(Continued from Page 2, Column 3) elected candidate and one of 30/163 for each second choice. To avoid such complications, each ballot is made equal of 100 points. In this case that meant that 81.33 points from each ballot were retained by the elected candidate while the voter could give 18 points to his second choice. Since no ballot value can be created, fractions of a surplus point are always omitted. This does not affect the election as long as a small number of offices is being filled. In the Myskania election used as an example here, the average loss per ballot was .001672. Thus, you get proportional representation correct, all intents and purposes, to two decimal places.

Pearl Primus To 'Trip The Light Fantastic', Feb. 5

Pearl Primus, brilliant young dancer, who all set to become a doctor and was majoring in psychology at college when dancing claimed her most unexpectedly—and quite fortunately for the entertainment world. With her dance troupe, including drummers, singers, and pianists, Miss Primus will present primitive dances, blues and jazz, spirituals, and dances of protest at a performance at 8:30 P. M. Wednesday, February 5, in Page Hall under the auspices of the Dramatic and Art and Inter-Group Councils.

Born in Trinidad, British West Indies, Miss Primus came to the United States when she was very young and attended Hunter College High School and Hunter College. Her ambition was to be a doctor and it was with that in mind that she took her B.A. in biology and pre-medical sciences. Later she took graduate courses in health education and psychology.

In 1940, with no position open to her in the field for which she was qualified, she went to the National Youth Administration and was placed in their dance group as an under-study. Although she had had no previous training of any kind when she was along this line, she was able, through her innate vitality and sense of motion to translate the movements she was taught into

Robert Bartman, a former member of the class of forty-three, returned recently from Vienna and Salzburg, in Austria, where he has spent several years. Monday he spoke to members of Dr. Meyer's German 107 classes, discussing the conditions he encountered, during his years in Austria and Germany.

This former State student had an unusual position, working with the United States Forces in Austria De-Nazification. Mr. Bartman was in charge of a civilian internment camp in Austria, where high-ranking members of the Storm Troopers were confined following the defeat of Germany.

Mr. Bartman expects to return to State College next semester, to complete his Senior year, which was interrupted by the war. He will graduate in June with the class of '47.

Erehwyna . . .

A traveler from a far-off land was asked why he had come to this country. "I come," he answered, "to bring news to your people of my country."

And so it was that we first heard of Erehwyna— for that was the name of this far-off land. And so it was that we first learned of the Erehwyans and of the ways in which they lived.

The government of this land of Erehwyna was a democracy, for the people of that land were wise and had had much experience with other forms of rule—much to their regret. For their monarchy had been too absolute, their communist state too resolute, and their corporate state too dissolute. They had found that the democratic way was, after all, the most satisfactory, and it was a pleasure, this traveler related, to see the citizens on the greatest national holiday, Election Day, standing in line to make use of their privilege of voting.

The traveler then spoke of the industrial revolution which the people of Erehwyna had just experienced—it had consisted of rechanneling all of the labor and energy expended in the manufacture of guns, battleships, poison gases, and tanks to the construction of modern homes for all, hospitals, schools and colleges. This industrial revolution had been made possible because of the new extensive use of atomic energy in industry, and it was now possible for everyone to possess an automobile, an autogyro, and a combination toaster-and vacuum cleaner.

"Tell us more of your land," the traveler was asked. And so it was learned that in this land each person was the equal of the other, both before the law and in the eyes of his fellow citizens. This was not so because every man was of the same color or the same religion or the same nationality, but rather because each person understood these differences in their proper relationships, and did not over-emphasize them in the conception of man as an individual.

The coming of the Atomic Age to Erehwyna had brought with it the formation of the Atomic Labor Unions—at first an exclusive fraternity of only those men and women employed in atomic industries; but as the number of atomic workers had increased, so had the membership in the atomic unions. The symbol of the union was an Atomizer. Industrial strife was non-existent in this land, for all disputes that arose were amicably settled by representatives of labor and management and the government working together to arrive at a peaceful settlement.

