?

DESPITE THE FACT that the New York City Council sent a Home Rule message to Albany requesting legislation that would strike down the restrictions against firefighters belonging to political organizations, the State Legislature failed to act on the ancient law.

FOR MANY YEARS we have been barred from engaging in political activities; joining clubs; contributing to political candidates and causes. Everyone else under the sun is being urged to get involved, to join with the rest of the community in making things better for their neighborhoods. But firefighters are told that they may have no part in this kind of activity. They are told they must let everyone else run their community affairs.

THE UNIFORMED Fire Officers Assn. is tired of this paternalistic attitude toward firefighters. We want our members to be able to work and fight for their own betterment, and the betterment of their families and friends. We want to have something to say about how we are governed.

WE WORK UNDER a repressive Taylor Law. That's enough of a governmental straitjacket. We don't like being told that on our time off, in our own communities, we are forbidden to work to try to change things. My God, city, state and federal governments are tripping over each other trying to get age groups, ethnic groups and block associations to become more active politically. The various levels of government are going so far as to give large financial grants to some of these organizations to get people involved.

IT GALLS A LITTLE to be told that your tax money is being used to urge others to become more active in community affairs, at the same time that you are being told that you are not allowed the same privilege.

THE UFOA IS now asking the New York City Council to act on its own to scrap this onerous law. We think it is invalid, unfair and discriminatory. There are practical reasons for repealing this law, too.

FIRE COMMISSIONER Robert O. Lowery has said that he believed that greater community participation by firefighters would help to reduce tensions between the firefighters and some residents of some areas in the city.

WE WILL PLEAD our case once more before the City Council. Their passage of the Home Rule message encourages us to believe that a majority of the Councilmen agree with us that a firefighter should not be treated as a second-class citizen.

BUT IF WE ARE unsuccessful in the City Council, we are going to court. We believe this law is a violation of

Fear Of Crime Increases

ACCORDING to a Louis Harris Survey released last week, the fear of crime in the streets is affecting more and more people each year. For the past six years, the worldfamous Harris organization has asked this question in a nationwide poll:

"Compared to a year ago, are you personally more worried about violence and safety on the streets, less worried, or do you feel about the same as you did then?"

THE NUMBER of respondents answering "more worried" has increased each year, and in the study just completed it reached the record high of 55 percent. This is Harris's con-

"A majority of Americans of every race openly worry about their personal safety on the streets of their own neighborhoods. And the trend appears to be in the direction of a spreading of this apprehension. . . . The fact is that fear to walk the streets has now become part of the American way of life."

THERE HAS been a great deal of talk in recent years about improving the "quality of life," and that phrase is generally taken to mean a healthful environment, uncontaminated food, decent housing, and reasonable social, educational and employment opportunities. But in the most basic sense, what is happening-what will happen-to the quality of American life when more than half of our citizens live with constant fear, and when that fear is spreading every day?

IT SEEMS fair to assume that any government's first order of business would be to cure a national blight that is darkening so many lives. Yet in the past year, the resources devoted to public security seem to have been reduced instead of increased, In New York City recently, the Mayor's office announced that the size of the police force would be allowed to dwindle by attrition. On July 1, 300 policemen were laid off in Cleveland because of budget cuts. Throughout the country, the impact of growing money trouble has resulted in belt-tightening in an area where the public-to judge by its own expressed fears-just cannot afford to

I THINK it's clear that no achievement in science or art, on earth or in outer space, will mean much if the average man cannot live his day-to-day life in peace. The problem of crime in the streets must be recognized, and recognized now, as a national problem that can ultimately destroy the country, and not merely as an inconvenience to those who happen to live in New York, or Chicago, or Los Angeles, or any other big city. In the national interest, a larger proportion of Federal and state and local revenues must be devoted to combatting crime until it is brought under control and the cities are livable again; and if current revenues are not enough, I believe our citizens will choos to pay higher taxes if that is what's needed. We know that peace and security abroad are not bought cheaply; we must accept the fact that the same is true at home.

WE CAN REVERSE Mr. Harris's trend, but it will take a great deal of determination and long-term commitment on the part of leaders and citizens alike.

THE DECISION can't be put off too much longer.

Nassau CSEA Seeks Joint Cause With County Policemen

MINEOLA-Nassau Civil Service Employees Assn. chapter president Irving Flaumenbaum has held an initial conference with representatives of two police organizations to explore ' ordinated efforts, if necessary, on behalf of public employees."

Flaumenbaum, representing almost 20,000 public employees in CSEA units throughout County, met with Michael Limongelli, head of the Nassau County

Greenwald, president of the Nassau County Police Dept. Patrol men's Benevolent Assn. The two police organizations are the only federations of public employees, with the exception of teachers, outside the CSEA fold in Nassau

Plainview Picnic

MINEOLA - Employees of the Plainview Division of the Nassau County Medical Center enjoyed a picnic Saturday, July 10, sponsored by their unit of the Nassau chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn. They gathered on the hospital grounds to enjoy sociability the opening of negotiations for a 1972 contract.

