To Assure Humane Priorities

Wenzl Demands Return To Line Item Budgets For State Operations

Theodore C. Wenzl, president of the Statewide Civil Service Employees Assn., last week declared that a return to line item State budgets was "absolutely imperative in order to assign humane priorities in the allocation of funds for the State's work force."

Wenzl, speaking at a press conference here called by the Federation of Parents Organizations for State Mental Hygiene Institutions, said the most brutal affect of a lump sum budget was in the Mental Hygiene Department.

"Instead of allocating what money was available to the jobs and titles that would best serve the needs of the State, the Legislature handed the bureaucrats at the top a bonanza by leaving the decision to them," Wenzl declared.

The result, he charged, was to allow the fat cats at the top to protect themselves and their pet projects at the expense of the rank-and-file worker who fills the real need of the department—the day and night care of the mentally disturbed.

Wenzl also attacked the "narrow view that our organization is only interested in getting more Mental Hygiene employees in order to get more members.

Bargaining:

Nassau Returns, Suffolk Waits

MINEOLA—"We're trying our damnest," said Irving Flaumenbaum last week as Nassau chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn. returned to the bargaining table to discuss an economic package delivered by the County negotiating committee.

The president of the 17,000-member chapter, whose negotiating team had thrice walked out on the talks, said there was heavy bargaining in progress following the County's long-delayed offer.

Meanwhile, in neighboring Suffolk County, the CSEA was awaiting the appointment of a fact-finder in its dispute with the County government. The Suffolk talks had been terminated by a mediator, who ruled that the County's offer was too far from the CSEA demands to merit further bargaining.

Both big chapters have said publicly that their demands would meet Federal inflation-control guidelines.

Even those moderate objectives, however, have met with intransigent stands by the Counties. Union officials characterized the County offers as unrealistic and ridiculous.

The Nassau talks were renewed after the chapter board of directors had unanimously voted carte-blanche powers to Flaumenbaum to direct any action that he considers necessary.

Dr. Wenzl is seen after he emphasized to Governor Rockefeller that any further reductions in the State's work force could bring disaster to public services.

In Meeting With Wenzl

Rockefeller Hints He Won't Try To Balance Budget With Fringes

By PAUL KYER

ALBANY—Reports that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would not try to balance his new State budget by further lay-offs in the State work force were tacitly confirmed in a meeting between the Governor and Dr. Theodore C. Wenzl, president of the Civil Service Employees Assn., which represents the vast majority of these workers, The Leader has learned.

Wenzl made his move for reassurance that there would be no more firings after an Albany newspaper reported that the Administration was considering a possible reduction of the State work force by 10 percent because of the current budget crisis.

Westchester CSEA, Teachers Assn. To Set Common Goals

WHITE PLAINS—The political action committee of the Westchester chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., has entered into an operational agreement with the Westchester County Teachers Assn. for the purpose of working jointly toward common political objectives.

Stanley Boguski, committee chairman, announced that said agreement shall include but not be limited to the following: 1. agreement on common objectives; 2. planning of common strategy and tactics; 3. mutual support and assistance as far as organizational capabilities permit and to the fullest extent consistent with the concept of mutual good faith, upon which the passage of the agreement is founded.

Town Of Union Reaches Accord

(From Leader Correspondent)

UNION—The Town of Union Board and the Town of Union chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., have reached a tentative "agreement to agree" to a new work contract following a last-minute closed-door session.

State-appointed conciliator Ernest Franke of Buffalo said some of the points of misunderstanding between both sides were cleared up during the last-ditch session, but no details will be released immediately. The Town Board will take action on the agreement when they have their next meeting.

Franke commended both sides for their efforts in reaching an agreement despite the fact that feelings at times were heated and strong.

Franke added that negotiators for both sides did a commendable job in hammering out the agreement with the general attitude that "can only be described as healthy."

-Mrs. Elizabeth Castle-

Services for Mrs. Elizabeth Castle, wife of Raymond G. Castle, long a statewide figure in the Civil Service Employees Assn., were held last week in Syracuse, where she died after a brief illness.

For many years Mrs. Castle was a familiar figure at CSEA gatherings where she accompanied her husband, a former first vice-president of the organization for several years. Mr. Castle had retired from State service less than a year ago.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Retarded Children's Fund or the Syracuse Rotary Foundation.

Mr. Castle has asked The Leader to express his deep appreciation for the condolences that came from hundreds of persons throughout the State.

employees earlier this month, CSEA leaders had announced they would seek legal aid to compel the Town of Union to abide by previously negotiated contracts, which CSEA alleged the Town had violated.

Franke said that he had no knowledge of any suit materializing on this issue, and "as far as any legal matters are concerned, I ask the parties to put things aside." In view of the tentative agreement just reached, he said that he did not anticipate any litigation at this time. Plans for a threatened job action by employees have also been shelved.

Newly inaugurated chapter president Frank Warwick has announced his intention to resign from his post, although he will stay on temporarily.

