Capital Unit Names Candidates; Hears Talk on Social Security

ALBANY, May 28—Candidates for office in the Capital District Conference of the Civil Service Employees Association were announced at a recent dinner meeting in Association Headquarters, Albany, by nominating committee chairman Don Curtis, Mr. McGregor. The slate follows:

For president; Alfonso Bivona Jr., Law Department; Ed Roeder, Commerce. Vice-president; William Cooney, Coxsack Institute; Michael Petruska, Audit and Control; Bernard Silberman, Law; Marie Van Ness, Saratoga Spa. Secretary; Marie Cleary, Civil Service; Jeannette Lafayette, Commerce; Eleanor McGee, Law; Treasurer; Hazel Abrams, Education; John Woolf, Division of Employment.

Lawrence W. Kerwin, Civil Service, president for two terms, declined to run for another year. Mr. Bivona is the vice-president of the Conference. Mr. Roeder is its publicity chairman.

Mr. Petruska is at present serving as treasurer, Miss McGee as secretary and Mrs. Lafayette as social chairman of the group.

Weinstein Speaks

Max S. Weinstein, Chief Actuary, New York State Employees Retirement System, was principal speaker at the meeting. His topic was "Retirement and Social Security."

Mr. Weinstein gave some of the early background of the State Retirement System and described how it presently serves needs of the employees.

"The system," Mr. Weinstein said, "is based entirely upon salary and years of service and takes no consideration of what is called Social Need. This is where Social Security comes in."

About 70 percent of employees, he revealed, already have some Social Security coverage and about 10 percent have full coverage. He showed how the systems could be brought together by integration or supplementation and pointed out advantages and disadvantages in each case.

He concluded that the State Comptroller's recent statement indicates the strong possibility that Social Security would be passed next year and that it would be a modified supplementation plan, essentially the same as recommended by the C.S.E.A.

Report From Kelly

Following this, John J. Kelly, Jr., assistant counsel for C.S.E.A., gave a brief resume of the part the Association played in initiating a Social Security supplementation program for state employees. He stated that the death of the Barrett-Gittleson Bill, sponsored by the group, was a matter of inter-party politics that had nothing to do with the Association's representations. He also mentioned that the Association never had complete legislative success in any single year on a bill. The Barrett-Gittleson Bill, he brought out, was put into effect the 15th of February, 1956.

During the evening, tentative plans were made for holding the annual dinner meeting and election of officers on June 19, in or near Albany.

Payroll Deduction of Dues Set for Oct. 1 by Levitt; Use of Plan Is Voluntary

ALBANY, May 28—"Payroll deductions for Association dues will go into effect on October 1 of this year," John F. Powers, president of the 62,000-member Civil Service Employees' Association, said today.

"The plan for payroll deductions has been made possible," continued Mr. Powers "by enactment of a bill sponsored by the Civil Service Employees' Association during the 1956 legislative session."

This bill would make it permissive for the Comptroller of the State of New York to make payroll deductions of the membership dues for any employee organization. Comptroller Arthur Levitt, after a conference with officials of the Civil Service Employees Association recently, agreed to put this plan into effect on October 1 of this year.

Arthur Levitt

Some 50,000 State employees will be affected by this plan. It is important, however, to remember that these payroll deductions for membership dues for the Association will not be mandatory but voluntary.

Any State employee who does not wish to have his dues to the Association paid through this method need not do so. There is no coercion, only a convenience established in the interest of the employee.

"The Association" concluded Mr. Powers "congratulates Mr. Levitt on the progressive step which he has taken in the matter of employee relations. Other communities are using this method for the payment of organization dues, and we are very happy that the Comptroller is taking this forward step."

Promotion Fees Cancelled Soon

Civil Service employees who take promotion examinations held by the State Department of Civil Service on or after September 1, 1956 will not have to pay examination fees.

Chapter 639 of the Laws of 1956 authorizes the Department of Civil Service with the approval of the Director of the Budget to waive fees in promotion examinations. This approval has been granted.

The waiver applies to State promotion examinations and to all promotion examinations for Municipal subdivisions which are prepared and rated by the Department of Civil Service.

Fees are still required by law for open competitive examinations.

Cancellation of promotion exam fees was won by the Civil Service Employees Association during the recent Legislature session.

Rowell Last Conference Head Not Seeking Office

Claude E. Rowell, president of the Western Conference of the Civil Service Employees Association, will be the fourth conference head not seeking re-election to office this year.

The Western Conference constitution limits its presidency to two terms of office, which Mr. Rowell has served.

As a result of Mr. Rowell's retirement from office, all five Association conferences will now be headed by new officers.

Henry Shemin, of the Metropolitan Conference; Lawrence Kerwin, of the Capital District Conference; Charles Lamb, of the Southern Conference and Charles Methe, of the Central Conference, announced earlier they would not seek re-election.

Mr. Lamb, who is fifth vice president of the CSEA, declared he was not running again because he felt others should contend for the office and assume a greater responsibility in Association affairs.

Mr. Rowell announced he would continue to work actively on behalf of the Association.

The Western Conference summer meeting will be held June 28 at Brockport, Mr. Rowell reports.

New Rule Increases Federal Job Security

WASHINGTON, May 28—A program to obtain maximum job protection for government employees affected by automation was advocated by James A. Campbell, president, American Federation of Government Employees.

