Many Concerts Set This Week

Findlay Cockrell, whose recent performance with the Albany Symphony Orchestra brought forth plaudits from area music critics, continues his afternoon concerts today and tomorrow at 4 in the Performing Arts Center Recital Hall. The pianist will play several works by Mozart.

The faculty concert for flute and piano, scheduled for tomorrow evening in the Main Theatre, has been postponed. Pianist Tamara Brooks has suffered a hand injury. Michael Sheehan, general manager of the PAC, reports that the concert will be rescheduled, probably for sometime in December.

Speculum Musicae, a new group of artists whose repertoire ranges from Stravinsky's "L'Histoire du Soldat" to newly-commissioned works, will perform Thursday at 8:30 in the Main Theatre. Tickets may be obtained at the PAC box office where telephone reservations will be accepted.

Free Music Store has a concert set for Friday at 8:30 p.m. at the PAC which also will be location for the Dance Council's program, "Dance to the Atom Heart Mother," that evening and Saturday at 7:30 and 9. There will be no admission charge.

"Gallows Humor," second of the current State University Theatre's series of six major productions, will run Nov. 15-18 in the Studio Theatre at 8:30 p.m. and Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. The PAC box office has ticket information.

Bookstore Advisory Committee Increases Faculty Participation

Lois Gregg has been elected chairman of the reconstituted and enlarged Bookstore Advisory Committee named by the Office of Academic Affairs. The new group reflects the need which had existed for more faculty representation.

Others on the committee are Justine Davidson, academic affairs; Norman Greenfeld, social and behavioral sciences;

S-U Opinions

Students voted by a total of 322-228 to keep the present system of S-U grading for freshmen and sophomores in an opinion poll conducted the week of Oct. 23. Should A-E grading be reinstated for all undergraduates, students favored (361-160) having the option of 30 credits graded S-U.

Faculty, who voted on the same questions but in a separate mail ballot, favored a return to A-E grading by a total of 419-86. They, too, favored a 30-credit S-U option within A-E grading, but by a narrower margin of 251-240.

Students also expressed their opinions on a number of other issues. Results indicate that they favor legalized abortion (512-74), birth planning facilities on campus (529-55), legislation of marijuana (416-167), stronger gun controls (510-74), and legalization of hitch-hiking (466-120). Presidential preference was 457 for McGovern, 99 for Nixon, and campus recreational facilities were judged inadequate by a vote of 354-218.

SPECULUM MUSICAE will perform "classic" works of the early 1900's Thursday night in the PAC Main Theatre under Music Council sponsorship.

Campus Chest Drive Begins To Raise Funds for 'Head Start'

Campus Chest Week begins today and will continue through Friday with a daily schedule of sales and special events to raise money for this year's charity, Year Round Head Start. Campus Chest, sponsored by Student Association's Special Events Board, is co-chaired by Lorraine Kuhn and Susan Pallas.

On sale all week in the Campus Center lobby will be Campus Chest posters and hand-painted paper weights made by Head Start students. Both items are $.25 each. The posters feature a saying by Lao Tze, "The journey of a thousand miles begins with one step." Purchasers of the posters also will receive free coffee during the week.

The Faculty Wives will provide homemade cookies, cakes, cupcakes, and brownies for a bake sale tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Campus Center. In addition, proceeds from the Campus Center pinball machines, operated by Faculty-Student Association, will be donated to the cause.

Vote-buying will be strongly encouraged in the Campus Chest Contest which will run all week. Any member of the university community can win, if he or she can get supporters to buy enough votes. Contributions will also be encouraged by an accordionist who will play during the lunch hour in the CC Cafeteria.

Year Round Head Start receives federal funds for teachers' salaries only. Campus Chest contributions will provide money for hot lunches, audio-visual materials, and basic school supplies and equipment.

FSA Credit Loss a Possibility

Pointing out that the corporation is in serious jeopardy of losing its credit, John Hartley, president of the Faculty-Student Association, advised the membership and board of directors at annual meetings last week that this is "a critical year for the corporation." He added, "We must break even by 1973."

On motion of Michael Lampert, an ad hoc committee was established to look at management's recommendations and at the long-range perspective for FSA in the next few years. On the committee are Mr. Hartley, Leila Moore, Donald Arnold, Bette Herzog, Randi Bader, and Pat Curran.

Directors for 1972-73 are President Benezet, Mr. Hartley, Neil Brown, Edith Cobane, Walter Balk, Ms. Herzog, Mr. Lampert, Joel Lustig, Eric Joss, and Carol Hughes. Alternates are Lewis Welch,

Grading Bill Before Senate

Undergraduate grading, promotions and continuing appointments, and the academic calendar are among the primary topics on the agenda for today's University Senate meeting at 3 p.m. in the Assembly Hall.

