INTERIM PROVOST REPORT – Tim Mulcahy

Interim Provost Mulcahy reported the administration is moving ahead with the process of finalizing appointments to the Adjuncts/Contingent Faculty Panel and the Graduate Student Committee. Proposed rosters would be shared with GOV to secure their endorsement prior to formally appointing members to the committees. Charges for each committee are also in the late stages of development.

The Provost interview process continues. Two candidates (Aziz, Stellar) had been on campus that past week, one (Srihari) was there currently, and the fourth and final candidate (Mukasa) would be on campus that Thursday and Friday. In addition to scheduled meetings with key constituency groups, each candidate would participate in an open forum. Interim Provost Mulcahy encouraged everyone to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear and question the candidates. The Interim Provost also requested that anyone who met with the candidates provide feedback about each one by completing the surveys, and stressed that a truly consultative process includes such feedback.

The Interim Provost had that day sent a memo to Deans, Department Chairs, School/College Personnel Committee Chairs, and the CPCA Chair encouraging them to employ multi-method assessments of teaching effectiveness for both tenure-track and contingent faculty when evaluating academic faculty for renewal, continuing appointment and promotion. The memo reminded them that the Fall 2012 Report of the Course Assessment Advisory Committee noted serious limitations of SIRF scores as exclusive measures of teaching effectiveness. The memo also noted a strong recommendation that all units who have not already done so develop comprehensive, robust mechanisms for evaluating teaching that will provide a more reliable and fairer picture of teaching effectiveness.

Finally, Interim Provost Mulcahy shared that he had had two experiences on Sunday that made him proud yet again to be part of a University community and that reminded him of what it is we do that is so important. First, the previous day's commencement ceremony reminded of how we impact the lives of so many individuals, their families and their communities by virtue of all we do as faculty and staff to encourage their education, personal growth and development as individual citizens of the world. The excitement was palpable, and the Interim Provost expressed pride for all you do to prepare students for that moment, the culmination of their UAlbany experience. Secondly, Interim Provost Mulcahy had attended the Holiday Concert in the Performing Art Center and was blown away by the enthusiasm, talent and spirit of our students and the faculty and staff who support them. Each group, ensemble, chorale and orchestra performed to a packed theatre, and no one left disappointed. He again voiced that he could not have been prouder of the University of Albany.

SENATE CHAIR'S REPORT – Joette Stefl-Mabry

Informational

- 11/14/14 Campus Leaders received a memo from President Jones requesting the Senate to review ex officio voting privileges of administrators serving on Senate committees and councils. The Governance Council is in the process of conducting that review.
- Campus Governance Leaders have asked to be invited to department faculty meetings ASAP. Please help us with that request within your department.
- Senate Bill 1415-01: Proposal to Establish a Graduate Certificate Program in Adolescent Special Education for Content Teachers was approved by GAC (11/18/14) and UPPC (11/20/14) and will go to the Senate for a vote on 12/08/2014.
- 11/25/14 CGL Conference Call with Provost Alex Cartwright re: SUNY Excels

II. Reports of Actions

- November 20th, Senate Chair received an email from Suzanne Freed, Assistant Vice Provost for Undergraduate Education, that the request to have the Women's Studies programs re-titled to become Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies has received final State approval and has been updated on the NYSED inventory of Registered Programs.

III. Recommendations for Actions

- N/A

Chair Stefl-Mabry noted in reply to a question that completing the survey, via the link provided, regarding the candidates was the best way to provide input. Responses would be anonymous, and participants could also view public forums online if not in person. The candidates' C.V.s and cover letters could be viewed on the Provost Search website.

On December 1st the SEC had voted to approve that GOV go forward with drafting ex officio amendments to the Bylaws and Charter per the administration's request. It was discussed that those ex officio voting members who serve by virtue of their administrative position will be considered in the amendment – not anyone else.

Thank you to Past Chair of the Senate, Christine Wagner, who would be on Sabbatical next semester, for her years of Senate service.