More Human Approach

Urging that the Government take a more human approach to this problem, Mr. Campbell recommended that employees affected by automation be trained to operate automation devices. Employees whose services could not be utilized for this purpose should be retrained and/or reassigned to new positions.

"Increased job security will result for thousands of Federal workers at the end of the six-months period," said the Commission. "These are the employees in jobs to which others have had reemployment rights. The incumbents have been unable to acquire full competitive status. When the rights expire at the end of six months, these employees will no longer be subject to displacement."

Objections to Present Method

Positions that would give a transferring employee reemployment rights to his former job must be part of and essential to the functioning of a specific program or activity immediately essential to the national interest. Normal staffing methods must be found to be inadequate to fill the jobs.

Employees granted reemployment rights under the new program must use them within two years after transfer to the defense job.

The Commission found four principal objections to the current program. It is too broad, since two-thirds of the jobs in the executive branch are now designated as defense positions and make the employees who transfer to them eligible for reemployment rights to their nondefense jobs. It is non-selective, since the same premium benefits are granted for jobs requiring minimum qualifications, such as messenger, as for critical occupations such as engineer. While present reemployment rights have no terminal date, they cannot be used by the employee unless he is affected by a reduction in force. Restrictions on filling positions which are being reserved for employees having reemployment rights to them have become excessively burdensome and are hindering agencies in their efforts to appoint the best qualified persons.

Says Error Induced His Retirement; Wants Job Back

A legal proceeding was instituted by Thomas J. Carroll, a retired patrolman of the village of North Tarrytown, for reinstatement.

Mr. Carroll, represented by Attorney Samuel Resnicoff of New York City, was appointed in 1930. In 1948, he was advised by one of the police surgeons that he had epilepsy. Mr. Carroll therefore applied for retirement, and a $1,500 pension was granted.

Mr. Carroll later began to consult other physicians and was advised that he did not have epilepsy. He spoke to the police surgeon, and tells the court the surgeon admitted that he might have made a mistake.

Mr. Carroll asked for reinstatement, but no action was taken by the village officials.

This year, Mr. Carroll was examined by Dr. Abramson, chief neurologist of the Kings County Hospital, and was again advised that he did not have epilepsy.

The case will be argued on June 1 in the Westchester County Supreme Court, White Plains.

Job Security Sought Under Automation

WASHINGTON, May 28—A new program for granting reemployment rights to Federal employees who transfer to jobs designated as essential to defense goes into effect July 1, the Civil Service Commission announced.

Special provision will be made for employees now serving with reemployment rights granted under the program established during the Korean hostilities. These employees could not exercise their reemployment rights unless affected by a reduction in force. Now the Commission will authorize the employees to use their rights at any time during a six-months period following issuance of the new regulations. However, the Commission does not expect any wholesale shift of these employees back to their old jobs, since they have permanent tenure in their new agencies, and many are serving at grades higher than the grade of the old job.

Pay Raised for Skilled Trades And Blue Collars

The Army-Air Force Wage Board has approved hourly pay increases for both the military services blue collar and skilled-trade employees in the New York metropolitan area, effective at the beginning of the first pay period after June 1. Allen E. May, announced.

Regular employees in the skilled labor class, such as electricians, tool makers, plumbers, machinists, carpenters and the like, will get an average increase of eight cents or 3.8 per cent, for each hour. Supervisory personnel will receive an average increase of 10.3 cents, or 3.6 per cent.

The new raise is based on findings of a survey conducted by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The Army and Air Force skilled labor force were last granted a pay raise in August, 1955 averaging six cents hourly for regular personnel and nine cents hourly for supervisory employees.

$50 Awarded D E Employee For an Idea

ALBANY, May 28—The New York State Merit Award Board announced today that a constructive suggestion has won Saul Volin of Brooklyn a $50 cash award and a Certificate of Merit signed by Governor Averell Harriman.

Mr. Volin, employed as a senior unemployment insurance claims examiner in the Department of Labor's Division of Employment, proposed that information regarding the many claims offices of the Division be listed in the New York metropolitan area directories. Division officials have endorsed this idea as a valuable aid to many employers.

Four other State workers who submitted helpful ideas through the State Employees' Suggestion Program, regarding form revisions, civil service examination announcements, and picture post cards each received $25 and individual Certificates of Merit.

$25 Cash Award Winners

They are:

Mrs. Dora G. Field, Elmhurst, an administrative assistant in the Department of Taxation and Finance.

Fitzroy I. Herbert, St. Albans, an unemployment insurance claims examiner in the Department of Labor's Division of Employment.

Morris Jacobs, New York City, an assistant compensation claims examiner in the Department of Labor's State Insurance Fund.

Mrs. Gail Moore, Albany, a clerk in the Department of Health.

Additional Winners

In addition, the following employees were granted individual Certificates of Merit: Thomas T. Davey, Babylon, a senior civil engineer in the Department of Public Works; Eugene Legan, an attendant in the Department of Mental Hygiene's Rome State School; William Van Apeldoorn, a laboratory caretaker in the Department of Health's State Laboratory; and Irma A. Wilkie, Green Island, a senior clerk in the Department of Education, Albany.

Estimators Seek Raise

Estimators employed in the bureau of water register, Department of Water Supply, Gas & Electricity, have submitted a brief to the New York City Salary Board of Appeals, for increased pay.

The brief was prepared by the classification committee of the departmental chapter, Local 237, Teamsters. Members of the committee include Murray Blum, chairman; Walter Ryzek, George Lodes and Daniel Collins. George Hauser is chairman of the chapter.

