

Report On U.S. Promotion Slowdown Causes Uproar Here

Civil Service Groups, Political Leaders Voice Strong Protests

Civil service organizations in New York State were thrown into an uproar and then into confusion by reports that President Johnson had ordered a slowdown in promotions in the Federal service.

At press time, The Leader received a call from a U.S. Budget Bureau official declaring that the Bureau had asked agency and department heads to examine their promotion procedures but denied that the Budget action was ordered by President Johnson.

A front-page story in the New York Times issue of April 15, which came from one of its Washington correspondents, Edwin Dale, Jr., declared that the President had ordered a brake on promotions as an economy measure. The Times story said a letter from the Budget Bureau to agency and department heads on promotions had been sent under orders from the President.

The article brought a flood of telephone calls to The Leader and, as the week progressed, a number of strong protest statements from both employee organizations and political leaders throughout the country. Confusion erupted over conflicting reports that hinted, at first, that there was no such order and, later, that it was not a Presidential order. The confusion did not stop the flow of protest statements to The Leader, one caller saying he did not care employees, "did not originate in the White House," but originated from the Budget Bureau, Elmer Staats, assistant Budget director told The Leader at press time.

The letter was sent out to all government agencies asking them to report back to the Budget Bureau by May 20, their procedures in promoting personnel.

"The biggest answer needed is whether those being promoted were promoted on the basis of classification rules, or by other means," Staats said.

"We are simply trying to find out if the agencies are being too liberal in their understanding of job classification regulations," the government official asserted.

Right To Waive Contributions Pick-Up By State Explained

Because of numerous inquiries, The Leader feels the following explanation should be provided for State employees who wish to waive the increased take-home pay provided under new legislation increasing from five to eight percent the State's assumption of employee contributions to the State Retirement System:

An employee may elect to continue paying at his normal contribution rate, in which case, his contribution will be put into his annuity savings account. These contributions would be available to him for loans; he would get back these contributions if he left State service before retirement, or, should he stay in State service until retirement, the contributions would go toward bolstering his retirement pension.

In addition, an employee who elects to continue making contributions and does not take advantage of the increase in take-home pay provided under the legislation, will have his pension increased, upon retirement, by an equivalent contribution by the State into a special pension reserve fund.

It should be noted that an employee who elects to continue contributions must make the contribution at his normal rate. For example, an employee whose normal rate—before the assumption by the State of either the five or three percentage points—was four and one-half percent, must continue to contribute at that rate. Or, in another example, an employee whose normal rate is more than eight percent must elect to continue to contribute at the entire eight percent, not at three or five percent or any other fraction of eight percent.

Attention LBJ—What About Hogan For Senate Race?

AT this writing, able and popular Manhattan District Attorney Frank S. Hogan is one of the least talked of possibilities for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator. This is due largely to the fact that he is conducting no campaign for the post—not even a quiet unofficial one. There are other reasons why he has been infrequently mentioned but, lately, most of these reasons are not so valid.

Here are some of the reasons why Hogan has been out of the speculation:

1. He is not actively seeking the nomination.
2. He and Mayor Wagner do not get along.
3. He lost in the last Senate race when he ran against Keating.
4. His Irish Catholicism was not

National Reaction

Report of Slowdowns In Federal Promotions Stirs Anger, Protests

Statements made to The Leader on the promotion slowdown were acid and angry. New York's Republican Senator Kenneth B. Keating referred to the promotion brake as "bargain basement personnel practices" and Paul O'Dwyer, New York City Councilman-at-Large and a Democrat, declared the plan "would have a demoralizing effect among dedicated public servants."

Democratic Congressman Samuel S. Stratton declared any sustained effort to hold back promotions could effect employee morale to the point of offsetting any economy savings.

Vaux Owen, of Washington, D.C., president of the National Federation of Federal Employees, told The Leader that the slowdown order "would not be good for either the Administration or the (Federal) service."

Joseph F. Feily, president of the state-wide 120,000-member Civil Service Employees Assn., declared that "This order . . . is sure to stir fears in the hearts of all civil servants because many local governments may feel that if Washington can get away with saving money at public employees expense, that they can do the same."

All statements to The Leader were made on the assumption by reading of the Times article, now denied by Staats, that the promotion slowdown was ordered by the President. Following is the text of these statements: KENNETH B. KEATING — Republican Senator, New York. "Efficiency in government depends on the devotion and dedication of all our civil servants. Short-changing deserving employees by denying them promotions, as by underpaying them in the first place, is a costly, wasteful practice without any justification. We cannot maintain the high standards of government service the public wants and expects, by using bargain basement personnel practices."

PAUL O'DWYER — Democratic Councilman at Large, New York City. "President Johnson's plan to slow promotions in civil service will have a demoralizing effect among the dedicated public servants who work at low wages in Federal employment."

