SCI: high level conspiracy in Kraemer 'no show'

ALBANY — The State Commission of Investigation last week issued a scathing investigation report confirming accusations by CSEA that high state officials did conspire with a rival union to decertify CSEA as the representative of 46,000 state employees in the Professional, Scientific and Technical bargaining unit.

At an Albany press conference , SCI Chairman Adam Walinsky confirmed CSEA's position that high officials of the State Labor Department, including former Industrial Commissioner Louis Levine, protected PEF President John Kraemer's status as a "no-show" state employee over a ten-year period while Kraemer collected state paychecks and worked almost continuously to decertify CSEA as collective bargaining agent for PS&T.

"I am really pleased that this independent investigative agency has confirmed at last what we have been trying to tell the Public Employment Relations Board for the past year," CSEA President William L. McGowan said in commenting on the decision. "The State of New York, by the actions of officials of its Labor Department and the Governor's Office of Employee Relations, violated the neutrality requirements of the Taylor Law by its actions on behalf of a rival union. It is about time someone beside this union put that fact on the record."

McGowan said he has ordered union lawyers to carefully examine the SCI report to determine any possible legal action by CSEA as a result of the latest developments. CSEA had raised similar charges when CSEA appealed results of the April, 1978, PS&T bargaining unit representaion election. McGowan noted that the AFL-CIO has previously upheld CSEA's right to pursue appeals to that election results.

The 46-page report brands PEF President John Kraemer as a "no-show" employee who for ten years received regular state paychecks while not reporting for work and working to decertify CSEA. When mid-level Labor Department supervisors attempted to stop the paychecks and discipline Kraemer, the SCI said high Labor Department officials, including Louis Levine, personally intervened to protect Kraemer.
The SCI referred its findings to the Albany County District Attorney's Office for prosecutorial action and to the Office of the Attorney General who should collect the $125,000 Kraemer received while a "no-show", according to the SCI.

"The report of the Commission is an incredible record of lies, falsification of official documents and high level cover-up," President McGowan said. "I take some comfort in knowing that this matter may finally be resolved as the result of CSEA's efforts to bring the truth to light, but the real tragedy is that 46,000 state employees are now finally finding out the hard way what has happened to them. The real losers in this charade of a representation election are the employees in the PS&T unit."

The report severly criticizes the way in which DOL dealt with the "Kraemer problem" which the Commission characterized as, "a disgraceful record of mismanagement, supervisory failure and disciplinary paralysis. It is a record of DOL officials, Mr. Kraemer's supervisors, who were caught up in a web of false statements, apparent violations of law, humiliating frustration and lies."

CSEA statewide president

Kenneth Cadieux

In the first year of the current leadership on the CSEA we lost the PS&T election to a union that, at the time, existed only on paper.

The second year we lost our Thruway members to the Teamsters.

Our union has lost 50,000 members and millions of dollars in dues money.

The message seems loud and clear to me — that CSEA members want a change that makes the union stable and effective; they want contracts that the rank and file approve overwhelmingly (not just barely). No benefits should be given up for any reason — like Longevity, Increments, Health Benefits, Leave time, etc.

I base my candidacy for President of CSEA on a successful record as a negotiator, long working member of the Board of CSEA and as a qualified leader who has support from Buffalo to Long Island.

Isn't it nice your retroactive checks will be out the same time as the Ballots! Nice timing! Wait until you see the next check!

Deals are being made. The Governor has the word out to help my opponent. Why!

I say two years of the downhill Administration is enough!

William L. McGowan

The most important issues facing us in the next year are wages, inflation and safety. Public employee wages have not kept pace with inflation because the government has seen fit to make public employees the scapegoat for their own inadequacy. I am immediately calling upon President Carter to institute mandatory price controls so that the working man can survive in this country.

On the issue of safety, I am outraged that the New York State legislature has recessed without taking up the issue of an Occupational Safety and Health Act for public employees. I have written the Governor and the legislative leaders asking that this issue be placed on the calendar for the September session either by mutual consent or by call of the Governor at a special session.

Since I became president of CSEA, this union has moved into the labor movement in a manner which has gained us long overdue recognition of our size and potential power, and has established CSEA as a political force to be reckoned with.

I have been active in the labor movement in this country for nearly 35 years. I want to remain active working for you as your president.

Defense preparations readied for members

ALBANY — CSEA Regional Directors and field staff representing correctional employees were called to Albany by CSEA President William L. McGowan recently to mobilize the union's defense of civilian employees falsely charged with participation in a job action.

Joseph J. Dolan, Jr., Executive Director of the state's largest public employee union, said the strategy meeting was called in response to action by the Governor's Office of Employee Relations, charging CSEA-represented civilian employees with participation in the job action this Spring in the correction department.

"Many of our members could not get to their work assignments as the result of concern for their health and safety due to the job action by the guards. Now the state is trying to penalize these employees as if they had participated in the strike," Mr. Dolan explained.