The low salaries they now receive are not commensurate with the duties and responsibilities of their position, say the estimators, who total four. Each has been in service for more than 27 years. This title has remained in the ungraded classification, with no provision for promotional opportunities.

Architectural estimating is a specialized phase of architecture and building construction, says the brief.

Memorial Services Held by Post Office

Memorial services for veterans of the New York Post Office who served in the armed forces and made the supreme sacrifice were held at the General Post Office.

Elaine Malbin, sang the national anthem. Postmaster Robert H. Schaffer and representatives of veterans' groups delivered addresses.

Mr. Schaffer, Daniel J. Pinsky, and Maurice J. Samartini placed wreaths on memorial tablets.

The invocation was delivered by Rabbi Lissman, Fire Department chaplain and spiritual director of the Jewish Postal Workers, and benediction offered by Dr. Harry L. Bowby, spiritual director of the St. George Association. The Dan Tallon Post band played.

COMMISSIONER GETS THE WHIP WHEN THE PARTY ENDS: Simon Legree hands his bull whip to Commissioner Tom McEvoy, of Agriculture and Markets, as the A&M chapter of the Civil Service Employees ends its parody on "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The smiling gent in civilian clothes on the stage is Foster Potter, who acted as cheerleader for the efforts of the group and led the applause for the evening of laughs and needling, good humor. Commissioner McEvoy was impersonated during the evening's skit. Matter of fact it was Uncle Tom McEvoy's Cabin they were kidding about.

Eisenhower Wants Cost Of Pension Liberalization Reduced by $196,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 28—Administration opposition to the Johnston bill to liberalize retirement benefits for U. S. civil service employees was voiced. Senate Republican leader Knowland indicated that the Administration wants to reduce the cost of the program from the present $450,000,000 to $245,000,000.

The Republicans succeeded in getting amendments passed that increased to 8 percent the present 6 percent of base salary required of Congress members for retirement benefits and deleting the bill's clause which made retirement credits partly interchangeable with Social Security benefits. The Democrats blocked, 46 to 36, the opposition's move to eliminate the bill's present provisions for reduced penalties for retirement after 3 years of service. Republican attempts to amend the bill to cut back survivorship benefits for widows and widowers of retired employees was defeated, 65-16. Employees will have to pay 7 percent instead of the present 6 percent of base salary for the new benefits in the bill, if it is enacted.

Apply Until June 11 For U. S. Clerk Jobs In NYC at Up to $61

James P. Googe, director of the Second U. S. Civil Service Region, explained that clerk jobs in grades GS-1 to GS-3 will be filled in various Federal agencies in the five boroughs of New York City by men and women who pass the examination for which applications are now being received. The starting salaries range from $2,690 to $3,175 a year. Applicants must take a written examination designed to test aptitude for learning and adjusting to the job. No experience is required for grades GS-1, $2,690, and GS-2, both $2,690 to start.

One year of general office clerical experience is necessary to qualify for GS-3, $3,175. These rates are, respectively, $51 and $61 a week. It has been two years since the last test was opened. Apply to the U. S. Civil Service Commission, 641 Washington Street, New York 14, N. Y. until Thursday, June 11.

Present Lists Will Die

The registers of eligibles will supersede similar registers previously established. Persons who attained eligibility in the previous examination should reapply if still interested. A wide variety of clerical positions will be filled. Jobs may be filled in the correspondence, editorial, statistical, voucher auditing, mail and file, personnel or general fields. This examination will not be used for filling stenographer, clerk-stenographer, typist, clerk-typist, telephone operator, messenger, office machine operator or store-keeper positions.

Substitution For Experience

In lieu of experience required for the $61 job, a candidate may substitute study successfully completed in a resident school or institution as follows:
1. In an academic institution above high school level on the basis of one academic year of study for one year of experience.
2. In a business or secretarial school on the basis of 366 weeks

Written Test Now Required For Engineers

WASHINGTON, May 28—The U. S. Civil Service Commission announced that candidates for professional engineering positions at grades GS-5 ($4,480 a year) through GS-12 ($7,570) in all Federal agencies will be required to pass a written test if they do not meet the basic educational requirement of a bachelor's degree in engineering.

Not Deemed More Rigorous

The Commission emphasized that this change does not make the qualification requirements more rigorous, but provides a fairer method of determining whether persons without full engineering education are capable of performing professional work. Competitors will be permitted to use reference books during the examination. Candidates with a professional engineer's license need not take the written test, nor will persons without a bachelor's degree in engineering who are now serving in professional engineering positions in Federal agencies.

Meecham Asks for Ideas On Health Insurance

ALBANY, May 28—Edward Meacham, Director of Personnel Services for the State Civil Service Department, has asked state employees for their ideas on the forthcoming health insurance plan.

Speaking before a meeting of the Commerce Department chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, here last Wednesday, Mr. Meacham said his office was actively seeking a plan, as authorized by the recent session of the Legislature.

Association efforts were responsible for state employees receiving a pre-paid health insurance plan.

Mr. Meacham said his office was deluged with letters from aides asking for comprehensive insurance and he was interested to know how many workers would be interested in deductible insurance.

The state official reminded his listeners that the employees themselves would be paying partially for the plan and therefore should let their choice be known since they would, in the end, control the cost of any plan approved by the State.