The list of demands, including a 20 percent wage adjustment, was presented by the CSEA negotiating team in the first face-to-face meeting with County negotiators on July 2.

The County requested time to study the demands, and bargaining was expected to get under way about the first of next month.

Chapter president Irving Flaumenbaum observed that the program has been drawn up by the 75-member steering and program committee representing all offices in the County. The program items were determined after close contact with the County's 14,000 employees.

Flaumenbaum, who has had 22 years experience in negotiations, will direct the negotiating team. The team is headed by regional attorney Richard C Gaba and Manny Vitale, collective bargaining specialist on loan from the Albany CSEA office.

Program points cover every aspect of wages, working conditions and fringe benefits.

"We have hard, involved negotiations ahead on behalf of the largest chapter in the State," Flaumenbaum said. "It will require a cool, experienced attitude to achieve success."

Civil Service Corps Faces Grave Threat From State Legislature: Flaumenbaum

MINEOLA - State Civil Service Employees Assn. first vice-president Irving Flaumenbaum this week warned that the next legislative session may see the gravest attack on the civil service corps since public service was lifted from the spoils systems in the 1880's.

"The threat is so far cloaked in secrecy, but it is a fact that some legislators are thinking of abandoning the merit system. Public servants everywhere in the State must be alerted to attack this sinister idea, as soon as it is raised. It would be a sad day if we had to depend for our jobs on politics only!"

Flaumenbaum said, "Rumors came from the last legislative session that there was thought of abandoning the merit system." He noted the abuses of public employees leading to the adoption of the merit system in New York State in the 1880's and 1890's, largely with the help of Assemblyman and later - Gov. Theodore Roosevelt.

The merit system may not be perfect-but it is certainly a lot better than going back to the Tweed Ring "spoils system," Flaumenbaum asserted. "It may seem inconceivable that such an idea would arise now, but only vigilance by the civil service corps will stop it."

Wassaic State School Nassau Chapter's 99 Points Chapter Proposes A Presented For Negotiations Fair Economy Plan

Wassaic State School chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn. does not deny that the State Administration has a right to economize. But if there are going to be economies, the chapter wants to make sure that they are equitable and true economies. With that in mind, they met recently and made a proposal to make savings a kind of movement that can be positive and serve the greater number for the right reason.

Here is a report on what happened at a recent meeting:

The following motion was accepted by the members of the Wassaic State School chapter of the CSEA (Wassaic, New York) as an expression of their desires and intentions. The vote took place at a special meeting called for June 9, 1971.

Title: Fairness In Economy.

Part 1. That the Wassaic Chapter of the CSEA pursue a policy of "Fairness in Economy." The basic principles of this policy are that if the State of New York and the Department of Mental Hygiene choose to close the employee sick bays in the State institutions and to discontinue the medical service provided to the employees then it is imperative that it (the State of New York) also cut back on the special privileges and benefits provided to the directors and other officers in the State institutions, including also the special benefits and privileges provided to the officers of departments other than the Department of Mental Hygiene. If the low salaried employees in the State institutions are to be deprived in the name of economy then the State must also deprive its officers in fair and proportionate measure for the same reason.

Part 2. That we reproduce all parts of this motion and send it to the appropriate members of the State government, the of- .

ficers of the Department of Mental Hygiene, the administration of Wassaic State School, all institutional chapters of the CSEA in this State and to the officers of the CSEA in Albany (for publication in the Civil Service Leader) in order to describe our intentions to them and to ask for their support.

That we include the following letter as an expression of our feeling and intentions:

Dr. Miller Dr. Grunberg Dr. Etling Others:

We of the Wassale Chapter of the CSEA would like to let you know of our continued interest in economizing in the State of New York, especially in the institutions of the Department of Mental Hygiene. We have discovered that if there is no alternative other than to close the employee sick bays and to cut out other medical services for employees then certainly there are other areas in which an economizing effort can be made.

We have noticed, for instance, that many officials in the State institutions have costly benefits over and above their already generous salaries. We have seen that, in some institutions, the director and other officials have relatives on the payroll. We feel it should be ascertained whether or not any real service is being rendered in these cases.

The Frills

Some institution officers have gardeners, cooks and maids working for them at the expense of the taxpayers.

Some are provided sumptuous housing far in excess of any real need.

In some cases, their relatives are chauffeured about in State cars, a driver provided by the State.

If these conditions exist in the State institutions then it is probable that there are similar conditions in the offices of this and other departments in Albany.

Most evidence is hearsay at the present time but we feel that & an inquiry were made in the proper manner with effective legal machinery to support it, the findings would be enlightening to us and very constructive. It could lead to the establishment of a permanent Board of Economy in this State with representation for the employees as well as for administration, said Board of Economy having the legal power to scrutinize and adjust economizing efforts so that they will be fair to all parties.

