DON'T REPEAT THIS

If Dewey Doesn't Run

THERE'S a settled opinion in political circles that Thomas E. Dewey will run for re-election as Governor of New York. This was expressed almost unanimously in a poll of political writers taken by this column. In fact, Don't Repeat This expressed its own conviction, some weeks ago, that all the political currents were in the direction of Dewey's candidacy.

But what if Dewey doesn't run? In politics, every possibility deserves careful weighing.

If Dewey doesn't run, then Senator Irving M. Ives is the man generally accepted as the next best candidate for the Republicans.

Building Successors

The difficulty with strong political personalities, like the elder Franklin D. Roosevelt and like Governor Dewey, is that they don't build successors. Indeed, possible successors look faded in the very brilliance and force of the incumbent.

Awards Won By Two Aides In Albany

ALBANY, June 7 — The coveted annual awards for outstanding public service, given by the Capital District Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration, went this year to two State employees: Helen Whipple, director of Employment Security Training for the Division of Employment, Labor Department, and Dr. James E. Allen Jr., Deputy Commissioner of Education.

All public employees in the Albany area are eligible for the awards, which are intended to encourage competent public service.

Miss Whipple was chosen for an outstanding success in the field of in-service training. Commissioner Allen received the award for his role in the reorganization of the State Education Department.

It's Moving Day For DE Workers

Arthur H. Schwartz, counsel to the State Commission on Coordination of State Activities, and president of the Marcus Memorial Foundation, announces that a dinner will be held on Thursday, June 10, to pay tribute to David "Mickey" Marcus, American who was killed in the war between Israel and the Arabs. Col. Marcus was a graduate of West Point, and later served as assistant U. S. Attorney, and commissioner of correction under Mayor LaGuardia. He took an active part in World War II and in the Israeli war. A sniper's bullet killed him on the eve of the truce. The Foundation was formed to perpetuate his memory. Judge Schwartz said a number of important speakers would appear at the dinner, which is being held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

Powers Tells State Aides CSEA Will Receive Facts Supporting Pay Appeals

ALBANY, June 7 — President John F. Powers stated that the Civil Service Employees Association, through its salary committee and headquarters staff, is prepared to receive all statements of fact supporting the salary appeals of any group of State workers and to review and aid in the presentation of the appeal to the Classification and Compensation Division.

The Association has prepared and sent to each of the Association chapters a detailed statement of appeal procedures with complete information covering the various appeal steps. Groups making appeals should contact the chapter president or the Association. Copies of this guide are available to interested members.

The Association initiated and obtained from the Legislature the first comprehensive pay plan adopted in New York State in 1937 and 1938, the Feld-Hamilton-Ostertag plan. The new plan does not differ in objective, namely, to provide orderly and adequate remuneration on the broad basis of equal pay for equal work for State employees, and a sound employee appeal procedure. The Association, in endorsing the principles underlying the new salary plan, has called attention to the inadequacy of appropriations made to effectuate the plan fully. The organization is vitally interested in seeing that the new pay plan is applied with justice and intelligence, thus to insure retaining and attracting to State service the most competent citizens.

The adoption of a new salary plan covering civil service positions in State government posed immediately the problem of correct allocation of more than 2,600 titles of positions.

A provision of the law establishing the new plan calls for allocation of all positions as of October 1, with changes in salary grades where occurring effective retroactive to April 1. The law also provides that employees who do not feel that allocations are satisfactory may appeal to the Classification and Compensation Division and later to the Appeals Board, between October 1 and December 30, 1954.

The Classification and Compensation Division announced that it will advise employees about August 1 as to the allocations approved for October 1. This gives all groups of employees who wish to appeal, an opportunity to prepare definite statements for their appeals.

Shea Promoted By Dr. Bigelow

ALBANY, June 7 — Daniel J. Shea was appointed as senior administrative assistant in the State Department of Mental Hygiene, it was announced by Commissioner Newton Bigelow. He will take office June 1.

The appointment was made from a recently established eligible list. The salary range is $8,088 to $7,421.

Mr. Shea joined the Department in 1945 as director of personnel and served in this position for more than seven years. He became assistant administrative secretary in the Department in 1952.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Manhattan College, and received master's and doctor's degrees in education and psychology from Fordham University.

He was a member of the Hunter College faculty for eight years between 1934 and 1942, teaching psychology, mental hygiene and education. He became director of personnel for Pan American-Grace Airways in NYC, remaining until 1945.

Mr. Shea served with the Air Force as a psychologist. He is a native of Troy.

Looking Inside

By H. J. BERNARD

THE U. S. Civil Service Commission has offered a sensible and a workable plan for conferring permanency on indefinite employees. The "indefinites" would enter a new group, called "career-conditional," and by that act alone attain competitive status, if they got their jobs through a competitive exam. For the first three years in the career-conditional group, employees would be laid off before permanent career employees. The first career-conditional year would be probationary. At the end of three years the career-conditional employees would become permanent automatically, with maximum protection against layoff, factors of veteranism or non-veteranism assumed equal. "Indefinites" not hired through a competitive exam would be given opportunity to pass one.