This traveler from a far-off land was asked the secret of this distant land where democracy was so effective and prosperity so universal. "We have no secret," answered the man. "At the beginning of every New Year, each citizen looks about him, decides what needs to be changed, and then makes a resolution to take an active part in attempting to improve the country."

"There's nothing backward about Erehwyna," we commented.

"No, nothing," said he, "except the spelling." And he left, expressing the thought that the advancements his country had made could happen here . . .

According to the latest, practically every college in the country ended their pre-vacation slump with balls, proms et cetera or else are starting their after vacation-slump with balls, proms et cetera . . .

Well, we didn't get engaged over vacation but we were busy polishing up on our bridge playing—after the Inter-collegiate Bridge Tournament. Since then we've found out that there may be some tough competition next year. "The Campus" published by the University of Rochester illustrated some very sharp bridge playing as demonstrated by four of their players and eight kibitzers—to wit:

At the last moment, Fleckenstein doubles his own partner's bid, showing that he is stronger in clubs than he had really let on. When the cards were played, Berthold took every trick. The hand ended with Flowerday leaping at Pratt Institute has not only given a 4-point protest against final exams, but also a 3-point program of reform. Their main objection seems to be that a test of crammed knowledge often is 50% of the final mark in a course despite all. For a solution they prefer short interval quizzes depending on the credit hours given in the course. At this point, we have gone progressive along with Pratt.

And here's an idea from Massachusetts State College which doesn't seem too bad for those as would be interested—a group of students have formed a baby-sitters club. The members answer calls for baby-sitting from the faculty and nearby communities. The organization receives calls between four and five P.M. daily and answers to the name of John Setter.

Common-Stater

The Common-Stater is given the widest latitude as author of this column, although his viewpoints do not necessarily reflect those of the State College News.

Today is the day that Harry, the Student Board of Finance, for transferring funds from line items in their budget. But that isn't all. Re-member back in those pre-vacation days when Men's Athletic Association offered a resolution to amend the constitution as far as their budget is concerned? In assembly today we'll discuss this little item. In case you've forgotten, we print herewith that resolution. Boldface type is ours.

Whereas the Men's Athletic Association submitted its budget last Spring, it was pointed out that many of the items were very indefinite since there had been no budget for a period of several years on which to base estimates, and that whereas, it has been necessary to make several changes thus far this year and more are anticipated, and hiring a referee, certainly a price whereas it is often desirable to short line transfers on short notice without waiting for the weekly meeting of the Student Board of Finance, therefore be it resolved that Article VIII, Section 1, C. 6. of the Constitution of the State College Student Association be amended by the addition of section (a) to read as follows:

Up to the end of the fiscal year 47-48, the Men's Athletic Association will be permitted to administer its allotted funds as a lump sum quickest, most accurate method of administering the funds that can be done by the Director of Athletics and without

Students Choose State University For Debate Topic Plan Meet With Drew For Labor Discussion

The poll on topics for future debates conducted December 20 in assembly revealed that the question on a state university was the most popular. Debate Council will invite Syracuse University to debate here in assembly either February 14 or 21 on this topic, "Resolved: That there be established in New York State a state supported university."

The topic, "Resolved: That Greek letter fraternities be abolished," ranked second in popularity. The other topic suggested in the poll was "Resolved: That labor be an active part in the management of industry."

Levin Announces Panel Discussion

The Chi chapter, Kappa Phi Kappa, the national educational fraternity, will sponsor a panel discussion Monday, at 8:00 P. M. in Room 20, Richardson. Joseph Levin, Graduate Student, President of the fraternity, has announced that the topic will be "Should teachers be members of a teacher's union?"

General View On Resolutions: Don't Make 'Em - Can't Break 'Em

Did you make any New Year's resolutions, or did you consult Webster too, and get the staggering information that a New Year's resolution is a decision made on New Year's Eve to remain constant to a definite purpose during the coming year. State students on the whole did not go all out for the custom.

