STATE ESTABLISHES TEACHERS' AGENCY

Cooperate With State College and Normals in Placing Graduates

FILLS LONG FELT NEED

Establishment of a teachers' employment agency in connection with the twelve employment offices of the state labor department has been announced by Dr. James A. Hamilton, industrial commissioner. Employment agencies of the state now cover industrial, commercial, domestic, agricultural, building and juvenile free placement service.

The new service will be operated in cooperation with the state normal schools and teachers' training schools, including State College. Under present conditions teachers seeking work are often obliged to pay fees through privately controlled employment agencies. This method has not proven satisfactory either from the viewpoint of the teachers, or that of the educational authorities. It was said.

The fact no fee is to be charged is expected to bring applications from many teachers who could not afford a fee, or would dislike to pay it.

Applications will be received not only from teachers for primary and grammar grades but also from those for high schools and colleges. In Albany the teachers' employment service will be handled through the Albany office of the employment bureau, 518 Broadway, of which Daniel A. Hausmann is director.

Establishment of the services will result in more satisfactory conditions and more suitable placements, it was said. The shift of teachers, especially in rural schools and small towns, each year amounts into hundreds. It is stated much of this can be avoided by proper placing of teachers in the first instance resulting in satisfaction both to teachers and the education boards.

Dr. Hamilton termed the new service "an advanced step in public employment activities of the department." Several rules attend the service. Applications by school authorities for teachers should be made early enough to give the employment service officials time to select a fitting applicant.

MID-WINTER FROLIC OF G. A. A. IN GYM TONIGHT

G. A. A. will have a mid-winter frolic tonight. Refreshments are in charge of Mildred Loman with Beatrice Wright and Carolyn Schleich, assistants. Ruth Maynard will take care of decorations. Katharine Blenis is in charge of the program and, with the assistance of Gertrude Sweetmann, Georgianna Maar, and Margaret Stoutenburgh, promises a "Valentine Revue." Ruby Herman, Ruth Moore, Dorothy Terrell and Marjory Young are a few of the surprise entertainers on the program.

Eighty Juniors Attend Class Luncheon at Colony Plaza; Reminiscences of Early Experiences Feature Occasion

The eighty juniors who attended junior luncheon at Colony Plaza, last Saturday knew the success of that most formal of college affairs when it is transformed into a jovial gathering by spontaneous informality. The '27 banner with its mysterious secrets of stolen journeys looked down upon long tables bedecked with green and white carnations. Marjorie Greenman arranged the five-course menu. The lapses between courses were filled with musical numbers by the talent of '27. Nettie Gilbert gave two violin selections, "Meditation from Thais" by Massenet and "Song of the Puschka" by Keler Dejer. Ruth Moore sang two contralto solos, "I Saw You Go By" and "Morning."

Bertha Zajau, toast-mistress, announced that this was a "speechless luncheon" and by her own original remarks she kept all those of others within the realm of "talks." Dean Pierce especially commended the class of '27 on the unusual success of the Prom. She warned against falling into the "post-exam slump," a pit into which so many have stumbled. Dean Metzler turned into a new trend of thought when he commended himself on the success of his first task performed in the summer of 1923, when upon arriving at State College, he selected from numerous applications the members of '27. He gave advice concerning the respect, love, and fear for truth. Edwin Van Kleeck brought back freshmen days. The best-learned course, he said, was that of the Strand, and immediately sat down to give opportunity to those who wished to pursue the course that afternoon. Melanie Gram, speaking of sophomore days, told wherein '27 failed, one way being the failure to let the freshmen win interclass rivalry. Ruth Empie, class president, refused to tell a story or a joke because no point could ever be found to them, and then proceeded to tell several well-sharpened ones to her "family," 1927. Marcella Street peered into the crystal ball, and saw in coming years: Miss Fritterer a lead on Broadway, with Julia Fay as understudy; Secretary of State, Ruth D. Empie; Bertha Zajau and Melanie Gram, stage partners, and lastly, Edwin Van Kleeck, the phantom, in "The Phantom of the Opera." To leave junior luncheon seemed impossible so bound together in spirit was '27 after singing college songs and "Auld Lang Syne."

STATE PLAYS SAVAGE PHYSICAL ED SCHOOL TONIGHT IN NEW YORK

The varsity basketball team which won one game and lost one over vacation, will play the Savage School of Physical Education tonight in New York.