The plan did not come as a surprise, since the Commission, especially through speeches by Chairman Philip Young, gave the gist of it months ago. The news is that the Commission has tentatively approved it. Final action will be taken only after employee, veteran and other groups have submitted formal comments.

The Commission's steady policy of letting the employees and the public at large know long in advance what it is considering doing is a forward and heartening one that other Commissions should follow. The proposal about converting indefinite employees to permanent ones was not even tentatively approved until preliminary comments had been received from the very groups now given an opportunity to take a formal stand. This is good civil service and good public relations.

Amendments to the plan may be necessary; the Commission even invites suggestions in that direction; but basically the Commission has come up with a knowing and practical plan.

It is a shame that employees in permanent jobs have been compelled to endure impermanent non-status, many for years. The Commission is courageously trying to remedy an injustice not of its own making.

THE STATE Civil Service Commission conducted a guided tour of its offices for reporters for the civil service press, in conjunction with the first press conference of Chairman Oscar M. Taylor after three months in office. The reporters from NYC saw for themselves how much better the State Commission is equipped to perform its duties than the NYC Commission. Not only is the extent of personnel comparable to the day-to-day job, but the Commission gets cooperation from the other departments. When a tough salary formula is to be applied, and more work has to be done than the State Civil Service staff could possibly handle, key men of other departments pitch in, as members of a committee, as the reporters saw. This results largely from the Governor's interest.

With NYC department heads more often bucking the NYC Commission than helping it, Mayor Wagner has still another task to perform, even if his new Personnel Director, yet unselected, will be his agent to perform it. The Mayor is conscious of the task. He has decided each department is to have a personnel officer of its own to cooperate with the citywide Personnel Director. It will be an interesting test to see how well cooperation denied in the past will succeed in the future.

THREE CHEERS—make it four—for NYC Police Commissioner Adams for boldly taking the leadership of the drive by the line organizations of the uniformed force for a decent wage!

NEWS Letter

THE CLASSIFIED U. S. employees are as much interested in the postal pay raise as are the Post Office employees. The postal groups are more strongly organized and what they receive usually sets the pace. They may almost be said to win the raise for the others, as well as for themselves.

The 14-10 vote of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee for a 7 per cent raise for the postal workers, a considerable improvement over the Eisenhower administration's plan, gives promise the bill relating to classified employees, about to come up for committee vote, will be changed to follow the same pattern . . . The $100 allowance for uniforms appears certain of being voted by Congress; the only question is whether the President will sign it . . . Pay day every two weeks is advancing toward adoption. That would provide 26 pay days a year, instead of 24 . . . The House Judiciary Committee is holding hearings on a bill that would repeal the present safeguards against the attachment of U. S. pay in State court judgments.

TIP TO "INDEFINITE" U. S. employees who did not get their jobs through passing a competitive exam: Take one or more of the exams now open or soon to open, covering duties in the same general line as yours. The U. S. Civil Service Commission plans to give exams to those indefinites who did not pass any, to permit conversion to career-conditional status of those who pass high enough. No need to delay your own conversion by waiting that long. But first the Whitten Amendment must be repealed.

GOING DOWN! That's still the call, in the report on NYC provisionals. On June 1 there were 8,792, or 108 fewer, in permanent vacancies. Used to be in the sixteen thousands. Clerk, grade 2, leads with 531; social investigator, second with 450. The overall drop since January 1, nearly 1,300. The NYC Transit Authority promoted 457 employees, of whom 450 went to clerk, grade 3 or 4 jobs. The promotions were effective June 1; increments on the new basis, January 1, 1955. The citywide pay increase has been adopted by the TA for city-wide titles.

33 State Employees In 18 Agencies Picked For Year's Training

ALBANY, June 7 — Governor Dewey made public the names of 33 men and women in 18 State agencies selected as State employee trainees for a year of special training in public administration, beginning July 1.

The trainees were nominated by their department heads on the basis of superior work performance, talent for administrative work and capacity to profit from specialized training in public administration. The final selections were made by the Governor's sponsoring committee on public administration.

Six of the new trainees are women and 27 are men.

This training program was initiated by Governor Dewey four years ago as part of the State's public administration training program. It provides training opportunities for State employees similar to those given to public administration interns for the past seven years. The trainee and intern programs are administered by the State Department of Civil Service.

The employee trainees will join with public administration interns in formal training sessions in personnel administration, budgeting and other aspects of government administration. They will also receive training from their respective agencies. They will spend most of their time in their regular jobs and will remain at their regular titles and salary levels.

support of its members.

Mr. Fox praised the excellent relation that has been maintained by Mr. Bollman and Dr. Stanley between the CSEA and the hospital director's office. He then described the work being done on the new salary structure, emphasizing that the program was a large one and involved an enormous expenditure of time and energy; and voiced the hope that the program will be completed by August.

Mr. Culyer said that no one had worked harder as a president than Mr. Bollman and remarked that the large membership record spoke for itself.

Assemblyman Walmsley complimented Mr. Bollman and added that, if some of the needed employee benefits hadn't been attained during his tenure of office this was by no means due to lack of effort on Mr. Bollman's part.

