Council reviews ASP election procedures

A considerable amount of discussion at last Thursday night's Central Council meeting concerned the publicizing of election results in the ASP. The topic was brought under consideration by a proposed bill introduced by Gary Gold calling for the listing of winners and losers in elections but with only the vote count of the winners publicized in the ASP.

This bill would repeal Central Council Bill 6970-26 of Oct. 9th which required, "that Election Commission publicize via the Albany Student Press the complete results of the election...the vote count of winners and losers except Who's Who losers of all election under its jurisdiction."

Councillor member Ralph D'Arbeau said that this bill was positive censorship.

Though discussion of the ASP's violation of the earlier bill was not deemed necessary and exactly legal, the debate centered around that issue.

Don Newfeld said that since the ASP was funded by Student Association; SA should be the policy maker. There was murmered dissent voiced regarding this regulation.

The only censorship, according to Gary Gold, rests within Communications Commission. Elections Commission, Jeannette Beers praised the front page coverage received by the Faculty Senate elections. She further explained that when some of the losers learned their results they indicated that they were glad that their vote count was not listed.

Lenny Kopp, author of the original bill (6970-26) felt that when one semester, one election, he is then in the public domain and no right to be shielded from them.

The discussion was ended by a tabled motion in Ball's wish that no students new to Albany State University in New York state to be given to govern the maintenance of the Board of Regents. Vice President Thorne had requested the recent enacted state law requiring the submissions of student reaction in this matter.

The Black Panthers, in a press conference held Friday, Oct. 31 at 2 o'clock, pointed out the deplorable conditions in which the students are being housed partly because of the consternation by proposing that the Undergraduate Academic Council will have to take steps to iron out these difficulties. An important idea was stated that the hoped-for improved educational effect of pass-fail grading has been continued to page 3.

Conclusion: How can learning be improved on the Albany State campus

by Bill Johnson

How can learning be improved on the Albany State campus? This is the question that will be discussed at a special session for interaction between students and faculty next Monday from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Campus Center Assembly Hall.

An effort is being made that the first meeting as free, open and unstructured as possible to be sheltered from that opinion. There is much variety among students concerning the effect of the grading system on transfer possibilities and academic departments also had to have their funds cut.

Many complaints were aired by students concerning the poor way they believe the Pass-Fail grading system is being handled. According to the plan, freshmen will either receive a pass or no credit on their transcripts. The only censorship, according to Gary Gold, rests within Communications Commission. Elections Commission, Jeannette Beers praised the front page coverage received by the Faculty Senate elections. The sight of the bathroom was enough to make one sick. The bath and shower didn't work, crawling over the sink, toilet, and ceiling were hundreds of large brown bugs. The rent for this apartment is $85 a week.

The Panthers urged the reporters to look at the bathroom. They wouldn't. The TV men refused to film it. Instead they asked, "If I understand you correctly, are you declaring war on Albany?"

"Perfect, unflawed, balanced ... an awe-inspiring venture"

An ASP Satire by Dennis Whitehead

The press conference was a little late in getting started. Advance notice had been skimpy: all President Richard Noskin had said was that he had commissioned one of America's leading architects to design a mammoth 100,000-student National University of the United States to be located (for one reason or another) in Yorba Linda, California, and that the chosen architect was an innovator in university planning. Two students from the State University of Nelson Rockefeller at Albany, fearing the worst (for one reason or another), were on hand to witness the event.

There was a general murmur as the President, followed by the ever-popular Vice-President Spirochete Agnu, marched down the center aisle of the podium. You'll have to settle for another center aisle, for the odd corner will be the campus entrance of the SUMMETRICAL, I say, 'Centers of the Campus Centers', flanking a majestic 1200-foot high spire. That, my skeptical friend, is symmetry! Perfect, unflawed, balanced symmetry!

