State Is Urged to End Confusion On Releasing Employees When Excessive Heat Menaces Health

ALBANY, July 21 — The Civil Service Employees Association has urged the State Civil Service Commission to overcome some apparent confusion among operating officials as to the release of workers during short periods when abnormally hot weather becomes a menace to health.

There is a wide distribution of State workers in scores of buildings and offices, some of which have been hurriedly converted from garages or warehouses to administrative offices.

State buildings are not subject to the health rules or safety inspections prescribed for private employment. In the Albany area alone there are more than 40 different buildings housing office and other State workers.

Wants Authority for Officials
The Association urges that due to the wide variety of conditions surrounding State employment, the officials in charge have discretion to release their workers when excessive heat creates a health hazard.

President Jesse D. McFarland, of the CSEA, in a letter to the Civil Service Commission, wrote: "The serious heat wave which has prevailed for the past week has brought many just complaints of menace to the health of State workers housed in buildings so constructed or located that excessive temperatures cannot be avoided."

Immediate Notice Asked

"In view of the fact that like abnormal conditions may occur again, and the fact that many private employers have recognized the need for curtailment of work during such periods, we urge that immediate notice be given to department heads that when, in their discretion, heat conditions inimical to the health exist, they may release their employees for the period of excessive heat, in all except critical services requiring maintenance of permanent staffs. "Since the abnormal weather conditions referred to are not within the control of human beings, it is obvious that absence from work under such conditions, when approved by the department head, is properly chargeable to the unusual and uncontrollable weather conditions.

"The release here sought for public employees is wholly in the interest of maintaining the maximum of physical efficiency of employees throughout the work year."

DON'T REPEAT THIS

Dewey, the Man, As Seen by Friend and Foe

THE OVERWHELMING bitterness which met Governor Dewey in some quarters at the recent GOP convention; the spate of newspaper headlines which pictured him as the engineer of a slick, smooth, irresistible juggernaut machine; the general picture of him as a somewhat stiff, somewhat forbidding, somewhat lofty, intensely egocentric character... has hidden the man himself. There is a man Dewey who is very different from the politician Dewey, in many characteristics so different as to emphasize only the dramatic complexity of his inner mechanism.

The difference between the two pictures of Dewey can be dramatized by contrasting him with Harry S. Truman, who is the same Harry Truman basically whether in Independence, Missouri, or in the White House. For example, the "forbidding" Dewey has a rich, subtle and even ribald sense of humor. He tells jokes with a stage comedian's careful sense of timing, and in extemporaneous give-and-take, he is able to build humor out of any current situation which might require it. The public got a small glimpse of this ability during his television

$9,394 Job In DPUI Promotion

ALBANY, July 21 — A promotion examination in the title of principal examiner of methods and procedures will be held to fill a vacancy existing in Albany. The position pays $7,754 to $9,394 a year in five annual salary increases. The application fee is $5.

The exam is open only to DPUI employees who have served a year or more in the title of associate examiner of methods and procedures.

There will be a written examination. In addition service record rating and seniority will count. Heaviest weight will be given to training and experience, which means an evaluation of the candidate's past education and work experience in relation to the minimum qualifications for the position.

The written test will include questions on organization analysis; surveying operations; developing procedures and forms; writing, clearing, installing, testing and evaluating procedures; forms control; office equipment and machines; management and supervision.

ONE NAME ON SHOE ELIGIBLE ROSTER

ALBANY, July 21 — One name appears on the open competitive list in the title of industrial foreman (shoe lasting), Department of Correction, the State Civil Service Commission announced last week. Irving Stander of Brooklyn passed the examination. Three other persons were disqualified.

The position pays $3571 to $4372 and includes the emergency compensation.

Move Gains to Increase Pensions of Widows Where Husbands Are Killed on Duty

Strong arguments by representatives of policemen, detectives and firemen prompted the Board of Estimate to lay over until the September 11 meeting a proposal to equalize the pension benefits of widows of policemen and firemen killed in the line of duty, after the Board at an executive session had voted the proposal down.

At present the widows receive one-half of the final average pay as an annual pension. A bill passed by the City Council provides that one-half of top-grade pay shall apply in all cases. Thus widows of firemen and policemen in the lowest grade would receive the same as those of men in the highest grade.

Tini and Sullivan Speak

Anthony J. Tini, financial-recording secretary, Uniformed Firemen's Association, and Richard Sullivan, vice-president, Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, spoke on behalf of the line organizations. The Uniformed Fire Officers Association authorized Mr. Tini to support the bill before the Board on its behalf.

Mr. Tini said that the pension law established in 1940 was a hurried job and that it was realized that experience would show the need for improvement. He added, it is unfair that the widows of men who run the same risks shall receive unequal benefits.

Mr. Sullivan gave examples of ten men killed in the line of duty in his department, whose widows receive the lesser amounts because their husbands were not in the highest pay grade.

Who Are Affected

The bill affects only those men who have been in the departments less than eight years, since three years' service is required before one attains top pay grade, and the average is based on five years.

Councilman Stanley M. Isaacs

urged the Board to approve the bill. He stressed the hazards of police and fire work, and said that they exceed those of other City departments.

Stanley M. Krasowski, president, Sanitationman Local 111-A, Building Service Employees Union, AFL, and the Citizens Budget Commission supported the bill.

Small Cost, Says Halley
Council President Rudolph Halley said he's studied the financial aspects and found that since 1940

the liberalization would have cost the City only $5,000 more for the Police Department and $1,000 more for the Fire Department.

The Board had received a report from Ralph L. Van Name, prior to his retirement as secretary of the NYC Employees Retirement System, opposing the bill because it would base pension on a salary not received.
Comptroller Lazarus Joseph moved that the resolution be put over until September.

Daniel J. Cashin, representative of the Office of the Secretary of the Army, in charge of the recruitment in the northeast area of U. S., stressed the attractiveness of the $3,245 jobs, with which go free housing and free transportation. Meals cost about $40 a month at the Army mess halls.

CIVIL SERVICE

PRELLER COMMISSION, revising State civil service law, trying to figure out what "philosophy" it should take. Some members of Commission becoming worried at what they consider slow progress, and feel that something had better be ready for next session of Legislature, or else lots of questions are going to be asked why it has taken two years "just to get started". . . . Actually, Preller group is far beyond that, has amassed huge quantities of materials, is listening to everybody who has any ideas on civil service. . . . Good guess: there will be proposed legislation dealing with local civil service and with classification. . . .

