STUDENT TAX MUST BE PAID NEXT WEEK

$9,400 Collected by Wednesday; Freshmen Class Leading in Payment

EXPECT ONLY FEW DELAYS

Officers Not Paying Will Be Automatically Removed, Board Rules

Student tax must be paid by November 15. Such is the announcement of the student finance board, which conducted another regular meeting again this week. Next Tuesday it will meet again, and by a week from Monday the time for payment of tax will have expired.

After that time, methods of enforcing tax collection will be used. That of refusing delinquents admission at entertainments will be among those put into effect immediately, the board announced. Few cases of delay in tax payment are looked for.

The finance board is preparing a list of all students who participate in student activities. This will aid it in automatically removing any who have not paid the tax by November 15 from these activities. Extremely few cases will require this action, it is believed, as the tax collection is progressing rapidly.

Each association benefiting from the budget should have a definitely established door committee, the board believes, whose duty it should be to see that no one enters free without a ticket. The eleven members of the student council and the membership of finance board will check the work of these door committees.

Gilbert E. Ganong, '28, a member of the board, announced in assembly Friday that no students without tickets could gain free admittance at the entertainments, beginning with the Music association concert last night.

Nine thousand four hundred dollars of student tax has been paid up to Wednesday noon, an increase of $1,600 in a week. Freshman class will soon reach the perfect mark, as 87 per cent of the entire class have paid making a total of 329 payments or $3,619. Sophomore class is second in lead, having attained an average of 76 per cent, total amounting to $1,892 from 172 students. Seventy-five per cent of the senior class has already paid, totalling $2,112 from 192 students. Juniors are last, 71 per cent of the class having paid, or $1,760 from 160 students.

MOVING-UP DAY TO BE THIRD FRIDAY IN MAY

Moving-up Day will be the third Friday in May. This was the decision made at a recent meeting of Myskania. It will bring the "big day of the year" in about the middle of the month.

Twice As Much News Printed By College News; Advertising Volume Triples As Circulation Soars

An increase of eighteen per cent in circulation coupled with doubling of its volume of news and tripling of its volume of advertising is the record of the STATE COLLEGE NEWS thus far this year. The figures given are those for the issues of this year to and including that of October 29, 1926, as compared with those of last year to and including October 30, 1925.

A year ago 1,100 copies were printed weekly of the News. Now 1,300 copies are printed weekly.

This is an increase of eighteen per cent in circulation. From the beginning of the last college year to and including October 30, 1925, 870 column inches of news reading matter were printed. From the beginning of the present college year to and including October 29, 1926, 1,870 column inches of news reading matter were printed.

This is considerably more than twice as much news reading matter. Up to October 30 last year the News carried 186 column inches of advertising. Up to October 29 of this year it carried 530 column inches of advertising.

This is nearly three times as much advertising. Last year the student association voted the News $2,500 to help pay its expenses. This year it gave $2,900. This is an increased cost to the student body of sixteen per cent.

The figures therefore summarize as follows: eighteen per cent increase in circulation; 100 per cent increase in volume of news; 200 per cent increase in volume of advertising; sixteen per cent increase in cost to student body.

MAIER AND PATTISON PLAY BEFORE LARGE NUMBER LAST NIGHT

BULLETIN

The student finance board put "teeth" in its new tax enforcement rulings last night when students without tax tickets were refused free admittance at the concert at Chancellor's hall. Warned by the finance board's announcement that the rules were to be enforced few tried to "crash the gate." Those who did, found their attempts had been anticipated.

Several hundred College students and a large number of Albanians heard Guy Maier and Lee Pattison, widely known pianists, play last night at Chancellor's Hall.

Willard Retallick

The program was under auspices of the Music association, of which Willard Retallick, '27, is president. T. Frederick H. Caudlyn, college musical director, arranged the concert.

The musicians presented an unusually varied program that found favor with the audience. Debussy, Chabrier, and Raff were played. Saint-Saens' "Scherzo, 87," and the selections from his "The Carnival of the Animals," were much applauded.

The club has the approval of both Dr. Adna W. Risley and Mr. Clarence Hildley of the history department.