"My friends," began the architect, "our President strode up to the microphone and began: 'Ladies and gentlemen, I am sure you are all aware that I have commissioned an exceptional architect to design the magnificent National University of the United States, to be located (for obvious reasons) in Yorba Linda, California. He is here today to present his model to you and the nation, yes, and answering any questions you may have about this awe-inspiring undertaking. I give you my Edward Droolstone.'"

"On the contrary, my young friend, I have met with success. The National University will feature four Academic Podia and living complexes, such as four infirmaries, four central heating buildings, four universities, four lakes, and a symmetrical oval road encircling the campus. One of the SUNRA students rose and spoke out with a tinge of hope in his voice, "Your design is still falling, Mr. Droolstone. Perfect symmetry in an unattainable. I defy you to find a single campus Center and the chiming phallic symbol on the podium. You'll have to settle for another asymmetric campus."

"A sea of angry faces swung around toward the offender. Vice-President Agnu came to his feet menacingly and muttered something about "effete liberal of necessity, imperialism became a political force that intervened in Asian and African affairs."

STB Wins League I; League II, III Playoffs Begin

STB DESERVEDLY Won the League I Championship by handily defeating APA, EEP, and KB and in the process did not give up a point.

by Mark Grand

STB's long awaited League I championship was not a fluke. Indeed, they were the finest offensive team in the league, the most well-drilled, in short, the best. For a while, they had trouble scoring points and as a result tied two games which they should have won. They broke open in their last regular season game, however, scoring a resounding 44-0 win over TXO. This proved to be the start of a streak which ran straight through the playoff. They handily defeated co-leader APA 15-0 in their first post-season game and then downed EEP and KB 18-0 and 13-0 respectively.

ALC took the top spot with a record of 9-2 amounting to a total of 18 pts. APA also amassed 18 pts. but a loss to ALC during the season put them in second place. PTC (7-2-2) with 16 pts. and GDX (7-3-1) with 15 finished third and fourth respectively.

In final regular games Saturday, PTC knocked off a tough Stumpy's Raiders team, a victory that gained PTC a playoff berth. In the only other game, the Warriors forfeited to ALC.

The league winner will be decided by the team with the most total points in the regular season and the playoff.

The Great Danes continued their winning ways with a strong win, the score being 194.1. State dominated the field finishing first, second, and third, and placing seven runners in the top ten. Dennis Haskett led the field in the fine time of 27.26. Tom Mills was second, Paul Holmes was third, Bill Moehan was sixth, fourth, and John Comserford finished seventh. Fifth for State, Comserford is a freshman and this was the first time he raced against the conference competition. There seems to be a bright future in store for him. Paul Holmes was awarded "Runner of the Meet" honors. It was the second time this year for Paul. He also received this honor at the Lemoyne Invitational. The team record now stands at 8-4, with only a dual meet with LeMoyne remaining. That meet takes place today.

The team has done remarkably well this season despite a very rough schedule. Coach Bob Munsey, who deserves a lot of credit for this fine team, tells him the hardest working team he has coached in eight years. Taking a quick look into the future, next year's team should be as strong or even stronger than this year's. Of the five first State finishers against Adelphi only one was a team returnee, Pat and Pat Gepfert one of State's better runners, didn't finish as well as he normally does because of a bad cold. With such a necessity to keep the New Paltz "ace" squad, we should again have a winning season.

Basketball Squad Starts Workouts Without Margison and Price

Veteran coach Dick Sauers will greet 12 varsity basketball candidates Wednesday (October 15) for the 1969-70 season at State University at Albany. Five players from four of them letterman, are back from last year's 16-6 team, which finished third in the NCAA College Division, East Regionals. Only two of the returnees were starters, however, so the key to 1969-70 will be held by the newcomers.