Mr. Powers praised the work by the membership committee and the president. He thanked Dr. Stanley for his cooperative attitude toward the Association and described him as one of the outstanding hospital directors in the State in the complex task of handling employee relations.

Names for prizes were picked by Dr. Stanley. The winners were Ora Gorniak, supervisor of the children's unit, and Gene Perreault of the business office. It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Perreault were celebrating their 24th wedding anniversary. In another award held in conjunction with the dinner, the first prize of $50 was won by Violet Samson; second prize, $10, went to toastmaster Van Huben; and three $5 prizes were won by Paul Green, John Janssen and Helen Hill-

Legislative Ends Achieved During 1954 Session

The first instalment of this report, published in the May 25 LEADER, contained an overall appraisal of the session and a summary of the new salary plan. Although the new salary plan has overshadowed all other legislation, a number of other bills of immediate and long-range importance, were also enacted at the past session of the Legislature.

By JOHN T. DeGRAFF,
 Counsel, Civil Service Employees Association.

The Cooke-Wilcox bill (Chapter 237) was sponsored by the Association to correct a troublesome and inequitable situation which had prevailed for many years when State employees who were not under the Feld-Hamilton Law were transferred or appointed to positions covered by that law. Under the previous practice an employee appointed or transferred to a Feld-Hamilton position could not be paid more than the prescribed minimum for the position, even though he had served for several years at a higher rate in a so-called "non-allocated" position.

This imposed a particular hardship on employees holding labor positions in the exempt class in the State Department of Public Works, as well as in other departments, by requiring such employees to accept substantial salary cuts in order to obtain competitive appointments. The new law provides that such employees, regardless of whether their service was on a temporary or permanent basis, shall receive increment credit for their years of service in a non-allocated position upon appointment to a Feld-Hamilton position, provided their previous service was at a salary equal to or in excess of the minimum salary of such position.

Criminal Hospital Attendants
 The Association's long campaign on behalf of the criminal hospital attendants at Dannemora and Matteawan to obtain for them the same rate of compensation as prison guards will come to a successful conclusion under the new salary schedules to become effective this fall.

There has never been any justifiable reason for paying a smaller salary to those who guard insane criminals than to those who guard ordinary criminals. Nevertheless, when the Association's campaign for equal compensation was started over ten years ago, there was a wide disparity in the salary for the two positions and strong opposition to equal treatment.

The Association's previous efforts, with the wholehearted support of Senator Ernest I. Hatfield and Assemblyman James A. Fitzpatrick, of Clinton County, were partially successful, however, and the gap was narrowed by salary increases for criminal hospital attendants on several occasions. Complete equality will now be attained under the new salary schedules which become effective on October 1.

Prison Guards
 The salary differential between "junior" and "senior" prison guards, which has existed since 1947, will also be removed when the new salary schedules become effective. Under the new plan all prison guards will be eligible to receive the same maximum rate of compensation.

Overtime Compensation
 The Gordon bill which would have mandated the payment of cash for overtime work, instead of equivalent time off, successfully passed the Assembly but was killed in the Senate Finance Committee.

Retirement Legislation
 The political maxim that major retirement liberalizations can not be attained in the same year that substantial salary adjustments are enacted, was equally true this year as in the past. As a result, the Association's major retirement objectives, such as 25-year retirement for all State employees, liberalization of the supplemental pension for retired employees, increased death benefits, and vested retirement benefits after 10 years of service, were all killed in committee. Each of these measures had financial implications which the administration and the Legislature were unwilling to assume in a year when they incurred substantial additional expenditures in the installation of the new salary plan.

Nevertheless, several important retirement measures were enacted. One of these bills will correct a troublesome situation in relation to the selection of options which has caused great hardship to employees who have failed to select an option or who have died within 30 days after selecting an option under which all payments cease upon their death. The new law (Chapter 640) is concisely summarized in Governor Dewey's memorandum in which he said:

"Under this bill, if a retired member fails to select an option or chooses a retirement plan which calls for payments only during his life, and death occurs within thirty days after retirement, the beneficiary will receive all of the monies contributed by the employee to the Retirement System, with interest as well as the regular death benefit, which after six years of service, amounts to one-half year's salary.

"In addition, the law is changed so that the failure to select an option will automatically place a retirement plan in effect which guarantees the return of all of the member's contributions, with interest, either to him in the form of annuity payments or to his beneficiary after his death.

"Further liberalization is also provided in authorizing the Comptroller to extend the period in which an employee may select his retirement option by sixty days."

Credit for Korea Service
 Employees who served in the armed forces from June 25, 1950 to July 27, 1953 are given retirement credit for such military service on the same basis as veterans of World War II (Chapter 118).

Supplemental Pensions
 The present supplemental pension law, which gives additional benefits to employees who retired on small pensions, was applicable only to those who retired before January 1, 1953. The law was amended by Chapter 295 to include employees who retired during the past year.

Correction Retirement System
 Employees in the closed Correction Retirement System are eligible to receive a pension for life but could not select options for the protection of their families. Several years ago the Association successfully sponsored a bill giving members of the closed Mental Hygiene Retirement System the right to select the same options on retirement that are available to members of the State Employees Retirement System, but similar legislation for the benefit of the Correction Retirement System was invariably vetoed by the Governor or killed in the Legislature.

