VARSITY WILL MEET JAMAICA TOMORROW

Captain Kuczynski's Nine Will Open Baseball Season At Ridgefield

RUSSELL WILL UMPIRE

Six Letter-men, Five Players From Last Year, Three Frosh On Squad

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Captain Kuczynski and his team-mates will meet the Jamaica teachers' nine on the Ridgefield park diamond in the opening baseball game of the season.

Coach Rutherford R. Baker has called only few practices during the last three weeks.

With quality and not quantity, State is looking forward to a winning baseball team this season. Although Coach Baker is keeping a squad of only fourteen men in practice this season, he has six letter men and five members of last year's squad back again this year. The other members of his squad are from the freshman class.

In his captain, Coach Baker has his best player. Kuczynski, who was elected from the letter men at the beginning of practice, is at home on either end of the battery as well as in filling the gap between second and third base. He will probably be used at shortstop in most of this year's games, acting as relief pitcher and catcher when needed.

Griffin, Kuczynski, Allan and Taylor are State's hopes as moundmen. All will play another position when not pitching. Griffin and Allan rival for second base duty. Taylor plays in the field as well as in the battery. Griffin and Kuczynski both pitched for State for the last two seasons while Allan and Taylor pitched for Albany High school before entering college.

Nephew and Klein are playing at first and third bases, respectively. This is Nephew's third season and Klein's second with State. Both are good players and with Griffin or Allan on second and Kuczynski or Martin at shortstop, State will have an airtight infield.

Whiston, who caught for Kingston during his high school days will receive behind the bat. He has a good eye and a fast pop to second that should cut off any who try to steal from first.

Carr, Goff, J. Kinsella, Carpenter, Cochran and R. Sullivan are tryouts for positions in the outfield. Carr and Goff both earned their letters as fielders last year. Carpenter is a good hitter.

Coach Russell of Albany High school will umpire at tomorrow's game.

DRAMA, ART COUNCIL NAMES MEMBERS TODAY

The Dramatic and Art council will announce the names of its two freshman members in assembly this morning, according to Melanie Grant, '27, president of the council. The two freshmen, whose identities the council decided upon this week, do not yet know of their choice. They will be called to the platform and given the Dramatic and Art council ribbons by Miss Grant. The council Saturday entertained nine freshmen at a picnic. The nine were selected from about forty freshmen who tried out for positions this year. The two new council members were chosen from the nine.

QUARTERLY OUT TODAY; HAS ESSAY BY WATTS

The third number of this year's Quarterly is expected to appear at college today, Julia A. Fay, '27, editor-in-chief, announced Wednesday.

A historical sketch of the development of liberal arts at State College will be a feature of the number. The essay was written by Dorothy M. Watts, '28.

VOTE AN EDITORIAL

The student body will elect two members of next year's Myskania at the assemblies this morning. Some 1,000 ballots will be cast for each of these two positions, making a total of 2,000 votes. The student body finds enumerated on page three of today's News some 250 eligible candidates for the 2,000 votes. The questions which State must decide before noon today are these: which two of these 250 most merit election to Myskania? and, which two have most conspicuously been leaders "in scholarship, literary effort, debate, dramatics, athletics and in undergraduate affairs generally"?

These are not easy questions. Some knowledge of the eligible juniors, their achievements, their prospects, their personal characteristics, is required. Above all, fairness, a willingness to put the benefit to all above the benefit to the few, is necessary.

In lesser degrees, the same standards of selection must be applied to candidates for all offices voted upon today. It is a truism that a democracy survives only as its electorate is intelligent and interested. State College has an opportunity to practice its privilege of suffrage today. It will seize this opportunity and make the most of it as an exercise in citizenship.

Clairvoyants Combat Over Idol's Location; Frosh Hunt For "Room Without Telephone"

When clairvoyants disagree, who shall decide? That is what was puzzling freshmen yesterday afternoon as they continued the fifth day of their search for the sophomore idol. One group was digging madly through piles of garbage in response to the dictum of one fortune-teller, while another group hunted for rooms, "with no telephone on the side walls."