Three new stringers from last winter's "Cardian Kids" are senior captain Jack Adams, a 5'9" Voorheesville High grad, and 6'0" junior Jeff Jordan from Latham Invitational. Three seniors from last year are All-American. Bash Memorial's center Scott Price, and floor general Jim Caverly. All were starters and will be hard to replace. Margison and Price led the Great Danes to a 10-17 mark the past three years. Sauers will look to speed, balance, and depth to maintain Albany's reputation an upstate College Division power. As usual, the Downstate College Papers has been a backcourt starter since 1967, averaging 10 and 9 points per game in previous varsity campaigns. Jordan, who averaged 24.7 as a freshman, led last year's team in assists (135) and steals (162) played the most minutes (1977), was second in rebounds (311), and averaged 10.1 points per game. Reid probably will gain a starting forward position.

Up from last year's Albany freshman club are 6'1" John Heber of Elmira (Notre Dame), 5'11" Mike Hill of Troy (Lansingburgh), and 5'9" Rich Brooks of (East). Heber led the Danes with 23 points per game last season. Sauers will look to speed, balance, and depth to maintain Albany's reputation an upstate College Division power. SUC New Paltz Downs Danes 4-3 in Overtime by Dave Fink

The Danes traveled to New Paltz Saturday afternoon to run their one game winning streak (7) to two against an extremely talented squad, but again Coach Bill Schieffelin's varsity booters found a way to lose the game, this time by a 4-3 count.

State started quickly, almost scoring on the opening kickoff only to be denied when a shot narrowly missed the New Paltz goal. They were not to be discouraged however as soon as an opening and slammed the ball into the 1:40 Albany lead. Captain Jim Shera made the score 2-0 midway through the second half, as he converted a penalty kick after New Paltz was opened up a ball inside the goal area. The home team narrowed the margin to 2-1 at the half, but were unable to lead to 3-1 at the end of the third quarter. The Danes led 2-0 and 3-1.

Albany plays their last game Saturday against a well-drilled Plattsburgh contingent. The upstarts last year went to the NAIA post season tournament and finished fourth. They are not reputed to be as strong this year but will be a formidable opponent nevertheless.

Women Swimmers Begin Promising Season

The women's intercollegiate swimming team traveled to Plattsburgh Saturday to compete in a triangular meet against Green Mountain and host team Plattsburgh. This was their first meet of the year and the first time they finished third, the season as a whole looks highly promising.

Green Mountain finished first with 636.3 points, Plattsburgh was second with 499.5, and State last with 58. We took four out of four places with Sue Galloway leading the team, coming both the 50 yard and 100 yard breastroke. Masters Golf won the competition while the quartet of Pam Phillips, Jo Vecchi, Carol Gremer and Sue Lamanna finished first in the 200 yard free style relay.

Contemporary Music Festival — show innovative techniques

Next Tuesday will see the start of one of the most exciting musical events to hit Albany State in many years. The First Festival of Contemporary Music, sponsored by Music Council, will be held from Tuesday, November 11 through Saturday, November 15, and will feature as comprehensive a cross-section of the Avant Garde as can be obtained anywhere on this continent.

Some of the leading figures of the American Avant-Garde will be on campus for the event, and many of the leading European figures will be represented on the program. Several of the leading new groups performing electronic music will also be on campus for the event.

The festival, which will run for five days, and as many concerts, will start off on Tuesday November 11 with a performance of John Cage's "Music for the Sontext," a piece designed for live performance. As can be obtained anywhere on this continent. The group, consisting of the Sonic Arts Group, one of the new groups which performs electronic music and does specially designed for live performance. Unlike most electronic music which requires much time in preparation, the Sontext is a specially engineered instrument which eliminates much of this complex programming.

On Wednesday, November 12, the Sonic Arts Group, one of the new groups which performs electronic music and does into the future, will perform the main stage of the Performing Arts Center. The group, consisting of Avin Lucien, Robert Ashley, Gordon Mumma and David Belanger, will have an unexpected thing. For instance, one of the pieces performed will be Ashley's "Orange Desert" for two girls, lights, and loudspeakers.

