He reported that ex-pected Fireman appointments during the four years will not exceed 2,500, and since there are 6,398 on the list as published there would be 3,898 disappointed eligibles disregarding declinations. However, the number of appointments depends on circumstances that can't be exactly prophesied, though the Fire Department does not at present expect that the 2,500 figure will be exceeded.

The competitive physical test in the triple examination is now under way at Van Cortlandt Park and is being expedited so that the eligible list in the triple examination can be promulgated ahead of that for Fireman. There is an existing eligible list for Fireman large enough to take care of the expect-ed needs until the end of the year. The Fireman list would be promulgated soon after the first of the year and the other list probably in early December.

"The number of Fireman eligibles was unexpectedly large," said President McNamara. "Of course, that means that there will be people left on the list when it ex-pires."

An examination for permanent appointment to the position of Clerk, CAF-5 and CAF-6, was announced by James E. Rossell, Director of the New York Office of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, to fill vacancies in Fede al Government agencies in New York and New Jersey. The starting salaries range from $2,974 to $3,351 a year.

Positions are open in the following options: Property and Stock Control (excluding storekeeping); Accounting and Auditing; Time and Payroll; Informa-tion and Editorial; Statistical; Traffic; Correspondence; Mail, File and Record; Procurement; General Clerical; and Personnel.

Closes This Wednesday

Persons with three or three and one-half years of appropriate experience may apply for these positions. This experience must have included two years of experience gained in progressively responsible work, or in related work such as teaching, supervisory and admin-istrative work in government, industry, or business, or the like; and one or one and one-half years of progressively responsible office work in the specialized field for which application is made. All ap-plicants must attain an eligible rating in a written test.

Application forms may be obtained from the Second U. S. Civil Service Region, 641 Washington street, New York 14, N. Y., in person or by mail. The closing date is Wednesday, September 29, which means that the filled-in applications must actually be in applications must actually be in the office of the Commission, at the Washington street address, by that date. Mailed applications of candidates postmarked September 29 or even earlier, will not suffice, if the prime requisite is not met. So prospective candidates must HURRY.

NYC May Be Next Locale

Some familiar faces at Association meetings are expected to be missing this year because of a conflict in dates between the Civil Service Assembly conference in Ottawa, Canada, and the Associa-tion convention in Albany. Some top State officials may be out-oftown on speaking engagements as the presidential campaign enters the last lap.

Don't be surprised if the next annual banquet of the Association is held in NYC in the Commodore This may be one of the social" items to be voted on by delegates. With the growth of the Association, there are few places in the Capital District which can accommodate the large numbers who want to attend Association functions.

made a unique comparison of the gains in recent years by public and private employees. The facts showed, he pointed out, that the public has many misconceptions of the advantages enjoyed by public employees, and that there is much to be done before the public servant is a satisfied employee.

He pointed out that pay levels must be in accordance with the times, and cited the pay plan in effect in his own county of Westchester, through which the scale of pay is tied together with the cost-of-living index. He urged all local jurisdictions to provide unemployment insurance for employees. He called for proper job classification and the filling of positions by qualifled employees. A variety of pro-tections must be provided today, he said, the chief of these being security. He discussed the fact that the work-week in public service, particularly for the pro-tective forces of the community, lags behind. And he criticized the State Retirement System as failing to provide the necessary protections which employees need. (Mr. Stearns' address is reprinted elsewhere in this issue.)

Mr. Lehman cited attempts to undermine the merit system. He told of a political leader who tried to place a veterinarian into a coroner's post, and of another county leader who attempted to place a slot machine operator as apter during the past year has an assistant attorney general. The ade notable gains in behalf of LEADER'S editor argued that this employees, including entrance the City and the County into State Retirement System.

He gave a graphic illustration of this by pointing out how the of this by pointing out how the merit system has been subverted in Japan. There, he pointed out, in Japan. There, he pointed out, graduates of Tokyo Imperial University law courses hold 82 per cent of the important public Jobs, constituting a self-perpetuating bureaucracy. "Democratic government mears employee organization, too, with-out fear of reprisal. "Where such organization exists, it has not only improved the condition of the workers but has made for more efficient public service.'

The Public Employee

By Dr. Frank L. Tolman

President, The Civil Service Employees Association, Inc., and Member of Employees' Merit Award Board.

Another Word To Members

A BOUT a year ago, just before the annual meeting, I wrote in my column "A Word To Members", to remind them that they are all members of the employees' team and that failure or success in their job relations will depend largely on how well they play their positions on their big team, particularly in the big series with the "Dewey team."