Solons Need For Votes May Help Civil Service

NEW YEAR'S dawn finds civil service employees in a critical position. Their aspirations for improved living conditions and improved living standards are threatened by political cross-fires from countless directions. Republican legislators are divided by internal bickering over State fiscal policies. Some Democratic legislators are not on speaking terms with their colleagues because of differences over reapportionment. (Continued on Page 6)

Oill Leaves City Personnel Post; Name D'Ambrose As Successor

Benjamin C. Oill, the deputy City personnel director, has retired effective Jan. 28, 1972. Oill, appointed to his present post in April 1967, leaves after 31 years of service to the City.

Oill began his City civil service career in 1940 as a junior mechanical engineer with the old City Tunnel Authority. He joined the then Municipal Civil Service Commission as a junior civil service examiner (engineering) in 1942 and was named assistant director of the Bureau of Examinations in 1961. He served in that capacity until he was named the Deputy City Personnel Director.

Alphonse E. D'Ambrose has been selected as deputy City personnel director. D'Ambrose, now serving as counsel to the Department of Personnel, will replace Benjamin C. Oill, who is retiring.

Also announced was the appointment of William Roskin as Department counsel, replacing D'Ambrose.

D'Ambrose came to City Government from Picatinny Arsenal, U.S. Munitions Command, Dover, N. J., where he was chief attorney for the Adversary Proceedings Division. The Arsenal is a research and development center for munitions. He was legal advisor on personnel, management and contractual problems from June 1968 until joining the Department of Personnel.

Roskin joined the Department in October 1971 as executive assistant to the City personnel director, having served from 1968 to 1971 as attorney and later as Senior Counsel to RCA Global Communications Inc., where he specialized in labor law.

Cortland Unit Dinner Cites Frank, Field Rep

(From Leader Correspondent)

CORTLAND—More than 100 members and their guests turned out for the recent annual dinner of the Cortland County employees unit of the Civil Service Employees Assn.

The dinner was highlighted by a presentation of a plaque and gift to CSEA field representative Lee Frank, who has recently been promoted to collective negotiating specialist in CSEA's County Division. Frank, who advised and assisted the local unit in its recent contract negotiations, received numerous words of praise from those attending. A steak dinner with all the trimmings was served at the Veterans of Foreign Wars rooms in Cortland. Dancing followed.

The Fire Officer

By Raymond Gimmler

President,
Uniformed Fire
Officers Assn.

THIS IS THE season to give special thanks to the many, many friends of the Fire Officers.

THEY INCLUDE all the people of New York City who regard us as the best friends they have in the civil service; the reporters and editors who write their stories in such a way that firefighters and fire officers are at least allowed to tell their side of the controversies that swirl around us; and the City Councilmen and State Legislators who understand our problems and assist us with legislation.

SPECIAL THANKS from the Uniformed Fire Officers Assn. go to Edward McCarthy of the United Press International; John Mulligan of the Associated Press; Dean Lewis, WHN; Barry Farber, WOR; Barry Gray, WMCA; Kenneth Mac Queen, WABC-TV; Victor Riesel, WEVD; Paul Parker, WINS; Jack McCarthy, WPIX-TV; Paul Thayer and Joe Deasy of the Civil Service Leader; Dick Bodenheimer of the Chief, and the reporters in Room Nine, the City Hall press room.

RECENTLY WE thought so much of an article by Paul Thayer in the Civil Service Leader, that we had it reprinted in the Daily News. The UFOA intends to do that again, when someone in the press says or writes something we think deserves wider circulation.

THERE IS A great temptation to slam back at the few unfair people in the New York press, particularly one editorial writer. Instead we have decided to invite this gentleman to the next stubborn fire. After that we will invite him to do a tour in one of our busier companies, preferably on a hot Summer night. We might not have as much trouble with him and his unfair columns again.

ON THE POSITIVE side again, however, the UFOA intends to continue to honor its special friends in the press and in public office, with awards and the prized honorary deputy chief helmets and badges. We want our membership, and the people of this City, to know who our friends are.

WE ALSO WANT the people to know who our friends are at election time. We will be active in a number of ways again this June and November.

SPECIAL THANKS also go to the Association for a Better New York. This organization donated $10,000, matching $5,000 supplied by the UFOA and another $5,000 supplied by the Uniformed Firefighters Assn., to produce radio and television commercials in a program to reduce harassment of firefighters and to educate the people to the fact that 100,000 malicious false alarms each year are actually hurting themselves.

THIS GROUP of civic-minded New Yorkers shows an awareness that the firefighter has the most dangerous job in the Nation. It is in direct opposition to the attitude of another business group, the Commerce and Industry Assn., which repeatedly downgrades firefighters, comparing us to people at desk jobs in air-conditioned offices. This outfit thinks $12,000 a year is enough for the guy who rushes into their plush homes as they are rushing out with their safe deposit boxes.