SAMUEL S. STRATTON—Democratic Congressman, 35th District, New York. "I haven't had a chance to study the actual order and so simply couldn't comment on it until I have, I can say, however, that any sustained effort to hold back duly earned promotions could do very serious damage to the morale of our civil service employees, and thus, more than offset any temporary monetary savings involved."

PAUL A. FINO—Republican Congressman (24th Dist.) the Bronx and former member of the New York City Civil Service Commission.

"As a member of Congress and a former member of the New York City Civil Service Commission, I must always think of economies in government, but I cannot condone any such economy at the cost of either the civil service system or the civil service employee."

"The public employee should be the last source of economy in government—not the first. For the President to start his economy moves at the pocketbooks of the civil servants is inhumane. Instead of giving these employees the salary increases which they deserve and need to bring them up to the plane of private industry, the President wants to further penalize them because they are government employees."

"This is an inopportune time to make this move and the wrong segment of the public to tax. Any economies necessary for government should be in the field of foreign spending. We must care for our own first, and then think of others."

VAUX OWEN — President, National Federation of Federal Employees.

"If the proposal by President Johnson to holdup on promotions of civil service employees materializes, it will have a deteriorating effect on employees and the public."

"Promotions should be given where called for, not held up, under any conditions.

"It will not be good for the Administration or the service."

"This is no time to adopt such a policy, and it certainly will not have a desirable effect on the service or anyone involved."

JOSEPH F. FEILY — President, Civil Service Employees Assn.

"This sets a dangerous precedent for public employment throughout the country and, if enacted, would deal the Federal service a severe blow, not only in the pocketbook but to morale. The CSEA strongly protests any government economy that is at the expense of the public employee, particularly when the need for such economy has not been demonstrated."

Feily said that "perhaps President Johnson is not aware of the fact that personnel leave public employment as much because of the lack of promotion opportunities as of inadequate salaries. Promotion opportunities on any level of government are limited enough now, and to freeze the few there are, is to invite a further exodus from government service by capable, dedicated and needed employees."

This order of the President's is sure to stir fear in the hearts of all civil servants because many local governments may feel that if Washington can get away with sav-

Four Presidents Named Franklin National Divides Operation Into 4 Divisions

In a move to setup an operating system similar to American business and industry, The Franklin National Bank has announced that, effective May 1, the bank will have four separate divisions, the Metropolitan; National-International, Nassau and the Suffolk divisions. Arthur T. Roth, chief executive officer, made the announcement.

Four Franklin National senior officers have been named to head the new divisions. They are: Patrick J. Clifford, president, Metropolitan Division; Roger D. Elton, president, National-International Division; William B. Lewis, president, Nassau Division; and Harold V. Gleason, president, Suffolk Division. These same officers will also act as chairmen of the boards and officers' committees of their respective divisions.

Paul E. Prosswimmer, president of the bank and chief executive officer Roth, will continue to be chairman of the loan and discount committee. George H. Becht, administrative vice president and cashier will supervise corporate matters.

Franklin National, with 36 branches in the Nassau Division and 14 in the Suffolk division, will open its first New York City branches in May, two in Manhattan and one in Brooklyn, with a total of five planned for the city before the end of the year. Bank spokesmen have anticipated that 25 branches would be opened in

New York City within five years.

In announcing this banking innovation, which in effect, creates four distinct regional divisions, Mr. Roth stressed the necessity for these organizational changes in the light of the bank's expansion into the city and the need to continue Franklin National's long established policy to decentralize responsibility.

Under the new division organization, Mr. Roth noted, bank officials will be able to serve the local business community, gauge economic climates and activity, while serving the region with greater authority and understanding.

an unusual asset when it was still assumed that President Kennedy would be running for re-election.

Why Things Have Changed

Here are the reasons why the thinking about Hogan in these areas has changed:

1. He would be happy to seek the nomination if President Lyndon B. Johnson asked him to do so.

2. A public handshake with Wagner would not only be helpful to both of them but to Johnson as well, who needs all the party harmony he can get in order to win in New York State, a far from secure vote in his favor.

3. While Keating's reputation is higher now than it was in 1958, so is Hogan's and Hogan would have the advantage this time of being on the same ticket as the President of the United States. Furthermore, Hogan's performance in the 1958 race was essentially a good one. Averill Harriman, who was seeking re-election as Governor then, received 2,553,895 votes; Hogan, 2,681,206.

4. President Kennedy didn't need another Irish Catholic on the ticket, but it could be very helpful to Johnson, a Southern Protestant.

The Liquor Scandals

But perhaps the most important aspect of Hogan as a candidate is the fact that he happens to be the source of Governor Rockefeller's biggest political headache—the investigation into the State Liquor Authority, the subsequent scandals and the uproar in the Legislature over proposed reforms.