Nothing is plainer than the fact that good active players are the sine qua non of any good organization. The best possible organization is achieved when every member is an active partner in the work of the Association.

It has been my privilege and duty to speak for you on many matters vital to you and to all other public employees. I know from experience that any power or influence my words may have comes chiefly from your active support, without which nothing much can be achieved.

Participation Is a Requisite

On the radio, as I write, a self-made man is telling how he made his life significant, at least to himself. He said the secret is that he tries to understand the things nearest him and that the only road to understanding is to take some part or position in respect to each, either for or against. Neutrality and indifference are the hallmarks of little minds and little souls. Experience is the best teacher and experience as an active member of the Association in Chapter, Conference or Committee work is a prerequisite to any fair appreciation of the work of your Association.

That each member counts is the most significant fact in the Association: that he counts more and more each year is the highest objective of the Association, in my opinion. That is why I am for all the democracy there is or can be in the Association. That is why I wish to repeat what I wrote a year ago:

"The members control the organization. They delegate certain rights and powers to their delegates at the annual or any special meeting of the Association. The members elect the officers and board of directors to carry out their wishes and they confer on this board of directors and on its alter ego, the executive committees, certain independent powers and duties, but the ultimate control of the Association rests with the members.

"The Constitution and By-Laws, which set forth both the powers of members and the delegated duties of the officers, boards and committees, insure to the members complete control of the organization.

Paying Dues Is Not End of It

"It is the duty of every member to exercise the full rights and duties of membership. He should vote for his choice for officers and delegates. He should be active in his local chapter. He should offer resolutions on matters of concern to himself and his fellow employees. He should keep himself informed of what the Association is doing by reading regularly "Merit" and the Civil Service LEADER.

"To many members think their duty ends with paying the membership dues. It is not true that you buy or subscribe to certain fixed services by paying a membership fee. What is true is that by membership you unite with 40,000 public employees to improve working conditions, to protect and to improve the Civil Service plan, and to make the service of the State and local government to the citizen more intelligent and more rewarding.

Active Support by Members Essential

"The great potential and largely unused strength of the Association rests in you as a partner in your Civil Service Employees Associations. To make you in fact a Service Employees Associations. full partner over 100 local and department chapters of the Association have been formed and are functioning. There is a job for every member. You can contribute your best thought and effort to the common good and progress of you and your fellow workers; the great company of public employees who are the Civil Service Employees Association.

"Your officers are merely your agents. Headquarters staff are merely your hired men. To be effective your officers must have your active support. To lead they must follow you. Together and only together can we go places of organization.

Association officials have called for cooperation with the hardworking membership committees. Committee duty is voluntary, and those who serve are not paid by the Association, but are civil service employees who give up their own time to promote the welfare of their fellow-workers.

The list of membership committees was begun in last week's issue and will be continued from week to week during the member-ship drive. This week's list fol-

Board Ready to Report On Classifications

Special to The LEADER

ALBANY, Sept. 27.—The Classification Board has surveyed all State tuberculosis hospitals, in-cluding the three that the State recently took over from county government. Positions to be re-classified include those in the older tuberculosis hospitals in the Department of Health.

Chairman J. Earl Kelly said that the report on this project is ready to be submitted for Board action.

The LEADER learned that some changes in classification in the Service Commission approve. Action Soon on Hospital Appeals

The Board has completed the hearing of appeals from classifications in the three tuberculosis hospitals that the State took over recently—the Broadacres Sanitorium in Utica, the Onondaga Sanitorium in Syracuse and the J. Adam Memorial Hospital, These were appeals by individual employees and were not group appeals.

It is known that recommendations will be made by the Board to grant some of the 57 appeals Adams, six in Broadtaken in. acres and four in Onondaga.

Education Job Survey The Board has a heavy work load under way. It is in the midst of a survey of all the positions in the Education Department, and has just completed a study of written job descriptions of these positions. Soon it will interview employees holding the positions in that department and finally

This follows the completion of a similar survey in the Banking Department, excepting field employees. The Banking department project is ready for Board action, affecting office and clerical jobs.

The Classification Board has been busy classifying jobs of the employees of the Long Island State Park Commission, most of which were never classified before. Recently Mr. Kelly personally held interviews at Jones Beach State Park. At that time, Laurence J. Hollister, Field Representative of whether these changes would be the employees. The proposed representative on the Executive classification recommendations of Committee of the Association for the positions will be on a permanent basis. In general, the posi-tions have heretofore been treated Britt to complete his unexpired as seasonal. Armory Problem

A problem before the Classification Board is whether the State should classify the jobs of the armory employees through the Civil Service Commission. The question of jurisdiction arises, by Dr. Tolman. However, whether the classifica-tion will be effectuated by the State Commission's Classification Board or through the Division of Military and Naval Affairs, it is expected that Mr. Kelly's Board will do the survey nevertheless.