BUT EVEN the thought of the Commerce and Industry Assn. can't make me mad this Holiday Season. Best wishes for a healthy and happy New Year to all the friends of the firefighters.

Aaron Wagner of the CSEA research department outlined the services provided by his office to County division members.

The guest speaker was Marvin G. Nailor, assistant director of public relations for the statewide CSEA. Nailor had high praise for the interest shown in CSEA by the Cortland County employees. He spoke of the services provided by CSEA, from local field representatives, to the numerous other benefits derived from CSEA membership. He pointed out that these services are virtually non-existent in other unions, which charge high dues.

Rochester Patients Suffer In Economic Squeezeplay

(From Leader Correspondent)
ROCHESTER—Behind the locked doors at Rochester State Hospital, it has become a forgotten world where shells of people sit in the same chairs day after day and soak in their own lost thoughts.
All 2,350 patients are becoming victims of a political-economic squeeze that is taking away hope.
The hospital, a complex of red brick and gray cement buildings on the City's southern outskirts, is described by its director as "impoverished."
"The State has trimmed our sails," says the director, Dr. Russell Barton, "but it has done it not by squeezing out fats and excesses, but by squeezing out the life and happiness of our patients."

The statistics show these trimmings: since April 1969 the hospital has lost 186 nurses and attendants out of 1,938, and 7 social workers out of 37.

Thruway's Sibillo Urges Streamlined Grievance System

(From Leader Correspondent)
BUFFALO—The Western Thruway Division chapter, representing 500 members of the Civil Service Employees Assn., has issued a call for streamlined grievance procedures between the CSEA and the Thruway Authority.
Through their president, Albert Sibillo, the members at a recent meeting backed a request for a time limit once grievances reached the present fourth stage, consideration by the Thruway Board appointed by the Governor.
"We are experiencing great difficulties in rapidly solving our problems through the present grievance procedures," said Sibillo in a statement issued after the meeting.
He said several grievances in the Western section have not been satisfied and have often been delayed for months in the fourth stage.
The Thruway Board, under present procedures, meets once a month and has no time limit on returning decisions in grievance matters. Sibillo said the entire 2,500-member work force of the Thruway should push for a time limit when Thruway worker negotiations begin this month.
Physical Assault
He specifically mentioned a grievance involving what he said was a Thruway supervisor's "physical assault" on an equipment operator. The grievance, he said, was filed six months ago.
"We have proceeded to file the grievance and ask that the Thruway discipline the supervisor, as they would be only too quick to discipline an employee who committed such an offense."
"But," he added, "the management continues to delay and gives us the same old answers that they will institute procedures to prohibit such actions."
"Our members are now realizing that they no longer have to put up with the old attitude that the Thruway has shown for too many years."
Demanding Grievances
"They are coming to their CSEA stewards and are demanding to file grievances."
In the grievance he mentioned, the chapter contends that Louis Taylor, employed at the Buffalo maintenance garage of the Authority, was grabbed by the shirt collar by his supervisor, Robert Rolls. Rolls grabbed Taylor, Sibillo said, after the CSEA member walked into the maintenance garage during a June

200 Titles: Eligibility Varies

Huge Response Expected Jan. 15 When FSEE Makes '72 Debut

Thousands of New York area residents are expected to compete Jan. 15 when the first Federal Service Entrance Exam of the year bows in. This one will follow the walk-in format.

As the largest job entry test administered by the U.S. Government, the FSEE covers approximately 200 titles. Fifty agencies do their hiring from the established eligibility list, appointments being made at both GS-5 and 7 entrance levels.

Having a bachelor's degree is one route of eligibility, but not the solitary one. Experience may also qualify you, namely three years of "responsible experience" handling duties similar to the position you're going after.

To enter at GS-5 (receiving $6,938), you will need 70 percent of the exam. Recent degree holders with high scholastic rating can skip the test, if they fall within the top 70 percent of their class. Also exempted are persons scoring 3.5 or above grade-point average on the scale of 4.0.

Standards for GS-7

GS-7 appointments (at $8,582) are based on a different set of requirements. A year of graduate study, a law degree or four years of the experience related to job duties will be satisfactory. In this case, a 70 percent test grade is called for.

By contrast, a 90 percent grade minimum has been set for GS-7 candidates who have only the bachelor's and have earned high scholastic honors. Ranking in the upper-third of the class or gaining 2.9 on the 4.0-point system will qualify you, as will scholastic society membership. Obtain the FSEE pamphlet for comprehensive information here.

Other important points outlined in the booklet include:

Agency Takes Step 1

City Explains Procedures To Expedite Unclaimed $$

The thousands of unclaimed checks available to former and current City employees must follow a series of steps from voucher to card punch to audit before payment becomes official, the City Finance Administration explained this week.

This unclaimed money is entered by date of deposit by FA's Division of Refunds. Their function basically is bookkeeping—not payment—it was stressed.

Claimants who find their names below must first approach the employing agency, listed following the name. Once this is done, here is what happens:

—The agency has the claimant submit a pay check order (Form 346). This is then sent off to FA's Paymaster Division.