Joseph Biviano, '49, voiced the sentiment of the majority of the students with the answer that he made a resolution five years ago never to make any more and he's kept it. Patrick '47, went practical with a vow to always have French done. "The same idea occurred to Mary Odek, '49, but since she believes New Year's resolutions are useless, she made a second semester resolution to study hard. The most original one came from John King, '50, who has decided to brush his hair 200 strokes every night. Several students admitted making resolutions but refused to disclose them, as they were the confidential kind.

Beverly Coplon, '49, made four such vows. Joan Dollard, '47, and Eloise Worth, '49, were also in the same category, although Miss Dollard said that she made one resolution never to indulge in any more procreation during the year. The Commons was the cause of several good intentions, with Michael Portanova, '49, heading the

At a meeting of Inter-Group Council on Wednesday, Edith Tannenbaum, '47, was elected new secretary of the Executive Board and Alice Williams, '48, was named chairman of the newly-formed Community Service Committee. Plans were formulated for a discussion to be held in freshman orientation, Monday at 3:30 P.M. and a seminar meeting Tuesday.

Members of the Community Service Committee were also appointed at the meeting. This committee will work in cooperation with the Book-er T. Washington Center of Albany. The speakers panel, meeting with the freshman in orientation will discuss "Prejudices of the College Student." The participants will delve into the source of the prejudice, how they affect others and try to solve the problem of combating them and eliminating their evil effects. The speakers will be Lorna Kunz, '47, chairman, Louis Rabin-eau, '47, and Eloise Worth, '48.

The seminar will continue its discussions on the influence of radio, press and movies in forming prejudices. Dr. Margaret Hayes, assistant professor of Education, will speak on "American Humor and Prejudice" at the meeting.

Wolinsky, Pianist, Twelve Coeds Acquire Diamonds Tours Europe In Soldier Show

P.F.C. Frederick Wolinsky, formerly of the Class of '47, has until recently been touring as a pianist with the Soldier Show "Slightly with the Soldier Show." He made his professional debut here at State in February, 1945, after twelve years of musical education.

"Slightly Classical", is a program of light classical music which is part of the program designed for the entertainment of United States occupation troops in Europe. P.F.C. Wolinsky was the pianist for this show and played such numbers as "Waltz in E Minor" and "Polonaise" in A Flat Major by Chopin.

Studied under Gleesking Mr. Wolinsky spent some time in Germany studying under the pianist, Gleesking, at Wiesbaden, and performing with the Heideberg and Wiesbaden Symphony Orchestra. He also took part in the broadcasts over the Army Forces Network at Hoechst.

In February, 1945, Music Council presented Mr. Wolinsky in a solo concert, which marked his debut. The concert was a testimony to his popularity among the people of Albany and the college. Previous to this appearance, he had played with the State College orchestra and has given several amateur performances over the General Electric television stations. In 1944 he won the District Contest sponsored by the New York State Federation of Music Clubs.

Early Education Wolinsky began studying music with the director of the Morris-Hummel Conservatory, Edward Morris, with whom he spent five years. The next seven years were spent studying under Edward French, co-director of Morris-Hummel.

Before the age of eighteen he amazed audiences with his unusual interpretation of the compositions of Bach, Beethoven, Mozart, Schubert, Debussy, Chopin, Brahms, and Schumann.

Dr. Oscar Lanford, Professor of Chemistry, has released news of the purchase of a spectrophotometer for use in the chemistry department. The machine, a relatively recent introduction into the field of chemistry, comes from Pasadena, California.

The spectrophotometer, to be used in connection with graduate study in physical chemistry, is used in color analysis. This machine makes possible the scientific measuring and recording of colors by wave lengths, eliminating any doubt as to whether the colors are alike or not.

The machine, having come from Beckham Instrument Company in Pasadena, California, at a cost of about $1,000, may also be used for quantitative analysis and studying reactions in the laboratory, which could not be studied before, because of the lack of proper equipment.

As Cupid, Santa Join Forces

Cupid certainly outdid Santa Claus this year—or maybe they were cohorts. Anyway, many of State's charming coeds returned to school brilliantly. Who ever said school teachers are destined for the life of old maids.