We do not know if these actions are necessary at the present time but if the State insists on depriving its low salaried employees in the name of economy then justice dictates that the upper echelon officers in all departments must be prepared to share equally in the sacrifice.

Poor Economy

We wish to state at this time that closing employee sick bays and discontinuing medical services for employees in the State institutions is a poor way to economize. It will have a degenerating effect on employee morale and hence is a threat to patient care. We cannot expect the employees to be generous in their service to the institution if the administration is acting in a capricious and tightfisted manner. We cannot expect loyalty and affection from the employees when we tell them, "Go find your own doctor, we won't help you." If we refuse to give even an aspirin to an employee in need, what can we expect that employee to give in return?

The employees know full well that the directors and other officers in State institutions have received, in some cases, thousands of dollars worth of medical care on the sick bays not only for themselves but also for members of their families, even though these relatives were not employees of the State. We do not know if these privileges exercised by a select few were legitimate but we do know that this new ruling to remove the sick bays is an unseemly act by those who have indulged themselves so freely in the past.

We do not accept the stated reason for discontinuing the medical services for employees. This is not really an effort to economize. Some directors have been wanting to close the sick bays for many years. The sick bay, as a symbol of giving to those in need, seems to irritate some merely by its presence. The cost of maintaining these medical services, however, never has been great. It has never amounted to even one-half of 1 percent of the total cost of running any institution. Whatever its cost, it was a small price to pay for good employee relations.

Insurance Not Enough

We do not accept the statement that the State is providing medical coverage through its insurance programs. As many employees are finding out, these insurance policies are paying, all too often, only 50 to 75 percent of their hospital bills and, in many cases, are not paying at all for the medications needed. It must be recognized that the more insurance policies are used the more their rates are increased. The employees, as taxpayers, are paying for these policles and the more they use them the more they will pay.

Local hospital facilities a overcrowded now. They do not need nor do they want, in most cases, an influx of new patients, the employees from the State institutions. In some cases they are turning away patients now because of crowded conditions.

Closing the employee sick bays callously neglects to recognize that the employees of the State institutions are human and it recklessly discards all desire to solicit their loyalty and affection. For perhaps 100 years,

Calls Uniform Situation In Correctional Services 'Unbelievably Messed Up'

ALBANY—The Civil Service Employees Assn. has filed a fourth-stage grievance against the State in an attempt to restore the uniform allowance for captains and above in the Correctional Services Dept., whom CSEA represents in the Professional, Scientific and Technical Services collective bargaining unit.

The uniform allowance was arbitrarily taken away from the employees on April 1, 1970, when a contract negotiated by Council 82, AFSCME, took effect, supposedly providing that the department would issue uniforms directly to employees in place of the allowance. Since then, the department has issued neither uniforms nor uniform allowances.

CSEA collective bargaining specialist Thomas J. Linden called the whole subject of uniforms "an unbelievably messed-up situation."

He said, "The employees in the Department are supposed to have either uniforms provided by the State or else a uniform allowance so they can buy their own. But Council 82's negligence in falling to police its own contract means that right now, the employees are either shelling out their own money for uniforms which the State says they must wear, or else making do with old and tattered uniforms. To add to the confusion, the State, and indeed the Department, has no set policy on provision of uniforms. The different institutions all handle the matter individually. It's a botched-up mess at this point.

"the Department conducted a poll among correction officers asking for their color preferences in uniforms. They listed two color choices. When the results were tallied, a large percentage of employees had written in that they preferred the present uniform color—blue—which was not one of the two offered in the poll. So nothing has been done.
Who suffers? The workers."

Linden said he was hopeful that the grievance filed by CSEA on behalf of the captains and above would shed light on the uniform problem, and would force Council 82 to do the same for the correction officers. "CSEA is trying to untangle the threads of this uniform boondoggle. We are powerless to help the correction officers, whom we do not legally represent. However, we are helping those we do represent, and perhaps by our example we can show Council 82 how to get things done, so that the innocent employees they represent will not have to further endure that union's bungling."

Schedule Final Curtain Saturday For Current Fed. Entrance Exam

A temporary farewell will be given Saturday, July 17, to the long-running Federal Service Entrance Exam, according to a spokesman for the U.S. Civil Service Commission. The FSEE, of proven durability, is about to be revamped in light of changing recruitment needs. Just what the nature of the changes will be, the Federal officials are not saying. What is promised, however, is an October announcement being issued. That announcement is to supplant Bulletin No. 410, the current one, headed for oblivion after this

Testing rooms will be open at 26 Federal Plaza, Manhattan, at 9 a.m. Saturday, to allow interested entrants their final chance at eligibility under this FSEE series. No prior registration is required, but applicants may call the Commission at 212 264-0422 for advance information.

In all, 200 specialty titles are filled in close to 50 agencies through this one test, conducted nationally. Qualified individuals may either be college graduates or have what is termed a "job equivalency" in terms of on-the-job experience.