The Board has recently com-pleted the classification of the Division of Military and Naval Affairs, exclusively of the armories, and the final recommendations have been sent to Budget Director John E. Burton. His action thereon is being awaited. The other members of the Board will make its recommendations to the Budget Director.

Another project under way is a study of the jobs in the Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Another members of the Board of Classification are Arthur F. Maloy, of the Division of the Budget, and Robert G. Blabey, of the Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Association Sets Example of Zeal

T HE expert preparation for and the resounding agenda of the Civil Service Employees Association for its 38th annual meeting in Albany on October 5 and 6 set a splendid example of how a public employee group should function. The eminence of its chief guest speakers. Arthur S. Flemming, ex-U. S. Civil Service Commissioner, and Herbert C. Gerlach, Westchester County Executive, attests to the esteem in which the Association of State and county employees is held by leaders in Civil Service.

The Association has achieved notable gains for employees. As one stands impressed at the competence and zeal of its leaders, and the effective support they and the Associaton projects get from the members, one cannot fail to correlate effect and cause and say, No wonder!

Your Pre-election Ammunition

. The score card of rising costs published in last week's issue of The LEADER was so well received that we have decided to publish it each week before election. The idea is to keep it handy for discussions with candidates, to see how they feel about the living-cost problem of Civil Service employees-and after election be sure that these candidates keep their word.

WHAT EMPLOYEES SHOULD KNOW

Does Ignorance of Procedure Excuse an Employe

By THEODORE BECKER

GNORANCE of the law is no orandum. No witness testified excuse for non-compliance by itively that the employee had the public but ignorance of established departmental procedures and practices is an excuse for non-compliance by a public em-ployee. This is the conclusion which may be drawn from a recent ruling of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in a case involving a State employee. This employee was demoted to a lower grade position after being found guilty of charges and specifications after a hearing to which he was entitled as a war veteran. By law the veteran was also entitled to and did take an appeal based on the record of the hearing which, he contended, did not sustain the charges—the burden of proving incompetency or misconduct at the hearing being upon the person making the allegations.

Of the four charges, the first three allege, in effect, that the veteran failed to follow "prescribed procedure," " accepted practice" and "office rules and regulations." The fourth charge was that he failed to advise superiors of the products and properiors of the pendency and progress of a compensation claim based on his injury in the course of his employment. With this general situation, I in hearing from State hospital warm earnestly in agreement. Yet, it is good for the system to constitution in a discount of the system sider unpleasant factors in a discussion of the matter. For example, recently, I observed the following:

1. Three female institutional employees washing and cleaning the automobile of a staff doctor on a mid-week visiting day. I know it was not their off-day because I have seen them in the visitors room when their services were required. If there were not enough visitors to occupy their time, the attendants surely could have been used to good advantage in caring for patients.

2. A burly and surly female nurse man-handling a woman patient upon directing the patient to enter a ward and without giving her a chance first to comply. Whether or not the patient is of the active type, she should have been given opportunity to enter on her own before being coaxed. It was heart-rending to see her so abused without any reason for

Blueprint for Action Drawn for Assn. Meeting

ALBANY, Sept. 27 — A "blue-print for action," designed to meet the major problems facing public employees, will be drawn up at the 38th annual meeting of the Civil Service Employees Association here on October 5 and 6.

The convention, expected to draw between 400 and 500 delegates, has been termed by Dr. Frank L. Tolman, Association president, "the most important meeting in our history."

At this time the policies and goals for some 46,000 public employees will be determined in what may result in a "remaissance in public service," according to William F. McDonough, executive representative of the Association.
The agenda for the annual meeting will include departmental conferences, meetings of regional conferences, special panel discus-sions and hard-hitting general sessions where the core of the As-sociation program will be determined.

Magnificent Example of Unity

In reviewing reactions of Association chapter presidents concerning plans for the convention, as expressed in recent meetings in Poughkeepsie, Goshen, Freeport and NYC, Mr. McDonough told The LEADER.

"The Association presents magnificent example of unity and enthusiasm as delegates prepare for the annual meeting."

He said chapter presidents and other officers representing state and municipal employees within the state indicate a "marked pride in and concern for the great pub-lic services performed by the several hundred thousand civil service employees in the civil service of the state and its subdivisions."