—When the paymaster gets this order, he checks with the Division of Refunds to confirm if the claim is on deposit.

—If it is, a voucher for payment is issued, first going to the machine room for IBM card punching. There it is assigned a tickler file number.

—The Bureau of Audit next gets the voucher, where it is examined for accuracy.

—Assuming everything's in order, the Division of Disbursement draws the check, which is again audited.

—Once the check is approved and the Comptroller signs it, the paymaster mails out same to the claimant. The complete process generally takes about four weeks.

The listing below, the eighth published by The Leader, contains only persons owed $75 or more. Back pay and uniform allowance are typical reasons. Some of the employees may be deceased, in which case their beneficiaries can make claim. To process such a claim, a Surrogate's court order or funeral bill, paid in full, must be presented.

The eighth listing represents the start of Fiscal Year 1971, covering entries deposited by the City during July and August

More Than A Job

CIVIL SERVANTS take tests to qualify for their jobs, so very early in their public careers, they become identified with numbers: What score was received and what standing on the eligibility list.

Then they become used to being thought of one of x number of people who are hired because there are only x number of dollars in the budget. They work x number of hours per day, and after x number of years they receive an award for long service.

That may be the way some people feel about themselves or about their jobs . . . but we think it's about time more effort were made to point out that civil servants are not numbers—they are people who support families, fulfill work responsibilities and do nice things for other people.

Which all leads up to the employees at Syracuse State School and their annual Christmas party for residents who are confined to the institution for the holidays. It's a story that points up how seriously many public servants take their jobs and how much they really care.

At Syracuse State School, members of the local Civil Service Employees Assn. weren't just concerned about having x number of patients to care for until the clock struck x hour and freed them of their responsibilities to go home and be with their families.

Like members of many other CSEA chapters around the State, the employees here wanted to do something a little extra. For weeks they collected contributions from individual employees. They hired a band. They planned the little niceties that make a gloomy gathering of people into a festive occasion. They tried to make life a little brighter and a little happier for those residents who come under their care.

If the employees are willing to devote their personal time and money toward the betterment of care for the residents, surely the State should see fit to make adequate provision for its institutions and their personnel when it comes time to prepare the budget.

Questions and Answers

Q. I am going to change my address to another state. What is the best way to do this so my monthly social security check will arrive on time?

A. The best way to do this is to notify your social security district office early in the month. The district office has a special procedure for changing your address.

Q. I am drawing monthly social security benefits and I am going back to work. How much can I earn and still draw some benefits?

A. If you earn $1680 or less in a year, you can receive all your benefits. If you are under age 72, $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $2 you earn from $1680 to $2880. $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $1 of earnings over $2880.

Q. What earnings must I count in figuring my earnings for social security deduction purposes?

A. Earnings from work of any kind must be counted, whether or not the work is covered by social security.

Don't Repeat This!

ment. The routine political differences between Republicans and Democrats will rise in intensity as the November legislative election draws closer.

The disastrous shape of the State budget threatens every level of government service and consequently gives rise to haunting fears among public employees for the security of their employment. Living costs continue to rise despite Phase Two economic controls, and the precarious fiscal picture of the State will make it more difficult than ever for the civil service employee to catch up and keep abreast of inflationary erosion of his earnings.

Invisible, but present, at all negotiation rounds with public employees, will be the National Pay Board and its 5.5 percent increase guideline. During the initial stages of its operation, the Pay Board consented to wage increases in coal, railroad, and in other industries that were twice as high as the announced guideline. However, it is becoming increasingly clear that the Board is hardening its position and is most likely to approve pay increases in the future with the generosity that it has in the past. Still pending before the Board is approval of the new agreement between the City of New York and its sanitation workers. The increased wage scale in that agreement exceeds 5.5 percent, but the City and the sanitation workers are hopeful that the Pay Board will nonetheless approve based on discretionary loopholes in the guidelines, particularly the one dealing with greater productivity.

In the closing days of the Congressional session, Federal employees scored a significant victory when Congress approved a pay increase amendment permitting Federal salaries to increase 5.5 percent as of January 1. President Richard M. Nixon had initially attempted to defer the increase until July 1. The President had no recourse but to approve that bill because its other provisions extended the President's authority to impose economic controls.

Election Year May Help

Unity among State and local government employees will produce similar gains here despite the financial picture of the State. According to inside sources, the budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1, that Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller will soon submit to the State Legislature, will be smaller than the one he submitted the year before. This means, in effect, that there will be a freeze on State spending overall. The budget will also be tighter because of built-in increases in expenditures for debt service, pension cuts, and because of higher prices for supplies that the State purchases.

Until the Governor makes his proposed budget public, it will be impossible to spell out in detail the total impact of the budget on State salaries and levels of State services. At the moment, they do not look promising, but fiscal gimmickry is always available to tide over a crisis for a single year.