Standards Elaborated

Three years of experience will be needed to compete for GS-5 titles; also, possession of a college degree is satisfactory. The passing FSEE score is 70 percent, although a 1,000 rating on the Graduate Records Exam by those who have finished college is likewise okay.

GS-5 starting salaries currently provide $6,548, whereas GS-7 entrants can expect $8,098 in benefits. GS-7 vacancies incidentally, require four years of pertinent work history or the completion of one year of graduate work.

Scholastic Bonus

Superior scholarship in college or graduate school will also be rewarded, says the USCSC in explaining on what grounds the written exam may be skipped. Persons who have earned a 3.50 average on a 4-point scale are exempted, as are those graduating within the top 10 percent of their class. Law school graduates, moreover, may apply directly for GS-7 entrance.

However, there are two other routes to obtain a GS-7 appointment through the FSEE, Degreeholders who produce a 2.90 grade point average on the four-point scale, or who rank in the upper third of their class, can qualify provided they score a 90 percent mark on the FSEE or have 1,-200 on the GRE as a combined score. Also, college grads or applicants with three years of the work history indicated, if they score 95 percent on the PSEE, or 1,300 on the GRE tests, have a solid chance for positions at GS-7 level classification. The nature of experience sought appears in the career briefs listed below.

The Taylor Law Is Dead

PROPONENTS of the Taylor Law, particularly its founding father, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, hailed the labor legislation as introducing a new era of stabilization through fairness in the dealings between public employees and government.

Since the introduction of that unfortunate document, there is growing evidence that quite the contrary use is being made of the Taylor Law. Instead of being used as an instrument for the promotion of harmony in the public employment field, the law is being invoked much more frequently as a legal axe being wielded for union-busting tactics.

The most recent example of a perverted interpretation of the legislation has occurred in Rockland County. An amendment to the Taylor Law, passed in the recently concluded 1971 Legislature session, permits the State and local government units the right to draw up a list of personnel it considers to be managerial and/or confidential employees—that is, civil servants who are essentially policy makers and therefore on the side of management—and forbid them union membership.

This is bad enough. The State, for example, wants to put some ten thousand persons in this classification. (Ten thousand policy makers? No wonder government bureaucracy is lambasted!)

In Rockland County, however, that local legislature isn't satisfied with creating a management class. They have ordered exempt, professional, supervisory and other personnel to drop union membership, as well. That's how they are interpreting New York State's enlightened labor legislation.

In the meantime, New York City firemen and policemen are being harassed by the law on any number of fronts and line organizations are fighting the abusive interpretation of the Taylor Law in the same manner that the Civil Service Employees Assn. plans to start fighting—through the courts.

The moral of the story is that when the State of New York sold public employees on a suitable cloak for resolving civil service disputes—well, they just used the wrong tailor.

New York State, New York City and other local government units must realize that public employees now know just how badly they've been had. And they aren't going to stand for a one-way law any longer.

The Taylor Law is dead.

Soiled Linen Peril At CISH Is Eliminated

CENTRAL ISLIP—The potential health menace posed by a backlog of soiled bed linen at Central Islip State Hospital has been removed following the action of Civil Service Employees Assn. Chapter president Joseph Keppler and State first vice-president Irving Flaumenbaum jointly announced that the 15-foot high piles of backlog work had been cleared away and the workload reduced in order to prevent a repetition.

Keppler and Flaumenbaum had raised a protest after personnel cutbacks in the laundry created a backlog. The Central Islip laundry has been handling work from that institution and the Suffolk State School as well.

As the residue grew, Summer heaf made working conditions unbearable and raised the menace of disease, Keppler pointed out.

Flaumenbaum said he was "satisfied that (hospital director) Dr. Joseph O'Neill has done everything within his power to resolve the problem within the limits of budget restrictions, and the employees have responded in kind."

LETTERS A Novel Pay Raise Proposal

Editor, The Leader:

As a member of the Civil Service Employees Assn., I am suggesting the following non-inflationary approach to current salary negotiations.

Present salaries should be frozen at their current levels. Instead of the usual increase of six percent or seven percent, the State should merely pay the employees Federal tax for them. Since monies withheld for this purpose are submitted quarterly, these amounts could be invested in short-term, high-yield U.S. Treasury Bills and Notes.

The results of implementation of these recommendations would be:

 Non-inflationary, since gross salaries would not be increased.

(2) Net salaries would be increased, but not eroded by Federal taxes.

(3) Since a portion of this real increase would be offset by income from U.S. Treasury securities, it would have the effect of having the Federal Government pay a portion of State salaries.

It would be interesting to find out how the membership feels about this approach to salary negotiations.

When School Budgets Fail

(NOTE: This article is the third in a series on the subject of austerity budgets.)

THE FIRST TWO parts of this three-part series dealing with austerity school district budgets, illustrated the fact that after a budget defeat a Board of Education may levy a school tax for teachers' salaries and other ordinary contingent expenses—and that the tests used are vastly different as between teachers' salaries and salaries for non-teaching personnel.