OTHER REPORTS

UFS (University Faculty Senator's Report) –Danielle Leonard, J. Philippe Abraham & John Schmidt, SUNY Senators

University Faculty Senate Report

2014 Fall Plenary hosted by SUNY ESF

Attended by Philippe Abraham, Danielle Leonard, John Schmidt

I. Some important developments at System and with the BoT:

In order to best represent the University at Albany at the state-wide University Faculty Senate, the UFS Senators call for increased engagement, information flows, and UAlbany Faculty Senate input on these and other issues through our shared governance processes.

SUNY Excels: The Chancellor previously indicated to us that she is willing to tie increases in State funding for SUNY to performance measures. This initiative is being called SUNY Excels—a matrix of performance measures that will include data and goals at the System level, but with campus goals to be set in appropriate areas (as defined collaboratively campus by campus). We've been asked for input and UFS Senators have been tasked with finding out what elements would be appropriate/inappropriate for our campus. We have requested that Information presented to us by Chancellor Zimpher, Provost Cartwright and other be coming soon on the SUNY UFS Website.

System Administration Budget: New financial assessments are coming to campuses in order to support the operations at System Administration. The line-item budget for operating System Administration within the legislatively approved SUNY budget hasn't been increased in some 20 years. Obviously costs have gone up since then, and the Chancellor's numerous initiatives have added to the budgetary pressures. System has been charging campuses for some services, but the System expenditures significantly exceed this as well. A further complication is that some System offices have sent these costs, charge-backs, etc., to campuses at irregular times during the year, making campus budget planning more difficult. So a phased approach has been established that includes some central budget cuts, increases in the charges to campuses, but a single charge for the year—phased in over 5 years. Presidents are unhappy with this. The Board of Trustees is also concerned, in part about the methodology, in part about the size of the System budget. The Board has approved the increased assessments to campuses for this year, but has demanded more justification and an examination of alternatives before moving any further forward.

Budget for 2015-16: With the final year of NYSUNY2020 looming, System is consulting with the Presidents and the Board about whether to request a new round of tuition increases to actually bring us to 2020. Further budget issues are a hard push to convince the governor and the legislature that “maintenance of effort” means covering mandated cost increases. The SUNY Excels matrix is to form the basis for seeking new State funds in support of SUNY. And finally, SUNY is seeking additional bonding authority for both critical maintenance and selected new construction projects.

Seamless Transfer: The transfer paths were updated by the end of last spring, and we are now in a period of considering if adjustments to programs might be necessary to make this work. Many, if not most, requests for program waivers have apparently been denied without satisfactory explanation. Faculty on some campuses are questioning if they are being told to change major requirements for the first two years. Let us know if you know about any of our waiver requests that were denied without explanation.

Open SUNY: The “first wave” of “Open SUNY +” programs—existing online programs with enhancements—was approved last academic year, and the second wave of 56 programs from 17 campuses has just been announced. System Administration has increasingly recognized that most student services need to be coordinated among or handled by the contributing campuses rather than established centrally, although SUNY is currently contracting with an outside vendor to cover a help desk 24/7 (beyond what was being covered by previously existing SUNY Learning Network assistance). System Administration is working with interested campuses to evaluate campus readiness for (expanded) online programs, and there is also now a business tool available to help campuses evaluate the short- and long-term costs/benefits of online programs. Finally, SUNY is helping facilitate the identification and development of digital materials and open education resources (Affordable Learning Solutions) for courses, not just online ones.

START-UP NY: Some 50 SUNY campuses have approved plans (or soon will). Companies have been announced at a number of campuses. Some campuses have Faculty committees that vet whether the companies fit with the academic mission of the campus. What is the process that UAlbany has established to get faculty input into approving company proposals to fit with the campus mission? Was the UAlbany Senate consulted in most recent decision <http://www.albany.edu/news/54991.php?WT.source=ncfeed> ?

TeachNY: There was a lot of focus on teacher education over the last year, and the Chancellor has emerged as a national champion for the Common Core Standards in K-12 education. As part of this, she urges us to familiarize ourselves with the standards, as future NY students will have been educated according to that approach. We can expect some changes in the abilities of our future students, and we should be prepared to appreciate and take advantage of the skills they should possess. The Chancellor also has established a TeachNY program in conjunction with the State Education Department, with an advisory committee to offer guidance on how to improve teacher education and K-12 quality and success. Nationally recognized experts as well as SUNY faculty (and union) leadership are working together to advise the Chancellor on next steps for teacher education, particularly how to improve the effectiveness of our teacher education programs.

