Foreword

From time immemorial people have been groping for communication. In young people the desire and need to communicate is particularly strong and relentless because the young are so changing and uncertain. One can often clarify one's position or values by talking about them, so the need to communicate is often one with the desire to understand and solidify one's personal philosophy. The young person desires to communicate with someone who appears to share his convictions or at least his particular approach to the eternal and unanswered questions of who am I? And what shall I do with my life? What and whom shall I believe and follow, question, rebel against?

Linda Susan Paul

The tribute we are about to pay involves an unusual student-faculty relationship. This person has given of himself more than is to be expected of a faculty member. He has devoted many long hours to our problems as evidenced by the burning light in his office after many a basketball game. The small but meaningful details on which this relationship grew ranged from his brightly-colored test papers to his affectionately bestowed nickname, "Bwana."

We, the senior class, dedicate the 1966 Bricks and Ivy to you, Mr. Glen R. DeLong.

Mr. Charles W. Bowler,
Principal

This year the Milne School welcomed a new principal, a man who involved himself with every aspect of school life. Not only did he manage his official duties as principal, but he always could be found in friendly conversation with either students or faculty. Mr. Charles W. Bowler has given enthusiastically of his time, and it is hoped that he will remember his experience with the same pleasure as do the members of Milne.

Behind the door of Ali Baba's cave there was a great treasure. He had only to say "Open Sesame" and that treasure was his.

Behind the door of the Milne School there is an even greater treasure. Education, knowledge of the world we live in and the world of the past, and the bright promise of the future that will be ours if we say "Open Sesame" to our minds and hearts each time we walk through Milne's door.

To all you seventh graders there is no real magic in this world, but here are a few quick tricks to make your years in Milne more pleasant. You alone are responsible for your success at Milne. If you will take a little advice from someone who has had the experience you are about to go through you can make your years here very fruitful.

The desire to learn is very important if you plan to do well in school. Paying attention in class is of the utmost importance. Remedial help is offered to anyone who needs it. Your teacher may give you a remedial if she feels you need some assistance. As soon as you are unsure of yourself and confused, feel free to ask for help after school, don't wait for your teacher to discover your lack of understanding. Remember, your teacher cannot know for several days till she corrects your homework and perhaps a quiz. No! This is not imposing, your teachers will always be glad to help you! Your good grade is a reflection on your teacher's ability.

Another simple but effective little trick is to get acquainted with your classmates. Don't stand around and wait for them to come up and introduce themselves! Sure you feel odd going up and starting a conversation! On the other hand, your classmates are just as shy!

Now maybe a student will enter Milne in the second semester or a few days late, please, I beg you, go up to her and introduce yourself, offer to help acquaint her with the school's procedure, invite her to join you and your friends for lunch. She will be grateful. On your first day of Milne you felt awkward, imagine how much more awkward she feels being the only one not knowing her way around. Change places with this girl, for a moment, you would want someone to include you in her group, wouldn't you? Following this advice I acquired my best friend.

Here is one more little trick to make Milne more pleasant. Take interest in school activities, participate in as many school functions as possible. A strong school spirit creates a strong love for your school!

Now, if you follow these basic rules, there is no reason to be aflutter and confused when you enter Milne or any school. These are good tips to follow even when you go away to college. I beseech you to follow these few rules at all times. They are vital to make life enjoyable.

Sophomores are active in school affairs. The junior varsity basketball team, composed mostly of tenth graders, was one of the best ever. Tenth graders write for the newspaper, go on ski trips and are members of Quinn and Sigma. The sophomore class is preparing for the future under the leadership of Richard Otty, class president; Bill Khachadourian, vice-president; Sue McDermott, secretary; and Rick Nelson, treasurer.

Junior year is for cultivating
Our future memories in the making:
Planning and presenting an Alumni Ball,
And building a Buddha eight feet tall,
A new exam called the PSAT,
And struggles to pass our Chemistry.
Could we forget in the future
That magic formula, "LEO says GER"?
Writing Junior essays -- such untold woe!
And our driving tests show we have far to go.
Remembering these things brings nostalgia, not gloom,
For next year we move to the Senior Room!