With all legislators up for election and with the voting power of civil service employees in the background, the legislators are likely to come up with ideas to provide reasonable equity for the State and local government employees.

Civil Service Law & You

By RICHARD GABA

Mr. Gaba is a member of the New York State Bar and chairman of the Labor Law Committee of the Nassau County Bar Assn.

Promotion From Within

(First part of a two-part article)

PUBLIC EMPLOYEES are well aware that collective negotiations under the Taylor Law cannot adversely affect their rights under the Civil Service Law. Nevertheless, civil service rights may be expanded through collective negotiations. One of the most important rights of an employee is his ability to move up the promotional ladder before the employer can hire outsiders. Promotion from within is set forth in Section 52 of the Civil Service Law with regard to competitive class employees. The purpose of this article is to spell out the provisions of the law in areas where rights can be expanded by collective negotiations.

WHEN A VACANCY occurs in a higher position, an employee may have an opportunity to be promoted to that position if certain factors exist. These factors are: (1) Their current position is in direct line of promotion as determined by the State Civil Service Department or their municipal commission, as the case may be; (2) Said department or commission may determine that it is impracticable to limit eligibility for promotion to only persons in such direct line of promotion, then said department or commission can open promotional opportunities to employees in related or collateral lines of promotion.

SINCE THE CIVIL Service Law places the ultimate responsibility of permitting promotional examinations from current employees, which also includes employees on preferred lists and on leave of absence with said department or commission, collective negotiations can only result in an obligation upon the public employer to go before said department or commission and request that it give a promotional examination. Such request will carry great weight but will not be a guarantee that said department or commission will give the promotional examination.

PROMOTION MAY occur through three types of lists: (1) A departmental list. This list will include only eligible persons who work in the department where the vacancy exists. (2) Inter-departmental lists. The inter-departmental list includes all employees of the public employer who are eligible to take the examination but may only be used if the departmental list has been exhausted. (3) Promotional unit list. In some cases, the State Civil Service Department or municipal commission may establish promotional units for subdivisions of a department as it determines to be an appropriate promotion unit. These promotional unit lists shall be exhausted before the departmental and inter-departmental promotion lists may be used.

WITH REGARD to these three types of lists, there is an occasion where promotion may be had by a non-competitive examination. This may occur when no more than three persons are eligible for the promotional examination, or no more than three persons filed application for such promotional examination. This process emanates directly from the appointing officer who may nominate one of such persons upon passing the examination to be eligible for such promotion.

WITH REGARD to these three types of promotional lists, the power to use them rests solely with the State Civil Service Department or municipal commission. Nevertheless, collective negotiations may result in requiring the public employer to go on record before such department or commission requesting that they be used. Once again, such request should carry great weight but will not be determinative of their use.

THE SERIOUS DANGER in this area is the use of open competitive examinations to fill higher positions. This will allow outsiders to compete on an equal basis with employees already in the service of the public employer. An attempt should be considered during collective negotiations. The more evidence received from the public employer against open competitive examinations and in favor of promotional examinations, the better the chance of getting such promotional examination from the appropriate civil service authority or bringing a successful lawsuit mandating such promotional examination.

Letters To The Editor

Urges Working Class To Vote Together

Editor, The Leader:

I am a public servant, have been for 20 years, and have bowed or stooped low enough to kiss a midget politician (if there be one) so as to keep my job, and still perform a duty in the manner of a prisoner. I have worked under men who supposedly worked up through the ranks, but, as you know, paid up through the rank. Now you would think the job was a corporation and they were the largest stockholders.

So much for that—it doesn't matter much. I am about retirement age. What matters is good government—better government. When are the poor people, the working class, going to stop and think and elect good men to offices of government: governor, senators, legislators, assemblymen, mayor, county executives, supervisors — or through to Washington, D.C.?

The poor white man elects "law and order," which equals segregation. The black man (I am black) elects civil rights, which equals integration.

But nothing materializes. The politicians forget all except the one with the money—industry and big business.

Let us use New York State for an example. Mr. Rockefeller is rich and doesn't care about anything but history, his name being there, and monuments for himself. Mr. Bridges, Mr. Durycia and Mr. Kingston are for slavery of State and municipal workers, enlarging their personal fortune and security and other business. Mr. Margiotta from my County (Nassau) is only interested in politics and the big salary he gets from the Republican Party. Look at their salary and retirement plans and then at State, County and village plans.

So why don't the working men and women of all races vote together and get these people out of our government, and continue until we have some who will be for the people—all the people—and not in punishing the poor man to enlarge his own future.

What I am trying to say is we clean our government with a good voting broom. We can get rid of the man that doesn't care, and get one who gives a damn.

To all civil servants: at least we as civil service employees can help ourselves by voting right. Let us put these 200,000 votes to work.

Call For Business Exposure

Employment Clerk Requires Public Contact Experience

The State's Division of Employment currently has openings for two titles requiring light experience: employment security clerk and senior employment security clerk.