It was the Department's hope, Mr. Meacham said, that the type of health-insurance program wanted would be determined within the next two or three months.

The Commerce chapter informed Mr. Meacham that it had gone on record as the first CSEA unit to advocate a catastrophic insurance program.

The other speaker for the evening was Paul Kyer, LEADER editor.

Election results in the chapter named Richard Kirk as new president. Other officers are Jeannette Lafayette, vice president; Helen Gibbons, treasurer, and Jacqueline Connelly, secretary.

Year-end reports were given by the following committee members: Insurance, Harold Rubin, Publicity, Rosemary Clarke; Paid-President Committee, Gordon Stedman; Membership, George Cooper; Social Activities, Virginia Catalano. Chapter Representative Mildred Meskil reported on legislation affecting employees during the last session.

Out-going president Edwin Roeder was presented with a scroll by Phil Florman, on behalf of the Commerce Chapter in appreciation of his efforts as President for two terms.

It was also announced that Mr. Roeder has been nominated for the office of President of the Capital District Conference of CSEA, Jeannette Lafayette as Secretary.

George M. Moore (left) and Frederick J. Lawton (right). The four compared the civil service system in the United States and New Zealand. Mr. Hunn was he 93rd civil service official from a foreign country to visit the Commission in Washington, D. C. Many of the civil service methods used in the United States have been adopted by other countries.

U.S. Clerk Jobs Open in Brooklyn

More Demand for Services

Last week Mayor Wagner announced the calling of a conference of public officials from the metropolitan area surrounding New York City. The regional conference will discuss the problems relating to transit, transportation, highways, water and air pollution, waste disposal and recreational facilities.

The new industrial developments, together with economic and population changes which have occurred during the last decade have made the conference necessary. In speaking at a Lions' club meeting in Greenwich, Connecticut, Mayor Wagner said in reference to the developing communal problems in the metropolitan area, that the cost of government was increasing rapidly because people are demanding more service. This is particularly true on the local level where government costs have zoomed upward in the last twenty years.

In 1923 government payroll for local services were $3,049,000,000 and in 1950 they have risen to $7,538,000,000, greater by far than the payroll cost of State government and almost as great as the total payroll cost of all Federal service including the military. This is an important factor in our political and economic picture and Mayor Wagner regrets that enough attention is not being given to it. He told the Lions' club that national and international problems seem to be getting more public attention than municipal affairs.

The growth and mass of municipal services is of great significance to the Civil Service Employees Association. It is not only an area of potential expansion for our organization but one in which many problems of public personnel will have to be resolved.

"The value of the credit union to employees of the division and its related units, and their families, cannot be illustrated better than in the case of Mr. Lowitt," said President Alexander Adams. "He arranged to buy a co-operative apartment and found the credit union an excellent source of aid. He was able to arrange a loan at an extremely attractive rate."

He was presented with a pair of brass dishes.

Brooklyn Vet Loses Commissioner Post

ALBANY, May 28—The dismissal of a deputy commissioner of the State Athletic Commission by the Harriman administration has been upheld by the Court of Appeals.

The deputy commissioner, Albin M. Erikson, had claimed protection in his post as a veteran.

The high court last week unambiguously confirmed a previous decision by the Appellate Division which held that Erikson was not protected by veteran's job-retention rights.

Erikson, who resides in Brooklyn, was appointed to the $7,200-a-year post by Governor Dewey in 1953. He was dismissed in April, 1955, by Commission Chairman Julius Helfand.

A World War I veteran, Erikson had argued that his dismissal violated the Civil Service Law, which provides that war veterans may not be removed except for incompetency or misconduct, and only after a hearing.

The law exempts private secretaries, cashiers or deputies of any official or department and the Administration had argued that as a "deputy commissioner" Erikson was exempted.

In September, 1955, Erikson, who was not given a hearing after his dismissal, won a State Supreme Court Order for reinstatement with back pay. The Appellate Division reversed the lower court's decision.

Attorney Wins Suit To Collect Fee

An action to compel the City Treasurer to pay legal fees earned by the attorney who received a favorable decision in the matter of Monahan v. Seraffie from the Court of Appeals was decided in favor of the attorney by Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Auriello.

Suit by the attorney was instituted upon the City Treasurer's failure to release the checks drawn for the attorney. The original action concerned an agreement covering prevailing rates of pay. The employees involved are stationary firemen.

Long and Mandell Discuss Promotions

Milton Mandell, chief, test management unit, central office, United States Civil Service Commission, and Dr. Theodore H. Lang, Deputy Personnel Director of New York City, were guest commentators at a panel discussion held by the Metropolitan chapter, Society for Personnel Administration.

The panel's subject was: "A Critical Look at Promotion Programming in the Federal Service." Need for promotion planning was emphasized.

Eugene McConnell, chapter president, said that mandatory promotion bills recently introduced in Congress made the topic timely.

Teams' Thinking Brings $150,000 A Year Savings

ALBANY, May 28—A State agency expects to save about $150,000 annually as the result of the adoption of an employee-suggested changes in administrative procedures.

The savings are expected in the administrative expenses of the Division of Employment as the result of a new employee-developed system for preparing pay orders for benefit checks.

The new system, which went into effect April 13, was devised by a division executive director's steering committee headed by Karel F. Ficek, of the division's Planning Office.

Members of the committee included Stephen Mayo, field operations director; Fred Green, director of unemployment insurance accounts; T. Harlow Andrews, director of employment security finance; and representatives of two other agencies, Donald Axelrod of the Division of Budget and Edward O'Connell of Audit and Control.