Senior Student Council

This year, the Senior Student Council has really outdone itself. Its plans, most of which have already been put into effect, are full of enthusiasm and show great insight into some of Milne's problems. School spirit has been given "a shot in the arm" with the School Spirit Contest, a Senior Council idea. To help support Milne's foster child, Fabio, the Council established the Foster Parent Committee, which now sells hot dogs and tuna dogs at basketball games. New this year, is the Hall of Fame for some of the more outstanding students. The Council has also planned a Central Hudson Valley League inter-school conference, an attempt to bring schools of our league into close cooperation for the benefit of the student bodies. Also planned are Student Days, where seniors would take over classes for a day.

Teenagers for Political Education

Preamble: "We, the members of Teenagers for Political Education, have joined together to form an organization for the political education of teenagers. It is our desire to have high school students educated politically in order that they may meet their political responsibilities in an intelligent and knowledgeable way. We feel that the teenager who knows the issues and can deal with them intelligently is a definite asset to his city, state and country."

National Honor Society

The Milne Chapter of the National Honor Society is composed of those members of the Junior and Senior classes who have demonstrated a high level of scholarship, leadership, citizenship, and service. Although membership serves to honor superior students, it also requires that they work to promote these ideals in both school and private life. Milne's N.H.S. chapter has initiated several fund raising activities, highlighted by their late fall square dance.

The induction of new members, complete with candle lighting ceremony and numerous guest speakers, started the year off for Sigma. This year, Sigma's main event was a trip to New York City to see the Broadway play, HALF A SIXPENCE. While there, the group went shopping, visited points of interest and ate dinner at Patricia Murphy's. To help pay for this trip and other activities, many bake sales were held at lunch time during the year.

Quintillian Literary Society

This year, the major interest of the Quintillian Literary Society has been the drama. At their rush, Quin featured a production of "The Great Fire" at a "theater party" at the "Quintillian Theater", and the annual Induction Banquet was the occasion for the skit "Parent's Night". At its meetings, Quin has had several plays read, and a theater party was sponsored. Quin members have also heard several travel lectures, and have co-sponsored a dance and a picnic with Sigma.

Milnettes and Milnemen

Every Monday and Wednesday during homeroom Milnettes and Milnemen meet together for rehearsal under the direction of Dr. and Mrs. Roy York. Milnettes is a small singing group open to girls in grades ten through twelve, and if a girl has been a member of Milnettes for three consecutive years, she receives a diamond chip bracelet. Composed of fifteen boys, Milnemen is Milne's male vocal group. There are three performances given by these groups together, at the Christmas Assembly, Honors Assembly and Commencement.

Crimson & White

Milne's normal outlet for creative expression, editorial comment and news presentation is the CRIMSON & WHITE. Journalism's advantage of having more deadlines to miss was well used in a normal year plagued by photography problems. Between times, reporters attempted to beard various lions in their dens, and proofreaders could normally be seen hanging by their heels after an issue was printed. The printer, the Johnson Press, put in another year first turning the air blue with their opinions of amateur journalists and then doing impossible tasks to save said journalists.

Every Monday afternoon, the future of the Milne Girls' Association is sustained on chocolate chip cookies. There are many things to be decided at these meetings, for aside from sponsoring varsity field hockey and undefeated volleyball teams, and intramural activities of trampoline, tennis, softball, and bowling. G.A.A. plans play days and has sent the cheerleading squads to a cheerleading clinic. This year, G.A.A. started a Leaders Corps, whose members, distinguished by blue and white plaid sashes on their gym suits, must have an "A" average in gym with a "B" overall average and must be active in all school activities. G.A.A. also found time to co-sponsor and administrate the School Spirit Contest and to conduct their final magazine sale this year.

The Ambassadors is a revision of Tri-Hi-Y, whose basic ideas of performing services to the community and aiding the Milne School have been retained. This year, the Ambassadors served as hostesses for Parents' Night, and they have planned volunteer work with the children at the Clinton Square Neighborhood House. # Varsity Basketball

Varsity Basketball

For Milne's Varsity Basketball team this has been a year for . . . pre-season conditioning . . . a fifth of six opening game victories . . . a late Sunday evening practice . . . a "box and none" defense . . . thirty-plus games from Bob Blanton (38) and Bill Murphy (33) . . . Jim Gewirtzman's "goalie" mask . . . consecutive games of 82 points where we still lost both . . . John Margolis' ill-fated bus ride to Cambridge . . . bus rides to games without cheerleaders . . . a blacked out practice at Menands . . . getting beat on a thirty foot jump shot at the buzzer . . . senior (Steve Milstein) and junior (John Margolis) co-captains . . . a new league to play in, the Central Hudson Valley League . . . Ron "Bougea" Koven's injuries . . . Bob Blanton to lead the area with high average . . . our Coach to write poetry . . . Ken Brooks to step in bounds before passing the ball . . . getting kicked out of Page Gym many times . . . black sneakers . . . Barry Hatt being called "Bob Margolis" . . . Mike Brodie's long hair . . . getting good coverage in area newspapers . . . losing by two after trailing by 25 . . . the floater, rotation and the shuffle . . . sickness . . . and "that's basically it!"