On Thursday, November 13, the Instrumental Avant-Garde will be given the spotlight. Janet Jewelry, soprano; the American String Trio, and various university faculty and music students will be performing works by Arnold Schoenberg, Lawrence Mont, Milton Babbott, Elliott Carter, J. Richard Rodenhein, Harley Gabor, and Guiseppe Buscher.

On Friday, a real spectacular will be held in the intermedial and tape show. A visual collage by William Albrith, "TC," will be performed by an Albany State group. From the University of Illinois, Salvator Martinez will be performing "L.A.G.A.," a piece for gamelan politician, helium bomb and sounds. Franklin Morris' "American's finest Hour," will also be performed, along with tape pieces by two of the leading European Avant-Gardists, Iannis Xenakis and Karinhein Stockhausen.

On Saturday night, the Festival will close with a performance by the Creative Associates, a group based in Buffalo, and headed by Lukas Foss and Lejaren Hiller. Featured performance of that evening will be a piece of Miller's called "Avalanche for Pitchman, Prima Donna, Player Piano, Preprogrammed Playback and Persuasion."

Tickets for all events will be sold for $5. For all five concerts, a special festival ticket will be sold for $5, obtainable the first night of the series.

Capitol Hill choristers plan Mozart program

Myron Taylor, associate professor of English at SUNYA, will appear as tenor soloist with the Capitol Hill Choral Society on Friday, November 7, 1969, at 8:30 p.m. in the Main Theater of the Bruce Foote Performing Arts Center. The group, consisting of students, will include: Patricia Danzig, soprano; Barbara Steele, mezzo-soprano; and William Clarke, bass. The 180-voice chorus will be under the direction of Judson Rand.

A child who sits down to watch television is more anxious to be amused and entertained than to be educated, according to TV Guide Magazine.

"Given a choice between Bugs Bunny and Misters, children will watch Bugs Bunny. They don't have the critical ability to make judgments about which shows are better," Paul Taff, director of programming for National Education Television told the magazine.

Viewers in the 2 to 11-year age span generally don't differentiate between learning and entertainment. Yet youthful American viewers have a surprisingly healthy appetite for many of the so-called adult series. "A glance at the viewing habits of 2 to 11-year-olds during one recent four-month period (Sept. 68-June 69) reveals that the best-watch program (out of 211 prime-time specials and regular series surveyed) was an animated version of 'Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer,' followed by a pair of Peanuts specials, 'How the Grinch Stole Christmas' and its live-action presentation. "Surprisingly high on the list (ninth and tenth place) was a pair of adult series, 'Beverly Hills, 7th Heaven' and 'Gomer Pyle.' And further along (but still in the top 20) were a National Geographic special on reptiles, 'Rowan and Martin,' 'The Flying Nun,' "the magazine said.

Observers of new children's fare for the 1963-70 season agree that network TV programmers are responding moderately "to widespread fears that the depiction of violence on television might be contributing to antisocial behavior among the young. The Saturday morning programs are noticeably softer in their handling of action, and there are considerably fewer Westerns and adventure series in prime time," the magazine said.
What is women's liberation!?—something to laugh about?—yes?. Mark Rudd's body guards? It's such a much in the air these days! Can one from this campus but little is being done. Girls are interested, but what will their boyfriends think? And it seems so difficult for them to get to meet their friends. So a movement that is involving women all across the country, young and old, students and working women, young mothers and the not yet liberated “chicks” has no voice on this campus.

Last year a small group of women met on and off around the issues of birth control and abortion. Discussions broadened to include the possibility of a day care center on campus, the attitude of some of the students towards the policies of its double standard still prevalent on the campus scene, roles for women beyond the campus, and the relevance of the present educational system to women's liberation.

The main reason the women continued to meet, however, was that they wished to discuss other women's problems and issues affecting their lives, in a situation where they could talk freely, without a sense of competing against each other, a rewarding experience. That women should have a voice, and so far, the discussion has been really taken seriously, is a fact we've been educated against recognizing. If you meet these requirements, please contact Dorothy O'Hara 457-8778, Henry Koenig 457-8912, member of Pi Gamma Mu, please.