MAKE ONE LOAN FROM FUND FOR STUDENT AID

"Only one loan has been made this year from the student loan fund which the finance committee manages," Clarence J. Deyo, secretary-treasurer of the College announced yesterday. Last year no loans were made.

The other student loan funds managed by the alumni association are all being used, according to Miss Anna E. Pierce, dean of women.

FRATERNITY INITIATES FROSH NEXT SEMESTER

A policy of deferring the initiation of freshman pledges until the second semester has been adopted for this year by Gamma chapter of Kappa Delta Rho fraternity, its officers have made public. Freshmen will be pledged as hitherto during the first semester. They will not be initiated, however, until the second semester.

One of the chief reasons for this change, fraternity officers said, is a desire to encourage scholarship among freshman pledges.

News And Myskania Guardians of Freshman Class Correct False Report of Illegal Voting At '30 Election

TO MEMBERS OF THE STUDENT BODY:

In view of the fact that much misunderstanding was caused by the article and editorial regarding freshman class elections in last week's News, we as a part of Myskania, which has charge of all class elections, desire to clarify and correct any vague or false impressions. The voting was legal except for the office of vice-president in which case names of all original candidates appeared for re-election. In all other offices except boy's athletic manager revote was necessary because no one received a majority.

(Signed) GUARDIANS OF THE FRESHMAN CLASS

TO THE STUDENT BODY:

The publication in last week's News of an incorrect news article with editorial comment regarding the freshman elections was not caused by carelessness or haste. It was due rather to a regrettable series of happenings. The News, when it first received the report that all the freshman elections were illegal, commenced an investigation to determine the truth of the report. From what it regarded as unquestionable authority, it obtained confirmation of the story. It has developed since that the News' authority had been misinformed. After receiving the information the News discussed in some detail the advisability of publishing it. Believing that story was true, the News decided that its duty to the student body was to publish it. Especially was this believed to be the case, since, had the story been correct, the entire freshman class would necessarily have been informed and the entire College would in a few hours be filled with conflicting rumors. It was also decided that editorial comment was advisable. After the News had thus gained what it believed verification of the story and after it had thus decided upon the advisability of publishing the material, the article was written by a reporter. Then it was examined and rewritten by an editor. After this it went through the usual editing of all copy. It was carefully copy-read. Later, after it was in type and before it was published, it was re-read and proof-read. As a final precaution, the News last Thursday afternoon, before page one went to press, showed the story, with its headlines, to another person qualified to pass authoritatively on its accuracy. Through a misunderstanding it also passed this examination without challenge. It appeared in last Friday's paper.

AN APOLOGY TO '30

The News regrets deeply the unfortunate publication last week of an untrue story and editorial regarding the freshman election. This newspaper sincerely apologizes to the freshman class and to the others concerned for its part in the mistake. It is happy that it was wrong and that the election was, with one minor exception, entirely an honest one. The News, as is told on page one today, published the story in good faith, believing that it had the correct facts and that their publication was its duty.

THE IGNORANCE OF THE EDUCATED

The ignorance of the educated has become a by-word. The lack of sufficient intelligent interest by the potentially intelligent in public questions has been an open point for attack on modern education. The failure of the colleges to produce students who can think straightly on affairs away from the campus has been pointed out again and again.

Now comes at College an opportunity for the student body to get at least a start toward remedying some of these defects. Open student forums are to be begun for the discussion of questions important to College students and to men and women generally. The College Y. W. C. A. has furnished the organization for the forums, but the entire College is invited to share the benefits. There are those who think that it is impossible to move the American undergraduate mind to a consideration of much that does not effect it immediately and materially. Student editors in many Colleges are saying this in their editorials, either openly or between the lines. They have been hinting at it for years. But they are painting only the dark side of the picture. The fault is as often with those who try to stimulate student interest as it is with the students themselves. Of course students are interested in what interests men and women generally. Of course they have in addition certain interests peculiar to themselves. Of course, also, they want to know what others think about what interests them.

That is why a student forum can succeed if it is given a chance. Give State College's student forum a chance. Attend its meetings.