There is a motion before the Senate to untable last spring's "Bill 36," which would, in effect, return SUNYA undergraduates to A-E grading. In a recent poll (see story this page), students generally favored retaining the S-U system, while faculty voted to return to A-E.

In related action, the Undergraduate Academic Council, which submitted "Bill 36" last April, has voted against making any formal amendments to the bill.

The Council on Promotions and Continuing Appointments will submit a bill that would make several changes in the promotion and tenure procedure. The bill attempts to better represent the interests of the individual, his department, the students, and the university in general.

The Executive Committee will propose approval for academic calendars for 1973-74 and 1974-75. Both academic years would start the last Monday in August, complete the first semester before Christmas, and conclude with Commencement the last weekend in May.

2 Arrests Made

Joseph A. Graham, 22, and Luis Carrion, 20, both SUNYA students, were arrested on campus Oct. 26 for forgery. The pair is accused of having passed several forged checks at the FSA check cashing service in the Campus Center from July to September of this year. John Hennigan of the SUNYA Police was the arresting officer. The accused were arraigned in Albany Police Court and their case adjourned to a later date. Mr. Carrion was out on bail at mid-week, while Mr. Graham remained in Albany County Jail.

Henry Kirchner, Al Senia, and Fred Childs.

President Benezet, Mr. Hartley, Thomas Clingan, and John Hoagland continue as chairman, president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively. Ms. Moore was elected vice president.

RA Interest Meeting

A general interest meeting for students who wish to become resident assistants for 1973-74 will be held on Sunday at 7 p.m. in LC 7. The meeting is mandatory for all students now attending SUNYA who intend to apply for RA positions and who will be juniors, seniors, or graduate students next year. Anyone who cannot attend the meeting must contact Paul Doyle, 7-7569, at least two days before the meeting.

POISE Form Update

The 1973-74 publication listing faculty and non-teaching professionals, formerly part of the Undergraduate Bulletin, will be printed from a POISE print-out. Therefore, it is imperative all personnel make necessary corrections on their POISE forms this month. Of particular importance are highest degree earned and catalog title.

Council Guidelines Concern Teaching Faculty Workload

Last year the Conference of Deans requested guidelines for faculty workload from the Educational Policy Council. A subcommittee drafted guidelines, which underwent extensive revision by the EPC, were approved in principle by the council, and then passed on to the incoming council for final approval. After lengthy discussion the 1972-73 council has approved the following recommended guidelines on workload (these are guidelines and not intended for rigid application):

"The primary duties of faculty members are teaching, research, scholarly work, and academic counseling of students. In addition, faculty members are expected to serve on committees for service to the university community and profession.

"As a University Center, SUNYA acknowledges that research and scholarship form a vital part of its mission. Since it is not possible, however, to prescribe norms and quantitative standards for research and scholarship, the following guidelines address themselves to teaching only:

1. The normal teaching workload is nine credit hours of undergraduate or mixed graduate and undergraduate courses, or six credit hours of purely graduate courses, but these norms should be applied flexibly to equalize workloads within the department as much as possible. It cannot be assumed that a graduate course necessarily carries a heavier teaching workload per credit hour than an undergraduate course.

2. It cannot be assumed that every course carries equal weight. Such additional specific factors as the size of classes, the number of preparations, the availability of graduate assistants, teaching materials and aids, the faculty's sponsorship of theses and dissertations as well as the supervision of independent study, and necessary development and innovation in the course should be taken into account in determining teaching workload."

The Senate will be informed of these guidelines at its meeting today.

The task of developing guidelines was made difficult by the complexity of the contributing factors, such as the impossibility of equating credit hours, time involved for new preparations, seminars vs. lectures, size of classes, special facilities or materials needed, graduate or undergraduate levels, and requirements of the discipline.

A study done by the Office of Institutional Research last year revealed that the average work week for the biology faculty member is 56.15 hours; for sociology it is 55.27 hours; approximately half the time is spent in teaching or preparing to teach, with the remaining time spent in research and other duties. The results of this study are similar to those undertaken at other universities.

In approving the resolution, the Council on Educational Policy has provided guidelines to deans and department chairmen for determining workload and the various factors which should be considered; the resolution reaffirms the responsibilities of faculty and offers to each of them a statement of general expectations he or she may be asked to bear.

Council on Research Hears Report of Funds Available

Jerold Zuckerman, director of research, reported to the Council on Research that a fund for "venture capital" has been established under the management of the Office for Research. The monies will be used primarily to support activities aimed at bringing in grants to support new research projects on campus.