In all, more than 800 civilian employees in the correctional system were charged with violation of the Taylor Law's no-strike provisions.

"When it comes to the Taylor Law, the U.S. Constitution seems to be forgotten. The State has the power under the law to place a presumption of guilt on the charged employees. President McGowan has directed that we take all possible steps to ensure that the full rights of each and every employee charged are protected," the Executive Director said.

This week the corrections representatives were scheduled to return to Albany to review the status of their campaign to protect the affected membership and file formal appeals to the charges against the employees filing for relief.

CSEA ballots on way to members

Ballots were scheduled to be mailed out August 6 to eligible CSEA members in conjunction with the election of CSEA statewide officers and members of the State Executive Committee. Candidates were invited to submit photographs and statements for publication in this issue. At left are statements of CSEA presidential candidates Kenneth Cadieux, who has the top line on the official ballots, and incumbent President William L. McGowan. Photos and information on other candidates are printed on pages 5-10 of this issue.

Application must be made by August 31, 1979. The amount of the group term insurance the employee is insured for will be reduced by the amount converted.

Imposed contract expected by Watertown Unit members following legislative hearing

WATERTOWN — A decision on an imposed contract by the Watertown City Council, on the City of Watertown Unit was expected August 6, following a legislative hearing held July 30.

The city unit is part of Jefferson County CSEA Local 823.

The legislative hearing was attended by approximately 120 members of the unit who heard Collective Bargaining Specialist Roger Kane represent the union's position against the city manager.

After hearing arguments, the council recessed for 15 minutes before announcing it would delay a decision for one week, Local 823 President Richard Grieco, a member of the city unit, said.

While the council has the option of imposing a contract or sending both sides back to the bargaining table, Grieco said he expects the council to impose a one-year contract.

However, he had no idea what the council would impose. The old contract expired June 30, 1979.

The union and the city manager reached impasse over the city manager's insistance that approximately 40 of the employees increase their working hours without being paid for the additional time.

The fact-finders report supported the union position.

Unit President Ronald Spinner and negotiating team member Richard Brown explained the impasse as follows:

Some years ago the city and the union agreed to reduce the workday of City Hall employees (approximately 25 percent of the unit) to 6.5 hours a day in lieu of a pay increase.

The city manager now demands the union agree to an additional 30 minutes a day to the work day without additional financial compensation.

The addition of the 2.5 hours a week which is tied to the city manager's offer of a seven percent pay increase would lower the wages of the employees approximately five cents an hour.

Impasse also was reached on comp time where the union wants the same rules the police and firemen have.

LETTERS to the Editor

Editor, The Public Sector:

The July 18 issue of The Public Sector contained an article regarding the State Employee Insurance Program's termination of health insurance enrollment for employees already covered in the Program through a husband or wife. The article had a number of inaccuracies which require correction.

When these employees signed up for coverage, they were actually ineligible to do so because of their coverage through their spouse. When these duplicate enrollments were discovered, we notified each personnel office of our intention to inform the affected employees of the various options open, including the right to enroll if their spouse removed them from his or her contract.

Your article further indicated that we automatically reinstated the coverage for the 270 employees. This is incorrect. We have advised each of the opportunity to re-enroll on a current basis, due to an anticipated change in our Regulations. Any of these employees wishing to re-enroll should make application through their personnel office.

President's award given for bravery

By Dawn LePore

BROCKPORT — It was approximately midnight last December 9 when Brockport Police Officer David Zimmerman responded to the call. "Something" was in the Barge Canal. A check of the area confirmed it. The "something" was a student from the State University at Brockport — semiconscious and floating in the icy water.
After calling for an ambulance,

Officer Zimmerman dove into the near-freezing canal, towed the young man back to the breakwall and kept him afloat for ten minutes until a ladder was lowered to them.

An hour later — at the hospital — the young man died.

Last month, an award ceremony honored Police Officer David Zimmerman, a member of Monroe County CSEA Local 828, with the CSEA President's Award for his brave actions that night.

DAVID ZIMMERMAN, right, receives The CSEA President's Award from Brockport CSEA Unit President David Smith. Officer Zimmerman was honored for risking his own life in attempting to save an individual who drowned in the Barge Canal last December.

McGowan opposes fees for open competitive exams

ALBANY — A proposal to reinstitute fees for open-competitive civil service examinations has drawn fire from CSEA President William L. McGowan.

In a letter to Meyer Frucher, Director of the Governor's Office of Employee Relations, President McGowan attacked the proposal as a pointless burden on public employees who must take an open competitive examination to retain a position which they already occupy.

The State Department of Civil Service has announced that a $5 examination application filing fee will be required from candidates for open-competitive State examinations administered by the Department, beginning with those held in October.

Exempt from this fee are individuals receiving assistance from a State or local public assistance agency. Those claiming this exemption must state on their application that they are receiving public assistance and indicate the agency providing the assistance.

The Department's position was that reinstatement of the fees, last charged in 1963, would help cover the costs of the examinations.