The new system reduces the number of steps involved in the preparation of benefit checks from eleven to eight and ups the percentage of payments on time to a point near 100 per cent.

Under the more cumbersome old system late payments were often made to between 10 to 40 per cent of the accounts, depending on the number of holidays in the month.

Details of the history of the new plan were outlined in the division's May newsletter by Mr. Ficek, who said:

"Basically, what we accomplished by the procedural development is the elimination of three 'control files' located outside the local office—that is, files which had to be consulted before a benefit payment could be made . . ."

According to Mr. Ficek the Planning Office is not resting on its laurels. In February of this year they began a study of further improvements which they hope will make the new system obsolete in a year or two and lead to an even faster benefit payment process.

CORRECTION CAPTAINS PROTEST PROMOTION TITLE

The captains in the New York City Correction Department, have filed an appeal through their attorney, Samuel Resnicoff, with the Classification Board, protesting the position inclusion of assistant deputy warden as a promotional position.

Prior to the Career and Salary Plan, captains were eligible to compete promotionally for deputy warden (male) and deputy superintendent (female). Under the Career and Salary Plan, assistant warden became an intermediate promotional position. The captains contend this new position is unnecessary, since they are presently performing the duties of an assistant deputy warden.

Form Goes Haywire As Civil Service Triumphs

DETERMINED to rise in government employ, Mrs. G. W. Winterscheidt, competitive employee, not only attended strictly and capably to her work but studied books to gain knowledge needed for filling higher jobs. She made progress, but it was slow. Overnight success does not attend civil service employment.

She got a day's leave, as compensatory time off. She wondered if she should stay home to study still harder for promotion possibility or — it was such a nice day — get a little fresh air, and enjoy the sunshine.

She got into her car and started off. She went in a particular direction, for the road was best that way, also the scenery most wonderful. First thing she knew, she found herself in Agua Caliente, home of a fine racetrack. She joined the crowd rushing for the entrance.

Agua Caliente has a special handicapping pool, more venturesome and (sometimes) more profitable than the daily double. The bet is on the horses to win the last five races. She bet. She won. The payoff? It was $11,188.80, the second largest in North American track history. How did she do it? By computation, or playing the favorites (chalk)? No, she picked the horses that had the sweetest names.

The continental record was set in 1954, also at Agua Caliente, when a $2 daily double ticket paid $12,724.80. Mrs. Winterscheidt was at work in San Ysidro that day, and besides, the two horses that won had ugly names.

It all goes to show that government employees cannot justly complain that prosperity is something enjoyed only by those who don't work for government.

Levitt's Help Toward Social Security Welcome

CONGRATULATIONS to State Comptroller Levitt for his public support of Social Security for public employees in New York State.

As head of the State Retirement System and a member of the Governor's official family, he lends great weight toward attaining Social Security coordination, in the Legislature next year.

Congratulations also to the Civil Service Employees Association for its perseverance on Social Security. While the Legislature did not approve the CSEA-sponsored bill this year, victory is in sight. The Comptroller's proposed bill parallels that of the Association.

HIP Serves 2,500,000

The Health Insurance Plan of Greater New York (HIP) is providing about $250,000,000 fully prepaid physicians' services a year to subscribers and their families through group practice units. Dr. George Baehr, president and medical director, reported at the ninth annual meeting, in the new offices at 825 Madison Avenue. The services are given by 32 medical groups located in various parts of New York City and in Nassau and Columbia counties.

More than 60,000 men, women and children were enrolled in the plan since the last annual meeting. Dr. Baehr said, bringing the total enrollment to 493,000.

HIP members also receive annually hundreds of thousands of prepaid laboratory procedures, physical therapy treatments, and visiting nurse services. Dr. Baehr stated.

Report by Reid

William Reid, chairman of the board of directors, reported that the Plan has an annual premium income of $17,560,000, and assets of $6,595,347. During 1953, the company completed repayment of loans totalling $855,000.

New York City employees are covered by HIP on a 50-50 contributory basis.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SOCIAL SECURITY ARTICLE RAISES READER'S EYEBROWS

Editor, The LEADER:

I read with interest H. J. Bernard's article on Social Security in his "Looking Inside", column, issue of May 22.

Frankly, I'm confused. Is Mr. Bernard arguing against Social Security for State employees? Is he arguing against supplementation? He should clarify his position.

After much discussion among members, The Civil Service Employees Association adopted a resolution calling for full supplementation of Social Security benefits on top of retirement benefits, with two optional methods of payment by the employees of the Social Security tax to be provided.

Is Mr. Bernard throwing so much doubt on a problem that most State employees have already decided?

His quoting so extensively from the anti-Social Security report of the Chicago Retirement Board almost indicates that he thinks well of that Board's report.

I and, no doubt many other State employees, would appreciate some enlightenment.

RICHARD S. TOLHURST
Albany, N. Y.

Mr. Bernard's comment: "The purpose of the article was plainly stated in the article itself: 'Thus an idea may be obtained of the conflict of interests and attitudes.' The headline brought out the same idea: 'Social Security Pros and Cons Hotly Debated Throughout the U. S.' It is sound journalism to present the facts and opinions on both sides; that is in line with the American credo of freedom of speech.