STATE Employment Service employees are an efficient lot. Take placements: The general public thinks the NYSES places only mechanical or industrial workers. But here are some of the professional jobs the placement people have managed to get filled: a psychologist as director of copy research in a large advertising agency; an $8,500 public relations man and a $7,000 comptroller, both with a national youth organization; a film editor at $6,700 with a national TV network, a director of personnel for an association of neighborhood centers, a $5,000 case supervisor in the child guidance clinic of a leading college school of social work, a Westchester County school principal at $6,500 now earning $10,000; a $5,200 advertising agency fashion copy writer; an $8,500 psychologist in an upstate university; a $7,280 office manager and accountant for a pen manufacturing company; two $8,000 deans in a New York City university; numerous technical writers and illustrators at $5,000 to $7,000.

DOES a college degree entitle its possessor to at least fair compensation? NYC thinks not. It has thought that way a long time. Now it is asking for applications for the job of senior dietician—senior, no less and offering $2,781 a year, or $53.50 a week, about $43 take-home pay. The requirements are "a baccalaureate degree in home economics, with major studies in foods, nutrition, or institutional management, plus one year of experience as a dietician." The City seems impressed with the value of specialized education, when it uses those words. But when it offers only what private industry pays typists, it certainly pooh-poohs the value of a college degree.

EDITORIAL

The 40-Hour Week Makes a Slow Start

THE 40-hour week, announced last week as a coming reality for those NYC employees who don't yet enjoy it, can mark a major step in government. Those who will get the 40-hour week include members of the uniformed forces—patrolmen and firemen—who have traditionally worked far longer hours. No employee will have his pay reduced as a result of the shorter hours worked.

The announced plan of heading for a final 40 hours is too slow, but the idea of getting started is good.

Recognition by New York City that the 40-hour week is a desirable objective ought to give other government units something to think about. For example: Is not the 40-hour week, without loss of pay, a desirable objective for those employees of the State Mental Hygiene Department who now work 48 hours?

Rockland State Awards Go to Three Employees

ORANGETOWN, July 21—The highest awards that can be earned by devotion to duty on the part of employees of Rockland State Hospital were bestowed in a ceremony held in conjunction with the annual Field Day at the hospital athletic field.

The top honor—the Low Award—went to Ruth E. Goodfield, R.N., supervisor of Bldg. 60. Miss Goodfield was $100 richer because of her selection as a truly outstanding nurse by a special administrative committee.

William C. Patterson, Bldg. 17, and Ann Barnum, Bldg. 34, divided a $100 award provided by an anonymous donor for the attendants whose work was considered most meritorious for the year 1951.

Frederic G. Carnochan, member of the Board of Visitors, presented both the nurse's honorarium and the tokens of appreciation to the attendants. His well-chosen remarks were carried over a loud-speaker system to the large turnout of employees and patients attending the Field Day gala.

In explaining why Miss Goodfield was chosen to receive the Low Award, Mr. Carnochan pointed out that she had established and maintained an "atmosphere of cooperation" with the personnel of Bldg. 60 which resulted in continued improvement in the care given to the patients.

Efficiency Lauded

"Her efficiency as an organizer," he said, "her spontaneity and ability to devise new methods, and her initiative in carrying the action to completion, are outstanding examples of creativeness within the framework of a large institution."

"She has devised and instituted a training course for new attendants, conducted not only by her but by all the ward charges in her building. This training course has become the model for similar procedures in other buildings at R. S. H.

"The high degree of success achieved by Miss Goodfield is intimately tied up with her ability to understand and to listen to the problems expressed by her co-workers without, however, ever losing her authority."

In picking Mr. Patterson and Mrs. Barnum for the attendants' honors, Mr. Carnochan declared, the committee in charge carefully considered numerous recommendations from the various services. In the end, the choices were unanimous.

It was determined that both these attendants had contributed outstandingly to their patients' welfare by their considerate attitude and by the sort of care which can be learned only through experience.

Since 1942

Mr. Patterson has been a R. S. H. attendant since April 27, 1942, and all of his service has been in Bldg. 17. He passed the official retirement age of 70 some time ago, but upon the recommendation of the hospital administration his retention in service was approved.

Mrs. Barnum entered the employment of R. S. H. on May 2, 1935. Like Mr. Patterson, she has consistently demonstrated that she possessed the ideal temperament, the efficiency and the spirit of cooperation which are so vital in giving proper care to patients.

Two Juries to Serve At Association Art Show

The sub-committee, consists of Margaret Ciccollella of the State Department of Education, Robert Wheeler, director of the Albany Institute of History and Art, and Joseph Rothman, ex-officio, but is selecting two separate juries composed of outstanding artists and art critics outside of the public service. One jury will select the paintings to be hung at the show, and the other will select those works of art which are to receive prize monies.

Mr. Rothman praised the work of the whole committee and its sub-committees on prizes and printing.

"As last year," Mr. Rothman said, "the Art Show Committee is maintaining a very high rate of attendance and industry. Almost all of our meetings have full attendance. The sub-committee on printing, which consists of Chairman Edward Becker, Department of Civil Service; Nicholas Apgar, Department of Health; and Matthew LoRusso, Department of Public Works, is now working on the last poster which will carry information relative to the opening and program of the Art Show during the three weeks of its hanging."

Mental Hygiene Association To Hold Election July 28

MARCY, July 21—Election of officers for the Mental Hygiene Employees Association and preparation of a program for the coming year are scheduled on the agenda of the group's annual meeting. The activities will take place in Albany, beginning 9 a.m. on July 28, at the Hotel Wellington.

Mental Hygiene Association chapters are requested to advise Thomas Conkling, of Brooklyn

State Hospital, regarding their suggestions for candidates. Mr. Conkling is chairman of the nominating committee.

Resolutions may be forwarded to Lewis Garrison, Hudson River State Hospital, who is chairman of the Resolutions Committee.

Hazardous Work

Much dissatisfaction has been expressed in recent months, the Association reports, concerning the present allotment of compensation for arduous and hazardous work. It is frozen into the individual's salary rather than the item, and many of the employees now receiving it have been transferred to parlor wards while others not so compensated are required to perform the duties of those services. Dorris Blust, secretary of the Association, asks that Mental Hygiene employees express their views on this situation before the annual meeting.

A Higher Morality From Public Servants?

AN ELECTION campaign is coming up. The public employee, traditionally a political scapegoat and a target, will be subjected to perhaps a greater barrage of vilification than ever before. Some sober words have been spoken by Miss Frances Perkins, U. S. Civil Service Commissioner. We do not doubt that the campaigners, in their heat and their emotion, will pay no attention to such words as these; they do, however, offer counsel to the civil servants and their friends who should be ready to answer every unjust attack.