The administrative processing of grants was described to the council members. SUNYA currently has some 450 grants with a book value of approximately 15 million dollars. As a result of these awards, the university has available four types of institutional funds totaling approximately $125,000:

NSF Funds for Science,
NSF Cost of Education Funds,

recommend for the Parking Appeals Committee. They are Elmer Mathews, administration; Mark Zelinger, students; Kenneth Wolven, staff. The Appeals Committee will formulate its own methods and procedures of operation, to be approved by the council, and will report directly to the council.

Ways of resolving the communication problem among all members and groups in the university were discussed. One possible means to be explored is the distribution of the ASP to faculty. The council will meet with ASP representatives at its next meeting.

It was also decided that the council should investigate and recommend priorities for the construction and repair of parking lots.

ETHIOPIAN LEGISLATORS, in Albany on a visit to observe the State Legislature, are shown with James J. Heaphey, director, Comparative Development Center, and Andrew Miner, graduate student. Deputy Mewail Senator Fetur, and Deputies Abebe and Paulos, I. to r., gave a seminar presentation at the Graduate School for Public Affairs.

GAC Committee Assignments Deal with Minorities, Appeals

The Graduate Academic Council at its October meetings was concerned with reports from and assignments to the committees.

The request from the Senate for the GAC "to report what SUNYA's Affirmative Action Program should be in the area of recruitment of minority graduate students" was assigned to the Committee on Admissions and Academic Standing. Discussions preliminary to the report have begun.

The Committee on Educational Policy and Procedure was charged with the responsibility of developing a student appeal procedure and guidelines for curriculum revision in accordance with the new regulation which prohibits applying credit for upper division undergraduate courses to graduate programs. A new plan for the appeals procedure was presented to the council, but action was deferred until the plan is studied more fully.

The Committee for the Review of Graduate Programs recommended that master's degree programs be assessed concurrently with doctoral programs; if no doctorate is offered, the master's program alone will be reviewed.

Representatives of the Graduate Office and Student Affairs Office have met to discuss graduate student representation and organization. They reported that some graduate students are attempting to revise the Graduate Student Association into a more efficient and manageable organization, and, hopefully, they may shortly be able to assign graduate student representatives to university governance bodies.

Staff Changes

Several changes in administrative and faculty responsibilities have been effected on campus recently.

Hajimu Ogawa has been named chairman of the Department of Mathematics until Aug. 22, 1973. In the Department of Economics Pong Lee now is chairman for a similar term.

A search committee has been set up to find a successor to Kenneth Frasure as chairman of the Department of Educational Administration. Reuben Rusch, professor of educational psychology, is chairman of the committee.

In the Office of Graduate Studies and Research Frank Lucarelli has been named grants coordinator, succeeding Einard Haniuk who has become vice president for research at Western Michigan University. Mr. Lucarelli previously was business manager in the Office of Sponsored Funds.

Robert A. Stierer, assistant vice president for management and planning, has named John M. Elliott to succeed Mr. Lucarelli, with the approval of John W. Hartley, vice president for management and planning, after an open recruitment procedure. Mr. Elliott previously was administrative assistant in the Office of Sponsored Funds.

Correction

In the Oct. 23 issue of the Tower Tribune there was an incorrect report on action taken by the Student Affairs Council. The council approved the proposal to repeal (not continue as previously stated) the regulation prohibiting first semester freshmen from rushing and affiliating with campus fraternities and sororities. The editors apologize for the error.

Parking Regulations Occupy University Community Council

Parking regulations and appeals have been the main topics for the University Community Council. At the first meeting in September, John W. Hartley, vice president for management and planning, described in detail the need for new regulations and strict enforcement: safety, fire rules, and aesthetics. The arguments against the regulations were based mainly on (1) lack of sufficient consultation with all segments of the university community, (2) discrimination against commuting students, and (3) concern for the safety of resident students who return to the parking lots late at night. After considerable discussion, the council endorsed the new parking regulations as submitted by a vote of 5-1 with 3 abstentions.

The following month the council selected three persons whom it wishes to

Council Endorses SASU, Makes No Move To Join

Student participation in the governance of the State University through SASU, Inc., has been a highly controversial topic at recent Central Council meetings, but was finally resolved at the legislative body's Oct. 26 session. During that meeting, the council overturned a veto by Student Association President

Michael Lampert, and thereby endorsed SASU as the official systemwide representative for undergraduates.

The overriding of the veto marked the end of debate concerning SASU, the Student Association of the State University. Mr. Lampert and several councilmen had questioned the advisability of supporting an agency which proposes to protect the interests of students throughout the state system, yet presently counts only three university centers and eight colleges as dues-paying members. It was decided to endorse the organization's attempts to amplify the effect of student voices in university affairs, but SUNYA has made no move to become an active, dues-paying member itself.