The correspondent is probably aware that the Commerce Department chapter of the CSEA passed a resolution commending the LEADER for prior Social Security coverage. I did all the research, and wrote all the news stories and articles that constituted that coverage. The Commerce chapter endorses the Association's backing of supplementation. I myself favor supplementation. That much could have been grasped from attentive reading of the article about which the correspondent inquires. Supplementation would cost both the employee and the employer more. I commented in the article, 'However, if the employees are willing to stand the equal increased cost, there would be an inducement to the employer to do likewise.' That argument does not sound to me like any ground for suspecting I was in veiled opposition to supplementation."

DIDN'T LIKE STATE'S INVESTIGATOR TEST

Editor, The LEADER:

I took a State examination for Investigator on February 18. The questions asked were unfair to the average investigator.

Why this elimination contest at $3 an examination? Why not send these examiners to the $64,000-question program and earn their $10,000 or $15,000 on a legitimate basis? I speak as an investigator with the state and Federal Governments and I total 34 years in civil service.

This is not a case of cold feet that H. J. Bernard discussed recently in his Looking Inside column. It's a case of cold turkey.

ARTHUR F. BOYCE
Loudenville, N. Y.

MODERN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Cities Helter-Skelter on Garages

FEW AMERICAN CITIES have systematic arrangements for centralized maintenance of all their cars, trucks, and other motor equipment, says the International City Managers' Association. It sampled 305 cities.

The survey was limited to cities that operated some type of central garage.

The survey indicated that 7 per cent of the cities put their central garages in the public works, streets, or engineering departments. Only 7 per cent reported that the garage was part of the finance or purchasing department, and only 18 per cent said they have a separate department for motor vehicle equipment, the remaining 4 per cent said the garage function had been assigned to various departments.

What A County Did About Clerk Shortage

The need for typists and stenographers reached such a peak that Los Angeles County developed a new student-recruitment program. The county holds examinations at school about six weeks before high school graduation. Job offers are made within a few days after the results of the written examinations and oral interviews are known.

"This new plan," says the Civil Service Assembly, "provides a minimum of waiting and uncertainty for candidates and also allows the county to select qualified students before they have received offers of employment from industrial or other government agencies."

The eligible has the assurance of knowing that a job is waiting for him as soon as he is graduated.

Two such campaigns for clerical workers have been held. A total of 1,112 students took the examinations, 514 successfully passed; those who survived the interviews numbered 359, and 218 were appointed. The unappointed eligibles need not be disappointed, as they remain on the list for possible future call.

High calibre personnel were obtained and the county was repaid many times over for the expense, a county official said.

Can't Satisfy Everybody

Saginaw, Mich., no longer believes that all complainants are satisfied with the way in which their complaints are handled. The city clerk writes citizens who have complained, tells them what action has been taken, and encloses a post card addressed to the city manager, so that the complainant can reply whether or not he is satisfied.

During two months, 29 post cards were returned and all but four commended favorably on the action that had been taken.

When a card comes back saying that the writer is not satisfied, a further attempt is made to meet his objection.

Alert on Protecting Civil Rights

The American Federation of Government Employees formed a Legal Rights Fund to finance court cases involving the rights of government employees. The extent to which a particular case concerns a principle affecting other government workers will be the test as to whether the fund may be provided legal fees.

The fund will be administered by a board of trustees. The fund is a separate entity financed by voluntary contributions from individual members and local lodges.

Lawyers Being Trained

A grant from the Fund for the Republic has also made possible the training of a panel of lawyers to defend federal employees and industrial workers in security risk cases. Two legal groups, the New York County Lawyers Association and the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, are administering the program. About 25 attorneys have already been trained by a group. Most of those trained have assisted with an actual security risk case under the supervision of the training group.

"We have reason to believe that in many security cases persons under charges have found it practicable to obtain counsel because of the special training needed to defend these cases properly," said an officer of the Fund for the Republic, or "because of the expense involved, or because of a combination of reasons. The panel will assist in obtaining counsel in such cases."

Recruiting Programs

In a program to recruit new employees for New Jersey, interviewers were sent to population centers in the state to talk to college students home on vacation. More than 250 prospects were interviewed in three days. The state is making a drive to recruit applicants for positions as social case workers, accountants, engineers, nurses, physicians, and pharmacists.

The State of New York has broadened its program for recruiting college students into state employment by admitting juniors to an examination. For the first time, students in the third year of college may apply and take an exam designed to select eligibles for many entrance-level professional and technical positions. President Alexander A. Falk of the State Civil Service Commission announced the new policy, but said appointments would be made effective after the candidate's graduation from college. Salaries start at about $4,000 a year.

To help meet an urgent government-wide need for professional engineers and certain physical scientists, the U.S. Civil Service Commission has raised starting salaries. The Commission has the authority to make above-minimum pay increases under legislation adopted by Congress in 1954 to help the Federal government get its share of critically needed personnel.

POPULAR AIDE RETIRES: Mrs. Norah McAuley, well-known telephone operator at the State Office Bldg. in 80 Centre St., New York, is retiring after 25-years of service. Known as the "Grand Lady of the Switchboard," she was honored by her fellow telephone operators at a dinner in the Hotel New Yorker, where she received several gifts. Mrs. McAuley is a member of the New York City Chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association, and received the best wishes of her many friends in the chapter.

(A unit is defined as the credit allowed toward graduation for the successful completion of the course of study for a subject in which the class meets throughout the school year 5 periods a week of from 40 to 60 minutes, with outside preparation). No credit may be given, however, for training which has been obtained only in the basic skills of shorthand or typing or refresher courses.