THAT DISCUSSION was limited to pre-Taylor Law situations. In 1969, however, the State Education Department issued its formal opinion, No. 228 (Vol. 8, Ed. Dept. Rep. p.227) as follows:

"The Department of Audit and Control has in the past expressed the opinion that if the voters have approved a budget which includes funds for teachers' salaries, and if the amount so authorized proves to be inadequate, the board of education may add the required amount to the tax levy only after approval by the voters at a special meeting. However, I have recently been authorized by the Department of Audit and Control to advise you that while the view of that Department with respect to the applicabiliy of Education Law, Sec. 2023, remains unchanged, the Department recognizes the practical problems presented by the enactment of the Taylor Law, and will therefore not take exception, upon an examination of school district records, to the levy of a tax, without submission to the voters, to include an increase in teachers' salaries negotiated under the Taylor Law after the annual district meeting."

THUS IT APPEARS, with regard to teachers' salaries, the Education Dept. would permit a school to levy a tax under Section 2023 to cover negotiations completed after the budget is passed on at the annual meeting—even though Section 2023 is limited by its terms to the levy of a tax after the district voters have failed to pass a budget. (Dec. No. 8093, Vol. 9. Ed. Dep. Rep. p. 120, 1970).

THE EDUCATION DEPT. leaves as an open question the level of teachers' salaries for the new school year where no agreement has been reached under the Taylor Law. Do they remain at the level they were at prior to the commencement of negotiations or do they revert to the State-mandated minimums?

THERE IS NO question that if an agreement is reached between the school board and the teachers prior to the annual meeting, and the budget goes down, that agreement would nevertheless be reflected in the austerity budget. It is not likely that a school board whose budget has been defeated would reduce salaries below the previously existing levels with increments. Unilateral reduction of benefits contained in an expired collective bargaining agreement would be similar to a strike in reverse and might constitute an unfair employer practice under Section 209-a of the Taylor Law. ". . . it would appear to be improper for one of the parties to unilaterally change a negotiated or pre-existing term or condition of employment." (Klein and Axelrod, The Taylor Law and Public Schools: A Look at the Areas of Representation and Improper Practices, 3 PERB 8016). This should be just as applicable to non-teaching employees as to teachers. If the salary schedules in existence on June 30 have not been changed by virtue of a new contract, then at the very least, those schedules should remain in effect until changed at some future date.

YET, IF ONE examines the 1967 position of the Department of Education and its test for salaries of non-teaching employees, it states that necessary salaries for the necessary number of non-teaching employees is an ordinary contingent expense—but salary increases or increments may not be provided for these employees unless it is impossible to assure qualified personnel for the minimum service, in which case these employees may be paid necessary amounts.

THE TAYLOR LAW imposes upon a public employer the obligation to negotiate in good faith with its employees. Therefore, when a school board takes a position that it will not negotiate with its non-teaching employees, simply because the budget has been defeated and the board is going to adopt a so-called "austerity" budget, then the board must be guilty of an improper practice since the Taylor Law mandates negotiations, and the board has the statutory authority to put into effect whatever improvements it negotiates.

Warwick Elected Head Of Town Of Union Unit

ENDICOTT—A major reorganization of the Town of Union unit of the Broome County Civil Service Employees Assn. was announced this week by Frank Warwick, newly elected president of the unit.

The mid-year reorganization was caused by the resignation of Lou Luchetta, former president, and the necessity to launch final preparations for the new contract proposals, according to Warwick.

"We are truly grateful for the services rendered to the employees of the Town of Union by Mr. Luchetta, but we must begin to plan for the more advancing and cosmopolitan demands of the Town's residents and of the employees who meet these needs," said Warwick.

Paving the way are two vicepresidents: George Mancini, first vice-president in charge of employee relations, and Anthony F. Combopiano, vice-president in charge of public relations.

Other Officers

Officers who have been given key assignments are: Mrs. Jennie Possemato, secretary, who will be handling the contract proposals, and Dominick Malarkey, treasurer, who will be handling expenses needed in the remaining portion of the 1971 contract year.

Delegates who have been assigned to represent the TU-CSEA unit at both the County and State levels are: Mrs. Eileen Wilson, Mrs. Carol Wade, Mrs. Possemato and Malarkey.

Representatives who will be assigned to serve as liaison personnel between the TU-CSEA Executive Council and the departments are: Richard Longo,

Annuity Savings Statements Set To Roll: Levitt

ALBANY—Distribution of annual annuity savings account statements to 238,965 employees of State agencies and municipalities who are memersb of the Employees Retirement System or of the Policemen's and Firemen's Retirement System will begin this week, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt reported last Friday.

Annuity savings as of March 31, 1971, totalled $827.1 million. Interest credited on the 238,965 accounts for the past year amounted to more than $37 million. The contribution represents members' savings which are used to purchase an annuity upon retirement.