A large group of freshman hunters listened breathlessly Tuesday night as a delegation returned from one clairvoyant, bringing definite and unmistakable directions for finding the mascot. The mascot, said the gilded lady, "is in a room frequented by many persons, but without a telephone on the side wall. The mascot is hidden back of something and beneath boards of a floor."

This conflicted, however, with the advice of another specialist, who as long ago as last week notified an independent freshman investigator that the mascot would be found beneath a pile of rubbish or garbage. This information has already caused the freshmen much labor.

Myskania members and members of the sophomore committee, who know the truth of the matter, maintained an absolute silence throughout the week.

Freshman parties have been hunting every night, but until 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon they had been unsuccessful. Tonight they will hunt again until 9:30 o'clock, and tomorrow night the search will continue until 11 o'clock. If the idol is not found by then, sophomores and Myskania members will conduct the freshmen to its hiding place. Myskania has been supervising all hunting out of college hours during the week.

S. S. "A-Chee" Sails For Honolulu May 19; To Sell Hawaiian Girl To Highest Bidder

The S. S. "A-Chee," of the Home Economics line, will sail from the State College gymnasium, Albany, for Honolulu at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, May 19. A cabaret of native dancing girls will entertain State College students and their friends, who will board the ship following the Moving-Up day eve under-class competitions on the campus.

An Hawaiian dancing girl, veiled in oriental fashion, will be sold to the highest bidder at an auction on the quarter deck.

Charlotte Jones, '28, chairman of advertising, announced that an imported down town orchestra will also make the voyage. The home economics department students and faculty, who comprise the crew of the S. S. "A-Chee," coaled and oiled the liner this week.

Leah Cohen, '28, star dancer of "On the Fence" and other State College successes, will entertain the passengers of this new "university afloat" with a hula dance in native grass-skirt costume. Girls in Hawaiian costumes will go among the crowds watching the freshman-sophomore rivalry, seeking passengers, but no Shanghai methods will be used, the chairman said.

Passages aboard the "A-Chee" arrived in bulk lot at college this week and will be distributed later in the rounda at twenty-five cents each. They may also be obtained from any member of the home economics department.

STATE AND SHAKESPEARE

The College is watching with more than usual interest as the preparations advance for the first playing of Shakespeare here in some ten years or more. "The Tempest" is the vehicle which has been selected by Miss Mary Grabin, the director, and by the advanced dramatics class. In presenting Shakespeare to a modern audience, problems arise which are more difficult and more numerous than those associated with the presentation of modern dramas. In playing "The Tempest," this is particularly true. The play has never been prominent in the repertoires of Shakespearean actors. Various reasons have been advanced for this. Some say that it lacks the emotional appeal of others of Shakespeare's comedies; this is doubtful. Others say it is, dramatically speaking, less effective; certainly to be good theater it must be played well.

A third reason may, it seems, be that it does not offer the type of lead rôle that appeals to the greatest actors. These men and women very often prefer a play which offers a leading rôle that stands out more above the other parts than is true of any character in "The Tempest." This fault, however, becomes a virtue when the play is given by amateurs. Better work may be expected when there is relative equality in the rôles than when an amateur is too greatly burdened with a "star part." The advanced dramatics class seems to be performing a service in reviving this piece. It has not been given, professionally at least, in America for ten years or more. It is given infrequently by amateurs. A revival at State College will serve as an agreeable change from plays of the twentieth century, besides helping to keep alive an entertaining classic.

Students and theater-going Albany generally are looking forward expectantly to June 3 and 4 when Caliban, Prospero—and, of course, Ariel—will walk the boards.

BUSINESS-LIKE

The College owes another debt to the finance board in general, and to Professor Clarence A. Hidley, its faculty treasurer, in particular, for the large increase realized through investment in the fund for the athletic field. Professor Hidley's careful investment of the money donated to the fund, totalling about $2,000, has enabled the board to announce a profit of fifty per cent, bringing its total fund to nearly $3,000. To do this in a few years, and to do it in safe securities without any chance of loss of principal, is unusual. It is an additional instance of the sound and thoroughgoing work done by the finance board for the student body, often without adequate recognition and sometimes even without adequate support. The board and Professor Hidley deserve thanks.