The remainder of this editorial is a quotation from Miss Perkins:

"We expect a higher sense of morality and propriety on the part of our public servants than we do of associates in the business world. This is only right. However, it must be borne in mind that the public servant, under self-government, is bound to be part of society, just as those in the business and commercial life of the country also are part of the people who constitute self-government. Under self-government we cannot condone, we cannot remain passive about our own actions, we cannot speak of a separate code of ethics for our public servants while the rest of society violates the ancient code designed to guide us all.

The Breach That Causes Trouble

"So long as we are part and parcel of a society which lives by the wisecrack, which winks at its own shortcomings, which worships at the shrine of the quick dollar, we are not training perfect public servants. Example and public attitude are the climate in which we raise our public servants.

"We cannot expect perfect public servants if we are indiscriminate and vicious in our attacks on the many for the sins of the few who are spectacularly guilty. Criticism and correction are our duty under self-government. But they must be kept in proper perspective. In noting the unusual, on which we always place our heaviest emphasis, we must not lose sight of the usual; in exposing a corrupt spot, we must not destroy the faith of our people in our form of Government.

"In marking the relative handful who yield to the mounting pressures of our times, let us not overlook the thousands upon thousands of our public servants who resist pressure day in and day out, who are sincere, conscientious, loyal, hard-working men and women, who regard their work as a public trust, who are impressed by the oath of office they take upon entering the public service, and who do their utmost to live up to that oath and to the responsibilities they have assumed."

The recurring threats to Federal payrolls are inexcusable. Congress delays appropriation bills; employees worry about being paid on time. The brave efforts of men like Acting Postmaster George M. Bragalini to borrow millions, in case the appropriation doesn't come through, are commendable, but the emergency is not. In business, payroll obligations come first. In government, Congress must realize, the same rule should apply.

The NYC Board of Estimate should approve the bill passed by the Council to provide one-half of maximum pay of the policeman and fireman grades to the widows of husbands killed in the line of duty. Even though more than actual salary could figure in the pension computation, the awards would be equalized. Surely the fate was equal. The cost is negligible. The Board should hesitate no longer, when the resolution comes up for a vote in September.

appearances in the 1950 gubernatorial campaign.

Dewey's Favorite Joke

As an example of the earthy quality which he often lends to his speech in expansive moments, is this favorite joke of his which he used several times before mixed audiences.

It appears that a certain gentleman became exceedingly inebriated at a party. His friends, deciding to have a little fun, brought him to a funeral parlor and encoined him in a coffin. Came early dawn, the inebriated gentleman, cold and shivering, awoke.

"Am I alive or am I dead," he ruminated. "If I am alive, what am I doing in this coffin, and if I am dead, why do I have to go to the men's room?"

Dewey has a sensitive feeling for words. His vocabulary has been described by an associate as "tremendous." Nevertheless, he hates using long words and will never employ a three-syllable word where a one-syllable word will do. Some of his associates have often cringed at the way he tears into their reports, slashing the difficult words and substituting simpler ones.

A Feeling for Words

The feeling for vocabulary, of course, comes out in his addresses. He is always able to say precisely what he wants to get over. In his early days as a lawyer, this quality made him particularly effective in cross-examination. In political circles, there is a widely held opinion that the Governor is essentially a shy person. If he were to undergo a depth psychoanalysis, this would probably be found to be true. One of the men who has worked with Dewey since he was Special Prosecutor in NYC has said this: "Shyness is one of the Governor's inherent characteristics. The interesting thing about it is that he compelled himself to overcome it, forced himself to acquire a public veneer of extrovert characteristics, and to do those things which are expected of an American politician, although this inherent shyness always made it difficult for him."

The public thinks of Governor Dewey as a ruthless man. His actions certainly demonstrate a hard-as-rock determination to get done the things he feels must be done, whether a New York State budget or a Presidential nomination.

Gift of Persuasion

What is sometimes overlooked in the use of the term "ruthlessness" is the fact that this quality actually has in it a large element of persuasiveness. In ordinary conversation, with a few deft questions, Dewey can throw the man on the other side of the desk off guard or into confusion. Equally, he can present an argument which the adversary finds himself at a loss to handle. His persuasive quality makes people follow him even when they don't personally like him. He demonstrates an ability to catch the core of a situation and to capitalize it. What he did with such arguments as "Taft can't win" and "They stole our delegates," even in the face of strong hostility in Chicago, are examples.

The other side of this characteristic is his ability to inspire people and to get out of them a quantity and quality of work which would be difficult for any one else to do. Also, he has the gift of making his co-workers appear bigger people than they actually are. The "Dewey Associates" or "Club," the group of men who first started with Dewey and still meet occasionally, exemplify this. This column asked one of their number whether they were really a superior group. This was the response:

Not All Geniuses

"The original group was what you would expect in any well-run office of the kind. Maybe two-thirds of the men were a little better than average, one-third run-of-the-mill, and a few outstanding. Working with Dewey, the whole team seemed irresistibly superior. On their own, they would have been just ordinary guys."

Dewey's ability to inspire people, an intangible quality that makes them want to follow him, has been remarked upon even by his political enemies. The closest analogy perhaps might be the quality which an outstanding Army captain inspires in his men. They have confidence in his confidence and in his courage, and a residue of these qualities seems to infiltrate into the men themselves, unifies them, makes them work together better and even more imaginatively.

One of the outstanding qualities of the Governor is his courage. He has never been afraid to plunge in or to tackle giants. He didn't hesitate to make the Presidential run against Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A Man Unafraid

At the Chicago Republican convention this month, he could have coasted along. Instead, he stuck his neck out when less bold men would have quailed. This courage may perhaps explain in part the terrible hatred which he inspires in his enemies, as well as the loyalty which he inspires among his colleagues. Even in his youth, he was tilting at giants.

While in his early thirties, he was already taking on the problems of a great city and telling the people boldly and bluntly what they should do about these problems. While he inspired great admiration, he also inspired terrible envy that a young man should have the temerity to do the things he was doing and talk the way he was talking. While Special Prosecutor and District Attorney he aroused envy and frustration in many who had fought hard and not succeeded in gaining the position he had so rapidly attained. It was then that the legend of his stand-offishness first arose. His youth and his shyness both contributed toward creating this impression.

Overcame Shyness

While a young man, he did tend to keep a peculiar distance between himself and others. As with all historical figures who tilt with giants, you can predict that when Dewey is working on a situation, something is going to happen. Again, Chicago is an example. Even his blunders are flamboyant, never timid. Because he is so unafraid, and because he views his problems with an incisive intelligence, and because toward his own men he exercises greater loyalty and warmth than the public realizes, he wins from them an esprit de corps far exceeding that held by most political figures. Even in defeat, he can rally them. After the famous Hines mistrial, that great early effort which almost failed, he returned to the office and found his staff despondent.