At present, two Rockefeller appointees are under criminal clouds because of the liquor scandals. Court of Claims Judge Melvin Osterman, has already pleaded guilty, and Martin Epstein, former head of the SLA is under indictment. In addition, several important GOP functionaries, including Judson Morehouse, former GOP State Committee chairman, have slipped into the shadows because of the investigation. And there is more to come.

Although malfeasance on the part of his appointees is not necessarily Rockefeller's fault, Hogan's revelations in this area are a "natural" in terms of campaign material. Add to this the fact that Hogan's reputation while serving as District Attorney has been so strong that, even though he ran a fighting senate race against a Republican and lost, he still got the endorsement of all three political parties when he later sought re-election. In addition, there has been no public involvement on Hogan's part in the "fussing and feuding" going on in the Democratic ranks, with the resulting impression being that he is too busy serving the people to engage in political in-fighting. This is something that is sure to appeal to a good number of Democrats—and other—voters. All in all, it adds up to Hogan being candidate material for the Senate race.

Other Material

Note: Fortunately for the Democrats, the State has a wealth of material to fill this post—and they will need it against the popular, powerful and articulate Keating. This list would include U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, Supreme Court Justice Victor Anfuso, Paul Screvane, the capable City Council President; diplomat Ralph Bunche, former Governor Averill Harriman, Councilman-at-Large Paul O'Dwyer, Suffolk Congressman Otis Pike, former Ambassador Anthony Akers, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Under Secretary of Commerce, who possesses a still-magic name; U.S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau, who ran up a surprisingly large vote when he ran for governor; scrappy vote getter Congressman Sam Stratton and Queens District Attorney Frank O'Conner.

P.S. And what about these famed New York lawyers — Louis Nizer, former Federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind and the President's close personal friend, Edwin L. Weisl, a top member of the New York Bar and a member of Mayor Wagner's Ethics Committee.

In Erie County

Remove Pay Inequities In Promotion, CSEA Asks

ALBANY, April 20—Elimination of "inequities" in promotional salary increases to employees of Erie County has been called for by the Civil Service Employees Association on behalf of more than 350 members in the Welfare Unit of the Erie Chapter.

The recommendation was made by Joseph F. Feily, President of CSEA, to Donald M. Neff, Personnel Officer of Erie County. Feily said the Employee's Association has been receiving complaints from members of the Welfare Unit concerning the granting of increments to employees upon promotions. He said, "We concur with our members that the present procedure can and does create serious inequities."

Costly Promotion

Feily pointed out that under the present procedure it is possible for an employee who is being promoted to actually receive less salary during the ensuing year (after promotion) than he would have received had he not accepted the promotion and remained in the lower grade position thereby receiving his annual increment in the lower grade. Feily also cited instances, involving a one grade jump in salary, where it is possible for two employees to receive the same annual salary upon promotion despite the fact that one of them had a year's more service in the lower grade than did the other employee.

Feily said, "We believe that the existence of these situations represents inequities to the employees of Erie County which can be eliminated if the county is willing to amend its procedure for granting increments upon promotion."

Three Recommendations

In his request to the county, Feily listed three separate recommendations aimed at eliminating the problem. However, he suggested that "primary consideration" be given to a recommendation whereby an employee appointed or promoted to a position in a higher salary grade shall receive an increase which is equivalent to the full increment payable in the position or the minimum salary of the position, whichever is higher.

At a meeting with CSEA representatives last month, county officials said they objected to between-step rates because of the additional administrative workload that would be entailed. Concerning this Feily said, "We do not feel that it is in the best interest of either the employees or the administration of Erie County to maintain a procedure for granting increments upon promotion which contains what we consider to be serious inequities for this reason alone."

Track Employment Limit Increased To $9,000

ALBANY, April 20 — Governor Rockefeller last week signed legislation, supported by the Civil Service Employees Assn., that permits government employees who earn up to $9,000 per year to work part time at pari-mutuel race tracks.

Previously, a government employee who earned more than $7,500 annually was prohibited from such employment.

The Employees Assn., this year and in previous years, sponsored legislation aimed at lifting the salary ceiling.

Veterans Exempted

Veterans who own property in the State of New York which was purchased with Federal funds of any sort have no obligation to pay New York real estate taxes.

CSEA Research Preparing Survey For Westchester

WHITE PLAINS, April 20—The research department, Civil Service Employees Association, at the request of the Westchester County Civil Service Employees Association, has undertaken the task of preparing a salary survey for Westchester County employees.

Thomas Coyle, research analyst, CSEA, met recently with the officers, directors and the salary study committee, Westchester County CSEA, to discuss the project.