For those of you who are wondering what it's like to walk on a cloud, listen to what those lucky (?) women said when asked how they felt about being engaged. Joan Alverson, '47, walking blissfully home from the Boul with Harry Baden, smiled sweetly and said, "No regrets, and I finally got Baden tied down." Tsk! Tsk! Leave us not to be possessive. Regina Ballenbach, '49, engaged to Charles Taylor of Cornell, could only gasp and say, "Oh Gee! It's wonderful."

For those of you who are wondering whether or not to take the fatal step, Alice Beckers, '47, betrothed to Kenneth Ford of Albany, advises "I'd recommend it to everyone." Rose Berg, '49, wearing Jack Goldstone's ring, could only utter, "I'm speechless."

He's from Union, Nuff said? Lee Emerling, '49, who's wearing John Ramsay's R.P.I. frat pin, blushed and answered, "Oh Golly! It's too wonderful for words." Jean Hansen, '48, roaming the halls with that blond grad student, Edwin Holstein, thought it over for thirty-six hours and finally came out with "It's very hard to analyze—this being engaged."

When Pat Kearney, '47, was approached about her engagement to Bob Loucks, a graduate of State, she answered guardedly, "It's a wonderful feeling, something no one should miss. The rest is not for publication."

Majorie O'Grady and Tom Feeney, '47, responded, "It doesn't feel much different, being engaged." Muriel Owens, '47, engaged to Paul Everts of Cornell, could not be reached for a statement.

Mary Tellan, '47, is engaged to Sidney Tuthill of R.P.I. At least she won't have to change the initials on her luggage.

Seniors Postpone Date Of Banquet

Frank Woodworth, '47, President of the Senior class, has announced that the banquet scheduled for Jan. 11, has been moved back to the original date, February 15. February 15th was the original date of the Senior class banquet, but the date was changed because it was thought that it would conflict with the State Fair. The date of State Fair has since been changed.

As yet it has not been decided where the banquet will be held. A Senior class meeting will be held Tuesday, at noon, in Room 206. All Seniors are asked to attend this meeting, since a quorum will be necessary to conduct the business. Junior and Sophomore Banquets will be held on February 15th also.

Common-States (Continued from Page 8, Column 1) We hesitate to deviate from this system at all for two reasons: First that it will set a precedent for other organizations, for they too will find it nicer to handle their funds in a lump sum, and second we can't see the necessity for an amendment such as MAA desires.

We likewise hesitate to criticize the competency of MAA Council, but there are a few questions that arise which bear answer: (1) Who is responsible for the athletic equipment and supplies that were issued to people and not returned after the period of use was over? (2) What happened to MAA's books last semester when the funds were administered in a lump sum? (3) Why was the intra-mural basketball league several weeks late in getting started? (4) Why are several star members of former years' basketball teams not supporting the team now with their talents?

One other reason. We are now operating something like $3,000 in the red because of unpaid student taxes which are outstanding, and the transfer of a lump sum the size of MAA's is not advisable.

We urge a negative vote on the proposed amendment.

Varsity Faces Ithaca, Connecticut State; Trips Plattsburg, Drops Two Games

Squad Scheduled For Weekend Games

Pointing for their third win of the season, the Purple and Gold of Albany State are set for two week-end clashes at home. Ithaca College invades Page Hall this evening to give State's varsity its first test of the new year. Tomorrow night the highly vaunted Teachers of Connecticut State move in to play their first game of the year against State.

In preparation for the week-end games Coach Hathaway has been holding long drills this week in an effort to have the squad in top condition and spirit. Pointing out the mistakes made in the Siena game, Coach Hathaway has been emphasizing accurate passing and play-making. Several members of the squad practiced during the holidays to be ready for the tests tonight and tomorrow.