The employment clerk title pays $5,520-6,564 and calls for one year of general business experience plus six months in public contact work. The senior title requires double the amount of both types of experience. High school graduation, however, may be substituted for the business exposure, notes Announcement No. 23-503.

An employment clerk elicits pertinent facts from D of E applicants and refers them to the appropriate staff. He may also assist applicants in completing forms and assign them occupational codes.

The senior clerk's duties may involve taking employers' job orders or processing claims for unemployment benefits. Conducting brief interviews with claimants may also be performed.

Applications will be accepted through Jan. 24, to be followed by a written exam held Feb. 26. That exam will encompass areas such as name and number checking and interpreting written material. Filing is conducted at various offices of the State Civil Service Dept. For the location closest to you, check page 4 of this edition.

Typists Complete

On a Dec. 28 typist test, 63 applicants appeared for the practical, at 40 Worth St., Manhattan.

To Capt. Ray Gimmler and the Executive Board of the UFO: Thank you for your nice plug in “The Trumpet” and thanks, too, for reprinting my column in that full-page spread in The News. The reaction was great and, as one

Transit Authority buddy said: “It sure made me stop and think . . . after reading it, I found myself with the firemen all the way and sort of sore that nobody else stood up to defend them.”

On Christmas Eve, the Page One story in The News was the Christmas party at Methodist Hospital where the troops of 220 Engine and all the other companies in the Battalion dug down into their pockets for a party for a little boy whom they had rescued six weeks earlier. He had 40 friends in the ward and they got the full treatment too. Just goes to show . . . when you want good human interest stories that are steeped in kindness and consideration for fellow human beings, look to the firefighters. Their kind acts and heroism aren't limited to Christmas, although that's when the “media” play up kindness.

The firefighters live Christmas all-year-round . . . it's part of their way of life. As one buddy in the news game said recently, “We could fill up the whole paper with stories by your guys and it's always a tough thing to make a decision on what to print and what not to print, space being such a problem.” I hope everyone remembers that when next the “media” decide to get snarky because the firefighter asks for his just due!

Tour Chief Danny O'Donnell was telling me of some of the things they did in Bronx Central Telegraph for Christmas. Collecting and repairing a mountain of toys. They visited P.S. 70 and 89 where mentally retarded kids are taught. Some of the side visits which were not anticipated were real heartbreakers, too. The troops in 73 Engine had a neighbor whose wife had recently died and left him with eight kids. Up the dispatchers went willy-nilly to make eight kids happy.

In another case, the toys were distributed to a needy family and, noting that things looked pretty grim, they plan to go back with food and clothing, which is now in 92 Engine's quarters. Engine 62 had a similar case and the dispatchers are doing the necessary there, too! It's just plain nice to say I know you guys . . . sort of shakes me up when I hear things like that.

On Dec. 22, Bronx box 2733 hit for 1255 Longfellow Ave. When 31 Truck got there, it was out to meet them and no entrance was possible by ordinary means. Firemen Hazel and Mugavin, looking around for other means to enter, found a rear balcony and, although the rooms were partially involved, gained entrance for a search. Things got rapidly worse and weaker men would have said the heck with it, but not those two tigers. They kept searching and found two adults and a child. Getting them to safety, Hazel went back for a further search.

Meanwhile, 82 Engine, not knowing their brothers were in the rear of the apartment searching, opened up the line and drove the fire right into Hazel's puss. This is the second such instance in two weeks where I have heard of such a thing happening. It's unfortunate, but it does happen and the truckle, knowing that he can expect the Engine nozzlemelters to “make the floor,” tries to either protect himself while searching or, get out. In this case, Hazel was willing to take the chance rather than risk leaving some unfortunate human being to burn to death and he had to pay the price.

Do you think that if the boys with the slide rules down at the budget bureau and their counterparts at City Hall were to get a taste of a line coming at them from inside, they would still talk about increased productivity? It's a hellava question. I know the answer but do they? Wanna bet?

Responding to a run in City Island on Dec. 23, the 20th Battalion found the call to be for retired Assistant Chief Richard A. Denahan, in need of oxygen and hospital help for pains in the chest. They scooted him to Jacoby Hospital where he was treated and released.

The other night, Engine 42 called for a police car for a “disorderly person, probably a psycho,” in front of quarters. Fifteen minutes . . . 20 minutes . . . no cops. It was now close to change of tours and usually you can forget anything short of help for murder or “assist patrolman.” However, when the dispatcher told 911 that a half-naked woman was dancing in front of quarters, end of tour or not, the police cars were there in droves! Tee Hee . . . Now 'ya know the magic word don'tcha? FIREFIGHTERS FIGHT FIRES . . . NOT PEOPLE!

Call Rochester State 'Impoverished'

The hospital, now running 20 percent understaffed, has had to discontinue most rehabilitative programs for the patients. Another side effect of the understaffing is the increase of patient accidents from 75 to nearly 300 a month during the past year because there are fewer nurses and attendants to assist them.

Seek Attention

But the real loss can be seen in the idle hands and minds of the patients.