This year, the bill was passed and signed by the Governor as Chapter 807. Thus, all members of the two closed retirement systems now have the privilege of selecting the same forms of optional retirement that are available to other State employees.

Additional Contributions
 Several years ago the Association successfully sponsored a bill which permitted employees to make additional contributions to the Retirement System equal to one-half their normal contributions. This bill was enacted as a temporary measure and has been renewed from year to year. It has again been extended this year to July 1, 1955.

Trying to Care Or Kill, Doc?

SOME 100,000 New York City employees and their families are registered under the Health Insurance Plan. They pay half, and the City pays half, the cost of protecting them against every kind of medical need.

These employees have a profound stake in the attack which has been made on HIP—and indeed, on all forms of private group medical practice—by the State Medical Society. The Society tried to hobble HIP through legislative action in Albany; the Legislature refused to go along. Then the Society ruled that it was unethical for a physician to work for a salary except where the patients are "public charges." And it says also that the group plans may not advertise, in effect may not tell prospective subscribers about their services.

It is no wonder that nearly every daily paper in New York City bitterly attacked the crochety Society.

The Daily News summed it up: "Certainly the HIP . . . is well regarded. Operating on insurance principles, it brings good-quality medical service to clients who couldn't pay without the help of HIP policies. It has taken a sizeable load off the free clinics, is of educational value to doctors on its panels, and looks to a lot of people like one answer to the middle-income person's medical finance problems. Same for the Blue Shield and Blue Cross."

Thousands of NYC public employees can testify to the enormous value, and the peace of mind, they've gotten through membership in HIP. It will be to their dire peril if the moguls of organized medicine succeed in killing the Plan.

A Lesson in Public Relations

ONE of the strongest tools available to public employee organizations is the tool of public relations. That means, among other things, working with the community, creating a two-way give-and-take relationship.

It is instructive to learn what one employee group, the Rockland State Hospital chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association, has done. It has taken an active part in the Pearl River Playground Program, and has a representative on the playground committee. It has participated in adult education programs. It has made contributions to the Summit Park Patients Club, to the Boy Scout program, and to various charities. Emil M. R. Bollman, outgoing president of the chapter, stated the policy succinctly: "The chapter has participated in every program that might prove beneficial to the employees, whether a hospital project or some activity in neighboring communities."

The amount of good will built up by these activities is incalculable. The advances made by public employees are dependent on two factors: the amount of effort they put in to get what they want; and the amount of good will they can build up with the public.

Other employee groups have much to learn from the Rockland State Hospital approach.

EGO-SATISFACTION IN PUBLIC OFFICE
Editor, The LEADER

As a public office holder, I was interested in your recent column 'Politicians: Where Are They Now?' which appeared under the heading 'Don't Repeat This.'

The author's first paragraph lists the motives which might impel one to seek public office; ego-satisfaction, a stepping-stone to a higher position, financial gain, and finally a sense of mission.

No one who has been in public life would deny that each category fits some political figure, and your point is well taken that the public soon forgets; but the writer leaves the distinct impression that John Dunnigan, Vincent Impelleri, Rudolph Halley, General 'Wild Bill' Donovan, Walter Lynch, Lazarus Joseph, William Pfeiffer, Charles Poletti, and Frank C. Moore — all of them — entered politics for the purpose of ego-satisfaction, for in prefacing your discussion of these individuals, the writer says, 'those who do it for ego-satisfaction are fooling themselves.'

In fairness to the men and women who seek public office, if you are to dwell on the category of ego-satisfaction, you should continue your series by pointing out in a future column those who have entered the political arena purely with a 'sense of mission' as you say.

Incidentally, in my book some of the above felt the 'sense of mission' even though they are not office-holders at present and their good work has grown dim in the minds of a public which they formerly served.

I think the author of the column might reflect also upon the fact that the history of politics is filled with examples of men who withdrew from politics for a time and then re-entered the field with greater strength and increased stature.

Certainly Abraham Lincoln, who withdrew from Congress after one term, had passed into oblivion until the issue of slavery brought on the Civil War.

Certainly Franklin D. Roosevelt, the defeated candidate for vice-president in the 1920 election, would have appeared finished.

Both men returned to the political arena, however, and who can say that they were not stronger candidates for their temporary withdrawal from office?

These examples could be multiplied manifold, but at a time when we are attempting to build in the minds of the American citizen a respect for public office, I think you should not convey the feeling that every holder of public office is concerned with a feeling for ego-satisfaction.

With kindest personal regards,

GEORGE R. METCALF,

Senator, 47th District, Auburn, N. Y.