Last night the varsity was to have played Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. The team left Albany Wednesday to play New Paltz Normal in a return contest on its way to New York that night.

The varsity won, 46 to 22, from the Alumni Saturday, and on the night of Post Exam jubilee lost to St. Bonaventure's, 28 to 25.

The two games brought the team's record to six victories in nine contests. The team is thirty-eight points ahead of its nine opponents in scoring totals for the season.

The St. Bonaventure game was close and exciting all the way and the result was in doubt almost to the final whistle. In the Alumni game, the regulars outplayed and outscored the veterans, who buttressed by the presence of Stanley "Big Fitz" Fitzgerald, star of the College's state championship outfit of several years ago, fought hard to come up from behind all the way. Juckett, captain of State two years ago, was in the Alumni lineup and Howe and Caselano also played. The Alumni also used Smith and Riley. The varsity rushed into a scoring spree with the opening whistle and kept up the work most of the first half. Nephew was the individual star of the game, scoring almost all that for a total of nineteen points.

Cosch Baker started his regular outfit with Nephew at center, Horning and ... at forwards and Kuzyski and Griffin at guards. Later he used Herney and Kershaw.

BRUBACHER INVITES TEACHERS TO MEETING

Letters of invitation have been sent out by Dr. Brubacher this week to all high schools, inviting teachers, principals and superintendents in twenty-eight counties of eastern New York to a second annual round table conference. The conference will be held at College on Saturday, March 20.

There will be separate conferences for each high school department, also for school administration, junior high school and school supervision. A luncheon conference to be held in the College cafeteria will be addressed by a person of national prominence, on "Education for Law Observance."

FENCE FOR CAMPUS BACKED IN SURVEY

Suggest That Future Classes
Give Memorial Gates
To College

WOULD PRESERVE LAWNS

A survey conducted by the News this week, indicates that student opinion is strongly behind President A. R. Brubacher's plan to surround the College campus with an ornamented six-foot iron fence. One suggestion was that in the future College classes could give memorial gates as their gifts to the College.

Muriel Wenzel, '26, president of the student association, said, "The suggestion is one of the best ever mentioned, and according to my idea is the only thing that will give State College a campus to be proud of. There are so many outsiders who utterly ignore our 'Preserve the grass' signs and wear ugly paths across our lawns that it seems as though a fence were the only means of keeping the campus in such a condition that the students will be proud to show it to their friends."

Niles Haight, '26 president of the senior class, expressed his views as follows: "I think that Dr. Brubacher's plan is an excellent one. It will not only keep out those who do not belong on the grounds, but it will give the College an atmosphere of exclusiveness. Furthermore, it is the plan of other colleges, such as Harvard and Union, and enhances the beauty of the place. Various classes could give gates as memorials, and new traditions could be built up around them. It would give the College an entirely new field in which to work."

Charles Moore, '26, business manager of the Quarterly, declared that "Such a fence as Dr. Brubacher proposes would greatly add to the attractiveness of the place. It is the thing being done by all the larger colleges, and would keep out persons who have formed the habit of using the college campus as a short cut to business."

Ruth Empie, '27, president of the junior class, said "I think that it would be an ideal thing to have such a fence. It would prevent the citizens of this city from enjoying privileges which are denied to the students themselves. We cannot walk across the College campus, and the men cannot smoke while on the campus, so why should outsiders be allowed to do these things. It would also add an air of distinctiveness."

Constance Baumann, '27, secretary of the Junior class, declared "The tradition which we are supposed to hold sacred, that of not walking on the campus except on specified occasions, has never been enforced or upheld, in that anyone may cut across the lawn to save time. If outside people may do this, why not we who as students must reach classes on time. A fence would prevent this promiscuous use of State College property."

FENCE FOR CAMPUS IS FAVORED BY STUDENTS

William J. Clarke, '27, manager of the varsity basketball team, said, "A fence is a real necessity. It will be more necessary after the new buildings are completed. The grounds should not be used for the purpose of a park playground by all the neighborhood children, who scale the upper campus rail, leap off the steps, play hide and seek, roller skate on the walks, jump rope on the lawns, and play all kinds of games on the grounds."

Richard A. Jensen, '28, secretary of student association, said: "It would do away with a certain temptation to follow the crowd and save time in a short cut."