"What is going on here?" he barked. "Let's get to work." We have a case to win."

The whole team plunged in at once, their spirits revived. After

Boomerang

THE NYC Civil Service Commission instituted a new policy of not releasing tentative key answers on the same day that exams are held. Ample time must be devoted to extreme precautions so that no more errors appear in tentative keys, and certainly no typographical errors which are so easily avoidable. Reporters were discouraged from goading the Commission not to hold up news, for the Commission insisted that perfection of accuracy came before all else. So what? So the Commission held an exam, on a Saturday, for promotion to foreman, Department of Sanitation. On Monday, after due deliberation, comparison, analysis, checking, double-checking, auditing, balancing and expert inspection, it came up with the key answers. You guessed it. One of the answers was wrong. J was given as the answer to Question 43, but there was no alternative designated J in the selective answers on the exam paper. So a candidate had to phone the Commission that it was wrong. Then the Commission revealed that the right answer to 43 was I.

NYC Holds 5 Tests

The NYC Civil Service Commission held practical tests last week for three types of licenses: refrigerating machine operator, unlimited capacity; structural welder, and special rigger.

An oral test in the non-competitive exam for director of development, and a special military practical oral test for promotion to bridge operator, Public Works, were also held.

the loss of his election to President Truman when there was grieving and wailing in his headquarters, he calmed the assemblage and raised their spirits.

If Down, Won't Stay

It has been remarked many times that no matter how many times he may lose, Dewey always comes back. Another misconception about Dewey is that he likes yes-men around him. This is utterly erroneous. He doesn't care for bootlickers, and they never survive very long on his staff. His method of working with his associates is to knock their heads together; in effect, make sure that they thrash out every problem and come to him with agreement reached among themselves. If they have not got this agreement, he sends them back to thrash it out again.

His loyalty toward his associates is, of course, well known. He pushes them ahead in every way he can. One has only to recall how he has helped so many members of his own team. His interests tend to be wide ranging. He is able to converse understandingly on all sorts of matters.

Eye for Details, Too

He supervised the decorating of his own office when he first went to Albany. Curiously, he has an intense interest in farming. That absorption is very real. He has a dairy farm in Pawling, and if you get him talking about his cows, he can go on for hours, just like any other dairy farmer. Time has not permitted him to retain his early interest in music, although he still likes to meet with a gang late at night and sing old songs. He has been known to do it at 4 a.m. in hotel corridors. It is a real relaxation to him. He plays a middling game of golf, and when he gets a chance, chess.

His family absorbs much of his attention. He is what is colloquially known as a doting father. He has constantly refused to use his family no matter how high the political stakes. The Dewey boys have never made the political rounds the way the children of other politicians do. Some of the Republican wheel horses have complained that Dewey has never allowed his handsome, charming wife to become part of his political campaigns. This Dewey will never do.

No Prejudice

The story is told that in Dewey's early days as a prosecutor, he and his colleagues used to eat in a downtown restaurant which refused to serve a Negro assistant who worked in his office. Dewey walked out of the restaurant, taking his team with him, and never returned there. Many such incidents in his political career indicate that he looks upon people purely as people, sizes up their capacities as people, and is by nature oblivious of such extraneous matters as color, race or origin.

He is difficult to fit into any of the common molds. He is a Republican "from way back." His father was a Republican, and he inherited the inbred, midwest Republicanism of Michigan. This he mixed into the New York City milieu. His mind has an absorptive flexibility. Instead of retaining the old Michigan approach or coming over to the prevalent liberal New York City views, he has been able to mix a concoction all his own. His political views are now fixed. Changing circumstances will alter those views, including, of course, requirements of political expediency; but, however, one main difference with him politically, no one can accuse him of mental rigidity.

Tempered Ambition

Is he as fiercely ambitious as he was? In his earlier years, his primary motivation was to reach high office. It used to be said that he started out in life to be president of the United States. Much of that ambition is now gone. Surely he will want to have an important voice in national affairs. One of his closest colleagues says that this, however, stems more out of a real feeling for the conditions of the country than it does out of personal ambition. He points out that Dewey has two sons of military age, and that what happens in world affairs affects him with great immediacy. Thomas E. Dewey is certainly one of the most subtle, complex and unique personalities ever to appear on the American political scene.

No Age Limits, No Experience Or Education Needed, in NYC Hospital Clerk Exam

The NYC Civil Service Commission decided last week to hold an exam exclusively for filling clerk jobs in NYC hospitals at $2,110 a year. After the first year appointees get one-half the bonus, or $125, plus a $120 increment, bringing pay to $2,355. After the second year the second half of the bonus is allowed and a new increment takes effect, making the salary $2,600 or $50 a week.

Pushed Ahead of Others

Samuel H. Galston, director of examinations, said that the exam was given precedence over the regular clerk test because there are more than 300 vacancies in the clerk jobs in hospitals and the Department of Hospitals is anxious to fill them as quickly as possible. Also, Mr. Galston added, the exam offers an excellent opportunity to those beyond the age limit of private industry, which for men is 40 and for women even less, whereas the City imposes no age limits. There will be no educational or experience requirements, either, Mr. Galston added.

Since speed is desired, and a large eligible list is hoped for, the Commission will go a step further than usual and make the written test frankly as easy as is consistent with hiring acceptable workers. There were some difficult questions in NYC clerk exams in the past, but it is not expected there will be any in the exam for filling the jobs in hospitals.

Opportunity for Women

The Commission expects that women, particularly those in their forties or over, will be attracted to the exam, not only because the City offers to hire such eligibles but because women in that age category, with the understanding that comes with maturity, and their experience in household and family affairs, are more likely to be attracted to work involving recovery of patients' health and saving of lives.

The exam will be opened to men and women in September or October and will be the largest one to be newly added to the 1952 list, Mr. Galston expected. The fireman exam, with a supplementary application period at about the same time, and the social investigator test, possibly opening in September, will attract many candidates, Mr. Galston felt, but may not eclipse the hospital clerk test.

December Written Test Possible

The Hospitals Department wanted a separate title of ward clerk established, and a separate exam held for that, but the Commission felt that there was no need for adding still another title to the NYC classification.

The clerk exam for filling jobs in the other City departments will be opened later, probably early in 1953.

The application fee for the clerk

(hospitals only) exam will be $2. No date has been set for the written test, but as both the Commission and the department are in a hurry, the test is being considered for mid-December.

This house must be sold at once as the owner is leaving for Europe and has to sacrifice his beautiful home with every improvement, including every modern convenience. It is near transportation and does not have the problems of long travel. Truly a wonderful buy.

The Federal Employee

A NEW WORD, "FLUID" has made its appearance among Federal personnel officials.

