Students Form Night Patrols For Residences

A student security patrol program will begin in the near future in an effort to assist the university security force and hopefully to reduce crime in the residence areas. The program will involve five teams of two students each, patrolling the residence quadrangles six hours a night, seven nights a week. The students, who will be paid $2.00 an hour, will be supervised by a full-time security officer.

The primary responsibility of the patrols will be to extend the "eyes and ears" of security. The students will not be expected to apprehend anyone, but rather to report any suspicious or unusual behavior to their supervisor.

Any interested student can obtain an application form from the CC Information Desk and should return it to the Security Office as soon as possible.

The student patrol program is a pilot project which is funded through the end of the present academic year. At that time, an evaluation will be made to determine its effectiveness in relation to the funding required.

Both the Office of Residences and the Security Office are cooperating in the project. Further information may be obtained from either office.

Committee Seeks Associate Dean

A search committee has been named to find a successor to Paul F. Wheeler who has resigned as associate dean of the Division of Social and Behavioral Sciences. Kendall Birr has been appointed as interim associate dean until June 30.

On the committee are Mark Monmonier, geography; Gershon Collier and Edoho Edoho, Afro-American studies; Arnold Foster, sociology; Peter Furst and Craig Henrickson, anthropology; Pong Lee, economics; James Mancuso, psychology; Catharine Newbold, history; James McNally, rhetoric and public address; Ruth Schmidt, associate dean, Division of Humanities; Robert Becker, graduate student; and Steve Brown and Jeff Levine, undergraduate students.

The committee will meet tomorrow at 3 p.m. with Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences presiding until a chairman has been elected.

Dr. Wheeler, who has returned to teaching, had served as an associate dean since April 1968, described by Dean Hunsberger as a "long period of distinguished service."

Reading Band Begins

A Reading Band is being formed and is tentatively planning to meet on Tuesdays at 3:15 p.m. All members of the university community with a few years of playing experience are invited to join. No auditions will be required. Those interested in joining are asked to contact Charles Boito, 7-6977.

GERALD ELSE
Danforth Lecturer

Visiting Lecturer To Give 4 Talks

Gerald F. Else, a distinguished classicist who is now director of the Center for Coordination of Ancient and Modern Studies at the University of Michigan, will be on campus Thursday and Friday as a Danforth Visiting Lecturer. Dr. Else also is professor of Greek and Latin in the Michigan university's department of classical studies and served as chairman for several years.

On Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Performing Arts Center Dr. Else will give a public lecture on "What Use Are Foreign Languages?" That evening at 8 he will give a convocation talk on "The Humanities in a Changing World" in LC 7.

The following morning at 10 in Studio Theater 1 of the PAC the visiting lecturer will discuss "What Does the Roman Empire Mean to Us?" In the afternoon at 2 at the same place he will discuss "Some Thoughts on Greek Drama".

The visiting lecturers program, under which Dr. Else will be coming here with the cooperation of the School of Education, was initiated in 1957 by the Arts Program of the American Association of American Colleges and is supported by a grant from the Danforth Foundation. Its purpose is to assist colleges in their efforts to strengthen liberal education.

Students from Campuses Statewide To Confer on 1972 Master Plan

Approximately 150 students from both state-operated and community colleges will participate in the SUNY Master Plan Student Conference to be held Sunday and Monday at Pierce and Brubacher Halls. They include student government heads, student publication editors, and those who have participated in the Master Plan symposia in recent months.

On the arrangements committee are Albany students Mike Lampert, Student Association president, and Jeff Rodgers, who will represent the SUNY Press Association. Others include representatives from Central Administration offices.

The tentative agenda is concerned with discussion of the Master Plan as it has appeared in the seven symposia with

New Governance By-Laws Undergo Further Revisions

Consideration of the proposed new by-laws for university governance occupied the whole of the Senate's special meeting last Monday. Many questions were raised about them, and at the end of the meeting they were returned to the Governance Commission with the request that the commission incorporate suggested changes as they saw fit and resubmit the revised document to the Senate in the near future.

A good share of the questions concerned representation for various constituent groups both on the Senate itself and on its councils and committees. Another point of contention was that members of the Committee on Nominations and Elections would come entirely from Senate members. Still others felt that powers and duties assigned to various councils and committees were not clear.

Two groups have already submitted written suggestions for changes to the commission. A resolution from the State University Professional Association has requested greater participation for non-teaching professionals. A Personnel Policies Council/Senate Professional Association Joint By-Law Committee has submitted five pages of suggested changes in both the by-laws and the grievance procedures.

All interested groups and individuals are invited to submit written proposals for consideration by the Governance

SPC Help Wanted

Undergraduates interested in becoming conference assistants for the 1972 Summer Planning Conference are now invited to apply. Applications are available in the Office of Student Life, CC 130. They must be returned by Feb. 14.

The positions involve a maximum time commitment of June 18 through Aug. 18. Assistants will receive a salary of $500 plus room and board for the entire period. Further information is available from Ralph Beisler or Tom Rhodes in CC 130.

interrelated aspects of the university. Students will be discussing those topics at intervals by themselves and also with the assistance of central staff. The latter group includes personnel from long range planning, university relations, and student communications. They will make recommendations, notes, and observations about their impression of the development of SUNY as it pertains to the future. The students' input, along with that of others, will be going into the formulation of the Master Plan due June 1.

Sessions will begin at 1 p.m. on Sunday, continuing until 6 p.m. when Chancellor Boyer will be host at a reception. The Monday sessions will continue from 9:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Commission. They should be sent to the commission chairman, Martin Edelman, Draper 141, by Monday, Feb. 7.

Senate will hold its regular monthly meeting today at 3 p.m. in the CC Assembly Hall. The only bill on the agenda is one from the Council on Educational Policy concerning term appointments.