George Acting Captain As a reward for his sterling play against Siena Ken George has been named captain and will lead a fighting team into action against Ithaca. Paired with George in the front court will be Tom O'Brien who has been moved up from the center slot in order to give him more opportunity to score. Jack Kirby, "Bolo" Marsland and "Red" Evans will back up George and O'Brien against an Ithaca team that boasts a 49-28 win over Oswego. In another contest Ithaca bowed to a strong Clarkson five, 50-36. Face Connecticut State

Tomorrow night's game with Connecticut is sure to answer a lot of questions about the strength of our inter-State rivals. To date no comparative scores or information is available about the Teachers from across the border. State's sharp-shooting "Cy" Fersh will captain the Purple and Gold against Connecticut, and will open at the center post. Ken George and Tom O'Brien will be in the front court with "Red" Evans and "Bolo" Marsland at the guard posts at the first whistle. On the reserve line and eager for plenty of action will be "Link" Marzello and Walt Schick, forwards. Jack Kirby, center, and "Nolo" Powell and "Bas" Karpiak, guards.

The final game of the night was held between Sayles Hall and Stokes Hall. The outcome was an overpowering win for Sayles with a score, 28-3. Engdahl, '48, scored 11 points for the Partridge Street squad, followed closely by Minch, '50, throwing an even 10 points. The Stokes Hall team made up mainly of freshmen, had a hard time pulling together but succeeded to tally 3 points in the last half with Dubert, '50, breaking the deadlock.

The Wednesday night play-offs showed a vast improvement as Pierce Rares met Stokes in a hard fought game. The contest resulted in a 13-9 win for the Rares. Once again Davidson, '47, was high scorer with 11 points to her credit and excellent guardwork was done by Henkel, '50, and Totman, '50, in their efforts to repress the Stokes forwards. High scorer for the Western Avenue team was Dubert, '50, clearing the hoops for 7 points.

The Snows Have Come And It's Really Old Man Winter

Guess what fellows, at last your chance has come, your chance to shine, that is, and the women have made it possible. The "femme fatales" of dear old State have had their share of the limelight and think it time for the men to take over. WAA has made big plans for you for the night of February 8.

One of you great big handsome men is going to be the whole show when the women, the athletes and the association choose the he who is to be the King of WAA's Winter Carnival. Qualifications are easy too—get the Ipana out and open up the new bottle of Vitalls all you have to be is handsome, not so hard is it? When you think of the torture womanhood must suffer to achieve that queenly look it'll be a snap for some sort of masculine pithructure to walk off with the kingship. Can't you see that crown now, perhaps this time it will be yellow roses, maybe the harem idea could even be promoted.

Well, start sprucing kids, can't tell you who the judges are but it pays to be nice to people, especially WAA.

With the opening of the new year, WAA continued the games in the newly formed double league basketball league. The teams in each league seem to be evenly matched in strength and the contest played have shown that the final playoffs will call for the best in State's girls' basketball.

The Rares of Pierce met Newman Hall Tuesday night in a game ending in a victory for the Rares, 12-2. The sparkling of the Pierce team was its captain, Jean Davidson, '47, who was high scorer with 7 points. The Newman forwards were held almost scoreless—drawing their points from two foul shots by Golden, '49, and Seaman, '49.

The final game of the night was held between Sayles Hall and Stokes Hall. The outcome was an overpowering win for Sayles with a score, 28-3. Engdahl, '48, scored 11 points for the Partridge Street squad, followed closely by Minch, '50, throwing an even 10 points. ### W A A Plans Winter Carnival; King To Reign

Formal Dance Climaxes Wonderland Weekend

Committees for the WAA Winter Carnival to be held February 7 and 8 were announced Wednesday by Patricia Tilden, '48, General Chairman. Highlight of the event will be the crowning of "King Winter" at the formal dance, Saturday evening, Friday.

The events planned for the weekend will include a sleigh ride, informal dance and a winter sports program, all to be climaxed by Saturday evening's ball. Muriel Owens, '49, has been placed in charge of Friday's arrangements, with Ruth Matteson, '50, to assist as Sleigh Ride chairman. Committee members include Anne Sulich, '49, Aid-a-king without a queen is like Borgan without Bacall. No matter what the future brings a single or a double throne, the Winter Wonderland carnival will be fun for all and something different to look forward to.