"Their principal concern and worry," Mr. McDonough added, "are about the functioning of civil service commissions and the completeness of recruitment and promotion of public workers on the basis of merit and fitness."

Association Led The Way

Pointing out that the Association has led the way in preaching and practicing the creed that civil government is the most vital and essential business in American democracy, Mr. McDonough said the Association makes its plea for proper respect and reward for public workers on the grounds they must be highly efficient and that the peoples' most important interests suffer when the supply of efficient government personnel is depleted by reason of inadequacy of pay scales or poor working conditions."

What to Expect

Speaking of a blueprint for ac-tion to be developed at the an-nual meeting, Mr. McDonough said it seemed certain that delegates will call for:

"(1) A thorough revitalization of the functioning of civil service commissions on all levels.

"(2) A writing into law of a progressive public employee labor relations measure providing for employer-employee committees in all departments, institutions and divisions of government.

"(3) The inclusion of present temporary salary adjustments in basic scales and a cost of living emergency adjustment plan hitched to the cost of living index along the lines of the Westchester County plan.

"(4) A liberalization of the Retirement System with emphasis on the Association's 55-year plan. "(5) Extension of the competitive class to many thousands now not covered.

"(6) Recognition of a maximum 40-hour week in all services where longer hours now prevail with pay at time and one-half for overtime. "(7) A plan to provide for non-charging of meals not taken in state institutions,

"(8) Civil Service status, rights and privileges and adequate salary adjustments for Armory employees.

"(9) Civil service status, rights and privileges and adequate salary scales for employees of State Colleges, Schools and Authorities and Commissions.

"(10) Demand for ridding public service of all communistic and subversive elements and for complete loyalty within each govern-ment unit."

Sound Principles Wanted

Pointing out that civil service systems suffered seriously under war conditions, Mr. McDonough said "the war has been over for three years. It is time to correct all shortcomings."

Predicting that delegates to the annual meeting will demand a re-turn to the sound principles embodied in the Constitution and basic laws relating to public per-sennel administration and capable adherence to such laws, Mr. McDonough added:
"It is clear that the first hand information relating to what is best for the public service on the part of Association delegates and members, together with their intense loyalty to citizen interests, will impress the leaders of the State, County, City, Town, Village and each district government in New York and will result in a ren-aissance in public service."

There was a difference of opinion on immediate action and a voice vote decided that the chapter should request the State executive committee to defer approval, pending further study. The sense was that if the Insurance Fund members finally adhere to their present position that the request should be approved. The question was whether the employees of that Fund would benefit by having a separate chapter.

Convention Asks Congress

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 27 .-The biennial convention of the National Federation of Federal Employees passed resolutions calling for the further strengthening of the merit system in the Federal service and extension of that system to include all positions except those of a high policy-making nature.

The convention again decried the practice of doling out Collectorships of Customs and Internal Revenue on a partisan political was asked.

Other resolutions urged repeal of the State-quota provision of the Civil Service law as being contrary to the merit system. position was expressed to inclu-sion of that provision as part of the Federal government's dismissal policy.

Better Personnei Management Essential to better personnel management, the convention declared, is setting up of a central personnel agency with the definite responsibility of formulating and supervising all Federal personnel policies. Expansion of the func-tions of the U. S. Civil Service Commission to include these duties

The NFFE recommended that in each Federal department and agency there should be a statu-tory position of Personnel Direcwith rank and prestige equal to that of a second ranking offi-cial, with full authority to deal with all personnel problems within the agency.

As other steps in better admin-istration, the convention urged adoption of a thoroughgoing program of job instruction and training, and more adequate and uniform recognition to employees for constructive suggestions leading toward service improvements.

By unanimous action the delegates urged locals to arouse in-dividual responsibility among all Federal employees for fullest compliance with both the spirit and letter of the leave regulations. The convention declared that leave rights of all Federal employees are being jeopardized by few abuses.

Education of Public Needed

Emphasizing the many essen-tial services rendered to the government and people of the United States by Federal employees, the convention acted to broaden and intensify its program of public education on this subject.

Much attention was given by the convention to the matter improved supervision which, was pointed out, is a fundamen tally important key to better go ernment. As a step in the dire tion of bettering the prevailing situation, the convention calle for a continuing effort to rai the supervisory standard as urged increased emphasis training for supervisory officia

The need for establishment a Civil Service Board of App was stressed and resulted in affirmation of the federation recommendation for an execut tribunal which would be charg with the duty of solving proble affecting positions.

Setting up of a basic pattern procedure and action with respe to the wages of those Federal ployees whose stipend is set Wage Boards, which would res in standardization, was urged the convention.