Of course not, Mr. Senator. Don't Repeat This cited a variety of motives for seeking public office, of which ego-satisfaction is one. Such motivation must not necessarily be looked upon as something evil, however; ego-satisfaction is a prime mover in all human behavior, from mother-love to the writing of great poetry to the holding of public office. And it no doubt mingles subtly with all the other motives for seeking public office. The names cited in the column were selected at random examples — not as examples of those who sought office purely for ego-satisfaction. We are well aware that several on the list worked with a strong 'sense of mission,' and accomplished much good for the people during their tenure in office. But the fact remains, as the Senator himself realizes, that in most cases the memory dims, and swiftly. This is the one point made by the column; and it therefore had special meaning to those who seek office purely for the vanity of it. There are other inner satisfactions that remain with one, and these — which often come from a sense of accomplishment while in office — can never be snatched away even by the dimming of the public's memory. Of course there are exceptions. From time to time there emerges upon the political arena a personality of such force that the mere absence from public office will not dim him. Abraham Lincoln was such an example; although it must be remembered that even after he was defeated in a Congressional primary, he kept himself in the public eye by his comment on public questions until he was projected into the Lincoln-Douglas debates two years later, in 1858. Franklin D. Roosevelt undertook a second

This column has just heard talk from a serious-minded, close associate of Dewey that he will not run again, no matter how pressing are the blandishments of his party. This talk goes farther; that Dewey has already asked Ives to accept the nomination.

Ives?

Ives rates as a "good" candidate. He has pulled well as a vote-getter. But when you get down to it, how well is Ives known? Ask the man in the street, the employee who works next to you, what Ives has accomplished in political office. You will be surprised how little is known about him. He was elected to the New York State Assembly in 1930, and became United States Senator in 1946. His home is in Norwich, an upstate community. He is in the insurance business and heads a title insurance company. While a State legislator, he sponsored a bill creating the School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University. He co-sponsored the State law against discrimination, and won some goodwill among minority groups. That he has pretensions to intellectual accomplishment may be evidenced by the fact that he won a Phi Beta Kappa designation while in college. His career in the United States Senate has been marked by a pedestrian, unspectacular, middle-of-the-road bearing. He has not participated in the great debates of our time, as Dewey has. He has evoked no great emotional outbursts of dislike; neither has he been the recipient of powerful enthusiasm. Conservative labor leaders might rally to him, but in an election campaign the bulk of labor would probably be Democratic.

If Ives Declines

Now another question: What if Ives doesn't want to run? His term of office won't be up until 1959. His is in a secure berth. It has been said that his health is not such that he would want to go through a tough campaign. He knows that the political trend today is away from the GOP. He might well feel, Why should I do this? What I have to lose is far more than what I have to win.

In that case, the Republican Party has nobody. True, there are many good names for second place — Ozzie Heck, Walter Mahoney, Ray McGovern among them—but what name is strong enough to buck a Democratic trend in top spot? The fact is there are no top names intimately known to the man in the street.

Then the Democrats

If Dewey turns down the nomination, and if Ives turns it down, then there will be a rush for the Democratic nomination reminiscent of a Southern State primary. For the probability is that any Democrat could win. The party leaders would not then feel that the strongest vote-getter need necessarily be the candidate.

The Reasons For

There are many good reasons, and these have been stated again and again, why Dewey should run. There's the matter of party loyalty. There's the business that being Governor keeps him prominently in the limelight, able to jump from this vantage point as the waves of current events dictate. The gubernatorial post now carries with it a $50,000 salary, which together with emoluments enables the chief executive to live like a millionaire. Dewey has held the post for twelve years now, and its duties are exercised with ease; it is no longer an ulcer-making occupation. While all the usual indices show that the trend is now anti-GOP, Dewey is the one man who might counter that trend. He has not personally been smeared with the racetrack and related scandals that hit his party in the State; the vigor with which he attacked the scandals will help politically with the voters. He leads the anti-McCarthy, pro-Eisenhower wing of the party, which is the ascendent wing in New York State. And there is a pervasive feeling—you hear it even among Democrats—that Dewey has been a "good governor." So the reasons why he should run are good.

The Reasons Against

But from his own point of view, there are also good reasons why he should not run. It has been pointed out that after another term, he could retire with a $25,000-a-year pension. But if he retires now, his pension would still be a large one. The new gubernatorial salary is $50,000 a year, but Thomas E. Dewey could head any law firm in New York, at his choice, with an earning capacity far exceeding the State figure. He might feel it is time now to accede to his family's wish that he retire from public life. Since the political trend seems against his party, he might deem it wiser to sit it out for another two — or even four years; and come back in a position of strategic national importance. Dewey is a master of timing. Even if he were to appear on the scene as a private citizen, he is so kinetic a personality that it could be assumed he would be projected upon the larger proscenium at the precise "right" moment.

In sum: If Dewey is not the candidate, the only other possibility with a prospect of winning for the Republicans is Ives. And if both Dewey and Ives decline, the next governor of New York State will certainly be a Democrat.

Question, Please

FORMERLY I worked for the U. S. government. I would like to get back. I had permanent status. L.P.O.

Answer — You do not state how long you have been out. That is a factor. If not more than six months, you could be appointed without an exam, because of status. If any longer, you then might be given an individual exam to test whether you are still qualified and would be put on a register of eligibles, if you pass.

AS I AM under the age-55 plan, and have worked for the State for 20 years, I would like to retire, because suffering from a nervous disorder, I am 53. Can it be done? L.P.O.

