CONTEST DEADLINE
WILL BE APRIL 26
PROFESSOR SAYS

To date but two manuscript have been handed in for consideration in the Leah Lovenheim prize essay contest according to Dr. Harry H. Hastings, chairman of the English department. Compositions must be handed in on or before Wednesday, April 26 Dr. Hastings stated.

The award of twenty-five dollars is the annual offering of Jerome Lovenheim of Amsterdam, in honor of his mother, Leah Lovenheim.

The rules governing the submission of essays to the contest are: 1. That the prize be awarded for best prose composition submitted by an undergraduate; 2. That the manuscript should be from 1500 to 5000 words in length; and, 3. That special credit will be given for originality of thought and theme. All manuscripts should be signed with a fictitious name and accompanied by an envelope in which are given the title of the essay, the fictitious name, and the actual name of the author.

Manuscripts should be left in room 34 of Richardson hall. The contest will be judged by a committee who will award "honorable mentions" at their discretion.

THE COLLEGIATE WHIRL

We learn from one of our contemporaries that disobedient freshmen at Roanoke college are dealt with in no uncertain manner. The upperclassmen have organized the freshmen into a Goldfish club. The requirements for admission state that a prospective member must swallow one live goldfish.

From various sources we gather the following statistics: Over 2,000 wads of gum were removed from the library tables during the spring clean-up at the University of Texas. At Massachusetts Institute of Technology 40,000 keys are needed to open the locks of classrooms and laboratories where valuable scientific equipment is kept. Nearly 20,500 apples were sold at Boston University within five months.

From the Catholic university Tower, we receive news to the following effect: 1. That at the University of Texas, there is a predominance of the "dreadful female" who stalks her prey in the library.

2. Denison university women show that "walking dates" have a margin of 62 per cent over the other types. Church dates are not uncommon and are increasing, and movies are out of the question.

3. A depression club has been organized at the University of Chicago. This group vetoes any "dreadful female" from dates, if said female consumes more than one "coke" and two cigarettes on a date. The girls are advised to bring their own.

State college men may well join their intercollegiate mates by the addition of House dates.

A professor at the University of Alabama, we learn, from the Reserve Weekly, has mastered 140 languages, all the tongues on the face of the earth. The Weekly comments on the situation by saying how dreadful it must be when the professor's wife wishes to call him some name which she does not want him to understand. We add to that by saying how "nice and sweet" he can make an ugly name appear when he addresses said wife.

The Dean of the school of speech at Northern university claims that "slang keeps human expression alive." There is nothing undignified and immoral about the usage of slang, he says.

STUDENT QUARTET

A student quartet, featuring William Williams and John Black, special students, Phillip Ricciardi, '34 and William Jones, '35, will be presented at the weekly student-faculty tea on Wednesday afternoon. A MIRACLE... You sit at home in easy chairs, behind closed doors, while from a sound-proof room . . . perhaps thousands of miles away . . . comes the music that you listen to on the Chesterfield program.

That sealed room in the Columbia Broadcasting Headquarters sends out good music and good songs 6 nights a week to 50 million people from coast to coast . . . with the voice of Norman Brokenshire . . . just about the best announcer in this country . . . to tell you "Chesterfields are milder and taste better."

Why is the Chesterfield Program broadcast 6 nights a week over a coast-to-coast network reaching 50 million people?

Because we want every smoker in this country to know that Chesterfield cigarettes are milder.

We want to tell every smoker from coast to coast that Chesterfield cigarettes taste better . . .

We want everyone to know that they can depend on a LIGGETT & MYERS product.