Junior Varsity Basketball

This year's junior varsity basketball team, coached by Albany Law School Student Fred Ackerman, became the first basketball team in the school's history to win a league championship. Speed, shooting, and a tenacious defense helped the jayvees win 17 of their 18 games, losing only to Catskill's J.V. squad early in the season. Outstanding individual performances by Ron Laraway, Jim and Bill Khachadourian, Tom Bearup, and Rich Nelson gave promise of a bright future for Milne's varsity basketball squad.

"In your longing for your giant self lies your goodness: and that longing is in all of you. But in some of you that longing is a torrent rushing with might to the sea, carrying the secrets of the hillsides and the songs of the forest. And in others it is a flat stream that loses itself in angles and bends and lingers before it reaches the shore."

"And a youth said, Speak to us of Friendship. And he answered, saying, Your friend is your needs answered. He is your field which you sow with love and reap with thanksgiving. And he is your board and your fireside. For you come to him with your hunger, and you seek him for peace. . .

And let your best be for your friend. If he must know the ebb of your tide, let him know his flood also. For what is your friend that you should seek him with hours to kill? Seek him always with hours to live. For it is his to fill your need, but not your emptiness. And in the sweetness of friendship let there be laughter, and sharing of pleasures. For in the dew of little things the heart finds its morning and is refreshed."