THE STUDENT FORUM

EDITOR, THE NEWS
Some times when we think that ours is a hard lot in this world, it is well for us to observe someone else's fortune. State College has many commuters, but this is the trip that one must make daily. At six o'clock she must rise and prepare to walk a mile to a little country station—across meadows and over winding roads. At 7:05 the train arrives to carry her six miles to the next railroad station. There, after waiting about half an hour, she makes the trip to Albany—a forty-five minute ride. In another half hour the trolley has rumbled her to college. At last, after a succession of trips, which have consumed two hours, she is at College for classes. At night it is necessary for her to leave College at 5:30 in order to arrive home at 7:30. After this twelve hour day, a hot dinner is quite inviting as well as refreshing. If only more of us possessed ambition to such a degree, how many unattained and desired standards would be ours.

REVISED CHINESE HISTORY VALUABLE; HUGHES BLASTS TIME-WORN ILLUSIONS

China: Yesterday and Today. Revised. By E. T. Williams. $4.50 net. 664 pages. New York: Thomas Y. Crowell Co.

The history of China from the migration of the first tribes into the upper Yellow river valley in the third millennium B.C. to the end of 1926 is set forth with clarity and sympathetic understanding in this revised edition of Professor Williams' standard book on China. Special emphasis is placed on the awakened China of today, fighting for nationality and independence.

The book is far more than political; it covers every phase of Chinese activity from farming to religion. Confucianism, Buddhism and Taoism are treated, and several gems from the philosophers are quoted.

With nearly forty years of interest in China and her affairs, the author is well able to discuss her with authority. He has served there as a missionary, in the United States diplomatic service, and now fills the chair of oriental languages and literature at the University of California.

A table of important dates in Chinese history and a large colored map of China enhance the value of the book. The volume will be indispensable to any student of China in transition. For the casual reader there are several chapters of interest.

George Washington, the Human Being and the Hero. By Rupert Hughes. $5. 578 pages. New York: Morrow.

Blasting all the time-worn illusions about George Washington is Rupert Hughes' delight in this biography with a truly modern point of view. "The Human Being and the Hero," as the sub-title is named, explains the nature of the book. George Washington has been taken down off the pedestal and given a complete shining and polishing. He emerges more brilliant than ever.

Throughout several chapters runs the "Lowland Beauty," Washington's first love. The author denies the right of several first families of Virginia to claim her as their own, but fails to discover her true identity.

Washington's trip to the Ohio, the Jumonville affair, his wilderness land speculation—all come in for adequate treatment. His views on independence are treated in the last chapter. The author interprets him as an English squire fighting for the rights of an Englishman, and complaining against the high price and poor quality of imports from England.

The book may well take a place among the hundreds of volumes of Washingtoniana—and the place will be well in the foreground.

FROM OTHER COLLEGES

Commencing next year, all students at Union College who have an average of 85 per cent or more will be exempt from class attendance rules. A resolution to this effect was passed by the faculty.

Lawrence College, Wisconsin, has ruled instant dismissal for any girl in that institution caught smoking.

Students of San Diego State College, California, have abolished the tradition of hazing as a practice "unbecoming an institution of higher educational learning."

TEACHERS' SALARIES

The optimism of Professor Sayles of State College for Teachers on the subject of teachers' salaries is pleasant to hear, even though the public still has the spectacle of some shocking payrolls before it. Mr. Sayles believes the rewards of education are increasing and will continue to increase at a faster rate in the next ten years. Every teacher and every thinking citizen will hope devoutly he may be right.