MAA Basketball Not to be partial, MAA will now have a few lines devoted to it—no, nothing about the financial results. As things stand now the Frat league is producing better basketball than the Departmental league. The competitive spirit is higher (please note scars on players and we don't mean moustaches) and on the whole the Frat players have had more experience. Inferiority Complexes Personified Being a little short on stuff (material) for this column, as it may be laughingly called, we, insignificant little columnists, bowed low three times and with reverence in our voices asked a few of the "Basketball Brutes" what has happened to the team or players that might bring a snicker for this column. To quote "one of the boys," "There's not much doing now but I could tell you what I used to do." Looks as if no one has taken the ribbing "Cute" Marsland took last season.

MAA Bulletin - In order that the interests of the student body be more fully met, the MAA, shortly before Christmas vacation, placed on its Bulletin Board several lists of activities to be signed by anyone interested in them. As a result of these signatures, MAA has decided to sponsor a boxing club, a rifle club, and a swimming club. In addition to the above-named clubs, which will be open to men only, the MAA and WAA are sponsoring co-ed clubs in skiing and tumbling.

Preliminary meetings at 4:30 in Room 101 are as follows: Boxing, Monday, January 13. Tumbling, Tuesday, Jan. 14. Skiing, Wednesday, Jan. 15. Rifleing, Thursday, Jan. 16. Swimming, Friday, Jan. 17.

Cy Fersh, Ken George Spark Team To Win

Paced by Tony Fabozzi and Hal Kemp, the Siena Indians turned back a stubborn State five (73-32). State held its own in the first half but after the intermission the Siena machine began to roll and put the game on ice early in the third quarter. Brilliant defensive play by Tom O'Brien and "Bolo" Marsland against towering George Weber failed to keep the 6'4" Siena center from getting the rebounds and therein lies the story of the game.

A jam-packed State gallery was not disappointed as "Cy" Fersh and Ken George provided State's scoring punch and kept the Indians pushing to the end. George tossed in five field goals and two fouls while Fersh chimed in with three field goals and five foul points.

The scores:

SIENA	FG	FP	TP
Northrup	2	0	4
Lange	2	1	5
Fabozzi	7	3	17
Weber	5	2	12
Kemp	2	0	14
O'Brien	3	1	7

Totals	11	10	32

State Sinks Plattsburg Ability to cash in on their four tries gave a strong St. Michael's five a 51-36 win over the Purple and Gold of State in a game before the Christmas vacation. Cy Fersh was high man with fourteen points against the Vermonters. The eager freshman led State to its second win in four games the following evening as State downed Plattsburg State, 51-43. The Purple and Gold staved off a fourth quarter rally to down its northern New York rivals. Fersh flicked in sixteen markers as "Bolo" Marsland connected for eleven.

In the sorority league, Psi Gamma and Kappa Delta played a 15-6 victory for Psi Gamma. The main sources of strength in the guard positions—Diehl, '48, and Sweeney, '47, Room 101 are as follows: Boxing, Monday, January 13. Tumbling, Tuesday, Jan. 14. Skiing, Wednesday, Jan. 15. Rifleing, Thursday, Jan. 16. Swimming, Friday, Jan. 17.

New Lamps Illuminate Library, Lessen "Strain On The Brain"

There's been some changes made, or haven't you noticed? Take a good look in the library if you haven't already. Just the thing before exams, in time for the students' stooping campaigns — fluorescent study lamps to light your way to knowledge. The outlook on the future looks bright.

The NEWS conducted a poll of student opinion of the new additions to the library furnishings to get an inkling whether they were appreciated.

Results of the poll reveal that the majority are pleased with them. Of twelve students interviewed, 75% expressed their satisfaction, while two (17%) expressed their disapproval. One made no comment since he had seen them only once. (That shows that some may not have yet discovered the stupendous study lamps which will probably reform their study habits.)