Answer — Ordinary retirement can not arise until the minimum retirement age, in your case, 55, is reached. Retirement on ordinary disability is possible, but not easily obtained. You should consult your retirement system directly, because of the individual nature of many of the considerations that arise in such cases.

IN THE FEDERAL service, are any permanent appointments being made now? I. L.

Answer — Yes. In the postal service, appointments within quota are political career, after a character growth of great enormity following his poliomyelitis.

being made on a permanent basis; also, in the Revenue Service, now being reorganized. If the Whitten Amendment is repealed, as is expected, permanent appointments and promotions will be made possible in other Federal departments and agencies. Also, an injustice would be eliminated, under which a U. S. employee with full status, would be able to be reinstated at the same status. Now all that can be done is to give him an "indefinite" appointment.

AS I AM a veteran employed in a U. S. agency about to be relocated in another State, to which I cannot move, because I own my home in New York State, and my family is settled here, do I not have some rights above those of a non-veteran, to a similar job in another U. S. agency here? L. W. C.

Answer — No. All employees, in such a removal of location, when given the opportunity to go to the new location, are obliged to accept, otherwise are considered to have resigned. This applies equally to veterans and non-veterans. In fact, the rule applies even if an agency has two or more offices, and an employee who is a veteran is ordered to work in other than his present location. To retain his U. S. employment, he would have to accept the job in the new location.

Age limits are 21 and 35, but do not apply to veterans.

There are no experience requirements. Candidates must be high school graduates or have a high school equivalency diploma. U. S. citizenship and State residence are required.

All candidates will take a written exam, testing elementary first aid and emergency procedures; preservation of order and cleanliness; methods of dealing with patients, visitors and others; elementary medical, psychiatric and related terms and concepts; record keeping and chart interpretation; reading comprehension; arithmetic reasoning; related knowledges and skills.

Present starting salary is $3,091 a year, and rises, through five annual pay boosts, to $3,891. This is expected to be raised as a result of the State's overhaul of titles and pay.

The jobs are in the Department of Correction at Matteawan and Dannemora State Hospitals. Jobs for women are at Matteawan. The eligible list will be used to fill jobs as criminal hospital attendant (T.B. service), $3,411 to $4,213 a year, also at Dannemora and Matteawan.

Dannemora is in Clinton County, in the northeast part of the State; Matteawan is near Beacon in Dutchess County, north of NYC.

Apply to the State Civil Service Commission, State Office Building or 39 Columbus Street, Albany; Room 2301, 270 Broadway, NYC; Room 212, State Office Building, Buffalo 2, N. Y. The exam, No. 123, is open until further notice.

The annual banquet of Rochester State Hospital bowling league was held at the Moose Club. Dr. Anthony Graffeo (left), president of the men's league, was master of ceremonies. ## You can be an investor for only $40 a month

(or even every 3 months)

How?

Simply by joining the Merrill Lynch "pay-as-you-go" plan for buying stocks—the kind of a plan thousands of people have been waiting for.

Why?

Because it's good to be part owner of some leading American business . . .

Because American business has grown mightily—and it's going to go on growing in the years ahead.

Because last year nine out of ten stocks on the New York Stock Exchange paid dividends, and those dividends averaged 6.3% of the selling price at the end of the year.

There's no down payment if you join this plan . . .

You have your choice of 1200 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange . . .

The commission cost can be as low as 1.3%—never higher than 6%.

And that's your only cost, aside from the regular small charge which is made for buying stocks in less than 100 share lots—that is, 12½¢ for shares under $40, 25¢ for those costing $40 or more.

There are no management fees, no penalty payments, no interest or service charges of any kind.

If you'd like full details on the brand new "pay-as-you-go" plan and how to join it, just mail us the coupon below.

Without cost or obligation, please send me your pamphlet and a membership blank for the Monthly Investment Plan, together with your special report on 20 stocks for long-term investment.

"Invest—for the better things in life"

HOW TO PUT YOUR SAVINGS TO WORK FOR YOU

"I'm looking forward to a recession."

I was listening to the conversation with only half an ear when the comment brought me to full attention. It came from an old time school teacher who put it this way. "Somehow I find it hard to get along on my salary now, even though I've had increments from time to time. All my neighbors seem to be doing better than I am. The depression years were not pleasant generally, but I always seemed to have plenty of money. In fact, if it weren't for the investments I'd made in 1932 and '33, things would be even harder for me now."

Because civil service employees have been hurt more than other groups by the steady inflation during the past 22 years, many of them have sought outside income is the kind you get by putting your savings to work.

Of course, the usual saving method for a public employee has been to put the money in a bank or to buy government bonds. This has had the disadvantage in the course of years which the dollar itself has had—a shrinking purchasing power.

Although they have not been a complete hedge against inflation, good common stocks have given considerable protection against the decreasing value of the dollar bill. Until recently, buying stocks was a major undertaking for the average employee. A hundred shares of the average stock on the New York Stock Exchange cost about 3,000. Buying stock just because it is low priced is often the road to financial loss.