Income Tax Exemption of Pensions

Implementation of the legisl tion already passed by Congre to set up adequate health, firs aid, and illness prevention pr grams in the Federal service called for in another resolut adopted.

Exemption of Federal reti ment annuities from income to was declared by the convention be necessary, since persons where retired on these annuitionare suffering real hardships. R cipients of military pensions well as those under other retir ment systems administered by t Federal government, are exert to the extent of the annuities pensions received, the conventi pointed out. Mandatory payment of cash all overtime worked instead of f present system of cash or cor pensatory time, also receiv strong convention support. T convention urged that all ow time work be compensated the rate of time and a half for government employees grades or basic salaries.

Steward Re-elected

The convention re-elected Lut er C. Steward and Gertrude McNally as president and sec tary-treasurer, respectively. D Walter P. Taylor, of Stillwate Okla., was elected 1st vice-pres dent; George L. Evans, of Denv 2nd vice-president; Vaux Ow Atlanta, 3rd vice-president, L. J. Wall, Springfield, Ill., vice-president.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. — In the continental United States a majority of Federal agencies reported increases in the number of employees.

The largest increases were in the Post Office Department, Department of the Navy, Department of the Army, Department of the Air Force, Veterans Administration, and Department of Agriculture. The Department of the Treasury and the War Assets Administration reported sizable decreases. Changes in the number of civilian employees outside the country were small. There were 407,650 women employed full-time in continental United States at the end of July. This was an increase of 539, all in the Washington area.

ALBANY, Sept. 27.—The State retary position in the exempt class civil service Commission approved it would be approved. he resolution of the NYC Civil ervice Commission for the ex-ension of the deadline for rewartime provisionals to ecember 31 next.

The original authorization for artime provisionals' retention pired on June 30 last and the NYC commission sought a year's exension, but this was rejected by he State Commission and an inmation given that the December 1 date would be approved. A new resolution was adopted acordingly. The amendment is to Rule V. Section 9, Subdivision 2C, colloquially known as nine-five-nine-two C.

Other Resolutions Approved

Three other NYC resolutions

ere approved. One of them permitted employes who have attained the maxinum of their grade to accept the ncreased compensation as provided in the 1948-9 budget, usually a 250 addition to permanent pay. At present the money is included in the pay check on the signing of he waiver. Approval of the resolution dispenses with the nec-essity of the waivers hereafter. A resolution to change the salary limits within grade in Group Part 39 of the Rapid Transit Railroad Service was approved. This is Rule V Section 1 Pararaph 5 of the NYC rules.

Exempt Jobs Disapproved

The State Commission disaproved of a resolution authorizing xempt positions in the Office of the Mayor. These were to be Assistant Research Consultant, Consultant on Child Welfare, Conultant on Recreation and Group Work, Research Consultant and Secretary in the new Youth Secretary in the new Youth Soard. The Commission found that except for the title of Secreary, similar positions were in competitive class in the State It intimated that if resolution were adopted by the NYC Commission to put the Sec-

War Provisional Hiring 500 More Patrolmen in Oct. To Be All for This Year

Wallander hopes to be able to appoint a minimum of 500 Patrolmen (P.D.) during October, prob-

If the same practice is followed, it is expected that the eligibles will be appointed from the list as published, but whether all the promotions will stick will depend on the outcome of a second lawyii involving. come of a second lawsuit involving the answers to the examination.

Question of Answers

In the first lawsuit, the Patrolman eligibles who protested multiple official key answers, when the examination paper asked for the best answer only, won in the Court of Appeals on the ground that there could be only one best answer when the examination paper itself imposes that requirement. The Commission answered the key but not to the satisfaction of the petitioners in the first proceeding.

The Police Lieutenant list is being held up because of 15 claims service awards. It is expected to be published toward the end of next week.

Civilian Promotions

Commissioner Wallander is also trying to make some civilian promotions. Already he has requested Budget Director Thomas J. Patterson to issue a budget certification for the promotion of 15 Clerks, Grade 2, to Grade 3. In the last batch of such promotions, 69 eligibles benefited at once. The present list, promulgated on August 17, 1948, contains 48 names, and it is expected that during the four-year life of the list all 48 eligibles will be promoted.

The Clerk Grade 3 eligibles have an association of which Charles Vierling is president and Edward Conlon is treasurer.