Westchester County granted no salary increases for 1964 even though the Community Trend Line Survey, compiled annually by the Westchester County personnel department, had indicated that the employees were, in groups lower than group 20, underpaid by average of 2.3 percent to those with which they were compared. Their recommendation of raises varying from $120 to $400 for different job groups had been denied in the 1964 budget.

The Westchester County salary committee, to date, has found a great many positions in the County service which are grossly underpaid. The County's Community Trend Line Survey does not take into consideration the fringe benefits, such as longevity, free and sufficient parking for employees, fully paid pensions, fully paid health insurance plans, etc., which are provided by many employers, nor do they take into consideration the high cost of living and high taxes that the employees must pay in this, the second wealthiest county in the country.

The Westchester County CSEA is hoping for a substantial increase for 1965 in order to bring the pay plan of the County on a par with private industries and other counties in the Metropolitan area. This survey will be the base on which such requests will be made.

Harlem Valley Aides Receive Retirement & 25-Year Awards

WINGDALE, April 20—The Harlem Valley State Hospital here held its annual reception in Smith Hall recently for employees who had retired or attained 25 years of service by March 1. Approximately 150 guests attended.

Dr. Lawrence P. Roberts, director of the Hospital and master of ceremonies, gave a brief address. A buffet dinner followed after which Dr. Roberts introduced the members of the Hospital's Board of Visitors, and the representatives of the Civil Service Employees Assn.

Retirement certificates were presented by James N. Duffy, secretary of the Board of Visitors and Mrs. Thomas Boyce, who has served as a member of the Board for 25 years.

Judge Reuben Sirlin and Mrs. Edward P. Prezzano, president of the Board, awarded the 25-year pins. Participating members of the CSEA were given gifts by Arthur Coe, president of the Hospital CSEA Chapter.

Dr. Roberts expressed his appreciation to the guests for their many years of service to the mentally ill and thanked the employees who had contributed their time and talent to the reception.

Changes In Health Plan Are Explained

When will the change become effective?

The first day of the month following the month in which the request is received.

Which annuitants are eligible to reenroll?

Generally speaking—(1) Those who were enrolled in a participating plan at the time of retirement but lost their health benefits coverage only because they had not enrolled at their first opportunity, and (2) those who are receiving compensation from the Bureau of Employees' Compensation and who were enrolled in a participating plan at the time they were placed on compensation but lost their health benefits coverage because (a) they had not enrolled at their first opportunity or (b) the injury for which they are receiving compensation occurred before July 1, 1960.

What information must an eligible annuitant supply in his request for reenrollment?

Full name, address, retirement claim number, date of birth, and the name of the plan in which he was enrolled at the time of retirement. He should also include his enrollment identification number, if available. (A survivor-annuitant should also give the name and date of birth of the former annuitant on whose service the survivor annuity is based.)

What is the deadline for reenrollment?

The request must be received by the Civil Service Commission (or the other Federal agency administering the system under which the annuitant is retired) by December 31, 1964.

When will the health benefits coverage become effective?

The first day of the month following the month in which the request for reenrollment is received unless the annuitant specifies the first day of a later month.

When will the cost of the health benefits coverage begin to be withheld from the annuity check?

In the annuity check paid on the first day of the month following the one in which coverage became effective. For example, if an annuitant's request is received by the Civil Service Commission in April, his coverage would be effective May 1, and the withholding would start with his June 1 check, which pays annuity for May.

New Pay Raise Bill Submitted to House By Rep. Morrison

Representative James N. Morrison (D-La), whose proposed bill for Federal pay raises was defeated last month in the House, will try again with a new bill now pending before the House Civil Service Committee.

The new Morrison bill provides the same pay raises for Federal classified and postal employees as the former bill.

However, several new provisions have been added to make it easier for members of Congress to vote for a pay raise bill that ups their own salaries.

All proposed Congressional raises have been given a $2,500 cut and will be deferred to 1965. A similar cut is proposed for government executives; these and Federal classified raises would take effect on July 1.

The raises of Federal classified and postal employees in top grades would be limited, under the new bill, to $22,000 a year until Jan. 1 (when the raise would be increased) to prevent their making more than members of Congress until the pay raise is in full effect. Rep. Morrison said he felt chances are still good for Congressional approval of government pay raises this year.

IRS Still Refuses To Accept NAIRE

The Internal Revenue Service does not dispute the contention of the National Association of Internal Revenue Employees that it represents the majority of IRS employees. Yet, the IRS continues to refuse national recognition of NAIRE as a bargaining agent nationally.

NAIRE has already received exclusive recognition on the local level, and although IRS has offered to extend this to district and regional levels, it maintains the right to deal with other government employee unions as well.

NAIRE has rejected this proposal and will push the issue into advisory arbitration soon.