Keeping an agency fluid, means sending out provisional dismissal notices to employees, when budget cuts are announced. Then while the big-wigs try to work out the problem, the workers are in state of flux, not knowing whether the dismissal notice will be recalled or not.

Some Federal agencies have sent dismissal notices to as many as half of their employees, saying "we must keep our organization and staff in a fluid state until we know our operating problems."

The employees who receive the provisional layoff notices have the problem of planning their own futures while they are in the "fluid" state.

PER DIEM employees of the Army, Navy and Air Force will get quicker action on rate increases under a new setup.

In the future any of the 850,000 per diem workers who receive a rate adjustment will find the new rate on the first pay check after the agency has made a rate recommendation to the Wage Stabilization Board. As soon as the WSB comes through with an OK, back pay will be distributed back to the previously agreed date.

WILLIAM FOGEL, chairman of the UJA campaign in the New York Post Office, sponsored by the Jewish Postal Welfare League, announced that an additional $25,000 had been presented to the United Jewish Appeal. Postmaster George M. Bragalini made the presentation on behalf of the employees.

THE OFFICE of Price Stabilization in Washington is attempting to help out the employees of the agency who are receiving their "pink slips" as a result of the budget cuts.

Faced with a cut of about 50 per cent, the agency has set up a special office in its Personnel Section, under Vernal R. Brown, to help displaced workers find jobs in private industry as well as in other government bureaus.

U. S. POSTAL WORKERS appointed as temporaries from regular eligible lists can expect to have their war-service-indefinite appointments made permanent in the near future.

An estimated 200,000 postal men who received the war service appointments will be made permanent by an order which is expected almost daily.

Permanent appointments are expected at a later date for those "indefinites" who did not pass a regular examination.

All postal appointments during the past 18 months have been on an indefinite basis, like other Federal appointments, but the P.O. Department had recognized the injustice to men who had qualified by examination and has received permission to give them regular status.

New Pay Plan Submitted For Westchester Employees

A report on a survey of Westchester County salaries conducted by Barrington Associates, management consultants of NYC, and submitted to the County Board of Supervisors on July 14, states that in salary groups up to a maximum total present compensation of $4,350, including Emergency Compensation (Groups I through VIII), the employees are compensated equitably in relation to average salaries paid in the area. In jobs with present compensation above this and up to about $7,050 (Groups IX to XIV), the present County compensation rates are found to be lower than and not competitive with prevailing salary levels in the area. Particularly in groups with compensation from $4,950 to $7,050 (XII to XIV) it was found that County employees are "seriously underpaid." In groups above this salary level it was found that Westchester County pay is "moderately in excess of salary levels maintained by other employers surveyed."

The survey charts and figures show that in the lowest salary group, No. I ($2,100 to $2,460, including $240 emergency compensation), the County is paying lower than the average of comparable minimum salaries and that the County maximum in this group is lower by $325 than average comparable maximums.

Some Pay Found Far Too Low

In Group VIII ($3,630 to $4,350 including $240 E. C.) the County minimum is lower than the average of those compared and the maximum of the grade is lower by $310. In Groups II through IX ($2,250 to $4,740, including $240 E. C.) some comparable minimums are lower and some are higher while practically all the outside maximums are higher by from $50 to $100 than are paid by the County. From Group X through XIV ($4,200 to $7,050, including $240 E. C.) the County minimum salaries are progressively lower than the average of those compared by from $50 to $760. In these groups the Westchester maximums are shown to be from $100 to $1,000 below the maximums being paid by the average of the other organizations surveyed. Above Group XIV (from $7,050 including $240 E. C. and up) Westchester County salaries are shown to average about $950 higher than the average on the outside, with the differences progressively greater.

Salary Group Changes

The changes in the group salary scales from I to XIV are as follows: I—Min. up $10, Max. up $210; II—Min. up $30, Max. up $150; III—Min. Same, Max. up $120; IV—Min. up $10, Max. up $130; V—Min. up $10, Max. up $90; VI—Min. up $20, Max. up $140; VII—Min. up $30, Max. up $70; VIII—Min. up $40, Max. up $160; IX—Min. up $130, Max. up $250; X—Min. Same, Max. up $160; XI—Min. up $20, Max. up $500; XII—Min. up $330, Max. up $310; XIII—Min. up $530, Max. up $1,090; XIV—Min. up $910, Max. up $1,510; In groups above XIV substantial pay scale increases appear to be recommended in most instances in excess of the foregoing.

(Note: The indicated grade increases in Groups from I through VII are deceptive, say employees, as some employees are being paid as much as $210 in excess of the present maximums of their scales. This results from the payment to old employees of "differential emergency compensation" which is the portion of the $720 emergency compensation being paid all employees as of December 31, 1950 which was not merged into the pay scales in these lower groups. This ranged from $30 up to $210.)

The report recommends that all 45 members of the Board of Supervisors be paid at a standard rate of $2,775 a year for their part-time work. There are 17 Town Supervisors who are now paid at the rate of $600 a year and 28 City Supervisors who are now paid at the rate of $1,500 a year.

Emergency Compensation

The proposed new salary scales include a merger of $210 of the present $240 emergency compensation of County employees and Barrington recommends that the County base pay scales be pegged at 182 in the Bureau of Labor Statistics cost-of-living Index for the New York Metropolitan Area and that the remaining $30 of Emergency Compensation be continued as "new" E. C., and the system of fluctuating E. C. payments at $15 a point be continued.

Standard Job Groups

All County titles, approximately 850, have been placed into 23 job groups with increments of five steps in each group. There are presently 44 pay scales in 14 classified job groups and about 47 higher scale titles in a single unclassified group above annual salary of $6,810. The establishment of standard five step salary groups will be advantageous to many employees who now have pay scales with only 3 or 4 steps.

The survey indicates that up to Group XV (proposed max. $9,700 plus $30 E. C.) a total of 96 titles are to be upgraded one or more groups and a total of 82 titles are to be downgraded by one or more groups.

The report states that as to Fringe Benefits the County is about average in this regard with some reporting organizations having greater benefits and some lesser.

Putting the Plan in Effect

The report recommends that in putting the plan into operation the county adopt a policy that the total earnings of no employee shall be reduced as a result of the adoption of the salary structure and any new allocation of positions; that employees on present five step salary scales should be paid at the corresponding step in the new salary scale, except that should this procedure result in reducing an employee's total com-ensation the employee should be paid at the lowest new scale step which will not result in such reduction; employees presently on three or four step salary scales should be paid at the same relative step on the proposed new scale; employees assigned to a different job group to be paid at the lowest increment step of the new scale which will result in no reduction in total compensation; employees who have not received an increment in salary for one year or more should be considered immediately for an increment provided the pay scale of their job group allocation permits this; differential Emergency Compensation is intended to be eliminated with employees now receiving such compensation to be paid at the lowest increment step of their new scale (this includes present base salary, plus $240 emergency compensation, plus differential emergency compensation).