Replying to a letter from the hope to replace these persons als. After I became Commissioner, Civil Service Reform Association, in which it was suggested that the Civil Service Commission reduce the number of provisionals more aggressively and make a stricter scrutiny of temporary appointees, President Joseph A. McNamara's Letter

President McNamara's reply follows in part:

"Out of approximately 150,000 persons in the classified service of this City about 115,000 are in the competitive class and about 10,000 are in the Labor Class and these positions are filled by examinations, the conduct of which is in no way subject to any so-called whatsoever. political influence Thus the general implication and tenor of your letter to the effect that our supervision and administration of the Civil Service Laws here is not efficient has no foun-

"I doubt also the validity of your conclusion that the public is justifiably alarmed concerning the qualifications of the 20,000 temporary employees. Other than your letter, I have heard or read of no expression of alarm from the public concerning the qualifications of these persons nor has any evidence been submitted to me that the services furnished by the City Government to its citizens has suffered in any way by the employment of these persons. As a matter of fact, a large percentage of this group is employed in the Board of Transportation where they have been giving, insofar as I am able to ascertain, satisfactory service. Certainly their dismissal without replacement from eligible lists would disrupt the entire transit system. We have been conducting examinafor these positions and Says Scrutiny Is Practical "We do scrutinize the qualifications of those nominated for temporary appointment to make sure that they meet certain minimum requirements. Your statement that this is handled perfunctorily is incorrect. During the war and due the manpower shortage the Commission, of which Mr. Marsh was then President, authorized the waiver of requirements by the Director of Examinations in his discretion in proper cases, pro-vided that no statutory requirement was waived and provided further that the temporary incumbent was, in the opinion of the Director, competent to per-form temporarily the duties of the

"We have expedited examinations for positions now held by provisionals. When I first came to the Commission in 1946 there was a backlog of about 20,000 provisionals and little or no effort had been made by the previous administration to plan an appropriposition for which he was nominated. Inasmuch as this man-power shortage still exists due to economic and labor conditions, we

a plan of examinations was adopted and the program vigorously pursued, so much so that by the end of the year of 1948 we will have conducted far more examinations during that year than in any preyear in the history of this Commission, and will have made great strides in reducing the number of provisionals serving number which was inherited by us when we came into office.

Not Too Many Exempt "I do not agree with you that there is a long list of Exempt and Non-competitive Class positions in the City service, and that the number of positions now excepted from competition is far too large. There are approximately 450 positions in the Exempt Class, which number represents approximately 3/10 of 1% of the total number of employees in the classified service. Surely this compares more than favorably with the record of any other Commission of comparable size in this country and can hardly be characterized as far too large.

"With respect to the Non-competitive Class, there are approximately 18,000 employees in this class, of whom 15,000 are in the Hospital Reclassification Hospital Department chiefly in the titles of ate program of examinations in Helper and Nurse and about 1,500 order to supplant these provisionin the Board of Education in part-time work in the School Lunch Program.

"Insofar as the group in the Hospital Department is concerned, atempts to classify Helpers in the Labor Class have proved impracticable in the past, even during depression times, because of the large turnover in this category and due to the nature of the duties of these positions. With respect to Nurses, there is such a shortage of available nursing talent that this is hardly the time to impede the filling of positions in the Hospital Department by attempting to reclassify these positions now. The evidence of large turnover and the nature of the duties in both categories indicate that this is hardly a fruitful field for political patronage. However, you may rest assured that at the opportune time we shall recanvass the situation in the Hospital Department to see whether it is practicable to reclassify these positions. With respect to the 1,500 persons in the Non-competitive Class in the Education Department these are chiefly located in the School Lunch Service, and I do not believe that classified.

"This Commission has in no way been remiss in its administration of the Civil Service Law and can take a justifiable pride in the extraordinary activities of this Commission during the past two years in the execution of its pro-gram in this connection."

year accelerated course in business administration will be held this evening (Tuesday), at 6:15 at the Delehanty Business School, 115 East 15th Street, NYC.

In introducing this course, which is registered with the New York State Department of Education, the school is inviting everybody interested to attend as a guest without charge or obligation.

Those present, in addition to listening to interesting talks on practical business principles by experienced business men on the faculty, will also have the opportunity to inspect the new and enlarged facilities of the school which was located for nearly 20 years at 120 West 42 Street before its recent removal to the main building at the 15th Street address.

The business administration course will include complete coverage of all of the fundamentals of successful modern business operations such as business organization and management, principles of accounting, advertising, salesmanship, business law and business correspondence.

Delehanty Explains Advantages In announcing the opening class M. J. Delehanty, director of the school, said: "Many young people, and par-ticularly veterans, who are am-bitious to attain executive standing as owners or managers of successful business will find this course ideal for their purpose. Each subject will be presented in a concise, easy to understand form that will give the student a thorough knowledge of basic principles while eliminating all extraneous details.