LOYALTY — PLUS BUSINESS METHODS

An example in loyalty is offered by the senior class which has announced that in addition to its gift to the College of a portrait of Dean Anna E. Pierce, it will give a large window for the auditorium. The portrait of Dean Pierce alone would have been a gift worthy of any class. The addition of a stained glass window is equally commendable. Besides both of these remembrances, the class hopes to be able to leave a small sum for the Alumni Residence hall fund. But despite levying a large sum on each of many persons and collecting from a few of them, but of laying an equal and moderate burden on many and collecting from all.

Business judgment is altogether too rare in the administration of student organization finances, with the notable exception of the conduct of the student budget, which, it is worthy of remark, has faculty guidance. It is open to question whether this argues an incapability of the undergraduate mind in financial affairs or merely indicates carelessness and slipshod methods. But whichever is true, the fact remains that other classes and other organizations can learn much from a study of the senior financial methods.

THE NEED OF A Y. M. C. A.

Few projects brought before the student body in recent years have had more to commend them than has that for the formation of a Young Men's Christian association. Here is a type of men's activity which the College has noticeably lacked. Men may belong to Menorah, Newman, Canterbury and similar units whose purpose is strictly religious and largely denominational. They cannot of course join the Y. W. C. A. The Y. M. C. A., however, has a purpose and a work that is as much social as it is religious. It is not a denominational organization. It is not controlled by any sect. Its purpose is three-fold, the development of spirit, mind and body.

There are enough men in College to warrant a Y. M. C. A. It would be a body in which all men students, regardless of church affiliation, might belong. It is needed here. Students alone should not be depended upon to get it started. The administration should cooperate. The men of the faculty should cooperate. Other religious groups should cooperate. The opportunity should not be lost.

WHO BOSSES AMERICAN COLLEGES? OTHER BOOKS WHICH YOU MAY LIKE

—BY E. V. K.

The American College and Its Rulers. By J. E. Kirkpatrick. $1.00. 309 pp. New York: New Republic.

It is Dr. Kirkpatrick's thesis that the human triangle of interests found in every college, namely, the people who pay the bills, the faculty and the students, has lacked equivalent form long enough. He would make of college government an "academic democracy." This term he defines as "that type of school, very rare as yet, in which first the patrons and supporters, second the teachers and officers of administration, and finally, the pupils or students are so related to each other that they share mutually in the conduct of all the major as well as the minor interests and activities of the school."

Considering the controversial nature of the material which he treats, the author has written with unusual restraint. Dr. Kirkpatrick has opinions and definite ones about what he calls present "academic practices" and "democratic stirrings" in the college world. But he is willing to concede other points of view. The book is recommended without reserve.

Elbert Hubbard of East Aurora. By Felix Shay. Illustrated. $3.50. 553 pp. New York: William H. Wise and Co.

Here is a book which can be judged by its cover, and its cover and every other detail of the book-maker's art which has gone into it are the most delightful which 1926 has brought. It is truly a book which would have charmed Fra Elbertus himself. Felix Shay who wrote it had his material from original sources, for few men knew Hubbard better. The book is almost as much a story of the Roycrofters of East Aurora as it is of Hubbard. The cartoons, colored borders, mottoes, etc., with which the publishers have been lavish, are products of their art. Henry Ford wrote a foreword.

Nimrod of the Sea. By William M. Davis. Illustrated. $3.50. 405 pp. Boston: Lauriat.

If you would know the epic of the America whaler you will read this book. "Nimrod of the Sea" is a new edition of what was once a favorite of sea-story lovers. Its appearance in a reprint with illustrations just as they were in the first edition gives a sidelight not only into the development of whaling but into that of book illustration. The story is written by a whaler captain and tells actual experiences of the palmiest days of the industry, when hundreds of vessels under the American flag searched the seas for oil. Adventure tales heap atop one another throughout. An historical resume of the growth and decline of the industry is given by John R. Spears.

Adventure's Best Stories—1926. Edited by Arthur S. Hoffman. 300 pp. New York: Doran.

Mr. Hoffman is much wrought up over what he believes is a popular misconception of "action" stories. This collection of eighteen short stories is his attempt to prove that such stories are not necessarily sensational and cheap, "fit only for crude or youthful minds." Regrettably he admits that this is generally true. But we feel inclined to agree that some of the samples he presents here go part of the way toward proving his point that sometimes the action story "becomes the means to the highest possible literary attainment."