It is stated that the cost of instituting the Plan is estimated at $254,914.00 for the approximately 3,000 County employees. This figure does not include increased payments recommended for the Board of Supervisors but does apparently include the cost of a number of new positions and the substantial increases shown in the upper categories. This prevents any reasonable "average" increase being estimated.

Basis of Report

The report is based on a point evaluation or re-evaluation of the approximately 850 titles in the

Westchester Unit Deplores Low Average Raise Plan

A letter expressing keen disappointment over the failure of the Barrington Associates' recommendations to include substantial increases for lower paid County employees, was registered in a letter forwarded to James D. Hopkins, Chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, by the Westchester County Competitive Civil Service Association. The employee group is a unit of Westchester chapter, Civil Service Employees Association. The letter was signed by Anne H. McCabe, president.

Also decried was "subordinating the present practical needs of the County, and the due of the employees, to a desire to achieve a smooth and mathematically precise salary trend line." The letter states this is borne out by the recommendation of an average increase of only $74 a year for Groups I through VIII, and states that the Association's own surveys have indicated a 10 per cent salary increase is justified.

Excerpt from Letter

The letter states: "The Competitive Association reiterates its opposition to the 'mediocrity staffing pattern' which is implicit in the proposed use of scales based on a Community Average Trend Line, and feels the County should pursue the progressive course of obtaining high level personnel which was begun under our Internation Program of recent years."

The letter also requested that a reasonable time be allowed in advance of a hearing date so that the complex report might be fully analyzed. An important request was that the Board immediately adopt legislation making the salary scales in the report effective as of July 1, 1952, regardless of the time spent now in making possible revisions.

CSEA Counsel to Appear

A hearing has been set for 11:00 a.m. on Wednesday, July 23, before the Committee on Budget and Appropriations of the Board of Supervisors when Association representatives will present the Association's views on salary adjustments for the employees.

Expected to appear to present the case of the Westchester employees is John T. DeGraff, counsel to the Civil Service Employees Association and a member of the State Board of Law Examiners, or John E. Holt-Harris, Jr., assistant counsel to the Association and a law partner of Mr. DeGraff. Also present with supporting data will be Henry L. Galpin, salary analyst of the Civil Service Employees Association, and J. Allyn Stearns, 3rd vice president, Civil Service

County Service to establish the correct relationship of each title to the remainder. Recommended salary groups are based largely on a survey of 109 positions which were checked with 27 cooperating organizations, of which 13 were private and 14 public organizations; the 14 public including an unnamed number of Westchester towns and villages grouped as one organization.

Mrs. Bertha Metzler, totally blind, placed first on the New York City civil service typing examination with a score of 95.9.

Mrs. Metzler, 28 years old, was trained as a transcribing typist and braille switchboard operator at the New York Guild for the Jewish Blind.

Asked if she would change jobs as a result of her Civil Service score, Mrs. Metzler said that although she would make more money and have added employment benefits at other job opportunities, she likes the work she is now doing and would be reluctant to leave.

Board Votes Back Pay And Bonus to Laborers

NYC laborers get the bonus. This decision was voted last week by the Board of Estimate. The bonus is a graduated percentage of salary.

Formerly there was no bonus for laborers. There was to be none under a proposed wage agreement, and the employes voted for that agreement because they felt that they could do better for 1952-53 by negotiation. However, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL, which negotiated the agreement, reluctantly accepted the bonus, and expressed hope that in the future that, instead of bonus, negotiation would prevail.

William Evans, speaking for Local 924 of that union, said that not only pay was at issue but hours and working conditions. He said that an absolute 40-hour week was sought, for instance, and that all problems should be settled by negotiation.

A Promise from Joseph
The Board voted the back pay agreement, so that it's now official, and Comptroller Lazarus Joseph said that the City would see that the men got their money just as soon as possible. The schedule of rates was published in the July 8 issue of The LEADER.

The Comptroller's promise came after Mr. Evans urged the Comptroller not to make the men wait, as they have already spent the money, and want to pay their debts.

Also, the union wanted the lawyers' fees in the cases held up, but not the clients' checks, and the Comptroller said that it would be legally dangerous for the City to attempt that separation, as the lawyers might sue both the clients and the City. The union was sorry that all the lawyers didn't agree to cut their fees. The Comptroller tried to get unanimity but failed. Some lawyers agreed promptly, including Leopold V. Rossi. He urged the Board to adopt the resolution granting the bonus and approving the agreement, on behalf of the Civil Service Forum. Patrick J. Brady, for the Government and Civic Employees Organizing Committee, CIO, took the same stand. There was no opposition.

Wants Election Hheld

Mr. Evans wanted some assurance that there would be no recurrence of what he termed the undermining tactics of rival organizations, when his own union had advanced the agreement up to the final adoption stage. He said other unions stepped in, threw a monkey wrench into the plan, and the present compromise resulted. He wanted no future compromise, only final decision through negotiation, and asked the City to hold an election to decide, for all laborers employed by the City, which union they prefer to have represent them.

THREE PASS STATE RESEARCH EXAM

ALBANY, July 21 — Three persons have passed the State exam in the title of senior research scientist (water pollution). Heading the list is Maxim Lieber of Levittown, who scored 93,000. Others are Sally M. Kelly and Morris B. Smith. One additional person took the examination. Salary for the job is $6088 to $7421.

ONE MAN PASSES STATE T. B. EXAM

ALBANY, July 21 — The State Civil Service Commission has announced that only one name appears on the open competitive list in the title of associate public health physician, tuberculosis control. Henry H. Schultz of Slingerland, the only man to take the examination, was named. The pay scale is $8594 to $9610.

Auto-Enginemen Lose Pay Suit

ALBANY, July 21 — The Court of Appeals has turned down a plea of NYC auto-enginemen to be included under Section 220 of the State Labor Law, which would have granted them the rate of pay in local private industry.

The request of the chauffeurs had previously been denied by the NYC Comptroller's office on the ground that the men were not "laborers, workmen or mechanics" as specified in the law.

The case was considered by the Appellate Division, First Department, which upheld the Comptroller's view. The petitioners, in the case of Dinian vs. Joseph, a law suit sponsored by the Civil Service Forum, said the men were engaged in public works.

UFOA Meets On July 24

One of the most important meetings of the year for the Uniformed Fire Officers Association will take place on Thursday, July 24, at 8:30 P.M. at the Hotel Martinique, Broadway and 32nd Street, NYC.