"The courts are a mighty in- business frauds, and in that way strument in upholding of the has gained an intimate insight long arm of the law to protect into the deep-dyed schemes by the innocent from the frauds and machinations of the wily," said General Sessions Judge John A. Mullen, who as both a practicing lawyer and as a judge has been intimately connected with this protective branch of the legal system for many years. Now, at 58, he is the candidate of the Democratic Party for New York County Surrogate to fill the va-cancy created by the retirement of Surrogate James A. Delehanty, whose term expires December

Judge Mullen, in his nine years on the bench, has presided over many criminals trials involving which thousands of persons have been victimized.

Trained to Protect Public

His experience as a practicing lawyer and as an official referee of the State Supreme Court, in which capacity he served for ten years under annual appointment of the Presiding Justice of the Appellate Division, Democratic and Republican, and his work as attorney for litigants in the Surrogate's Court itself, involving hundreds of cases, have all made him keenly aware of what is necessary to protect the public from trick-sters and flim-flammers, racketeers and roustabouts.

people's money are uncovered in the Surrogate's Court, where decedent estates are administered, and Judge Mullen feels that his past experience enriches his opportunity for public service, if he is elected to the Surrogate's bench on November 2.

When he was referee, he supervised the accounts of committees that were charged with the administration of the estates of incompetents.

In the course of that work, he encountered a tremendous num-ber of problems with which the Surrogate's Court was concerned, said Judge Mullen. He had to file reports with the presiding justice who was personally responsible under the law, and records of the Appellate Division show that Judge Mullen's retire period. Reversed Only Twice

"If someone is to be a supervisor, the question arises, 'How much does he know?'" declared Judge Mullen.

For seven years he was Special Counsel to the Superintendent of Banks and liquidated six different banks in Manhattan. In that way he got the most intimate and instructive course on how to handle money, because it was lack of knowledge of how to handle money that caused the banks to fail. This tremendous, insight was gained in a course that could not be obtained elsewhere.

On the bench he has presided over a great number of impor-tant and complicated cases. Of the many hundreds of decisions he has made on trials that have been held before him, he has been reversed only twice—once by the Appellate Division and once by the Court of Appeals. His public offices also include

His public offices also include his services as Assistant District Attorney under Joab H. Banton, and as Assistant Counsel to the Public Service Commission. His five years in the County Clerk's Office was to put him in touch with procedure problems, serving under County Clerk William H. Collins.

He was asked if he didn't hope to see a good deal more of his former boss in the future.

"I feel quite confident that I shall," he replied.

between membership in organizations called subversive and fitness of character, the Commission did hostile to our present form of elicit information from eligibles government, and that any charge relating to the manner in which they became members of such or-ganizations and the extent of their participation. It was found generally that the membership re-sulted from solicitation by friends and without any careful investigation by the joiners of the na-ture of the organization, and also that participation in the affairs of the organizations had been passive or negligible. In the few instances of admitted active participation, the general rule was applied, nevertheless, that the question is not pertinent to character in this instance.

Question of Communism Different On the question of whether membership in the Communist party should be a barrier to holding a city job, the Commissioners split along unusual lines. President McNamara and the minority Commissioner, Mrs. Esther Bromley, both felt that such member-ship is an inherent disqualification from holding a public posi-tion, President MacNamara argued that the Communist party has a policy of overthrowing our form of government, whether by violent means or otherwise, and that this is inconsistent with according its members the privilege of being an employee of government. Mrs. Bromley argued that anybody who is a Communist has the interests of Russia primarily at heart, and not those of the United States, and therefore should be disqualified from holding public office, whether federal, State or city, because of interests alien to those of his own country.

Harold Fields to Talk On Examining Methods

Harold Fields, Examiner, Board of Education, will address the annual meeting of the Civil Service Assembly on "The Selection of Supervisors," in Ottawa, Canada, during the week of October 4.

Mr. Fields plans to speak on the nature of the tests given by the Board of Examiners for supervisory positions and to dwell particularly on the efforts made by the Board's Committee on Per-sonality Tests, of which he is chairman, in endeavoring to establish scientific tests and norms for measuring personality traits.

FIRE OFFICER HOURS DROP NOV. 1

112 New Lieutenants Then, Higher Rank Promotions to Be Made on Jan.

By H. J. BERNARD

The hours of Officers of the NYC Fire Department will be reduced as of November 1, when the promotion of 112 Firemen to Lieutenant is made, and when 112 eligibles will be appointed as Firemen to replace the promotees. Fire Commissioner Frank Quayle today announced the official date for the promotions in an exclusive interview with The LEADER. He also announced that promotions in higher ranks will be made as of January 1 next. He did not indicate how many of these higher rank promotions would be made.