B'klyn P.O. Sets Up Speakers' Bureau

Brooklyn Postmaster Edward J. Quiley has established a speakers' bureau to advise minority groups of the many opportunities offered in government service. High schools, churches, youth programs, and other groups are encouraged to avail themselves of the information to permit eligible youth to learn more about civil service, its careers and benefits.

Interested persons should contact Postmaster Quigley, General Post Office, Brooklyn.

Officer Given Merit Award

Lt. Col. John F. McMahon was awarded the Army Commendation Medal recently upon his retirement from the Army after more than 22 years of service. He was cited for meritorious service in the First Army (Operations and Training) as chief of civil affairs from August, 1961 to March, 1964.

Col. McMahon is now chief of the emergency dispersal program at the New York City office of Civil Defense.

"Space Age" P.O. Plans Begun

Bidding has begun on the $35 million Franklin D. Roosevelt Station to be built in New York City and leased to the post office department, according to John A. Gronouski, Postmaster General, Brooklyn.

First of its kind in the nation, it is said to be a "space age" skyscraper to be located on Manhattan's east side, between 54th and 55th Streets on Third Avenue. But whether or not the original design of architect Max O. Urbahn will be followed depends on the outcome of the bidding.

Caribbean Tour Now Only $499

Because of operational economies effected by Knickerbocker Travel Service, the price of the 15-day island hopping tour of the Caribbean for members of the Civil Service Employees Assn. and their friends has been reduced from $549 to $499.

The $50 reduction in no way reduces the quality of the program. The hotels, plane service and itinerary are exactly the same, a spokesman for Knickerbocker said. The $499 price includes air fare, hotels, most meals, cocktail parties, and golfing fees.

Tour participants will depart from New York on July 19 and head first for Puerto Rico and will stay in the famous Condado Beach Hotel. From there, the group heads for Antigua, one of the most beautiful islands in the Caribbean.

Next stop will be the island of Barbados, where a miniature English community mingles with sugar cane fields, donkey carts and semi-tropical beaches and vegetation.

Last major port will be Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, the home of calypso, carnival and culture in the Caribbean. Optional one-day trips to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands and the popular island of Tabago are available.

Brochures and reservations may be had in upstate New York by writing to Claude E. Rowell, 64 Langslow Street, Rochester, 20, New York. In the Metropolitan New York area, write or call Sylvia Kraunz, Knickerbocker Travel Service, Time & Life Bldg., New York 20, N.Y., or call Plaza 7-5400.

LBJ Action Needed On Promotion Order

A New York Times report that a slowdown in promotion of Federal employees had been ordered by the powers of Washington, has created havoc seldom seen in The Leader office.

The report stated that President Johnson had ordered the Budget Bureau to effect a slowdown, but apparently this is not the case.

It appears that the Budget Bureau issued orders to all agencies within the government to investigate their individual practices of promotion.

The reason behind this was, it was apparent agency people were hiring personnel at a higher rating than a job offered. Behind this maneuvering was the strong desire on the part of agency heads to compete with private industry for the top men.

What really matters, however, is not so much who ordered the promotion slowdown, but that it was ordered at all. The anger and confusion among civil servants and political figures concerned with their well-being, are too strong to be ignored.

It is hard to believe that President Johnson would issue such an order, when he is currently fighting forcefully to get Federal employees a salary increase.

We are sure the president has deep concern for the Federal employee, and it would appear rather silly for him to issue a promotion slowdown, which could only hurt his chances of getting a paybill through the House and Senate. The air could be freshened if the President rescinded the order, wherever it came from.

Questions Answered On Social Security

Below are questions on Social Security problems sent in by our readers and answered by a legal expert in the field. Anyone with a question on Social Security should write it out and send it to the Social Security Editor, Civil Service Leader, 97 Duane St., New York 7, N.Y.

"I employ a maid two days a week and pay her $8 a day. I requested her social security number, but she says she will quit work if I report her wages for social security. She is a good worker, and I do not want to lose her services? What should I do?"

Explain to her the Federal law requires you to pay the tax on her earnings and that you must have her social security number. Also, it might be helpful if you asked your local social security office for a copy of booklet 24 for your household worker. It explains how it is to her advantage to have her wages reported. If she again refuses, you should get in touch with your Internal Revenue office.

"I am moving next month. What can I do to make sure I get my social security check on time?"

Report your new address to the Social Security Administration as far ahead of your move as you can. If the notice is received by the middle of the month, there will be time to change the address on your next check. You should also notify your post office.

"How can I make sure all my earnings have been credited to my account?"

Check your W-2 forms and pay stubs. Keep good records and check your social security account once every three years. There is a post card form that you can use just for this purpose. It's called Form 7004 and can be obtained at any Social Security office. All you do is fill it out and mail it in. In a few weeks you get a record of the earnings reported to your social security account.