The bill proposes that a school or departmental decision on renewing a term appointment "shall take into account not only the past performance of the individual appointee but also the goals, direction, and potential lines of development of the department (or school)." Each school or department would be required to file a statement of practices and procedures to be followed in making such decisions.

Among the reports to the Senate will be the results of a parking questionnaire sent out just after Thanksgiving. Forty-five per cent (637) of those returning the questionnaire indicated a willingness to pay for better parking facilities.

Guest Concert Tonight in PAC

Composer-performer Lou Harrison will be presented in concert this evening in the Main Theater of the Performing Arts Center. The program will begin at 8:30.

Mr. Harrison has conducted his own works and has received acclaim from noted critics and musicians. A student of Henry Cowell and Arnold Schoenberg, Harrison collaborated with Charles Ives in the editing of many of Ives' compositions.

The artist's repertoire ranges from the primitive to the avant-garde works of his own creation. Some of his compositions call for the incorporation of sonorities obtained from the vibrations from unusual objects such as automobile brake drums, plumbers' pipes, and galvanized washtubs.

The program has been made possible with partial support from the New York Council on the Arts in cooperation with The Composer In Performance, Inc., established in 1960 by the State Legislature at the request of Governor Rockefeller.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained in advance between noon and 1 p.m. at the Music Council box office in the basement of the PAC or at the door tonight. They are $1 with student tax, $2 for students and faculty, and $3 for the general public.

Interim Chairman

Raymond Forer has been appointed as interim chairman of the Department of Sociology for a term now underway and ending at the start of the fall semester. The announcement was made by I. Moyer Hunsberger, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Professor Forer succeeds Paul Meadows who desired relief from the administrative responsibilities which he had carried beyond the original term expiration.

Two SUNYAC Games Scheduled Against Fredonia and Buffalo State

Four straight home basketball dates are on tap the next two weeks. This weekend, the Great Danes will host Fredonia Friday and Buffalo State Saturday, both at 8:30 p.m. and both SUNY Conference games. Next week's visitors will be Hamilton Wednesday and Siena Saturday.

Fredonia is a new opponent for Albany, while Buffalo State is the defending SUNYAC champion. The JV will meet

Archaeology Lecture

An archaeological lecture, presented by the Archaeological Institute of America and the Department of Classics, will take place Wednesday at 8 p.m. in HU 354.

The speaker, Professor James Packer of Northwestern University, has investigated topographical and archaeological problems in the Roman cities of Ostia, Herculaneum, and Pompeii as well as in Rome itself.

Safety Coordinator

Herbert Orth, facilities engineer, has been appointed acting campus safety coordinator. His responsibilities will include instituting and carrying out a campus-wide safety program. Mr. Orth's office is in the Plant Building (7-8481). Edward Van Denburgh has been appointed as Mr. Orth's assistant in the new position. He will handle Workmen's Compensation claims, accident reporting, and fire reports specifically.

Recognition Lost

Twenty-three former campus organizations have had their constitutions, and therefore recognition, revoked pursuant to the procedure for organizational recognition established by act of the Central Council. The groups have not recorded officers in the Student Association office as required for recognition.

Affected are Albany Transnational Forum, Alpha Phi Gamma, Debate Society, Economics Club, Folk Club, Free School, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Karate Club, Logos Populari, L'Humaniste, Mu Lambda Alpha, and New Left Organizing Committee.

Also, Pi Gamma Mu, Revue, Student Faculty Committee for Equal Opportunity, Student Science Journal, Suppression, Torpedo, Tryads, United Farm Workers, Veterans Association, Young Conservatives, and Young Socialist Alliance.

The revocation act by Central Council took place after advertised notices were published on three different occasions in the Albany Student Press and no officers responded.

Fencers Club Active

The University Fencers Club is now meeting regularly in the third floor Dance Studio of the Gymnasium on Wednesday nights from 7:30 to 9, and 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

The club furnishes weapons, masks, and jackets, and offers instruction on a continuing basis so that beginners may join the club at any time. For additional information, call Steve Rosenberg (7-4048), Judy Breslau (7-8788), or Professor Meyn (7-2916).

More Funds Received For SUNYA Research

Vice President for Research Louis R. Salkever has reported that funds received by the university during December for research and programs totaled $320,428. Of the total, $110,417 represented 67 State University Faculty Fellowships and Grants-in-Aid made under the 1971 State University Research Foundation Awards Program.

Funds for sponsored programs totaled $210,011. They were received from the National Science Foundation, Capital District Library Council, State Education Department, and Public Health Service.

Recipients and their programs are Thomas Boehm, science education, "Summer Institute - The Intermediate Science Curriculum Study Program," $47,041; Ronald L. Lagasse, University Library, "Cooperative Acquisition Program," $7,000; Dale Lake, Center for Humanistic Education, "Post-Secondary Expansion of Humanities Education and Achievement Motivation," $154,970; and Samuel McGee-Russell, "Post-doctoral Fellowship Award on Behalf of Donald Caspary," $1,000.

Lewdness Charged

Charged with public lewdness on campus, Dwayne J. Winn, 30, of Ravena, pled not guilty to the charge during arraignment Jan. 19 in Albany Police Court. He had been arrested the day before in the Colonial Quadrangle parking lot by campus security investigator Jack Ruth, assisted by John Henighan. The offense is a non-bailable misdemeanor.

Information Meeting

An information clinic for students interested in pre-medical, pre-dental, and medical technology programs will be held tomorrow from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in BI 248. Conducting the informal, once-a-semester meeting for the Department of Biological Sciences will be Drs. Fishman, Pearcy, Rollins, and Winn.