The lighting has already attracted more students to the library as evidenced by the attendance. In all probability, it will be an incentive to higher learning and revolutionary studying. The library may even have to be enlarged to accommodate the ever increasing crowds. P.S. Cases of eyestrain are expected to reach a low ebb. Confidentially, we feel sorry for the opticians whose businesses have formerly been patronized by State students.

Along with some of the statements of approval came suggestions for improvements and other comments. Joan Dollard, '47, said, "I think they make the place real cozy and you don't have to strain your eyes." Ruth Bentley, '47, expressed a similar idea saying that they were quite helpful and made it look like a library, if that's good. "They're something different and make the place look alive now," was offered by freshman Joan Farrell.

One reason why their presence in the library is decidedly beneficial is that they obstruct your view and prevent you from seeing those entering. Your reporter adds that maybe you'd get something accomplished if you don't see your friends. Reason: You won't call them over to sit near you. Result: You avoid annoying your neighbors and the librarian. Most important — you'll keep your mind on studying.

Bev Sittig, '49, says she likes them because she can see now. She adds also that she will be seen frequently stooping under these gleaming lights in the future—mainly because she has no study lamp at home. Jack Brophy, '49, says, "The fluorescent lighting is a much needed improvement. They should throw some light on the subject."

Brief Bits

Miss Elizabeth Van Denburgh, Registrar, has stated that second semester begins Wednesday, February 5. Freshmen will register January 27. Upperclassmen A-L will register Tuesday, January 28; M-Z Wednesday, January 29.

Mrs. Rosemary Bull, manager of the State College "Co-op," has requested that all G.I.'s sign their Government Accounts immediately. The "Co-op" must have the signatures before it can bill the government. New accounts will be opened at once.

Bertha Wakin, '47, President of Pan Amigos, has announced that there will be a meeting of the club Tuesday at 10:30 P. M. in the Lounge. Miss Wakin will speak on her experiences in Mexico during the summer.

Pearl Pless, '49, head of Lost and Found, petitions anyone in the student body who finds a lost article to turn it over to Lost and Found immediately. There have been numerous requests for lost articles which have not been turned in to the organization.

Jeanne Cavanagh, '47, Business Manager of Pedagogogue, wishes to inform the students that orders will be taken Monday at the Stamp Booth in the lower corridor of Draper Hall for those who want their names engraved on their Peds. The engraving charge will be 75c. At the same time money will be collected from those who ordered their Peds before Christmas.

Now for the disappointments—Janice Goddich says, "If it's any news to you, I don't like them." Gene McLaren reasons that they get in the way, cast shadows on papers and clutter up the desk.

Now, what do you think?

Pi Omega Pi Sponsors Meet

Bertha Wakin and Harriet Standish, Seniors, represented State at the Pi Omega Pi conference at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago, Thursday and Friday, December 26, 27. Dr. Paul Carlson, brother-in-law of Dr. Edward Cooper, Assistant Professor and Supervisor of Commerce, was the main speaker at the banquet.

The convention, held in conjunction with the National Business Teacher's Association Conference, featured revision of the Constitution of the national chapter and discussion of the activities of the various campus chapters. Delegates came from several states, including New York, Iowa, Massachusetts, California, Nebraska, Kansas, Louisiana, Arizona, Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania. Mr. James Gemmel, a former instructor of commerce at State, was also at the conference.

Following the conference, the two State delegates spent an extra day taking in the sights of interest in the "windy city."

Rienow Speaks On Citizenship

The social studies department was represented at two conferences during the vacations. Dr. Rienow, assistant professor of social studies, spoke at the general session of the New York State Council for Social Studies, while Dr. Harvey Rice, professor of history, attended a meeting of the American Historical Association.

The American Historical Association met at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York City from December 27 to 30. Dr. Rice said particular attention was given at this conference to the writing of history by the various units of the armed forces during the war.