Anthony Kuczynski, '28, varsity basketball player, said, "It would certainly add to the attractiveness of the campus."

Harriet Parkhurst, '28, thinks that the plan is excellent. "When our new buildings are finished, we will be separated from the outside world, thus making a little world of our own, which will be quite collegiate."

David Smurl, president of '29, said "I think that the fence idea is one which will solve a problem that has been pending for a long time, that is, how to keep our campus for State College students, and how to keep it in such a condition that we will all be proud of it. The athletic field will provide a playground for the students."

Mildred Lansley, secretary of '29, declares "I have always loved fences; they give a place such a cosy atmosphere. A fence like the one proposed would increase College spirit a hundredfold, and the College would be very impressive."

Ruth Pember, '29, said: "The fence should be erected as soon as possible."

"Basic Principle in Child Training is Obedience" Writes Mrs. H. Chapman, '13, Now Teaching in District School

The latest Alumni Quarterly quotes a letter from Mrs. H. Chapman, formerly Laura Bristol, '13.

Mrs. Chapman taught for three months after graduation when she became deeply involved in the woman suffrage campaign both as a speaker and an organizer. Later she managed a farm and finally married a neighbor farmer. They have two children. Mrs. Chapman writes: "I have driven everything on a farm from the children's goat to the tractor. For the past year I have taken my children with me and taught the district school. I

GIRLS' ATHLETICS AT STATE COLLEGE

THE NEWS' SIGNED ARTICLE BY A FACULTY MEMBER IS CONTRIBUTED THIS WEEK

BY

MISS ISABELLE JOHNSTON

A discussion of girls' athletics at State might well begin with a list of grievances. There are two chief complaints to be made: the first with regard to the faculty support of athletics, and the second concerning the attitude of State College men toward girls' athletics. Faculty support is noticeably lacking, particularly at basketball games. The visiting teams at State are always accompanied by loyal enthusiastic instructors. It seems that basketball, the "big game" here, is worthy of the attendance of State's faculty. The attitude of the College men toward girls' athletics is one of amused tolerance. The girls' games are just as important as the men's. At the last alumni game the lack of cooperation and enthusiasm on the part of the men was certainly an obvious drawback to the maintenance of that very necessary thing called "college spirit."

The Russell Sage game is coming soon. This big event ought to receive the support of everyone at State. Personally, I do not approve of interschool athletics for girls. The Russell Sage games, however, are more or less of an institution here and were established long before my appointment to the Physical Education department. I believe that students in schools of a somewhat professional nature have not the time or inclination to support interschool games. Nevertheless, the Sage games will probably be permanent factors in the girls' athletics schedule at State. As an institution, therefore, they are worthy of the College's best efforts. In concluding, it might be of interest to note that an added feature has been included in the schedule this year. A faculty game will be played on March 6. Watch for the line-up!

QUEEN CARE REFUSES TO DIE AT JUBILEE

Repeated burials must finally have put King Care out of the running, for the old fellow was not present at the Post Exam Jubilee Thursday night, for his annual funeral. Resolved, however, to dispense of some member of the royal family, the committee in charge seized upon his spouse, and the funeral of Queen Care was solemnly begun. Scarcely, however, had Dr. Harry W. Hastings, head of the English department, commented on the beauty and grace of the said mourners, and pronounced the usual last sad words over the bier, when signs of life were noticed in the corpse. Dr. Crossdale, after a brief examination, called for oxygen, and, by the administration of this and by removing from the unhappy Queen's chest bluebooks in History 2, Physics and Calculus, revived her completely. All of this, of course, turned the mourning to rejoicing, and everyone danced merrily until 11:30.

MUSIC CLUB PRESENTS FLONZALEY QUARTET

The Flonzaley Quartet will be presented by the Music Association in a concert at Chancellor's hall on February 16. The students will be admitted to the balcony on student tax tickets and to the main hall on the payment of twenty-five cents with their student tax tickets. Tickets will be sold to the public at 10c.

FIVE HUNDRED ATTEND ANNUAL JUNIOR PROM

Junior Prom proved to be the biggest affair of the year. Over five hundred people attended the Prom held last Friday in the Ten Eyck ballroom. Gowns representing every hue along with palms and a thousand pennants of the cosmos made the ballroom a fitting reception hall for the juniors and their guests. Special cozy corners were arranged for the faculty.