Nominations for the coming election to the executive board of the UFOA will be closed during the "unfinished business" portion of the meeting.

All members of the UFOA have been urged to attend by President Gilbert X. Byrne, who will preside at the meeting.

Refreshments will be served.

NYC HELD FIVE EXAMS LAST WEEK

Five examinations were held last week by the NYC Civil Service Commission. The exam titles were License for Refrigerating Machine Operator (Unlimited Capacity), License for Structural Welder, Director of Development, Prom. to Bridge Operator and License for Special Rigger.

500 More To Get Jobs As Patrolmen

There have been 2,017 patrolman appointments to the NYC Police Department from the 1951 list. The last eligible certified was No. 3065.

The latest batch of appointments was made March 1, when 500 were sworn in by the Mayor. Another group of 500 is expected to be inducted in September or October, after present probationers complete their training.

Some 4,000 men on the list are still awaiting appointment. Future appointments will be made at the new rate of $3,725, which includes the new bonus. The earlier starting salary was $3,400.

Final Key Validated For Asst. Gardener

After considering 20 letters of protest received from candidates in the exam for assistant gardener, held on June 21, the NYC Civil Service Commission has made two changes in the key answers.

On question 90, C or W will be considered correct answers; on Question 96, W or C is now correct. The test was taken by 1,946.

JR. HYDRAULIC ENGINEER LIST IS RELEASED

ALBANY, July 21 — The State Civil Service Commission last week released the open competitive list in the title of junior hydraulic engineer (design). The only name on the list is that of Paul W. Offenberg of Newburgh. Three others were disapproved. The position pays $4053 to $4889 with the emergency compensation.

City Laborers' Wage Called Lower Than Law Says; Likely To Wind Up in Highest Court

Laborers working for New York City, who are sharing in an estimated $4,500,000 pay increase recently approved by the Board of Estimate, are saying that this by no means settles the situation.

The argument is being made that they should earn closer to $4,000 a year rather than the lower amount negotiated with the Board of Estimate. The laborers hold that a straightforward application of the labor law would give them the same salary as is earned by laborers in private industry. There is evidence that the matter will be carried to the Court of Appeals for a final decision as to section 220 of the labor law, which says that government-employed tradesmen should earn the rate of pay prevailing in their localities.

What Happens With 40-Hr. Wk.?
Henry Feinstein, president of the City Employees local of the Teamsters Union, who had demanded that an additional $300 be tacked onto a formula which Comptroller Joseph had come up with, says that the minimum now prevailing for laborers in private industry is $1.65 an hour. City laborers putting in a 48-hour week, he adds, should be earning at the least nearly $80 a week. What happens when the City goes on a 40-hour week is still undetermined so far as the laborers are concerned. A number of the laborers are refusing to sign the agreement drawn up by the Comptroller and are clamoring for legal action.

Shouldn't Be Graded
Mr. Feinstein repeated his belief that laborers should not be graded, because the advantages offered by section 220 of the labor law would then be lost.

Personalized Ball Point Pen, Only 25c

Several weeks back we made such arrangements with the manufacturer of a personalized ballpoint pen that we were able to offer a limited number of them to our readers at the sensational price of only 25 cents. Our faith in this offer was speedily vindicated. Our readers loved these pens, for each one had his name personally engraved in 22-carat gold. The pens were scratch-proof, leak-proof and smudge-proof, and guaranteed for life by our source of supply. Other features included a long-life cartridge, ink that dried instantly, and a handsome cap with easy-grip clip. Hundreds of readers told us that their pens wrote better than ballpoint pens that had sold from $1 to $20.

We have been trying to get an additional supply. We are happy to announce now that we have available another group of these pens. The same arrangement holds — for 25 cents and the coupon below you get this pen, with your name engraved in 22-carat gold. But the supply is strictly limited. Orders will be accepted only till August 1. So don't wait until it's too late and be disappointed. Use the coupon below.

Register of Professional Men Will Go to Agencies Of Govt. and Military

WASHINGTON, July 21—Plans to register the names and backgrounds of specialists in a variety of subjects has resulted in a response of about 60 per cent. The registration effort, first revealed by The LEADER, is being made by the American Council of Learned Societies. One purpose is apparently to survey the intellectual resources of the country. There has been some opposition to the idea of registration, however, particularly in view of the fact that the list will go to several government agencies. The registration is being done under contract with the Office of Naval Research, which in turn is representing the interests of three military services.

First Program of Its Kind
"This registration," says the Council of Learned Societies, "will constitute a necessary step in accumulating data for the assessment of an important segment of human resources of the nation which has received insufficient attention in the past. Analyses of scientific and technical manpower resources for the military services and for industrial production are carried on continuously. . . . Although there is some interest on the part of various governmental agencies in comparable activity in the fields of the humanities and social sciences, there has been no operating program within the government designed to collect the necessary information."

'Stumbling Block'
Director of the National Registration is J. P. Wellmeyer. He maintains that lack of information about specialists is a "stumbling block to a kind of planning that is becoming more and more urgently needed." The implied military aspects of the registration effort is evident from this statement by the Council of Learned Societies:

"Current partial mobilization activities, implying as they do, a heightened effort toward preparedness continuing over a long period of time, have thrown into sharp relief the basic need of appraising our defense program in the light of a much wider concept of national security. Essentially this wider concept will require, during the next decade or two, an appraisal of the human problems involved in our relationships with the rest of the world. Such appraisal obviously calls for the services of individuals trained in the humanistic and social sciences; and particularly of those who by virtue of residence, travel or special study, may qualify as area specialists. In this context, our military defense activity will be thought of as one of several methods by which various individuals in all parts of the world may be influenced. It is necessary to add that appraisal of other peoples in terms of their societies, cultures, languages and aspirations requires the equally objective and continuing appraisal of ourselves."

Objectives
The specific objectives of the registration project have been implied in the preceding paragraphs. They may be more specifically stated in the following terms:

1. To collect from individuals in the fields listed below personal reports which will serve as a national register of specialists in the social sciences and the humanities: Anthropology, Archaeology, Demography, Economics, Geography, Languages, History, International Law, Philosophy and Religion, Political Science, Sociology, Statistics.
2. To make available for analysis, a body of data describing the general characteristics of specialists in the humanistic and social science fields.
3. To study the reports for use in connection with recruitment and allocation in the national interest and to examine the possibility of their use in connection with placement.
4. To seek to arrive at adequate definitions of fields of specialization and functions of specialists in order to improve the planning and allocation process.

Personal History
The American Council of Learned Societies has prepared a basic personal history questionnaire which has been sent to thousands of experts in the fields enumerated above.

