NEWS OF A CLUB REPORTER

Dear Diary,

The Photography Club is offering a prize for the best picture submitted to them about Milne. The winner will be announced at the next assembly. The club itself is busy taking, developing, and mounting pictures for Parent's Night. They are also preparing material for the Bricks and Ivy.

The Radio Club listens to code over their instructor's receiver every Friday. They have built a transmitter and use it quite often. They are also building a receiver which is not quite completed.

The Junior and Senior Dramatics Clubs spent last Friday discussing helpful criticisms of the plays given recently by each club.

So long, till next week.

Potter Predicts:
FULL GIRLS SPORTS PROGRAM TO FEATURE THIS SPRING

By Marilyn Potter

Although the girls basketball schedule has come to an end, there has still been some brushing up on technique in the gym, but spring is here and baseball has taken its cue. Spring practice for girls' baseball has begun and pretty soon we will be seeing some good games. A baseball program will be published and also the various team captains. Also in the line-up is a modern dance recital. The tennis team will soon be in action and we hope many victories will be theirs. All in all it looks like a very promising spring for girls sports activity.

Looking Over The Alumni

Not much has been mentioned about the alumni of Milne, but they certainly have achieved a great deal of fame in their respective schools.

Bob Taft '38 was recently elected captain of the 1941-42 basketball team at Colgate University. Bob made the All-Albany team when he played for Milne.

Howard Rosenstien '35 has been inducted into the army, and he is now at Fort Benning in Georgia. Howie used to be a basketball star also, way back then.

Florence Herber '40, former co-editor of the Crimson and White, was an honor student at Oberlin College for the mid-year marking period, as was Estelle Dilg '40 at Alfred University.

Dick Game '38, president of the Junior Class at R.P.I., was named co-captain of next season's basketball team.

TALKING OF TALKIES

PREVIEWING THE NEW MOVIES
 with Bernie

Bernie's preview of the week:
 THE DEVIL AND MISS JONES

"The Devil and Miss Jones" is a very funny story of a millionaire who decides to pose as a clerk in his own department store to find out why his employees dislike him so intensely. The millionaire, played by Charles Coburn, goes to the store, where he is ordered around by the floor walkers, managers and store detectives. He meets Miss Jones, played by Jean Arthur, in his store. He makes a list of all the people who don't like him and tries to find out the reasons why. He is invited to become a member of the Union, and decides to discharge all those in it. Tobert Cummings is a leader of the organization.

The R.K.O. picture The Devil and Miss Jones is very well made and immensely funny. It may be enjoyed by Milnites in a few weeks at the Palace Theater.

Our Money's Worth

Last September the students of Milne paid a student tax of five dollars which included a mid-year issue of the Bricks and Ivy. We did not receive this issue as yet, but it was heard that the material for the magazine has been compiled and is about ready for publication. We've been waiting a long time for this edition and we'd like it soon. All we ask is our money's worth.

Shirley Baldwin '40 was seen wandering through the halls of Milne last week. She was home from college on her spring vacation.

Wilson Hume '38 was also home for spring vacation last week from Yale.

"What interests you most in Milne?" was the question and the answer given by most students was: Athletics. When asked if they approve of the practice teacher system, the answer was a very definite "Yes." Favored additions to the Milne program are music, and more athletics. Features are the favorites of readers of the Crimson and White. Bricks and Ivy fans prefer the pictures they view in the magazine. Most all Milnites request an addition to the Foreign Language Department; many prefer Spanish.

And now for that very important question: What do boys look for in girls? Winners in the question were: looks, personality, intelligence, poise, charm and manners. As for vice versa, what girls look for in boys, we found these were the answers: nice appearance manners, personality, consideration, and dancing ability. That's quite a list to live up to, isn't it?

Both boys and girls believe that young men should stand in buses for girls or women whom they do not know, and who are not burdened with baskets, bags, or babies. As for standing for women and girls you do know, well, the answer to that just had to be "Yes"!

Surprise! Surprise! Errol Flynn was voted as the boys' favorite actor, and of course Hedy Lamarr took all the feminine honors. As for girls, Jimmy Stewart was their masculine preference, and Betty Davis took the female lead. By the way, Jimmy's in the army now.

Almost unanimously the best movie of 1940 was "Gone With The Wind", according to most Milnites. "Mill on the Cross" took the booby prize for being the worst film of the year.

As you've probably guessed, Life, Reader's Digest, and Saturday Evening Post have captured honors for being Milne's favorite magazines. As for aid to Britain, Joe and Josie said "Yes"! Are you surprised?

Questions are over, pupils, and this ends Crimson and White's Poll for the 1940-41 season. We, of the staff, offer our gratitude and appreciation for your helpful co-operation in determining Joe and Josie's favorite students, and--well, we won't go into that!

"I heard today that your son was an undertaker. I thought you said he was a physician."
"Not at all. I said he followed the medical profession."