TOMORROW

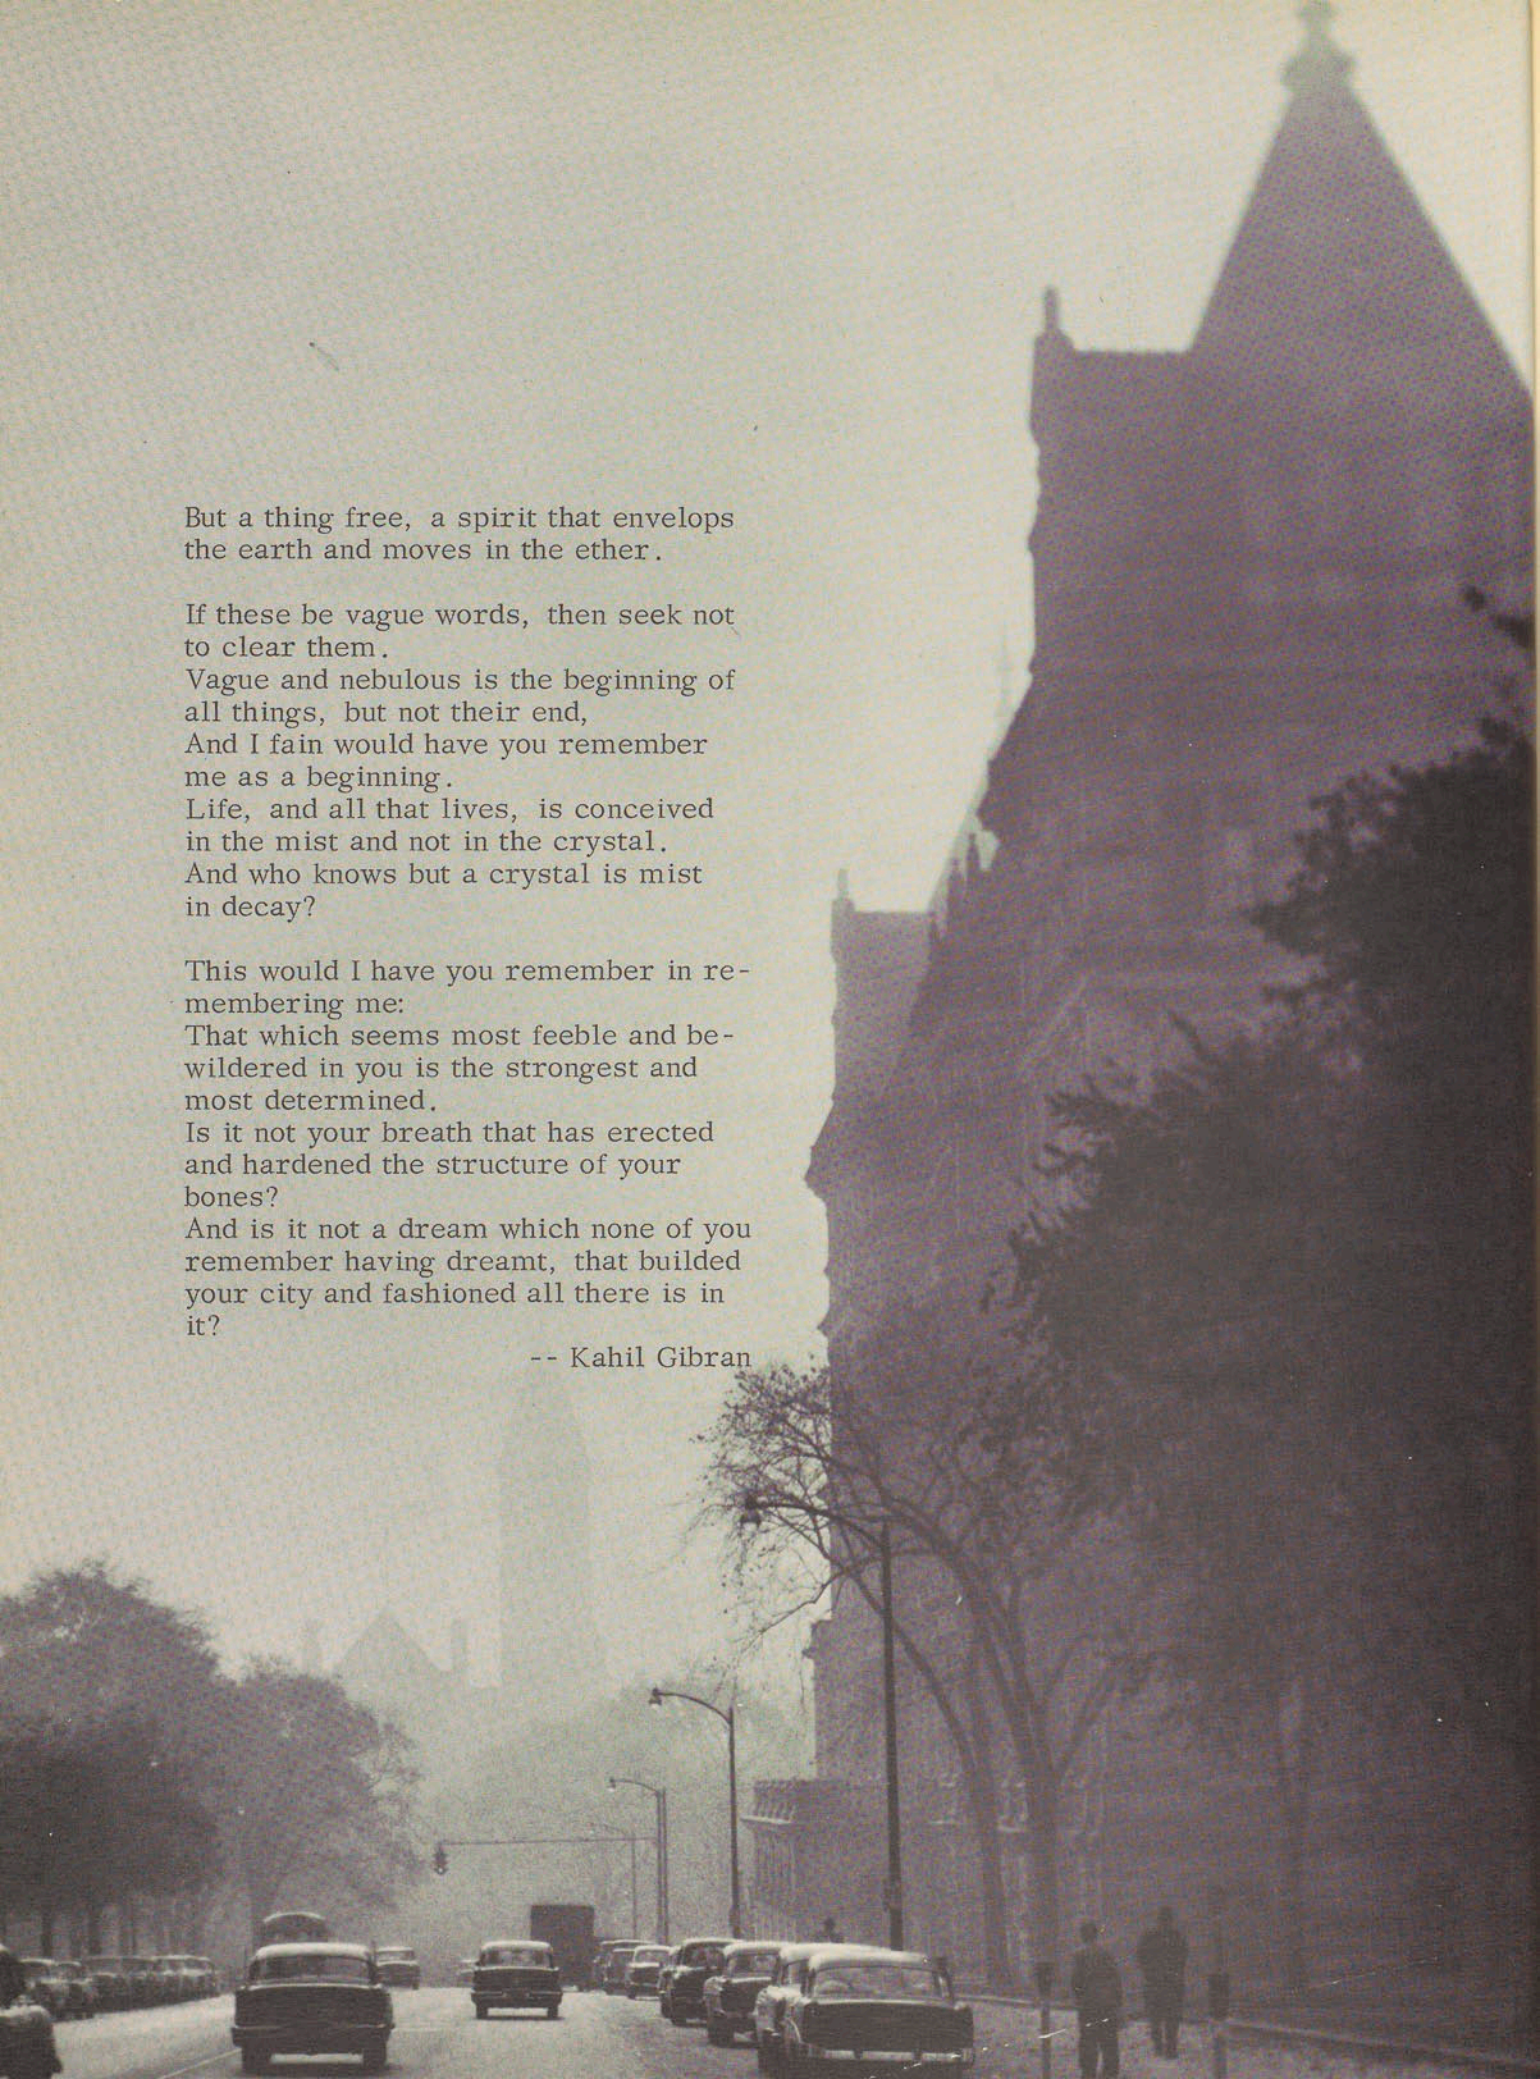

love thy

you in the driver's seat

A sepia-toned photograph of a city street. In the foreground, several vintage cars from the 1950s or 60s are driving away from the viewer. The street is lined with trees and streetlights. In the background, a large, dark Gothic-style building with a prominent spire dominates the right side of the frame. The overall atmosphere is misty and historical.

But a thing free, a spirit that envelops
the earth and moves in the ether .

If these be vague words, then seek not to clear them .

Vague and nebulous is the beginning of all things, but not their end,
And I fain would have you remember me as a beginning .

Life, and all that lives, is conceived
in the mist and not in the crystal.
And who knows but a crystal is mist
in decay?

This would I have you remember in remembering me:

That which seems most feeble and bewildered in you is the strongest and most determined .

Is it not your breath that has erected and hardened the structure of your bones?

And is it not a dream which none of you remember having dreamt, that builded your city and fashioned all there is in it?

-- Kahil Gibran