If there are any two classes of citizens which should be recruited from the best minds of the country, they are the groups which have charge of the education of the nation's youth and of the administration of the people's affairs, the teachers and public officials of the city, state and nation. Yet these two classes are so conspicuously underpaid that month after month they lose the services of their most able members. College professors with years of economic research behind them soon sell their services to corporations for five or six times the stipend paid by the universities. Public officials who have demonstrated their executive ability cannot decline the opportunity to multiply their salaries many times by becoming executives of private rather than public affairs.

This is a condition so old that it should have been remedied long ago. Yet the Governor still directs the management of the state for a salary approximately one-eighth of that paid to the president of a single company within the state, and professors guide the intellectual lives of hundreds of young men and women each year for pay which often is less than the clothes allowance of their pupils.

The disparity between the rewards for public and private activity is so enormous that it is suicidal. Soon there will not be a single young man of ability who will dare face the financial starvation of public life. Professor Sayles sees improvement; it has barely started.

News Board Names Newton, Berg Members Of The Business Staff

The classification of assistant business managers in charge of advertising was inadvertently omitted last week by the News when it announced its promotions for next fall. Josephine Newton, '28, and Mabel Berg, '28, were unanimously elected to fill the positions by the News board on Monday, April 25. Both Miss Berg and Miss Newton have done exceptional work for the business department this year, according to Helen Zimmermann, '27, business manager.

HERODOTUS SOCIETY TAPS EIGHT GUESTS

Eight new members were tapped by Herodotus society, the honorary history organization, Tuesday afternoon. Margaret Brewster, Vassar, '26, was the honorary graduate member chosen. Juniors who were chosen were: Dorothy Bradt, Roslyn Chapman, Elinor Finn, Harold Geduey, Norma Milano, and Elinor Ostrander. One sophomore, William M. French, was elected.

All history majors were invited to attend the current events class in room 201 at 3 o'clock Tuesday. Professor Adna W. Risley, head of the history department and Erwin L. Baker, '27, president of Herodotus society, were in charge of the special program presented in Fascism. Mary Considine, '27; Mary Aulin, '28, and Erwin Baker, '27, gave special papers on the subject.

Five minutes before the hour closed he marshal, Helena Uehle, '29, asked the members of Herodotus to form two lines in front of the door. As the guests passed along this line, those elected were tapped and presented with the black and yellow ribbons of pledge membership. Dr. Risley gave a speech of welcome to all the members of Herodotus.

OWNER DENIES RUMOR OF SALE OF PAGE HALL

Rumors that Page hall has been sold to the Gamma Epsilon Gamma law school fraternity, were denied by Mrs. Harry R. Kimball, owner of the house in an interview with a News reporter Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Kimball declared that there is no foundation to the story current about the College the first of this week. There are no transactions pending which will involve the sale of the house, she said.

THANKS COLLEGE HEADS

Mrs. Mabel Husted Wilson, daughter of the late Dr. Albert Husted, for fifty-seven years a member of the State College faculty, visited College Wednesday to thank authorities for the honor to be paid her father in the proposed naming of one of the College buildings for him. Mrs. Wilson visited President A. R. Brubacher and Dean Anna E. Pierce. She now lives at Yonkers with her sister, Dr. Husted's only other child.

"Who'll 'Make' Myskania?" Is Question College Asks With Moving-Up Day Two Weeks Away

IDENTITY OF HONOR SOCIETY DISCUSSED

Undergraduates Tabulate Own Guesses Of Who Will Be Chosen

Who'll "make" Myskania? That is the question which is on the lips of everyone at State College, as the annual observance of Moving-Up day, May 20, grows nearer. At that time the new members of the senior honor society will be "tapped" as the key ceremony of the day-long program.

Speculation, guess surmise, "sure tips," logic, and even dreams are being called into work by students who want to determine in advance just which of the present juniors are to be honored. Eleven, twelve or thirteen are chosen annually to be members of the group, which governs all student activities. But until the actual moment of "tapping" comes, none but the retiring members know how many are to be selected.

Results of student elections and votes of all sorts are being watched closely by the politically interested, as possible indicators of some of those whose chances might be considered. Records are being compared, and the annual custom of "making lists" has already started. This custom consists of the preparation by students not members of Myskania of sets of names of the persons whom they think will be those chosen, the object being to see who can come closest to a correct list.