Dr. and Mrs. Abram R. Brubacher were unable to attend. Dean Anna E. Pierce, Dean William H. Metzler, Dr. Marion Collins, Ruth Empie and Bertha Zajac received. Guests of honor were Dr. and Mrs. Robert R. Faust, Miss Marion Flemming, Professor and Mrs. George M. York, and Professor and Mrs. William Kennedy. The promenade was led by Professor and Mrs. York.

Olea Beauman's toe dance was met with special favor as was Elizabeth Veitland's harp solos. Dancing ended at 2:15.

ALUMNAE HAVE DINNER THEN WITNESS GAMES

There were about sixty guests present at the alumnae dinner held in the cafeteria last Saturday evening. During the dinner, Professor Kirtland read some verses which will appear in the little volume of Student Verse. Miss Pierce outlined the progress of the dormitory drive. Some delightful entertainment was furnished by Bertha Zajac and Melanie Grant who danced, and Marcella Street who sang, and Ruth McNutt who did a poppy dance. After the dinner, the guests attended the two alumnae basketball games played in the gymnasium with the varsity teams.

EXAMS CONDUCTED IN HONORABLE MANNER

"The general atmosphere and sentiment in regard to honor in examinations is very different; examinations were conducted as honorably as if we had an honor system," Dr. Brubacher stated when interviewed in regard to cheating in the recent final tests.

GIRLS' VARSITY WINS FROM ALUMNAE TEAM BY SCORE OF 22-19

The girls' varsity played their first game with the alumnae Saturday night. Due to many of the players on the alumnae team being recent graduates from '24, and the varsity for the evening being a result of a try-out, the contest was close. Margaret Hutchins, last year's varsity captain, was star guard for the alumnae. The Hoyt-Craddock combination was back on the floor. Ethel Dubois, junior forward of renown, was out due to a wrenched ankle but the Tompkins-Swettman-Neville trio from the junior team piled up points for varsity. At the first half, varsity had scored 13 to alumnae's 9. The second half was spurred along from a startling field shot by Lorena Shaffer, to a final tally of 22-19 with varsity on the long end of the score. The alumnae: Belding, G., '24; Hoyt, F., Craddock, F., Daly, F., Taylor, G., Dietz, G., Hutchins, G., '25. Varsity players were: Milmine, G., Raynor, G., J. Wright, G., Shaffer, G., Melrose, F., '26; Neville, F., Swettman, F., Tompkins, F., Maar, G., Empie, G., Florio, G., '27; Lasher, F., B. Wright, F., Seeger, F., Rowland, G., M. Doughty, G., '28.

This plant hydro-electric unit weighs 750 tons and consists of a vertical shaft hydraulic turbine attached to an electric generator delivering 52,000 kilowatts at 12,000 volts.

Bigger Generators— Cheaper Electricity

A 70,000 horsepower hydro-electric unit recently installed at Niagara Falls utilizes the same amount of water as seven former 5,000-horsepower units, yet does the work of fourteen such units. And it saves 700,000 tons of coal yearly for the nation.

As more and still more uses are found for electricity, larger and more economical generators are installed. At the power plant, as well as at the consumer's end, important changes and startling developments have steadily reduced the cost of electricity for light, power, and heat.

And wherever electricity has blazed its trail—in towns, cities, industrial centers, and rural communities—comfort and progress have come to stay.

Generating and distributing electricity concern the technical student. But electricity's application in the betterment of industry, the professions, and home life concerns every educated person. Cheap electricity means many startling achievements today, but countless and unbelievable possibilities tomorrow.

For the first time in the history of elementary dramatics class presentation the class has been able to pay all expenses and has a surplus left from the sale of tickets for the three plays which were presented at the Institute of the Historical and Art Society on January 14 and 15. The intensive advertising kept the event in the minds of both students and public and their financial support was most gratifying. The surplus of about fifty dollars will probably be turned over to the Dramatics and Art Association to assist in carrying out their spring program.

Olga Hampel, editor-in-chief of the Quarterly, announced that the second "Quarterly" of the year will be out about the middle of February. One or two new writers are to be introduced but their identity is not yet being revealed. Attention is again called to the fact that the "Quarterly" belongs to the student body.