"I work occasionally as a babysitter for a number of families in my neighborhood. How can I get credit for this work on my social security account? None of my employers report my earnings."

Each employer who pays you $50 or more in cash in a calendar quarter is required to report your earnings. Show your social security card to your employers and keep a record of the cash wages paid to you. Ask the social security office for Booklet No. 24 which explains about social se-

Letters To The Editor

Charges New York Underpays $2,000

Editor, The Leader:

If you are an unemployment insurance claims examiner handling interstate, combined wage, U.C.X., U.C.F.E. or M.D.T.A. claims in New York, Mississippi or North Carolina, the operation will be the same, the forms will be the same, the hours will be the same but New York will pay $2,000 less in wages for your services. How much less New York would pay in purchasing power, even if the wages were identical, is somehow too vexing to fathom.

On the intrastate plane the picture is even more grotesque. But the view really hinges on where you sit. On the one side our Classification Director, for example, sees the job as a few healthy cuts under the nearest counterpart in N. Carolina and Mississippi. On the other hand the New York Appeal Board, in clarifying the province of the examiner over a particular claimant ruled, "We cannot subscribe to the view that the reasons which motivated the claimant's sale of stock are outside the scope of local office investigations relating to unemployment benefits."

The Appeals Board in effect holds that the examiner should be sufficiently informed to weigh the pecuniary and other losses from the disposition of a claimant's stock against the loss of any consequent employment. Inasmuch as the equitable administration of law must be based on all essential facts, a claimant's contentions, for example, that intricate dealings in the Common Market abroad were prone to affect his corporate holdings adversely, might have to be controverted by the examiner — all without the expertise of a N. Carolinian.

One could go on atream's length to discuss the various contingencies inherent in the decision cited here without ever mentioning the hundreds of others handed down by the Board and the Courts. But to what avail?

The point here is that if New York cannot afford craftsmanship in a particular field it should be honest enough to admit it rather than avoid its obligations by disparaging the craft itself. The ironic sidelight of it all is that New York would not even have to disburse its own funds if it decided to emulate the other states referred to herein.

curity for household workers. It also has a place for you to keep a record of your earnings.

"I am a female worker who was born in March 1903. From 1940 through 1953 I worked in different jobs. Recently I returned to work at wages lower than I earned in the past. How will my benefits be figured when I reach age 62?"

According to your date of birth, your benefit would normally be figured on the basis of your seven highest years earnings after 1950. Because of certain issues you raise, we recommend that you contact the local social security office to discuss your case.

Johnson To Open Fair

PRESIDENT JOHNSON opens the New York World's Fair tomorrow for a two-year run, climaxing more than three years of preparation including the most effective public relations effort in recent times.

It is only fitting and proper that the President of the United States should figuratively push the button that starts the Fair's wheels rolling for two six-month runs this year and next.

MORE THAN ANYTHING ELSE, the Fair is a rather startling picture of what the United States, as well as the rest of the world, is—and what it will be. There'll be fun and frolic at the Fair, too, but displays of human achievement will be dominant.

There are several excellent examples, not the least of which are the exhibits of General Motors, Ford, IBM, General Electric, RCA, A.T.&T., the Festival of Gas, Kodak, Electric Light and Power, etc.

AS ONE OF THE FEW journalists still in captivity who covered the 1939-40 Fair, we well remember the General Motors "Futurama," practically all of which became a reality in today's world.

NOW GM HAS come up with another big crystal ball. Don't be suprised if the new "Futurama" comes true before the year 2,000—space stations anchored in the stratosphere for planet travelers; undersea resort hotels; a jungle road-building machine five stories high and three football fields long, laying express highways where impenetrable vegetation grew just moments before; Antarctic computerized world weather stations for instant forecasting; and cities so new in design and concept as to be breath-taking.

WE CAN ONLY WARN government people that the Fair is a "must" on their agenda. It would be impossible to be good civil servants on any level without knowing what's in the crystal balls fashioned by some of the best scientific brains in the world.

JUST TO SHOW you how fast the world moves for civil servants: the GM "Futurama" also depicts a transportation center. This center and other similar installations located about a city, are linked to a landway control system which directs motorists to areas where parking is available. The control system regulates all vehicles entering, leaving or bypassing a city, thus reducing traffic congestion to a minimum.

IN NEW YORK CITY, that is precisely what Traffic Commissioner Barnes is trying to do—as soon as he gets the money released.

IN ALL, the Fair has 121 free exhibitor pavilions, 18 pavilions with admission fees, 16 concessions and services which also charge, 25 refreshment complexes, 111 restaurants and 200 separately located exhibitors and concessions. Fifty-nine foreign countries are represented.