It is hoped that the poll will lead to the Albany Community College offering a particular set of guidelines for its women.

Graduate students on this campus are a lost group - their existence on campuses is barely noticed by either faculty or administration, let alone the students. They are more likely to be found talking to other women about important issues affecting their lives, in a situation where they could talk freely, without a sense of competing against each other, a rewarding experience. That women should have a voice, and so far, the discussion has been really taken seriously, is a fact we've been educated against recognizing. If you meet these requirements, please contact Dorothy O'Hara 457-8778, Henry Koenig 457-8912, member of Pi Gamma Mu, please.

Social Sciences with a cumulative average of 3.0 or better, 4)No Science Honorary is in the process of approval. Since many of the students involved are freshmen, it is hoped that many of the number of questions aimed at them will be answered. Some of the goals are found in the Student Guidelines. Forget the War?

To the University Community

Is it possible that between moratoriums and marches, Americans can forget that a war is going on? Perhaps the atrophy of our society is so pervasive, reaching into government, industry, economy, law enforcement and education that we can no longer distinguish it from everyday life. It’s so much easier to ignore our individual part in this delay to the inevitable.

Since I transferred to Albany last September, I have wrestled with the question of my personal complicity with the system. Today, at long last, I reached my eighteenth birthday and must act in accordance with the 21st Amendment.

I have chosen to register with the Selective Service System. Although I am not yet old enough to volunteer, I cannot accept the idea that I should be expected to sacrifice myself for the new mobilization of students, unless I am given some assurance that I will be allowed to take a stand against illegitimate authority, and resist being swept into docile submission to the Establishment.

I regret that I could not.

In peace,
Jack L. Schwartz

Protest Make-Up

To the Editors

Students and faculty who take part in political activities are essentially seeking to be part of the “protest” in which they participate, both for their nation’s good and for their own.

I sign to point the thousands of SUNY students who took part in Political and Social Positions Committee’s petition for funds for the November 15 bus trip to Washington. The overall coordination of this demonstration is in the hands of the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam or “New Mobe.” If SUNY students had taken the time to look into “New Mobe’s” leadership, it is doubtful that they would have supported the November 15 protest so lavishly.

On “New Mobe’s” steering committee is a number of personalities whose careers bear looking into. For one, Arnold Johnson—who happens to be political relations secretary for the Communist Party USA. There is also Sylvia Kushner, whose husband Sam Kushner has served on the National Committee of the CPUSA. Others of this type are Irving Saroff and Otto Nathan—both of whom have taken refuge in the 5th Amendment when questioned on Communist Party activities.

New Mobe’s “New Mobe” are David Dellinger and Reznie Davis, both currently on trial for violation of federal anti-war laws during last year’s Democratic Convention in Chicago. The last name which rates mention here is that of Fred “Big Red” Halstead, last year’s candidate for President of the Student Mobe Committee.

To the students here at SUNYA. These services provide a good relationship between campus and community. Many of you seek the humanistic touch. For those of you who cry out for merely an idealistic development center, society’s seemingly appointed caretaker—the University—has failed. We hope it can succeed, or at least come closer to success. But will it? Can it?

In our agony, we await an answer—and action.

Sincerely,

David A. Pietrusza

Joint Appeal

Open Letter to the Student Body

In our agony, we await an answer—and action.

Students who wish to protest the war (or anything else) have that right. But with that right, goes the obligation to be thoughtfully and responsibly. The leaders of “New Mobe” to many do not appear to be of the caliber to provide the leadership necessary for such protest. This is not only the opinion of those who support the nation’s commitment in Vietnam, but also of several leaders of the Viet Nam Moratorium Committee.

It seems that if one wishes to protest the Viet Nam War, one could find better company to do it with than “New Mobe.”

Sincerely,

Joseph A. Pietrusza