Nature of Written Test

A written examination will test aptitude not only for learning but also for adjusting to the duties of the position. It will include: alphabetizing, computations and arithmetic reasoning, name and number comparison, questions requiring a knowledge of words, questions testing the ability to read and properly interpret material, spelling and grammar.

About two and one-half hours will be required for the examination.

Sample test questions will be sent to applicants with the card of admission to the test.

Candidates will be notified of the time and place to report for the written examination, which will be held at Brooklyn, Flushing, Jamaica and Manhattan.

Competitors will be rated on the written examination on a scale of 100. A higher standard will be required for eligibility for GS-3 than for GS-1 and 2.

On the examination as a whole, competitors must make a rating of at least 70.

Two Separate Registers

For GS-3 positions involving numerical ability, such as accounting, fiscal, payroll, actuarial, and statistical clerk, jobs will be restricted to applicants who pass the test of arithmetic computations and reasoning, while jobs involving verbal ability, such as correspondence and editorial clerk, certification, will be restricted to applicants who pass the verbal abilities test.

Two registers will be established, a single one for GS-1 and 2, the other for grade GS-3. Names of applicants may be placed on both if they attain eligibility.

Applicants must have reached their eighteenth birthday by June

11. There is no maximum age limit.

Physical Requirements

Applicants must be physically able to perform the duties of the position. Good distant vision in at least one eye, and ability to read without strain printed material the size of typewritten characters are required. Glasses are permitted. Ability to hear at a conversational level, with or without a hearing aid, is required for most positions; however, some positions may be suitable for the deaf. In most instances, an amputation of arm, hand, leg, or foot will not disqualify an applicant for appointment, although it may be necessary that this condition be compensated by use of satisfactory prosthesis. Any physical condition which would cause the applicant to be a hazard to himself or others will disqualify him for appointment.

Get card form 5000-AB. Fill it out completely. Show the title and number (2-27-55) of the announcement. Also indicate where you wish to take the written test.

Record Low Rate Cited Under CSEA Life Insurance

A member asked the Civil Service Employees Association: "Where may a State employee under age 29 buy $1,200 term life insurance for 30 cents a month?"

The Association replied: Members of the CSEA of that age may do so at that rate, through the Association's Group Life Plan. Older members enjoy proportionately lower rates."

The CSEA Group Life Insurance Plan stated in 1939, more than 30,000 CSEA members participate. More than $8,000,000 has been paid to beneficiaries of deceased members.

"Payments are made to the beneficiaries usually within 24 hours of time of death," said the Association.

Steady Improvement

The CSEA Group Life Plan has been constantly improved through issuance of additional amount of insurance without increased premiums. Double indemnity for accidental death has been added—also waiver of premium in event of permanent and total disability occurring prior to age 60. The plan provides for broad protection—pays for death due to any cause whatsoever.

"There is no medical examination required if application is made within the first 120 days of State employment; otherwise a short form medical is given at the expense of the insurance company.

"Premiums under the plan are paid through the convenient payroll deduction system.

Any State employee interested in additional protection of his dependents and loved ones should get the details of this opportunity. Applications and explanatory literature may be obtained from any CSEA chapter or from Association headquarters, 8 Elk Street, Albany, N. Y.

Metro Unit Ask Automatic Membership In Conferences

The Metropolitan New York Conference of the Civil Service Employees Association has passed a resolution asking that all CSEA chapters be automatically obliged to join the Association conference of their respective areas.

Henry Shemin, retiring Metropolitan Conference chairman, has forwarded the resolution, passed at the group's May 17 meeting, to John F. Powers, CSEA president. Mr. Shemin declared in his letter that the conferences had proved their worth and should fit into the organizational structure of the Association as a necessary working part.

Mr. Shemin asked that the resolution be considered by delegates to the Association's next annual meeting. It reads:

RESOLVED: that all necessary amendments be made to the Constitution and by-laws of the Civil Service Employees Association and/or the Conferences of the Association so that from the rebates made by the Association to each chapter, the sum of ten cents for each member of such chapter be deducted and forwarded to the respective Conferences and that all chapters be automatically constituted as members of the Conference in the area in which the chapters are located.

Manager Helps Rescue Men in Hudson Mishap

Theron Yawn of Staatsburg, manager of the New York State Department of Labor's Employment Service in Poughkeepsie, fishing for shad in the Hudson, off Hyde Park, while accompanied by Mortimore Burger and Cecil Horan, heard shouts for help. The men quickly pulled in about 300 feet of their net, in which they had already caught about 200 shad, cut off the rest of the net, and rushed to answer the call.

Down river, they saw four men and a boy holding on to the hull of an overturned boat. They pulled Forest Allen and six-year-old Daniel LeHan, Jr., out of the water. Sighting another boat, Mr. Yawn and his friends shouted to it for help. The occupants of the other boat pulled the three remaining men from the water and rowed them ashore. Others rescued were Daniel LeHan, Sr., Rollie Marshall, and Wesley Jones.

State police later said that Mr. LeHan and his party had caught about 300 shad when their boat capsized. The fish, however, all fell back into the water.

Farming Out Persists; U. S. Threatens Extension

GOVERNMENT continues to let contracts for work that could well be done, and at much lower cost, by its civil service employees. Long has the fight against this practice been waged, but with little progress.