But President McGowan pointed out that local and state budgetary policy would not allow any fee money received to be applied directly to the costs of the examinations. The main purpose of the reinstatement, he said, is flatly erroneous.

Mr. McGowan condemned the proposal as an unfair burden for state or local government workers who must take an open competitive examination to keep a position to which he or she has already been appointed. The same basic complaint applies in instances where an open competitive examination is used for promotional purposes, he said.

Two-year agreement ratified

The Gloversville-Johnstown Wastewater Unit of Fulton County CSEA Local 818 has ratified a new two year Agreement, ending nearly 8 months of contract negotiations with the joint sewer board. The Agreement, which covers twenty employees at the sewer plant, is retroactive to January 1.

John Cummings, CSEA staff representative assigned to the contract talks, said the settlement includes across-the-board wage increases of 32¢ per hour retroactive to January 1, 1979 and a 35¢ per hour increase to all employees next January 1.

Cummings also noted contract language improvements in vacation use, bereavement leave, out-of-title work, layoff procedure and job posting procedures.

Benefit fund meetings set

Experts from the CSEA Benefit Fund will attend membership meetings in Buffalo and Rochester to explain the new dental and prescription benefits under the union's new contract with the State of New York, according to Western Region 6 President Robert L. Lattimer.

The Rochester meeting will be held at 8:00 p.m., Tuesday, August 7, in the auditorium of Monroe Community Hospital, 435 E. Henrietta Road, (Rt 15A), at Westfall Road, Rochester.

The Buffalo area meeting will be at 8:00 p.m., Wednesday, August 8 at the Marygold Manor, 770 Maryvale Drive at Union Road, Cheektowaga.

Among those available at the meetings will be Tom Collins, administrator of the CSEA Benefit Fund, and representatives of Blue Cross and Ter Bush and Powell, who administer the payments under the fund.

Under the prescription payment plan about 10,000 state workers represented by the Civil Service Employees Association, (CSEA) in Western New York, need only pay one dollar for each prescription.

Although there are other improvements the major change in the dental care program eliminates a $50 deductible provision contained in the plan previously administered.

Throughout the 1960's and 1970's I have been up front, fighting for the rights of the members and helping lead this union through two decades of growth and changes. I have held virtually every union position possible, including acting statewide president, and I never lost touch with the grass-root membership nor lost sight of the fact that this union exists to protect and benefit the members. Now, as we are about to enter the 1980's and even more changes, experience is more valuable to the members than ever.

Safety hotline operates on 24-hour day

ALBANY — The success of the toll-free CSEA Safety Hotline has prompted the union to expand the hotline to 24 hours, Nels Carlson, CSEA collective bargaining specialist and the person in charge of the hotline, said.

"The hotline has been more successful than we anticipated," Carlson said. He said at least seven calls have come in each day and one day 20 calls were received.

The hotline is being tried experimentally on a 24-hour basis because not all CSEA members work from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., when the toll-free number is manned by CSEA staffer Mary Beth Leitt at CSEA headquarters.

The toll-free number is 800-342-4824.

Calls to the hotline over night and during the weekend are recorded. A member of the CSEA staff calls the recording device from home to check if a problem requires immediate attention, Carlson said.

Those calling after 5 p.m. should describe the problem and leave their name and a telephone number where they can be reached.

All callers to the hotline are treated confidentially. The names of the callers will not be revealed, Carlson said.

Carlson said calls have been coming in from all over the state, from both state and local government installations. He said the calls have come from rank-and-file members and not just from local officers.

During one two-week period, hotline calls were received from:

Cedar Creek, Creedmoor Psychiatric Center (PC), Department of Transportation (DOT) Hornell, DOT Pittsford, Buffalo PC, State Tax Department White Plains, Gowanda PC, James E. Allen Learning Center BOCES, Westchester Developmental Center (DC).

The types of complaints include: staffing shortages causing health hazards, faulty equipment, fire hazards, exposure to toxic materials, faulty security, asbestos, ventilation, radioactivity, rats, noise, unsafe building structure and snakes.

In addition to the calls relating to safety which come in on the hotline, Carlson said a number of calls have been received which related to creature comforts.
"These calls are about work areas being too hot or too cold. That's not what the hotline is for. However, if the problem is ventilation, that is a problem we can deal with," Carlson said.

When a call comes in on the hotline during regular working hours, Ms. Leitt, a secretary, takes the call and fills out the CSEA Safety Violation / Accident / Injury Report form.

The report goes to Carlson. If there is imminent danger, he responds to the complaint immediately. Otherwise, the report is forwarded to the regional director for action.

If a problem involving the state cannot be resolved, the problem is taken to the governor's Office of Employee Relations, Carlson said.

The hotline started operation on June 26. The 24-hour service started July 20.

NELS CARLSON, in charge of the CSEA Safety Hotline, gives instructions to Mary Beth Leitt, the secretary who takes the hotline calls. The hotline has been in service since June 26.