SEVEN LETTER MEN BACK WITH VARSITY

Outlook For Successful Team
Best In Several Seasons, Says Coach

Men's basketball practice continued Tuesday at 4 o'clock, when 35 men reported for the initial practice. Coach Rutherford R. Baker said he is confident that with the material present he will turn out a winning team this season. "With seven of last year's regulars back, the outlook for the season is better than it has been for several years," he declared.

Among the letter men who have returned are Captain Clarence Nephew, '29, center on last year's team; Anthony Auczynski, '28, LaVerne Carr, '29, and Francis Griffin, '28, forwards; and Howard Coff, '28, Joseph Herney, '29, guards. Louis Klein, '29, guard on the freshman team last year, will play with the varsity.

Besides the members of last year's varsity team Coach Baker will have the freshman team of last season to pick on.

With the opening game more than a month away State should be represented by a well trained team for its initial contest, according to Captain Nephew.

The freshman basketball team held its first practice of the season last week. Fred Crumb, manager, announced that practice will be every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock and Fridays at 4 o'clock.

Seven games, five of which would be home games, are on the tentative schedule. Expenses of the team will be between two hundred and three hundred dollars, it is estimated.

Those who were present at the first practice were: George Taylor, Thomas Herney, James R. Garvin, Adolph Schell, Louis Wolner, Michael Tepedino, E. Thompson, Ward B. Cole, Isaac Kaplan, R. Fickelstein and R. Whinston.

CLUB PICTURES IN PED TO BE IN GROUP FORM

Club pictures in the Pedagogue this year will be group pictures, and not the officers alone, according to Ruth McNutt, '27, photograph editor.

"All photographs of seniors and faculty for the Pedagogue will be taken at Lorey's before November 15," she declared.

"Each senior will hand in an informal snapshot for the Ped," said Miss McNutt.

Pictures of the secret societies, student organizations and the dormitories will be taken after November 15.

The class and the club pictures will be taken at the College.

Four Girls Learn Home Management In Practice House; Expenses Are Budgeted, Shopping Is Done Personally

Four senior girls are learning house-keeping and home management at the home economics practice house at 151 Western avenue. They will live in the house for twelve days.

The expenses are budgeted and the shopping is done personally by the girls. Lessons receive practical application.

"We have a large fireplace, electric sewing machine, overstuffed furniture, and a fireless cooker," said Doris Sinton, '27, one of the girls living in the house.

"I believe," said Miss Fillingham, supervisor of the house, "that soon every College girl will receive some home economics training. The class in eutheics at Vassar is but a step toward it."

"Guests and visitors are welcome at the H. E. house," said Myra Rosch, '27.

COMMITTEE TO REPORT ON DESIGN FOR WINDOW

The senior window committee will confer with President A. R. Brubacher soon, and report on the design to be elected for the class' gift to the College.

Mary Galvin, Eudora Lampman, and Eda Sarr comprise the committee.

ALUMNI SUBSCRIPTION LIST DOUBLES IN YEAR

Twice as many alumni are on the subscription list of the News today as last year, according to Thelma Temple, '27, subscription manager. Next spring a campaign will be started to secure a one hundred per cent subscription list from the graduating class.

WILL UNVEIL DEAN PIERCE'S PORTRAIT

Seniors To Exhibit Class Gift
At Art Shop Before Presentation

By LOUISE D. GUNN

The portrait of Dean Anna E. Pierce will be completed by March, 1927, according to Mr. David Lithgow, the artist. This will make possible the unveiling on Moving-up Day. The portrait is the special gift of the present senior class to the College, and will be hung in the alumni residence hall when the dormitory is completed.

Before presentation the picture will be on exhibition for three weeks in the window of Annesley's art shop, at 504 Broadway.

The portrait shows Miss Pierce sitting in a chair, and leaning slightly forward. She wears a tan dress with lace insertions. A pink scarf and cameo pin add a delicate touch of color.

One can almost hear Miss Pierce say, "Well, what can I do for you?"

At Forty

"At Forty" the housewife in some sections of Europe wears a black bonnet to signify the end of her youth. A quaint custom—you say—but it usually signifies a fact. Heavy tasks, indoors and out, have made her old—at forty.