In recent years, particularly in recent months, new methods of stock purchasing have made possible investment on a "savings" basis. A new plan sponsored by the New York Stock Exchange makes it possible to buy fractions of shares of stock on a planned basis for as little as $40 per month.

The installment sales plan was worked out so that any sum over $40 may be invested on a monthly, bi-monthly or quarterly basis. Each regular payment of, say, $50 will buy you 2.6206 shares of an $18 stock or 0.2621 of a $180 stock, and also pay the commission. In either case, when you have purchased one full share, your rights of ownership are no different from those of the investor who buys 100 or 1,000 shares at a time. You are an owner of the company. The Monthly Investment Plan is simply a method of purchasing shares by the dollar's worth—just as the modern gasoline pump makes it possible to buy $2, $3 or $5 worth of gas. It's that simple. You decide how much per month, or per quarter, you want to invest. Select, or let the firm help you select, the stock or stocks you want to buy.

What are the charges? Only the customary commission rates. Participation in the Monthly Investment Plan calls for no extra charge, no extra commission. It works this way: Where your purchase is under $100 the commission is a straight 6 per cent of the amount invested. Where your purchase is $100 or more, the commission is $3, plus 1 per cent, with a minimum of six dollars.

The price you pay for the stock is the same price you would pay if you bought the stock on the Stock Exchange in quantities of less than a hundred shares. This price is an eighth of a point (12½ cents) a share above the quoted market price of the stock, if it is selling for under $40 a share, and one quarter of a point (25 cents) per share on stocks which sell for $40 or more. The quoted price is for "round lots" of 100 shares. (More next week)

LOVELY INTER-RACIAL COMMUNITY IN LONG ISLAND OFFERS ROOMY RANCH HOMES AT ONLY $69 A MONTH

You'll Be Happier At Beautiful Ronek Park

After visiting Ronek Park, touring the magnificent countryside around it, and speaking with the residents, the conclusion is inescapable that here is one of the greatest things that has ever happened in American community planning.

Ronek Park can easily stand the most minute inspection, for every detail of the home is designed for healthy living, easy housekeeping and long-lasting construction quality.

A "Dream House" Layout

The ultra-modern Ronek ranch home features center entrance; over-size living room with broad ranch picture window; sparkling "Domestic Science" kitchen with an abundance of duo-tone cabinets and formica worktops, automatic console range and multi-hued inlaid linoleum; 3 airy bedrooms with spacious closets plus special linen closet; sparkling ceramic tile Hollywood bath with mirrored cosmetic cabinet; ample basement space for laundry room, storage room and hobby workshop.

RUMPUS ROOM WITH COCKTAIL BAR INCLUDED AS A FREE BONUS

Below the main level is a full-size basement. The big attraction here is the finished rumpus room with cocktail bar which is included as a bonus absolutely free in this final section. In the previous sections, buyers had to pay approximately $800 additional for this.

Packed With Fine Features

The list of construction specifications is much too long to detail in its entirety. Here, however, are a few of the more important ones: Air conditioned heat for economy and efficiency, oil burner, copper plumbing, polished hardwood floors, full rockwool insulation to keep comfort in and fuel costs down, roomy closets throughout, additional built in linen closet, large landscaped grounds and many other fine features.

Concrete walks, curbs and streets are installed and paid for by builder.

Read the Alston Family's Exciting Story!

Here is how one family exchanged the slums for a place in the country. John E. Alston was raised in Harlem, and hated every minute of it. But where could a Negro family live in the 30's? . . .

When John grew up, he made a decent salary driving a cab. It was enough to afford a better place than Harlem, but the same pressures that kept his folks in Harlem, forced John to raise his kids there, too.

He spent hours each week looking for a better place, but he could find nothing. Wherever he went — Brooklyn, the Bronx, Queens, Staten Island, even Newark—it was the same sad story. Nothing doing!

Then one Sunday, John picked up the newspaper. In it was an announcement about Ronek Park. Two hours after that he made his down payment, 4 months later he moved in.

The same Children in Ronek Park

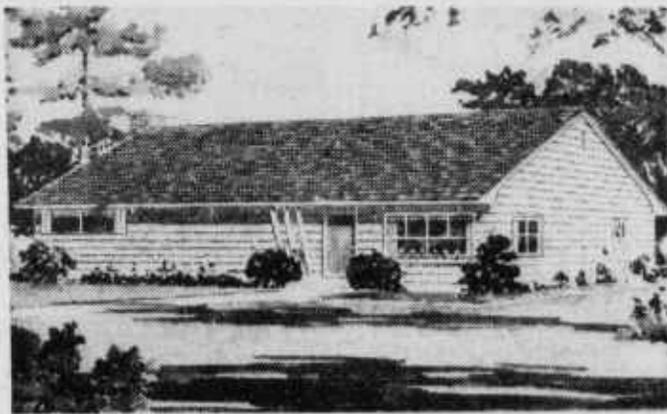

Now John, his wife, and his kids, Doris and Thomas, have an entire house for themselves. Now Doris and Thomas play in grassy lanes instead of fire escapes and traffic-choked streets. Now John pays only $69 monthly instead of $91!