Number Varies

The Myskania members are chosen for leadership in athletics, debate, dramatics, scholarship, literary effort and undergraduate affairs generally. This year and last year there have been two men members. In each of the two years preceding there was only one man. Last year's group had twelve members and that this year has eleven, the minimum number.

The president-elect of the student association is the only member who is chosen by virtue of office. Even this aid affords little help to those who are "making lists," for the result of the vote for student association presidency are not announced until Moving-Up day, and even then the announcement does not come until a few moments after the tapping of Myskania has been completed.

Two of the Myskania members are selected by vote of the student body, but all qualified juniors are eligible and this makes between 200 and 300 possible nominees. Which two members are chosen by popular vote is never made known.

Precedents Vary

The remaining members are selected by the retiring Myskania, "at its discretion." Dopesters, trying to decide who are the most likely candidates, find little help in consulting precedent. Not a single student office except the student association presidency, consistently carries with it a selection of its holder to Myskania. Seemingly wide variations in the persons chosen are found.

The present members of Myskania are these seniors: William J. Clarke, Rhinebeck, former manager of varsity basketball; Ruth D. Empie, North Troy, former president of the present senior class; Ethel DuBois, Walden, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Julia A. Fay, Medina, editor-in-chief of the Quarterly; Melanie Grant, Gloversville, president of the Dramatic and Art association; Georgianna Maar, Albany, president of the Girls' Athletic association; Ruth H. McNutt, Albany, Hilda J. Sarr, Albany, vice-president of the Y. W. C. A.; Edwin R. Van Kleeck, Waterford, editor-in-chief of the STATE COLLEGE NEWS; Bertha Zajjan, Schenectady, president of the student association; Helen Zimmerman, Binghamton, business manager of the STATE COLLEGE NEWS.

HAMILTON, COLUMBIA NOT TO DEBATE HERE

There will be no debate at State College between Hamilton and Columbia. President A. R. Brubacher has announced. A debate between the two colleges here had been planned for Albany.

Myskania Eligibles

G. A. A. PRESENTS BOOKS TO COMEDY DIRECTORS

As a token of appreciation for their work in the musical comedy "On the Fence," the Girls' Athletic association has presented Julia Fay, '27; Peg Flanagan, '27; Marcella Street, '27; Thelma Temple, '27; and Ruth McNutt, '27, with books.

Ruth McNutt, director and Marcella Street, who wrote part of the lines, received copies of Gilbert and Sullivan's operas.

A copy of Barric's plays was given to Julia Fay, stage manager.

To Thelma Temple who wrote many of the lines was given "The Free Lance Writer's Handbook."

The production will be carried through with the speed of Shakespeare's day, with no long waits between scenes. The first scene, rather lengthy and drawn-out for dramatic purposes, has been shortened to better adapt it for modern audiences, Miss Grahn said.

FOUR SENIORS WILL ADDRESS BREAKFAST; COLLECT CLASS DUES

Seniors are rapidly completing commencement arrangements, under the leadership of Marcella Street, class president.

At the class meeting Monday Miss Street announced that seniors will be given until May 15 to pay class dues at the present price of two dollars. After that date the dues will be increased fifty cents. Dues must be paid in order to attend the senior ball or to get graduation announcements, she said. A list of names of people to whom the dues may be paid will be posted on the main bulletin board. During the week of May 8 a committee will be in the rotunda collecting them.

Miss Street announced the following as chairmen of the various commencement activities: class day, Ruth Lockard; senior ball, Esther Milnes; senior breakfast, Eudora Lampman; programs, Lois Dunn; and alumni day, Hilda Sarr, Ruth Lockard and Lois Dunn were nominated for toastmistress of senior breakfast and a vote was taken. Miss Lockard was elected.