Of all the uses of electricity in America, the most important are those which release the woman from physical drudgery. Electricity carries water, washes clothes, cleans carpets, cooks the family's food—better and quicker than could be done by hand.

A trip to town or an hour's rest in the afternoon pays a woman dividends in good health "at forty years." And what is youth but that?

Men and women who have had the benefit of college training and college life have learned to place the proper value upon rest and recreation. They appreciate the relief afforded by electricity.

Upon great generators which send out current to light the homes and carry the burdens of millions, you will find the G-E monogram. Upon industrial motors, on electric railway trains—wherever quality and un-failing performance are first essentials—the G-E monogram will be found.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

COLLEGE MEN PLAN BRANCH OF Y. M. C. A.

Would Form Intercollegiate Council With State As Charter Member

Organization of a Y. M. C. A. for College men here may be started next week, according to Robert T. Ross, '29. "If enough young men respond," he said, "Doyle F. Parsons, student secretary of the state student committee of the Y. M. C. A. will speak at a meeting to be held here next month."

"The Y. M. C. A. unites young men both socially and religiously," said Miss Anna E. Pierce, dean of women.

A. Reginald Dixon, '27, said, "The Y. M. C. A. should be represented here. It is the greatest organization in the world for providing men with clear, healthy minds and clean, healthy bodies. All men at State College should be interested enough to back this movement."

"I am in favor of a Y. M. C. A. at State. I think it would stimulate interest among the men especially if a house with a gymnasium were maintained. A house would also serve as a men's dormitory and help develop a closer fellowship among the men," Ralph J. Stanley, '28, declared.

"I think a 'Y' for the men at State would be a good plan," said William J. Clarke, '27, especially if the members could finance a regular house with a gymnasium with the aid of the national organization. A group bound together by friendliness and good fellowship is certain to be of value to all."

That the Y. M. C. A. is a worthy project to develop a spirit of brotherhood and that it could well be the nucleus of a men's dormitory is the opinion of Francis E. Griffin, '28.

The Y. M. C. A. organized at State would have its central office at College but would be connected with the Albany Y. M. C. A. It is the intention of the men in charge of this movement to form an intercollegiate council, according to Mr. Ross.

The pool is open on Friday afternoons from 3:00 to 5:00 free, and on Saturdays from 9:00 to 11:00, with a charge of ten cents.

past," Dr. Caroline Croasdale, instructor in hygiene and college physician, said. "This fund is maintained for their benefit by the students and I wish they would use it," she said.

"The two dollars which each one pays in his student tax entitles all to care amounting to $25 in any of the Albany hospitals, preferably the Albany hospital.

"If the bill is larger than $25 it must be met by the students themselves, except in cases of diphtheria and scarlet fever when a maximum of $75 is allowed because of the extra care and quarantine expenses. I also use this fund for X-ray and laboratory tests where these are needed.

"If it is only a bad cold, make use of the privileges offered by the fund since a few days' rest and special care will make the recovery so much more prompt and often prevent serious illness.

"The only requirement in using this fund is that each student must get a slip from me, stating the nature of the illness, to be presented at the hospital to get care," Dr. Croasdale said.

Queen Endora Offers No Solution To Blond Versus Brunette Problem

"Tis said a rose by any other name would smell as sweet. And so a little thing like the color of one's hair makes no difference where a perfectly genuine Queen is concerned. But State College's 1926 Campus Queen fooled everybody this year. Those who had anticipated a brunette queen found Endora Lampman, '27, not dark-haired. And those who had awaited a blonde-tressed queen found her hair far from light. Auburn hair was the answer, and the selection by the student body of an auburn haired queen, left the much-mooted supremacy of blondes versus brunettes still in doubt.

Endora Lampman

The new queen is a native of Catskill. Besides her regal duties she holds the presidency of the Intersorority council and of Kappa Delta sorority. She has been active in other student affairs.

DR. WOODWARD FAVORS INDEPENDENT THOUGHT

"Do your own thinking," urged Roland B. Woodward of Rochester, a regent of the University of the State of New York in both assemblies Friday.

"One thought of your own, well pursued, even though it is wrong, is better than the right thoughts of others," he declared.

Dr. Woodward asked the students to be above requirements. "A degree at best," he said, "is merely an expression of progress. It is only an incidental and not the goal."