They sit in long rows of chairs. They walk back and forth in dimly lit rooms. They watch those who go in and out of the rooms. And occasionally, when a nurse walks through jangling her keys, they call out for a cigarette or for money or just for some attention.

Before the freeze, patients were led by therapists in activities, group therapy, and trips off hospital grounds to such entertainment as movies, picnics and sports events.

"The State has cut us down to custodial care," says Ruth L. Lewis, the hospital's head nurse. "Even physical care of the patients is now at a minimum."

Miss Lewis says therapy work has been cut by 80 percent. "There aren't enough people to take patients out to movies or work with them in activities. And the patients who need this kind of therapy most must be supervised.

"We try to carry out recreational activity in the wards. But the attendant's primary task is that of a nurse, so we can't ask him to run activities, too. We just aren't able to prevent the regression of patients, and some of the progress they have made is being lost."

In the geriatric wards for the aged, senile and sick patients, she says, the patients have had to lie in wet beds longer.

Smallest Ratio

Rochester State Hospital and

Campbell Reappointed

Mrs. John R. Campbell, of Buffalo, has been reappointed to the Council of the State University College at Buffalo for a term ending July 1, 1980. There Harlem Valley State Hospital in New York City now have the smallest ratio of employees to patients of any of the State's ten hospitals for the mentally ill.

"As long as politicians are taking care of mentally ill patients, the only time we'll get any improvements is when a tragedy like Attica happens," Miss Lewis said.

"We'd have to show them dead bodies," added Dr. Irene Peer, a hospital psychiatrist. "This is what we should be preventing."

One of the five buildings at the hospital had to be closed down last year because it was a fire trap, thus contributing to overcrowding in the other four buildings.

The brand new $2.7 million rehabilitation building stands vacant because the hospital is not allowed to hire the minimum of ten new people needed to staff it.

No Cleaning Staff

Inside the buildings being used, the air is stale, the walls and windows are encrusted with dust and cobwebs, some kitchens are infested with cockroaches and the floors are so dirty in some places that shoes stick to them—because the hospital has no janitors or cleaning staff.

There's also a lack of household cleaning supplies and toiletries like soap, razors, towels and deodorant.

No staff members are allowed to use elevators at the hospital because it costs 25 to 30 cents every time an elevator is used. Lighting is dim because many lights aren't used so that expenses can be cut.

Staff morale is low because, as Miss Lewis says, "there's an overall anxiety that when Rockefeller talks of cutting down even more, everyone feels that he's going to be the next one to be bumped."

The hospital has been unable to use volunteers from the community because it doesn't have the personnel to train them.

But groups of students from nearby high schools and churches started volunteering this week to clean stairwells, cafeteria walls and other areas in the hospital buildings.

Calls Human Priorities Essential

Employees Assn. has been the leader in calling attention to the miserable plight of our unfortunate fellow humans who cannot help themselves. Our thousands of members in the institutions are heart-broken because they can only do so much and they need other hands to do this most humane job properly."

The head of the 200,000-member CSEA told newsmen that his organization felt a deep responsibility to carry the fight for adequate personnel to implement State services and that "we will fight for this goal through the entire session of the Legislature."

Max Schneider, president of the parents group, echoed Wenzl's claim that institutions were undermanned to below the danger level.

Schneider said his organization had proof that deaths among patients unable to fend for themselves in any way whatsoever had increased nearly 300 percent since the budget freeze went on.

"We are fighting for human lives," he said, "and we will take that fight to the courts, to the Legislature, to the Congress and the people."

Schneider told newsmen he was particularly grateful for the support of Mental Hygiene Dept. employees, through the Employees Association, in working toward these "touching goals."

At Long Beach Warns About Invalid Recommendations

LONG BEACH—Thomas Stapleton, chairman of the nominating committee of the Long Beach unit, Civil Service Employees Assn., announced this week that several recommendations received by the committee were invalid because they were not signed.

Stapleton asked that signed recommendations be submitted by Jan. 10. He noted that the committee must be sure that any suggestions come from members of CSEA and not from outside sources. The committee is to make its report about Jan. 20, workday and told the supervisor he had been sent there by his foreman.

Sibillo urged Thruway workers throughout the State not to abandon the grievance procedure, adding, "In our upcoming negotiations, members may rest assured that a prime demand will be for a faster, more workable grievance procedure."

Rocky: Will Rely On Attrition To Stay Within Budget Freeze

planned to stay within the budget freeze through attrition rather than further reductions in personnel. The Governor did not rule out, however, some firings should the Legislature do the same axe job on his budget proposals that they did last year.

There is reason to believe that a good many legislators will not press the Governor for further firings of State employees in order to balance the budget. Several solons, particularly in areas where vast unemployment occurred as a result of the current layoffs, have become very vocal about their unhappiness in "taking the rap" for voting on a budget that brought the layoffs about. Coincidentally, most of these Assemblymen, who seek reelection this year, are members of the GOP majority in the lower house.