TIP TO OUR READERS: the best things at the Fair, in our opinion, are free. The shows put on by the major industrial exhibitors are tops in the Fair, and they're all free. We're not downgrading the entertainment, for which admission is charged; we just think the industrial exhibits are more exciting, as well as painless education.

ANOTHER TIP: don't try to see the Fair in one day. This would be an impossible task, unless you went in and out of the exhibits on roller skates. The minimum time required is about three to five days.

IF ALL YOU have is one day, then make it June 1st—"Civil Service Day," sponsored by the "Leader." We'll be there, too.

"... THE FINEST TRADITIONS OF AMERICAN MEDICAL PRACTICE"

A Salute to H.I.P. From a Transit Authority Employee

Dear Doctor

I have been for some years a member of the Transit Authority section of your Medical Group. Up until last December I had no great need of its services, but it was then discovered that I suffered from a brain condition later proven to be a tumor. The tumor was removed successfully on December 24 and my health is now, I feel, excellent.

My reason for writing you, doctor, is to call to your attention the truly splendid efforts of the various doctors responsible for, in fact, the preservation of my life. First, among these is Dr....., my family physician who made the original diagnosis. His generosity, affability and competence should not go unacknowledged!

Secondly, I should like to cite your neurologist, Dr.

for the excellence of his interest, concern and personal skill. It was he who admitted me to the Medical Center and followed the case with meticulous and daily attention. Dr....., the surgeon is entitled to my highest recognition also.

Finally, my condition required the attention of Dr..... and I found him equipped with the same combination of professional competency, which one would expect, united to a personality and wisdom not in any way usual. The Medical Group has provided care and personnel for which it should be truly proud. You and your staff surely represent the finest tradition of American medical practice. My gratitude is extended to the doctors above and to you and your entire staff.

Gratefully yours,

/s/W..... M.....

The brain tumor operation described above was provided without charge to this H.I.P. subscriber by one of the comparatively few surgeons qualified to perform surgery of this type. And, of course, the services of the other specialists and the family doctor were also fully covered.

In cases requiring rare medical skills and techniques H.I.P. Medical Groups arrange for the services of physicians with recognized qualifications in these highly specialized fields.

The names of the physicians mentioned in the letter have been omitted for reasons of medical ethics.

He finds the work rewarding and interesting and takes great pleasure in noting improvement in his patients. Mr. Burhans is considered by both patients and employees to be a kind, soft spoken, thoughtful person who makes himself available to help whenever and however he can. He is considered by both patients and fellow workers to be a dedicated worker in behalf of the mentally ill. A veteran of World War II, he is a member of the American Legion of Pawling.

JOHN A. BURHANS

Steeves, Executive Director of the Dutchess County Society for Mental Health, will speak and show a film on "Mental Health."

Mr. Burhans was born in South Kent, Conn., in 1899. Upon entering the hospital staff in 1936, the hospital was fairly new and he has seen over the years the growth of the population of the hospital, both patient and employee. At this time he is deeply interested in the new medical-surgical building.

According to Mr. Burhans, when he first started working at the hospital his hours were from 6:30 in the morning to 6:30 at night for 25 days, then he had five days off. His salary was $54 a month with maintenance.

He says that when he first started to work he did not plan to stay too long but there was little other work available. However, he is now so interested in

Miss Civil Service Contest To Be Feature At N.Y. World's Fair

Civil Service Day, June 1, at the New York World's Fair, will feature a beauty contest and demonstrations of the work done by the civil service community. Employees of the City, the State, of the Federal government, and of local government units will take part in both pageants.

Visitors to the Fair will be shown during the day how their daily living is affected by civil servants. They will have a chance to meet the fireman, the policeman, the bus driver, the tax collector, the weatherman, the insurance supervisor, the councilman, assemblyman, senator and the commissioner. These are the people without whom no government could function.

Four winners of the beauty pageant will be presented at Civil Service Day—One each from the Federal, State, New York City and local governments.

Deadline for entries has been set at May 1 by Paul Kyer, Leader Editor and chairman of the pageant. The semi-finals and finals will be announced later.

If you are, or know a girl who is lovely to look at and employed as a civil service employee (either permanent or provisional) in New York State, send us her picture.

If she becomes Miss Civil Service she'll win one of four trips for two to Puerto Rico via Trans-Caribbean Airways and a week's stay at the Condado Beach Hotel in San Juan.

The preliminary judging will be made from photographs—the bigger the better—submitted by the candidates or their representatives. Photographs should be accompanied by the coupon printed on page 5.

The names of the judges will be announced in forthcoming editions of The Leader.

First Deputy Commissioner Ronald B. Peterson (right) presents the certificate at the Commerce Department Chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association's annual birthday party and dinner held at the Schine-Ten Eyck Hotel, Albany recently. The certificate was signed by every member of the department and placed inside a cut-away section of an Albany telephone directory, a reminder of Mr. McHugh's career as president of the New York Telephone Company before becoming Commerce Commissioner in 1959 by appointment of Governor Rockefeller.