Dr. Rienow spoke at the general session of the New York State Council for Social Studies on December 27. His topic was Responsible Citizenship and he urged teachers to recognize that students are learning enough about what to think, too little about what to do as a citizen. He said further, "We shall not free ourselves from the herd mind and group control until individual members exercise their citizenship in the group as in the state."

"Up to the end of the fiscal year '47-'48, the Men's Athletic Association is allowed funds as a lump sum as a citizen. He said further, "We shall not free ourselves from the herd mind and group control until individual members exercise their citizenship in the group as in the state."

Letter To The Editor . . .

To the Editor:

There have been times when men's gym classes and Milne assembly programs have come into conflict. On some of these occasions the like forms of State's stairwells have been seen braving the elements on the way to the gym and inviting pneumonia on the way back.

There is only one way for men to reach the gym in comfort and safety: via the auditorium. Wouldn't it be wise to make sure that the Milne monitors on the inside are aware of this fact and ready to open the doors with as little fuss as possible. This would aid the athletes and cause a minimum of interruption in the programs being presented.

Grads Elect Officers . . .

At a meeting of the Graduate Students held this week, an election of officers was the main order of business. The following officers were elected:

Vice-President—Charles Gilman
Secretary-Treas.—Emory L. Tooley

This is the first year that the graduate students have attempted to form any sort of formal organization.

Class Presidents Primus, "Charm, Quiet Dignity" Slate Banquets Captivate State College Reporters During February

By DEVLIN and LANDAU

Two NEWS reporters interviewed Pearl Primus and fell captive to her charms and quiet dignity. State College experienced the same pleasing impression for students' comments ranged from "Gee" to "Best thing that ever happened to State College!"

Miss Primus said she feels she owes her success in dancing to perseverance and hard work. She began dancing as a hobby at the New Dance Group, a cooperative organization in New York City. Her friends recognizing her talent demanded that she continue dancing as a profession and later she studied under Martha Graham and other leading ballet instructors.

The tremendous response continually accorded her dancing, Miss Primus attributes to the fact that she interprets things people understand. She presents primitive passions and emotions in a dignified way which causes people to return again and again. She aims first to dance as a human being, portraying human emotions and secondly to present the heritage and culture of the Negro to the public. In many of her programs she includes some jazz numbers for she feels that jazz is an inherent part of American life.

Miss Primus described some of her dances of social protest.

The three upperclasses are making preparations for class banquets according to their respective presidents. The Senior class will hold their banquet Saturday, February 22, and the Juniors and Sophomores will hold theirs on Saturday, February 15.

The Senior Banquet will be at the Ten Eyck Hotel with Dr. Harvey Rice, head of the Social Studies Department as guest speaker. Jean Laferty, Helen Mulson, and Concepcion Zumbo are in charge of arrangements, and the cost will be $2.00 per person.

Mervyn McClintock, '48, general chairman of the Junior banquet has announced that the banquet consisting of a turkey dinner will be in Jack's Restaurant at 6:30 P.M. Dr. Rice will also speak at this banquet.

Tickets which will be $1.25 per person will be on sale in the lower hall of Draper during the week of February 10th.

At the official opening of the exhibit, the Artists' Group voted Howard Becker's "Brook In The Adirondacks" the most popular painting. At this time the first and second prizes in the oil and water color classes were awarded.

At a Student Council meeting Stanley Chwalek, '49, reported the loss of an alpaca coat valued at $48 which was stolen from his locker the day before Christmas vacation. He had previously appealed to Student Board of Finance to reimburse him for his loss but it had been referred to Student Council because it was believed that they were a more representative group of students. Their decision was that Student Association could not be held liable for the loss of personal goods and that if Mr. Chwalek were given the money, a precedent would be established which could not be carried out in the future. However, a final decision was not reached and the matter was again referred back to the Student Board of Finance.

Committee Investigates MAA, V.A. Budget

The STATE COLLEGE NEWS has received information from reliable sources that the committee appointed under the resolution passed in assembly, Friday, January 10, has discussed the possibility of divorcing the varsity athletics budget from the MAA budget and passing it in December instead of May.