It is also significant that the two majority leaders in the Legislature—Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges and Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea, Jr.—have made no references at all to further reductions in personal services in the State

Nurse Eva Noles: Healer Of Bodies, But Breaker Of Barriers

(From Leader Correspondent)
BUFFALO—It was 1936 and times, especially for blacks, were difficult in Buffalo.

Eva M. Bateman, a black, had just graduated from a Buffalo high school and was trying to decide what to do with the rest of her life.

In school, she had been regarded as somewhat of an activist—1930s style—by taking part on school committees, the school newspaper and the school magazine.

Now, she was thinking about her future, and, as she recalls, "about the only thing open to black women at that time was housework—and I didn't want to do that."

So, on a dare from her friends, she applied to the School of Nursing at Erie County's Meyer Memorial Hospital, where no black had ever attended.

"I didn't even tell my parents... until I was accepted," she remembers.

And accepted she was. Eva M. Bateman, now Mrs. Eva M. B. Noles, broke the barrier that kept blacks from a nursing career in Buffalo, and she's been breaking barriers all the way along her climb to director of nursing at Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, where, naturally, she's the first black nursing chief of a State facility and an active member of the Civil Service Employees Assn.

It's been that way throughout her career. Each time she was promoted, she broke another color barrier in the Buffalo nursing field, so much so, she now considers her firsts "old stuff."

Eva Noles is a cheery, pleasant and fulfilled woman. Divorced, she lives in Buffalo's black ghetto with her 24-year-old son, Tyrone, a student at the State University of New York at Buffalo and a former soldier.

Daily, she administers a staff of 350 persons involved in the nursing and clerical aspects of taking care of the patients that fill the 315 beds at the world-famed cancer research facility.

She reached the top of her profession by "rising through the ranks" during her 27 years at Roswell. After her graduation from nursing school, she worked at Meyer, Sisters and Columbus Hospitals before joining Roswell as a staff nurse.

She was named head nurse of the central supply room in 1953 and got the idea for her first award-winning suggestion from the State's Civil Service Employee Suggestion Program.

"I guess I remember that one the best, it was the first," she says of her idea for a card system to keep track of equipment.

Among her other award winning ideas was a suggestion about silicizing syringes for use in taking blood. She also shared a $150 prize with a Roswell maintenance man for developing a machine to test rubber gloves for possible reuse.

In 1963, she was named instructor of nursing at Roswell. Two years later she was appointed assistant director of nursing for continuing education and, in 1968, she became assistant director of nursing.

Perseverance paid off in 1970 when she wrote the Governor a letter suggesting that he proclaim a statewide nursing week to boost morale among nurses in New York.

The Governor complied and designated May 24-30, 1970, Nurse Week. Mrs. Noles was in Albany when the proclamation was signed.

She belongs to numerous community and professional associations and in 1964 was chosen one of eight semi-finalists for the Mary Mahoney Award of the American Nurses' Assn., an award named after the Nation's first black graduate and presented every two years for outstanding contributions to integration in nursing.

She was also cited by the State University of Buffalo this Fall for contributions to blacks and to nursing in Buffalo. She was one of seven women so honored by the school.

Not satisfied with her degree from Meyer in 1940, Mrs. Noles has since obtained an undergraduate degree and a master's degree in nursing from the State University of Buffalo.

She spends much of her non-working hours with young girls, encouraging them through school organizations and parents' meetings to seek a career as a nurse.

In 1966, she was chosen for her accomplishments in nursing as the "woman of the year" by the Buffalo region of the Empire State Federation of Women's Clubs, Inc.

She has written numerous articles on nursing procedures for medical publications and her list of achievements at Roswell includes developing procedures for nursing practices.

Mrs. Noles doesn't reveal her age, but admits she hasn't yet reached 55, the age she can retire.

But, then again, she doesn't like the idea of retirement. "I enjoy my work," she says. "I don't think I would have stayed here this long if I didn't."

She still remembers clearly the anti-black sentiment she has faced in her climb to the top. In high school, where she studied home economics—"the only subject they would let Negroes take"—the discrimination was "subtle."

That was the way it was, she remembers, throughout her early years in nursing. But discrimination today, she believes, "is minimal, if at all."

More than 100 black girls have followed in her footsteps to nursing careers in Buffalo, a fact in which Mrs. Noles takes great pride.

Her thoughts as the sort of Jackie Robinson of nursing in Buffalo revolve around the promise that "subtle" discrimination "is more or less a part of the cultural backgrounds and you expect it."

But, she adds hastily, "I think if you go out and look for discrimination you'll always find it, so I don't look anymore."

"All it takes, for blacks mostly, but for whites, also, is motivation and goals—if you want it you go ahead and do it."

That's her philosophy.

But, what would have happened had she not been accepted at Meyer when she first applied way back in 1936?

"I don't know what I would have done," she theorizes now. "I know I wouldn't have gone into housework. I probably would have gone out and tried to find a different barrier to break down."