IV. Other

Personnel matters at System Administration: The Board has offered the Chancellor a new contract, which is to be for 5 years. Alexander Cartwright has joined SUNY System Administration as Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor. Alex comes to System from the University at Buffalo, where he had been Vice President for Research. Beth Bringsjord, who served as Interim Provost for the past year, has returned to a position as Vice Provost and Vice Chancellor. Jim Malatras left the position of Chief of Staff, called back to the Governor's office to be Director of Operations for New York State. Stacey Hengstern is interim Chief of Staff for Chancellor Zimpher, with a search in place for a permanent individual. Josh Sager is the new chief budget officer; he replaces Wendy Gillman, who retired.

LICH and the Hospitals: SUNY finally has a contract to sell the Long Island College Hospital site. What will be the financial impact on the rest of the SUNY campuses? The Board of Trustees will be delving into this question now that we know what SUNY will recover from the sale ($240M).

Last spring, the Senate Executive Committee took up a resolution that calls upon SUNY to conduct an investigation of how the whole LICH purchase and subsequent closure occurred, in order to try to prevent such a fiasco from occurring in the future. The EC chose not to pass the resolution, reasoning that the basic reasons behind what happened already are public record, that this would be an unnecessary expense that likely wouldn't yield any new results, and that such a study might better be done by one or more of our own faculty.

There are some other developments regarding the hospitals and medical schools. First, the Board passed a resolution to set up a task force to examine and propose a "new governance structure" for the SUNY hospitals: how the hospitals should be governed—likely with local governing boards, answering perhaps to a central governing board that is separate from the SUNY Board of Trustees. There is a call for closer ties between the stand-alone medical schools and the University Centers. Accordingly, not only Downstate and UAlbany have been in discussions about collaborations, but Binghamton and Upstate are in talks as well. The idea: SUNY hospitals remain essential to successful operation of our medical schools and thus a critical part of the SUNY family.

The next Plenary is January 22nd at SUNY Farmingdale.

GSA (Graduate Student Association) – Caitlin Janiszewski, GSA President

The GSA is working on closing out the semester and evaluating how far we have come in achieving our strategic plan's goals. Our Recognized Graduate Student Organizations have had a very successful semester having put on an array of engaging professional development and social events. Our grants program is more efficient than ever. Our MCAA committee is working effectively for the first time in years, regularly attending the President's Diversity Council meetings, re-developing guidelines to encourage the values of diversity and inclusion through RGSO programming and GSA Executive Board activities. Our programming committee hopes to repeat the very successful orientation program we had this fall for transfer and new students in the spring. Although we have had turnover in the position of treasurer this semester, the transition was nearly seamless with the help of our building institutional memory and a new financial manager in the Office of Student Involvement. We continue to build strong fiscal policies to ensure stability and are also exploring ways to invest a rather large surplus in our future to build the foundation of the GSA. Some of the investment has been in our relationship with the National Association of Graduate-Professional students. Through our attendance at their Legislative Action Days and their national conference we have obtained extremely valuable information and best practices to serve the GSA in the future including lobbying strategies, social media strategies, and new professional development models. Our GSA advocacy team, comprised of our Senators and various representatives, has been the most active and committee group of reps we have seen in the last few years. Despite continued challenges with turnover and the usual struggles that emerge from attempting to balance graduate student involvement in governance with our other responsibilities, I feel confident in saying that overall the GSA is functioning at the highest level it has in several years.

The next two CPCA meetings are on Nov. 26 and Dec. 10.

GAC (Graduate Academic Council) –Abebe Rorissa, Chair

I. Informational

The GAC met on November 18, 2014. Among items on the Agenda were: (1) review of reports from the GAC's three Standing Committees, and (2) review and approval of two proposals from the School of Education (The establishment of an Advance Graduate Certificate Program in Adolescent Special Education for Content Teachers and A School Policy on Standards of Student Professional Conduct).

Our next scheduled meeting is on December 9.