According to tradition, the four presidents of the class, depict its history at senior breakfast. Since the freshmen and sophomore presidents of '27 are no longer students here, the class voted to have the two Moving-Up day speakers take their places. Edwin Van Kleeck, freshman Moving-Up day speaker in 1923 and Melanie Grant, who spoke in 1924, will replace William Comstock, freshman president of '27; and Ralph Harris, sophomore president, respectively. Ruth Empie, junior president and Miss Street, senior president, are the other two speakers.

The class voted 27 to 23 in favor of having the senior ball on commencement night. The other night considered was class night, Friday, July 17.

Louise Gunn, '27, was unanimously elected to present to the College the gift of Dean Anna E. Pierce's portrait, which will eventually be hung in Residence hall.

Kappa Delta Rho Moves, Then Has Dance, House-Warming Same Day

House-moving, bane of most lives, holds no terrors for Kappa Delta Rho. Not content with moving themselves and possessions in three short hours to a new home last Friday, the group got both old and new residences in condition to entertain guests the same night. The moving was accomplished between 2 and 5 o'clock. At 8 o'clock a farewell party, with College girls as guests, began in the old residence at 731 Madison avenue. About 10:30 o'clock the group, chaperoned by Dr. Milton G. Nelson, assistant professor of education, and Mrs. Nelson, went to the new house, 480 Morris street, for a house-warming and refreshments. Nu Sigma Nu, medical fraternity, has moved to Kappa Delta Rho's former home.

NELSON WILL SPEAK ON RESTORATION OF STATE BATTLEFIELDS

Peter Nelson, assistant state historian, will address the Political Science club at its annual dinner Wednesday evening. Mr. Nelson, who is a member of the executive committee on the celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the American revolution, will speak on the recent development of the restoration of the Saratoga battlefields. Interest in the history of New York state has received added interest recently in preparation for the coming celebration of historic incidents which took place around Saratoga a century and a half ago. "We hope that many of the students, other than those who belong to Political Science club, will avail themselves of the opportunity to take a real interest in the history of their state," said Louise D. Gunn, '27, president of the club. "It is too little known that New York state played as great a part in the Revolution as Massachusetts and Pennsylvania."

REV. FINDLAY SPEAKS

The Rev. Charles Findlay, pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, spoke on Robert Browning at the last meeting of Canterbury club, Thursday, April 28. Plans were made to hold a tea dance as a rush party for freshmen next fall.

OPPORTUNITIES LAY IN ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Brubacher Tells Kappa Phi Kappa That Women Are Taking Other Fields

The best classroom teaching opportunities for men today lay in college work, President A. R. Brubacher told the first regular meeting of Kappa Phi Kappa, professional education fraternity, Monday night in the red room. Women are monopolizing other fields of classroom teaching, he said, and the "equal pay for equal work" principle tends to lower men's wages.

The greatest financial rewards are in the administrative field, he said.

"The superintendent of the future will be either a financial expert or a curriculum expert," Dr. Brubacher declared. "The time is coming when every large city will have two superintendents, one to regulate the business affairs of its schools, the other to have charge of curricula and teaching." Dr. Brubacher made a special plea for the curriculum expert, outlining the vast opportunities for valuable work therein. Despite all the investigation and published material on the value of present subjects in the secondary curriculum no one knows definitely and finally the truth about the value of any one subject, he said.

FROSH VOTE IS 3-1, FAVORING GAMBLING

Orientation Course Students Approve "Honest" Chance With Small Stakes

"If you had it in your power to stop all gambling, raffling or lottery, of any sort whatever, would you do it?" This was the question put by Professor R. H. Kirtland to his freshman orientation classes recently.

"Yes," voted one class; "No," was the majority verdict in the three others. Four different divisions of the question were made in the 4 o'clock Tuesday division. (1) "Are you entirely against it?" (2) "Do you believe in it if honestly and efficiently conducted?" (3) "Is it all right if the stakes are small?" and (4) "All right to gamble as far as your pocketbook will allow?" "Lotteries evidently hold charms for the freshmen, for question 2 received the greatest number of affirmative votes despite the definition of gambling formed in class, 'trying to get something for nothing.'"