The issue of dues is a chief factor in the council's hesitancy to join SASU. An annual fee in excess of $3,500 would be required if Albany were to obtain full membership. Many people feel that such an expense would be wasteful, especially since SASU's activities of monitoring the SUNY Central Office and lobbying for future student-oriented bills in the State Legislature could easily be duplicated by SUNYA SA representatives, due to their proximity to the Chancellor's Office and State Capitol.

Board Approves Counseling Center

The American Board on Counseling Services, Inc., has certified the continuation of approval and accreditation of the University Counseling Center's counseling services.

The board is the accreditation agency for the American Personnel and Guidance Association. Such accreditation, according to the board, of professionally approved counseling practices is for the information, guidance, and protection of the public-at-large as well as for seekers of such services in particular.

SUNYA's Counseling Center, located in BA 115, was commended by the board for maintaining "the high standards that qualify your accredited membership in the new International Association of Counseling Services."

Wallace Gift Buys 2 Books

Two books, purchased with the $1,000 bequeathed by Edith Wallace, former chairman of the Department of Classics, now are on display in the Red Carpet Lounge of the Library. Dr. Wallace had instructed that the money be used for the purchase of "rare and beautiful books in the humanities."

Since Dr. Wallace's thesis was on Virgil, it was thought appropriate to select Virgil as a theme around which to build a collection. Each of the new purchases are illustrated with woodcuts by Aristide Maillol.

"Eclogae et Georgica: Eclogae" in Latin and German is bound in red morocco. It contains 43 woodcuts published by Count Kessler in 1926.

"Les Georgiques" (1937-1943) has a text in Latin and French and was translated by Delille. It has 122 woodcuts and was brought out in 1950 in Paris by Philippe Gonin.

Several other editions of Virgil from the Rare Book Collection are also currently on view. Three were printed by the famed Elzevir press in the 17th century.

International Night

The International Students' Association will sponsor an International Night on Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center. Albany Mayor Erastus Corning will give the opening address, followed by an "International Variety Show." The program will include international dances, sitar playing, and international fashions. Refreshments will be served. Admission is $1.50.

Great Dane Sports

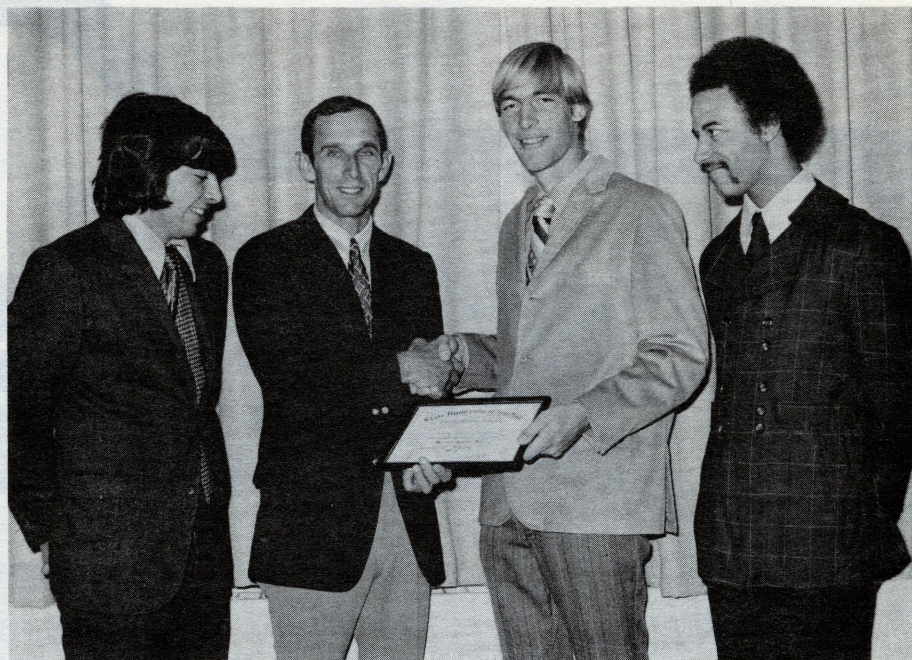

The football club closes its third season Saturday with a 1 p.m. game at Plattsburgh. The Great Danes figure to have their hands full with the Cardinals, who defeated Brockport, 15-0, two weeks before Albany's 13-13 tie with the Golden Eagles. Furthermore, Plattsburgh

Kolln, a chemistry major with a 3.81 grade point index, has won three varsity golf letters at Albany and two in basketball.