Most members now receive full-retirement benefits without making any contributions. Some members, however, at their own option, continued making contributions to increase their allowance at retirement. Of the total membership of the two systems, 507,455—more than half—have made no contributions. Statements will be distributed only to those members who had contributions on deposit with the retirement system as of March 31, 1971.

Fed. Govt. Explains Factors In Deciding Hiring Needs

By BARRY LEE COYNE

An inquiry by The Leader to the New York Area Office to the U. S. Civil Service Commission drew an explanation of how Federal recruitment differs in some respects from State and municipal civil service.

When a job announcement is issued, noted a Commission spokesman, no specific number of job vacancies will be indicated. In many cases, no octual opening may exist at the moment but one or several appointing agencies may be contemplating vacancies soon and therefore ask the USCSC to establish an eligibility list for possible use.

Unless otherwise specified, Federal titles in the limited requirement category will apply to all locally based agencies. Generally, an agency will alert the USCSC's main offices in Washington that it seeks applicants. The Commission will then start the ball rolling to bring out applicants by issuing pamphlets, announcements and fact sheets.

The When Of Testing

The next step is testing. However, the issuance of an exam announcement does not mean an exam is just around the corner. That decision is reached then an ample number of applicants respond. Of course, test centers are set up all around the country and testing is conducted on the basis of sufficient entries in a given locality. In the case of an unassembled test—the weighing of training and experience—no need for a test center obviously exists.

At the moment, the Commission's Area Office is reported to be compiling a master list of Federal facilities that do the hiring in this region. The old list is now considered obsolete. The Leader will publish the updated roster of agencies once it becomes available.

The Other Approach

By contrast, State and City job titles are almost always issued with a closing date specified. The civil service units for both decide to promulgate the exam to fill a given number of vacancies, sometimes noted on the notice itself.

The resultant eligibility list does have an excess number of eligibles, so to speak, but that is based on the premise of job offers being refused. Also, a list has a minimum life of one year's time; during that span, job turnover and possible expanded staff are projected so that the pool of eligibles is potentially large enough to meet these forecasted needs.

State and City positions traditionally note the hiring agency or agencies; the Federal Government is usually more vague. This is particularly true with the multi-title exams, such as worker trainee or federal junior assistant.

In applying for U.S. jobs, however, the entrant can exercise his choice of what areas he wishes geographically and thus limit his potential employers. And once he is officially canvassed, he can decline an offer in an agency not to his liking, not knowing if an agency he better prefers will later develop a vacancy.

The imponderables of Federal Civil Service are many in terms of selection. A weekday or Saturday visit to the Federal Job Information Center (26 Federal Plaza, Manhattan), may be helpful in clearing up specifice questions you might still have. While a phone call to the Center at 264-0422 can provide general data, an in-person visit is recommended for individuals who seek a more detailed explanation of current hiring within the U.S. Government.

Preview Subject Areas Set For T'way Maint. Aide Test

The avenue of hiring for Thruway maintenance assistant leads to a Sept. 25 written exam, which will cover five fundamental areas ranging from engineering to management skills.

In addition to practices of civil engineering, you can anticipate questions on materials and methods used in highway construction; specifications, estimates and purchasing procedures; work methods, measurements and control, and theories of administration.

The jobs, which embark at $12,103 on appointment, currently have openings in Albany, Buffalo, Syracuse and Tarrytown, under the State Thruway Authority. Four years in either supervising or inspecting highway construction and maintenance projects is basic to eligibility requirements.

Additional Standard

This must be supplemented by two additional years of work history. Similar experience will satisfy, as well as work involving "responsibility for interpreting contract provisions, inspecting contractors' work for adherence to specifications and recommendating acceptance or rejection of contractors' work."

The job duties are fully depicted as part of Exam Notice No. 23-489. You may obtain a copy from your local unit of the State Civil Service Dept, or by contacting that agency at 1220 Washington Ave., Albany 12226. Candidates were advised that only entries filed by the Aug. 23 cutoff point will be processed.

Poughkeepsie Employees Set For Bargaining

POUGHKEEPSIE—The 300 Civil Service employees of the City of Poughkeepsie are set to begin negotiations the week of Aug. 16 to set next year's salaries.

Gerard Reilly, president of the Civil Service Employees Assn. unit in the City, said that Mayor Louie O. Fiore and Alderman Pasquale Letteril, D-6th Ward, chairman of the finance committee, had been informed that negotiations were ready to be opened.

The negotiations have to be completed by Dec. 31 of this year, since the current contract expires on that date. The contract involves all civil employees other than police and firemen, who negotiate separate contracts.

Aubrey Coons, City finance commissioner, commenting Tuesday that the City "did not have enough money to meet increased salary proposals of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Assn.," indicated that the CSEA would probably be seeking a $600 per year raise. Reilly declined to comment on the future.

The CSEA negotiating team will include Reilly, Mrs. Katherine Olivo, Mrs. Rose P. Rigliari, Mrs. Frances Spire and Charles Beatty.