CARDIAC BED DONATED —

HUMANITARIAN AWARDS —

Postmaster Edward J. Quigley, center, presents humanitarian awards to three Brooklyn postal employees for their efforts and alertness in aiding a fellow-employee who suffered a seizure while working in Van Brunt Station. Recipients of the award are, from left: Joseph McFadden, Benjamin Cortijo and Vincent Oesterle. Present also are Assistant Postmaster Martin Shapiro, Fred Forray, Dr. Daniel N. Rosenberg, medical director of the American Medic-Alarm Foundation, and Stephen M. Roberts.

IDEA CITED — Ronald Latta, an employee of the Division of Business Management and Personnel, New York State Education Department, is presented a merit award by Dr. Frank R. Kille, Associate Commissioner, Higher and Professional Education, while Dr. Neville L. Bennington, Assistant Commissioner, Professional Education, looks on. Latta designed a new admission card to be used with a fingerprinting procedure, which he suggested, to provide positive identification for persons taking professional examinations.

Report of Slowdowns

 ing money at public employees expense they can do the same.
 I sincerely hope this order is rescinded immediately."

JOHN J. DeLURY — President of the Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association of New York City: "I am dismayed at the news of President Johnson's decision to impose a temporary freeze on federal employee promotion and accompanying pay advances in this fiscal year.

"With the exception of the unemployment rate, the economy is in good shape and the predictions from Washington are that it will get even better within the next year. The freeze on Federal employee advancement in salary grading is an austerity move that we have come to associate with periods of serious depression. Federal employees cannot be asked, in effect, to subsidize the Federal government's budget outlays for alleviating poverty and increasing domestic employment opportunities, among other things.

"To the employees affected by the freeze, the recent Federal tax cut is meaningless. They will be paying it back to the government through a hold on their normal advances.

"This precedent in a period of fairly widespread prosperity, is a dangerous one. If it were followed by business or by state or local governments, the general advancements of the economy would be brought to a halt. We hope the President will reconsider and reverse this decision."

GERALD J. RYAN — President of the Uniformed Firemen's Association and only civil service representative on the executive board of the New York City Central Trades and Labor Council which represents 1,000,000 workers.

"It is regrettable that the President has accepted the recommendation of his advisors by seeking to step up his program to lower government spending at the expense of Federal workers.

"The men and women who have chosen a career in public service are entitled to the protection of the civil service system which they entered in good faith and upon which they are trying to build their futures. It is unfair and unjustified to these dedicated Americans and their families to suddenly deprive them of their right to additional rewards based on service and merit.

"Such tactics violate the hard-won rights of labor. In private industry this kind of move by management would not be tolerated. In government, it is unconscionable.

"It is to be hoped that, in the interest of fairness and the welfare of the millions of American workers affected, the President will reconsider his order and rescind it at once."

JOHN CASSESE — President of the 25,000 member Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.
 "The Civil Service worker has been the victim of an austerity program for years. The wages and benefits of private industry have run far ahead of those granted to the civil service worker. Only recently has he begun to receive benefits that narrow the gap between him and his counterpart in private industry, but salaries are still not comparable. This is hardly the time to ask the civil service employee to forego advancement or wage increases. There has been a continuing shortage of competent personnel and this austerity program will merely aggravate the situation, and civil service will lose people to private industry where the opportunity for advances is still greater."

HERBERT S. BAUCH — President of Terminal Employees Local 832, one of the largest organizations representing New York City white collar employees.

"I am appalled at the suggestion that our Federal counterparts may take a step backward in the fight to bring civil service salaries to the level of private industry. This, too, at a time when all recognized experts are advising the public employer that salaries must be increased to maintain the traditional high calibre of service in government.

"Terminal Employees Local 832 is dispatching a telegram to the President advising him of our thoughts in this matter and requesting his reconsideration in this grave matter. Should this line of thinking continue, all civil service could be affected."

CSEA Asks State U. Hearing

(Continued from Page 1) fee, "adequate notice should be given so that interested groups may be heard on such proposed changes."

Feily pointed out that the CSEA has had "this privilege relative to actions by the State Civil Service Commission in jurisdictionally classifying positions and we feel that this type of procedure is in the best interests of the public, generally."

Before, Not After

Feily said the Association had discussed the request at a recent meeting with representatives of the Governor, the Division of Budget, the State University and the Civil Service Department.

He said that while no definite comments had been made at the meeting, a general feeling was expressed that CSEA should have no difficulty in keeping informed or jurisdictional classification actions on the part of the University president.

Feily added that "there is not much sense in being heard on such matters after the act is completed and, thus, we would want to be heard prior to final action by the State University president."