II. Reports of Actions

- The GAC, based on the review and recommendation by the Committee on Admissions & Academic Standing, voted to deny a student's grade grievance.
- The Council also considered and, after fairly extensive discussions, voted to approve three proposals:
 - A proposal by the Department of History, College of Arts and Sciences, to revise its MA degree requirements. The proposal sought to combine two tracks and was reviewed by the Committee on Curriculum & Instruction on November 6.
 - A proposal by the School of Education to create a policy on standards of student professional conduct that spells out performance expectations all graduate students at the School need to demonstrate.
 - Another proposal from the School of Education to establish a new advanced certificate program in Adolescent Special Education for Content Teachers, a high need area not just in New York but also nationally.

III. Recommendations for Actions

- We request the University Senate to approve the proposal by the School of Education to establish an Advanced (Graduate) Certificate Program in Adolescent Special Education for Content Teachers and forward the proposal to the President for approval. The proposal was approved by the Graduate Academic Council (11/18/14) and University Planning & Policy Council (11/20/14).

GOV (Governance Council) – Cynthia Fox, Chair

I. Informational

1. GOV met on November 10 and again on November 27
2. Chair Fox reported that the recent announcement that Classbook.com has been approved for the Start-Up NY program was discussed at SEC meeting of 11/3 and a question was raised about the consultation process. The UAlbany Start Up NY plan includes both an Advisory Committee and an Ad Hoc Academic Advisory Committee, neither of which were approved through formal consultation. It is also not clear who is currently sitting on those committees. It was suggested that GOV contact Associate Vice President for Business Partnerships and Economic Development Shimazu for clarification. Chair Fox sent the request on November 8.
3. At that same SEC meeting, GSA gave a mini-presentation regarding graduate student issues, requesting that the full presentation be given at the upcoming Senate meeting. An objection was raised on the basis that items placed on the Senate agenda must be actionable, and following much discussion a vote to approve the full 20 minute presentation did not pass. GOV Chair Fox afterward researched the Charter and By-Laws and found no mention that items must be actionable. A letter was sent to Andrew Howard the Senate Parliamentarian, who confirmed items do not need to be actionable and who also pointed out that while the SEC can vote and give advice on agenda items, it cannot prevent them from being on the Senate agenda. He recommended that, in the interest of time, a brief summary of the presentation be included in the GSA Senate report. Chair Fox has shared this information with Senate Chair Stefl-Mabry and has asked that the question of placing items on the agenda be raised at the SEC meeting of December 1.
4. On Friday, November 14, President Jones sent a memo the Senate leadership recommending that the Senate Bylaws and Charter be amended to revoke voting privileges from administrators who serve as ex-officio members as well as those who serve on committees and councils in an administrative capacity. The recommendation comes in response to the findings of the Spring 2014 Faculty and Professional Staff Survey on Shared Governance and addresses an aspect of our current Bylaws and Charter that has long been recognized as atypical in campus governance structures and formalizes the recommendation articulated in The University at Albany Senate Handbook, that “in order for the actions and recommendations of the Senate and its Councils and Committees to reflect as much as possible the voice of the Faculty and other members of the Senate, ex officio members of the Senate and its Councils who are members of the administration should abstain from voting on bills or other recommendations.” Passage of amendments to the Bylaws requires approval from 2/3 of the Voting Faculty, 30% of whom must vote in order to achieve quorum. Charter amendments are voted on by the Senate.

II. Reports of Actions

1. The Council has approved the roster of members to each of the Excellence Awards Committees forwarded to us by Bill Hedberg and recommended a Senate delegate and alternative to be included on each Committee.
2. The Council nominated additional candidates to serve on its Committee on Assessment of Governance and Consultation.
3. The Council took up the question of how proposals for new programs move through governance.
4. The Council considered representation for inclusion on the Blue Ribbon Panels on Adjunct/Contingent Faculty and on Graduate Student Compensation Issues and issues that should be considered in formulating their respective charges.
5. The Council heard a report from the organization meeting of the Committee on Liaisons and Elections.
6. The Council discussed the President’s memo of 11/14 and the mechanisms for putting forward the necessary amendments to the Bylaws and Charter.
7. A sub-committee to draft the proposed legislation was formed.