New York City and the Transit Authority, as well as other agencies in the City, persist in the practice, though employee organizations have been bitterly opposing it at every opportunity. Not only is the public charged more than it ought to pay, but naturally civil service appointment and promotion possibilities are seriously curtailed.

Now the House of Representatives has deleted from the appropriation bill a provision that would have assured government facilities continuing in operation, instead of the work being done under outside contracts. The Government Employees Council is trying to get the Senate to restore the provision, which was included in last year's appropriation bill.

So the employees must fight not only for better opportunities but even against loss of jobs.

Gregory Sworn In For a Full Term

George Gregory, Jr. was sworn in by Mayor Robert F. Wagner at City Hall for a full term as a member of the New York City Civil Service Commission. The term expires on May 31, 1962.

For the past two years, Mr. Gregory has filled an unexpired term in the revised Commission. The other Commissioners are Joseph Schechter, Chairman, who also serves as Director of the Department of Personnel, and Anthony M. Mauriello, serving a six-year term that expires May 31, 1960.

Guide Published For Commissioners

Personnel report No. 562, entitled "What Every Civil Service Commissioner Needs To Know," attractively bound in heavy bond paper, was published recently by the Civil Service Assembly.

The booklet contains a foreword by Kenneth O. Warner, director, Civil Service Assembly, and three articles by key civil service personnel. It contains practical information prepared especially for commissioners.

The price is $2. Civil Service Assembly members may purchase it for $1.50, and anyone may obtain 10 or more copies at $1 each. Address to the Civil Service Assembly 1313 East 60th Street, Chicago 37, Ill.

Patrolman Reinstated

Patrolman Thomas O. Murphy has been reinstated in the New York City Police Department, with back pay from November 30, 1953.

He was dismissed on the last day of his probationary period. The Police Commissioner relied upon a resolution of the City Civil Service Commission that revoked Mr. Murphy's eligibility on the grounds that the patrolman had not lived in the City for the required minimum of three years immediately preceding appointment.

Mr. Murphy, represented by Attorney Samuel Resnicoff, brought suit. Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Aurelio upheld Mr. Resnicoff's contention that the Commission acted illegally in disqualifying Mr. Murphy without giving him a hearing.

Eliza, Eva, Simon Legree Appear At A & G Soiree

By FOSTER POTTER

Workers-turned-actors in Agriculture and Markets sang, danced and talked their way through five acts of a musical travesty on Uncle Tom's Cabin at their spring soiree.

The cast of 20 cavorted through five acts on the stage of Germania Hall in North Troy, May 17, as they portrayed their own version of the famous play. Only they called it "Uncle Tom McEvoy's Cabin" in deference to the Department's executive officer, Gerald L. McEvoy.

There was Dan Carey, the kindly but impoverished slave owner who was forced to sell Uncle Tom down the river despite the impassioned pleas of his wife, their son Ray Adams Carey, and their daughter, Little Eva.

Uncle Tom hitchhiked to the slave market with the aid of a State expense account and sold himself and another slave, Eliza, at auction. Their new owner, Simon Legree Lyons, shipped them off to his plantation where the whippings and beatings administered by the cruel and ruthless overseer, J. Earl Kelly, led them to plot their escape.

The Slaves and Kelly

All the slaves sang "In Kelly's gaze there is no praise, his answer's always NO!" Topsy and Eliza pondered musically on what life would be like as a clerk or a stenographer. They conjectured on the clock punching routine, writing and copying all day "for some jerk, to help him to tick," scrimping and scraping and borrowing to live on inadequate pay and daring St. Peter to call them because they owed their souls to Retirement.

Kelly confided to Simon Legree

Lyons that he was the highest paid overseer of slaves in the whole South and jeered that "I fixed my own pay; that's why." If the slaves made good their escape across the ice-filled river he threatened to downgrade the other half of the employees in Agriculture and Markets who were overlooked in the first survey.

Overseer Kelly and Slavecatcher Morgan used pink stuffed "bloodhounds" in their chase of the fugitives but the slaves traveled the sickening underground railway all the way back to Dan Carey's plantation where they found Little Eva dying. Of course Little Eva didn't really die because John Young's props committee was unable to rig up a sling to carry her to heaven.

Carey staved off the bullwhip carrying Kelly, proclaimed no more downgrading surveys for his

'Salute to Joe Curry' Held At Yonkers, Scroll Given

On May 17th, Joe and Mrs. Curry were guests of honor at a dinner attended by a large group of Joe's friends from Westchester, Albany, New York City and Long Island. Held at Steven Phillips' Restaurant in Yonkers, the occasion marked a "Salute to Joe Curry" in recognition of his outstanding career as Assistant Employment Security Superintendent, and his recent promotion to Superintendent of the new Long Island District.

Grace Nulty, Chairman of the Committee sponsoring the event, acted as Mistress of Ceremonies, and Superintendent Herbert A. Howe made the formal presentation of a handsome Testimonial Scroll which was designed and hand-executed by Lou Murray.

Among the speakers were Mr. M. Joseph Tierney, Upstate Director, Edward M. Caine and Peter Fishman, Assistant Superintendents, as well as Westchester Local Office Representatives, who paid brief tributes on behalf of their individual Staffs.

Mr. Tierney's speech, as well as those of the others, made manifest their appreciation, not only of Joe Curry's exceptional administrative abilities, but also of his consistent championship of the "little guy." They voiced the gratitude and affection of the many people he has done so much to help.