The intent is to build a "source file" of trained specialists.

When the listings are all in, the Bureau of Labor Statistics will analyze the data for the three military services.

The registration will locate and identify highly-trained specialists in the humanities and social sciences. The information, Mr. Wellmeyer admits, will be made available to the Department of Defense and other government agencies. The Council says:

"While it is possible that the projected registration will be used in connection with recruitment and placement programs, no definite plans for such use have yet been developed."

Activities of Civil Service Employees in N. Y. State

Oneonta

THE JULY meeting of the Oneonta Chapter, CSEA, was held in the NYSES office Wednesday evening, July 9th. The Treasurer reported a net profit of $81.05 from the rummage sale held June 14th and plans are being made to hold another in the fall. Joseph Lennon of Homer Folks Hospital and Gladys Butts of the Conservation Department reported on the annual meeting of the Central New York Conference, which they attended in Lake Placid on June 7th, in conjunction with the Ray Brook Chapter's annual dinner.

NEWS NOTES: The chapter's sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bennett of State Teachers College in the loss of their baby . . . to Mrs. Jessie Lambrecht of the NYSES in the death of her aunt . . . to John J. Ahearn, Conservation Department in the death of his mother . . . the family of Rosamond Pratt who until her death last week had been employed as dental hygienist at Homer Folks Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Williams, Joseph Lennon, Mrs. Ruth Howland and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Butts attended the annual dinner dance of the Binghamton Chapter at the American Legion Post in Johnson City on May 12th.

Mrs. Felicia Lynd, stenographer in the Conservation Dept., is on leave of absence to join her soldier husband at Baltimore, Maryland. Mrs. Margaret Budelman is filling the item temporarily.

Mrs. Ruth Howland, in addition to Mr. Lennon and Mrs. Butts, also attended the festivities at Lake Placid on June 7th.

Chenango County

THE ANNUAL dinner and election of officers of the Chenango Chapter, CSEA, was held at the Canasawacta Country Club on June 2nd. Fifty members were present enjoying turkey and the trimmings.

Unanimously elected: Margaret E. Hebbard, president; T. Burton Tiffany, 1st vice president; William Clark, 2nd vice-president; Charles Kane, 3rd vice president; John B. Halpin, 4th vice president; Mildred Jackson, secretary; Gladys Kennedy, assistant secretary; and Donald H. Burr, treasurer.

Outgoing president T. Burton Tiffany thanked the members for their cooperation during the past year.

Present as guests were Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon, Board of Supervisors Chairman Guy R. Marvin, Norwick Mayor Joseph L. Letson. Speaker of the evening was Mr. Ronald Hurley, claims examiner from the New York State Retirement System in Albany.

Mrs. Gordon wished the chapter a happy birthday on its first anniversary and invited the chapter to call on her at any time for assistance. Mr. Marvin extended a wish of "good luck" and Mayor Letson said he thought it a good thing that city and county employees worked together.

Mr. Hurley gave a clear, concise picture of the retirement system; a question and answer session followed. He reminded the members that there was only a short time left to sign up for the 55-year plan, and answered several questions regarding it.

Since this meeting, Mrs. Hebbard has learned that the Board of Supervisors had taken no action on the resolution passed in March at the Oxford meeting in regard to payroll-deductions for the accident-health insurance. The clerk advised her that it would be presented to the board in July, and she will call a meeting after that to get the insurance plan under way for present members, and as an incentive to gain new members for 1952-53.

Metropolitan Armory

MAJOR DONALD B. SHERMAN, superintendent of the 71st Infantry Regiment and past president of the Metropolitan Armory Employees chapter, CSEA, has been elected Adjutant of the Old Guard, City of New York. Congratulations, Major, and continued success.

While the summer season prevails, there is a tendency for Armory Employees chapters to disintegrate. This is the best way to lose precious steps which cannot be retraced. Keep your contact with the executive committee! This committee wishes you to know that it will function during the summer, so that Armory employees may be in a position to present their resolutions properly come next fall.

The chapter leaders ask that each Armory send the name of its representative to the Publicity Committee, c-o Henry Clark, 13th Regiment, 357 Sumner Avenue, Brooklyn 21, New York.

Good luck to the following: Frank Gonsalves, touring up in the New England country; Michael Kearns, exploring at Fort Ticonderoga; and Charles Smith, enjoying the cool breezes in the Poconos.

Hudson River Hospital

THE HUDSON RIVER State Hospital Golf Association announces that on July 26, 1952, starting at 1:30 p.m., a Golf Clinic and Exhibition featuring, Jimmy Nichols, the famous one-armed golfer; Gene Sarazen, famous golfing squire of Germantown, New York; Ray Billows, nationally and internationally known amateur golfer and Henry Kowal, well known in national inter-collegiate golf competition and holder of the Hudson River Golf Association title.

Jimmy Nichols in spite of a physical handicap spends his entire time giving golf clinic and exhibitions throughout the country and has turned in some very low scores on difficult courses.

Gene Sarazen who recently competed in the British Open in an attempt to repeat his victory of twenty years has demonstrated, as he says, "I'm really on the stick," by scoring extremely well in the early rounds and was contented all the way.

Ray Billows, although playing only week-end golf, hit his stride in the New York State Amateur almost winning his eighth New York State title—losing in the finals to the title holder Billy Shield. To reach the finals Ray disposed of very rugged competition including former title holders.

Henry Kowal is the present Hudson River Golf Association champion, was American Inter-Collegiate medalist, Indiana State champion and was recently runner up in the Travers' Tournament on Long Island.

The services of these famous golfers are being donated and the entire proceeds from donations are to be used for additional patient recreation. At the conclusion of the Golf Exhibition a drawing will be made for a $100 set of golf irons which are being donated by the past presidents of the Hudson River State Hospital Golf Association.

All holders of donation tickets, whether present or not, will be included in the drawing for the golf irons.

The Hudson River State Hospital Golf Club is situated on the hospital grounds on Route 9—two miles north of Poughkeepsie.

Dr. O. Arnold Kilpatrick, Senior Director of the Hospital, invites the general public to attend and urges support toward making a success of this event. Dr. J. Harold Morris is general arrangements chairman. Assisting him are Dr. Alma Freeman, John Steinmetz, Ed. Linsig, John Whalen, Sr., G. Carleton Nuhn, Dr. O. A. Kilpatrick, Henry Emmer, Mrs. Margaret Killackey, Ruth Van Anden, Dr. Joseph Kilman, Frank Sheridan, Otto Faust, Dr. Donald Schwartz, Dr. Wirt C. Groom, Louis I. Garrison and Ed. Rozell.