III. Recommendations for Actions

1. Chair Fox will invite additional nominees to serve of the Committee on Assessment of Governance and Consultation.
2. Chair Fox will forward its recommendations for the two Blue Ribbon Panels to Interim Provost Mulcahy.
3. The Council understands that UPPC Chair Wagner is preparing a document that explains the process for approving new programs and will take up any remaining issues when that document is available.
4. The bylaws amendment subcommittee will present a draft at the next GOV meeting on December 15.

Regarding an inquiry, GOV and the Parliamentarian had consulted regarding what items are acceptable to be placed on the agenda due to an issue with the inclusion of a portion of the GSA report.

LISC (Council on Libraries, Information Systems, and Computing) –Boris Goldfarb, Chair

LISC has formed the two standing committees, including elections of the chairs. John Delano is the new chair of the Library Committee. Rem Davis is the new chair of the IT Usage Policy Committee. Both committees had initial meetings in November and will meet again in January. LISC council had a meeting on Monday, November 24, and heard the reports from the new chairs, the Dean of the Libraries Mary Casserly, and the CIO Christine Haile.

UAC (Undergraduate Academic Council) – Robert Yagelski, Chair

The Undergraduate Academic Council met on November 20th. The Council discussed plans for reviewing the proposal for a new undergraduate program in computer engineering, which the Council anticipates receiving before the end of the current semester. The purpose of the discussion was to insure that the proposal will be reviewed by UAC before the semester break, assuming that UAC receives the proposal in time.

The rest of the meeting was devoted to a continuation of the Council's review of the General Education Competencies Plans, which was begun during the 2013-2014 academic year. The competencies plans submitted for the majors in East Asian Studies and Latin American Studies were approved. Several other plans were discussed but not voted on pending clarification of specific components of the plans by the departments. To date, thirty plans have been approved. The review process will continue until all competencies plans have been reviewed and approved.

The next UAC meeting is scheduled for December 4th.

ULC (University Life Council) –Michael Jaromin, Chair

The ULC met last on November 10, 2014 and hosted presentations from New Student Programs and Pathways to Success Involvement Record.

Our next meeting is scheduled for December 8th.

UPPC (University Planning and Policy Council) –Christine Wagner, Chair

UPPC approved a proposal from the School of Education for a Graduate Certificate in Adolescent Special Education for Content Teachers. UPPC discussed the procedures by which an undergraduate program announcement for a new major comes to UPPC. It was agreed that, following an initial approval by UPPC of the resource implications for a new major, UPPC will have the opportunity to review a proposal again should there be changes to the budget upon the submission of a full proposal to UAC. UPPC discussed the substitution of the current budget table on the UPPC Campus Impact Form with a modification of the SUNY Expense Table, thus removing duplication of effort in the preparation of proposals by Schools and Colleges, and allowing direct comparison of budgets as the proposal moves from Program Announcement to full proposal. The UPPC Chair reported to UPPC the receipt of a memo from Interim Provost Mulcahy to the Dean of the College of Computing and Information, Sue Faerman regarding the creation of the Department of Computer Engineering. The Program Announcement for the undergraduate major in Computer Engineering, which included all resources required for the department, was approved by UPPC on October 9, 2014.

NEW BUSINESS

Approval of Changes in Council Memberships

As a point of information, Senator Gulatee noted that Mathias Vuille was a new Senator to serve as a member on LISC from the College of Arts and Sciences. Mathias would be replacing Fernando Leiva. This membership change was approved with the following voting results: Approved 45, Opposed 0, Abstained 2.

Motion to approve Bill 1415-01

This is a proposal to establish an advanced graduate certificate program in Adolescent Special Education for Content Teachers which had been approved by GAC and UPPC. As the Bill had not yet been vetted by the SEC, and there was no opposition to amending the agenda, the Senate adjourned at 3:15 p.m. in order for SEC to meet. SEC met and unanimously approved that the Bill be brought to the Senate floor, at which point the Senate re-adjourned at 3:18 p.m. In response to a question regarding the program, it was explained that the program would allow those already certified in the program area to also work with special needs students and therefore add that expertise.

A motion was made to approve Bill 1415-10 with the following voting results: Approved 45, Opposed 2, Abstained 2.

ADJOURNMENT

The meeting adjourned at 3:20 p.m.

Respectfully submitted by
Elisa Lopez, Recorder