Frozen Out

It was noted that two applicants taking Exam No. 0514 were not abel to pass that test. The post: cement mason.

Host Of Post Offices Have Office Asst. Entry Blanks

Popular Federal Title

Entry blanks for the new job of office assistant may now be obtained in over a dozen area post offices as well as Federal Job Information Center at 26 Federal Plaza, NYC. The growing popularity of the title, which has very modest requirements, has led the U.S. Civil Service Commission to stress which postal facilities have application forms available: Brooklyn. Jamaica. Bronx. Hempstead, Middletown, Newburgh, New Rochelle, Patchoque, Peekskill, Poughkeepsie, Riverhead, Yonkers and St. George, Staten Island. Continuous filing remains in force.

To enter on the GS-2 level, you will be expected to have six months of clerical background reflecting responsibility. Individuals who hold a high school diploma or equivalency may likewise apply. Starting salary usually averages $94 a week.

GS-3 candidates are taken from those who produce one year of the above clerical work history, but pertinent post-high school study will also be accepted. For instance, one year in any of these institutions college, junior college, business or secretarial school - makes you eligible to complete. If hired as a GS-3 office assistant, you will be earning about $106 at the start. Benefits here follow the pattern of those accorded to other Federal civil service workers.

Counting Prior Training

Moreover, "appropriate training" will be credited, entrants are told in Bulletin No. NY-1-02. Manpower and job-development program conducted by civic groups as well as by government or industry are of the type where credit is probable.

A written test awaits you, that exam to cover verbal and clerical abilities. The estimated time is two hours, and a sample of test questions will be sent along with the application form. Among prospective test centers: Bronx. Brooklyn, Jamaica, Manhattan, Staten Island, Hempstead, Middletown, Newburgh, New Rochelle, Patchogue, Peekskill, Poughkeepsie, Riverhead and Yonkers.

Applicants are informed that this title, office assistant, was recently set up as a merger of the jobs of file clerk, office aide and temporary clerk. Therefore, persons having filed for those posts will be deemed eligible for this title.

the Department of Mental Hygiene has been regulated by pollcies dictated by officials in authoritarian positions. These policies have never been questioned nor were they formulated with the advice or the consent of the people whose lives they governed. This undemocratic atmosphere is out of tune with the spirit of the day and age in which we live. It constitutes an unacceptable repression of the human

We do not accept the position of the administrators that they must blindly follow this order to close the employee sick bays. If they were free to exercise their humanitarian instincts they would recognize the deleterious effect this order will have on their relations with the employees, on employee morale and, hence, on patient care. They would protest as vigorously as we do, if they were free in mind and spirit.

True Progress Needed

The responsibilities of the administrators are no longer fulfilled by merely dictating policy from their remote offices, by exercising the power that has been delegated to them by the Legislature. We expect, and the spirit of this day demands, that social progress be made not merely through the force of law but rather that those who do have authority be capable of developing creative relationships with the people who work under their supervision.

We are asking, in brief, that those in positions of authority soften their image, that they stop trying to manipulate the working man through the use of power and fear. We are asking that they come down to our level, that they reveal to us that they are human, that they set aside the compulsion to have the final say in all matters, that they develop a relationship with us that is based on loyalty and affection.

These two attitudes, loyalty and affection, are the prime ingredients of good mental hygiene. Sadly, they have been in short supply in the institutions run by the Department of Mental Good relationships can supplant rigid authoritarianism. Our need is for leadership that is based on good relationships. Our need is for leaders who are not afraid, who can allow the free flow of new ideas, who can work benefit, rather than in compe tition for their isolated gain. People like this will not need the force of law to stabilize the community. They are leaders in the spirit and it is the spirit of man that makes him unique.

We have lived in the competitive society and the Department of Mental Hygiene is a reflection of that society. We have struggled in competition for perso nal gain rather than in cooperation for our mutual welfare. In doing so we have destroyed the best that life has to offer.

Things can be different for us. We in the Department of Mental Hygiene should pioneer in developing new principles for living, in promoting a cooperative society rather than continuing in the competitive values that are the source of so much un happiness and discord.

Keeping the sick bays open, helping the employee in needthese are some first and most vital steps in this direction.

Some time ago I mentioned that I had received a new Regency scanner-type radio. This is a marvelous instrument, simply because it enables a person to hear radio traffic in all boroughs rather than just one as was the case with the older-type fire

The radio was given to me as a gift from my buddy Ray Mc-Intyre, the sneaky so-and-so who connived to get me out to Stuart Electronics in Queens on the pretense that he had to get a part for his own radio. That was his way of saying thanks for a few lousy little favors that any good friend would do for another. The chicanery took place on the very day that things blew sky high in Brownsville.