Higher Rank Promotions
The LEADER obtained from other sources an estimate of what these promotions would be:

One promotion to Deputy Chief, Five to seven promotions to Battalion Chief.

25 promotions to Captain, 25 more promotions to Lieutenant would be included.

These total 56 minimum. Concerning the higher rank promotions, Commissioner Quayle did say however, that on January 1 only those promotions to fill vacancies occurring after January 1 would be made, and that the present vacancies will not be filled until July 1, 1949. This idea had been misinterpreted by others and caused considerable turn oil.

The explanation of the Commissioner's statement, as obtained authoritatively by The LEADER, is that on January 1 there will be a large increase in the number of retirements because the extra $50 a year in the retirement benefit beyond 20 years of service accrues periodically on July 1 and Janu-The present number of official vacancies, which is 45, will be more than duplicated by retirement, death and resignation.

Hence, the allocation of promotions to vacancies is a bookkeep-ing operation that does not change the fact that the promoment laid to rest rumors that had been spread that the Fire Officers could approve the creation of the 112 new Fire Lieutenant jobs only at the expense of higher rank pro-motions for the rest of the budget year, which ends on July 30 next. The Commissioner's promise regarding the January 1 promo-tions was a complete answer to that misconception.

Quayle Appreciates UFOA Aid

The Commissioner was appreciative of the cooperation received from the Uniformed Fire Officers Association, which has been intent on improving officer hours, now about 10 hours a week more than those of Firemen.

He felt confident that the vast majority of the Fire Officers would be well satisfied with his plan which he described as one which would "accomplish the greatest good for the greatest number." He emphasized the difplan which he described as one which would "accomplish the tions will be made approximately as described.

The Commissioner's announcement laid to rest rumors that had for the first tenant promotions and 112 First Lieupart tenant promotions and 112 First partment at the man replacements. He added that any other solution than the one adopted would have rendered impossible the improvement of the officers' hours, which was his

the present quota of the Fire Department shows the following vacancies in the officers' ranks:

Deputy Chief, 1; Battalion Chief, 4; Captain, 17; Lieutenant,

The Fireman list would be proshows an allowance of 8,747, while there are 8,795 firemen on the roster constituting a bookkeeping excess of 48. However, the number of firemen on the payroll is exactly the same as the budget allowance, 8,747, and the 48 that seem to be above quota represent firemen on educational or other leaves without pay.

LEADER Drafts a Local Law For Uniformity of Bus Jobs

One of the important considerations is the length of service in the private employer's business for transfer to City employ. The draft of the proposed legislation will bring up this question for argument by proposing that a sixmonths period be established. At public hearings before a committee of the Council both sides could thrash it out. So far, the Commission has been following the pattern laid down in the Wicks law, which was passed in 1938 to allow employees of the BMT to become City em-ployees under transit unification. The Wicks law established a one-year requirement, (and this is be-ing followed now in other cases). Commission rulings permitted totalizing the period so that the whole equaled a year. Also certain

"Count-the-Stars" Competition

The advertisement of Sidmor Fur Company which appeared on this page last week in con-nection with the "Count-thenection with the "Count-the-Stars" Contest was not identical with the advertisemen which appeared he previous week.

The advertiser has announced that where letters in the competition are postmarked on or after September 21, 1948, the count from either advertisement will be accepted as correct.

citizens requirements were imposed under the Wicks law, but this phase is covered under the present City laws on citizenship and residence.

The City recently took over a bus line in Staten Island and also one in Queens, and only the other day two more lines in Manhattan. It is extremely anxious to prevent any loading of the employee lists by a private enterprise about to be acquired by the City, so that favored "employees" would gain status in City jobs. That is the reason for setting the That is the reason for setting the minimum time limit of employment, and also confirms the validity of permitting accumulation of time.

Also the employees of private enterprise themselves are much concerned, as many of them may be on the border line. For instance, a year requirement might substantially reduce the number of employees who could be taken into the City service. President Joseph A. McNamara, of the NYC Civil Service Commission, feels that a year is too long.

The present practice is to put these employees into the noncompetitive class, pending possible reclassification, with the idea that they will be later put into the competitive class. The requirements of the State constitution is that all positions must be com-petitive, so far as practicable. The Board of Transportation positions are nearly all in the competitive