This indeed made most fascinating listening, but was simply unbelievable. The more we listened on the way back to New York, the less we could get ourselves to believe that the things we were hearing could

The wonderful thing about this radio of which I speak is that it lays bare the whole fascinating, brutal, killing, gloriously heroic story of the New York firefighter in a style and to a degree that is simply mindboggling.

On that very day, I heard a desperate dispatcher calling one truck after another, none of which, because they were frantically busy, could answer up. Finally, as a last resort, the dispatcher said: "Please! Is there ANY truck available in the Brownsville area? This is ur-

Now, we all know how every company was taxed to a degree that day which would have killed ordinary men . . . yet, with-out hesitation, and at once, there came two out-of-breath replies from exhausted men. They were the officers of Ladder 157 and Ladder 120, You just knew from their voices that they were ready to drop, but they volunteered to go wherever they were needed at the time.

To hear this sort of thing go on constantly was something that made this listener so proud that my heart was ready to burst with pride and admiration. That sort of thing went on all day and well into the next. To me was another glorious page added to the dazzingly glorious history of FDNY.

Since the acquisition of my radio, it has been possible to get greatly expanded picture of things as they are in this sprawl-

To listen is to know, among the other things, the awful price the New York firefighter pays for the privilege of belonging to the ranks of the greatest fire department in the world,

As an example, not one single day has passed since I received that radio that, in one borough or another, some member or group of members have not been injured and taken to various hospitals for treatment.

Only this morning, as I awakened, I heard i Chie wide to cancel the 1045 signal (DOA), because the troops had managed to bring the apparently dead victim back to life. This is drama of an especially magnificent kind, and I defy anyone to tell me where such drama can be equalled or surpassed.

A case in point was the fire at 20 Exchange Place in Manhattan, which took place at 7:09 p.m. in an old 60-story building. As Captain Robb and his tigers from 15 Truck rolled in, they were told by the dispatcher that phone calls were being received the 14th, 35th, 51st and 60th floors asking for help. When they arrived as a result of the reports, Captain Robb got his troops together and gave them the word-the firemanic equivalent of SKAT-GO GET 'EM.

NOTE: Paul Thaver is still convalescing in Holy Name Hospital, Teaneck Rd. at Cedar Lane, Teaneck, N. J. He is now equipped with a bedside telephone (201) 837-3590, ext. 745, and is eager to keep up with firemanic affairs as he continues to write his column.-M. B.

Fireman William Mezier did just that. The one little difficulty he faced was the fact that the whole elevator system was knocked out. He was wearing a Scott Pack and started the climb. Somewhere around the 35th floor he was forced to abandon it because of the weight. However, he made it by foot to the 60 floor, stopping on the way to check floors, calm people and get them to windows that could be opened, Paul O'Brien, assistant to Commissioner Lowery, said that when he saw Mezier, he looked as though he wasn't going to make it.

Another tiger from 15 Truck, Frank McAuliff, took the stairs two by two to the 14th floor and got eight people calmed and finally down to safety.

What I have heard while listening to the combined traffic of the City fire-wise amazes even me and I thought I had a pretty good appreciation of conditions as they exist. The true picture as dramatically told by this new instrument is simply unbelievable. It also tells me without any further doubt how perfectly ridiculous this "increased productivity" bit really is. Congratulations to you, Mr. New York Firefighter, you are really magnificent and truly the bravest. God bless you always!

Training Classes Will Be Kept In Spite Of Budget Pressures

the employee benefits educational and training courses negotiated by the Civil Service Employees Assn. must apply for the courses by July 30, 1971.

CSEA education director E. Norbert Zahm explained that the CSEA-won courses will in most instances be the only educational programs available to State employees during the coming year because of State budget cutbacks, "Since CSEA put these benefits into its written contracts in 1970 for employees in the Institutional, Administrative, Professional-Scientific -Technical and Operational Units, they are locked in, so we will have the

The 23 different courses will begin the weeks of Sept. 20 and Sept. 27, and range in content from supervisory skills to mathematics and secretarial courses.

Some new courses have been added to the program and others given last year have been eliminated, Zahm said, because of employee response and suggestions. In addition, new instructional centers will give some courses so that employees in more work locations can participate.

Employees should get application cards for the courses from their personnel/training offices. have them approved by their immediate supervisor, and then return them to the personnel/trainling office. The agency personnel training officer will prepare a list of candidates and forward it to the Training Division of the Civil Service Dept. Civil Service will then inform the agency and the employee early in September of whether the applications are accepted. Zahm noted that there is a maximum limitation number on students for each course.

Reimbursement Forms

If employees receive an acceptance for a course but do not wish to take the course, they should notify the personnel/ training office so that another employee may be accepted.

Tuition refund (50 percent reimbursement of tuition and fees for approved courses, up to $300 in a State fiscal year) may also be applied for, using form No. PS 304, available from the personnel/training office in each agency, These applications must be submitted no later than 15 work days prior to the registration date of the course. The money under this program can be used for workshops, seminars and correspondence schools as well as college tuition courses. according to Herbert M. Engel, director of training in the Civil