This is but one of hundreds of families who have traded slum environments for the sunshine, air and elbow room of Ronek Park.

Pay Less And Live Better in this Modern Home

The Final Section at Ronek Park Is Going Fast!

The final group of 101 ranch houses is more than 50% sold, according to Thomas Romano, builder of Ronek Park, the nation's leading inter-racial development. With the entire first 6 groups, containing 565 dwellings, previously sold out, only the units in the last section remain for sale. These are still available to vets for only $100 down.

Employment Market Nearby

Ronek Park is close to Grumman, Republic and Fairchild Aircraft, Bulova Watch and other big plants. They are seeking local help and are only minutes away from your new home, and yet not close enough to disturb the quiet suburban charm of Ronek Park.

Your Week-End and Vacation Pleasures Are Right Here!

Living at Ronek Park solves travel problems and travel expenses for many of its residents. With wonderful beaches, and well-kept state parks close at hand, all sports and recreations can be enjoyed in the vicinity of one's own home.

Ronek Park Worth $17,000,000

Ronek Park, which will represent an aggregate investment of about 17 million dollars, will be a self-sustained community at completion. Included will be a club house, kiddy park and shopping center. It will be provided with concrete walks, curbs and streets.

How to Reach Ronek Park

Drive out Southern State Parkway to exit 32 (Broadway, Amityville.) Turn right (south) to Sunrise Highway, then east to Albany Avenue, then left to Model Home. Or, from Triboro Bridge: Grand Central Parkway to exit 33, then right to Southern State Parkway, then east as above. By train: LIRR to Amityville station. Or phone Amityville 4-3976.

Manhattan State Hospital

MRS. LULA ADKINS of Manhattan State Hospital, winner of a 1954 Psychiatric Aide Award, was honored at a reception in the assembly hall on June 2. The affair was well attended by co-workers and friends. Dr. John H. Gravis, senior director of the hospital, extended congratulations to Mrs. Adkins, and noted that this is the second consecutive year that an employee of Manhattan State Hospital has been an award winner. The previous recipient was John O'Bierne, chief supervisor. Nellie Murphy made the presentation to Mrs. Adkins, who was accompanied by her husband, Earl Washington made a personal presentation of a bouquet of spring flowers. Mrs. Adkins thanked the good Lord and all those present amid tumultuous applause. Among the distinguished guests were Dr. Martin Cohen and Mrs. Anthony Mele of the Board of Visitors, and Mrs. John H. Travis. A fine buffet was ably served by the dining room staff and music was provided by the hospital orchestra.

The officers and members of the chapter extend their sincere congratulations to Lula Adkins, who, by the way, is a chapter member.

The chapter will sponsor a bus trip to Jones Beach on Saturday, June 29, in conjunction with the meeting of the Metropolitan Conference. The winner and runners-up of the beauty contest will be on hand to receive their awards, and Conference bowling champs will receive their trophies.

EDITORIAL

He Was a Fine Fellow

THE death of Dr. Harry M. Archer, NYC Second Deputy Fire Commissioner, fills tens of thousands of persons with a sense of personal loss and remorse, not only because, as a physician, he attended, sometimes at the risk of his own life, firemen or officers injured at fires, but because of his dedicated zeal. Asked once why he insisted on going personally to fires, no matter at what time of day or night, and even when in his advanced years, he explained he did not want to miss even one opportunity to do some good.

He was fired by enthusiasm. He gladly escaped the life of ease in which the wealth of his father, president of the Erie Railroad, would have permitted him to live. He died at age 86, after a full, model and busy life. The memory of that life will be his greatest monument.

STATE BORN IN KINGSTON The State of New York was organized at the old Senate House in Kingston in 1777. The historic building is one of many listed in "New York State Vacationlands," a free guide issued by the New York State Department of Commerce, 112 State Street, Albany, N. Y.

HEARING ON TA JOB A proposal to include the position of freight traffic manager in the non-competitive class, NYC Transit Authority, and strike the position from Part 39, Group II, per annum positions, will be the subject of a public hearing Wednesday, June 9 at Civil Service Commission offices.

ANSWERS STAND IN TEST FOR MEDICAL WORKER No changes have been made in the tentative key answers to the NYC medical social worker, grade 2, exam, held March 3 for 28 candidates.

HEARING ON WELFARE JOBS The NYC Civil Service Commission will continue public hearings Wednesday, June 9 on the proposal to include the positions of assistant superintendent (welfare shelters) and superintendent (welfare shelters) in Part 37, the Miscellaneous Service.

UFOA BRIEFS

The NYC Uniformed Fire Officers Association was heartened to hear Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr., addressing its monthly meeting, say he was working on reduction of the number of officers and firemen working out of title.

The Commissioner stated adequate pay is the big issue, and he is trying to obtain it for the uniformed force.

He wants to speed up promotions. An eligibles' law suit is a stumbling block, but efforts to adjust the differences are being made. Certificates of Excellent Fire Duty will be presented, an innovation, not conflicting with the usual awards and medals, he announced. Retired members are to get an identification card.

How much would you guess fire officers and firemen pay for major service in the cost of a year? The UFOA gives the figure as $65,000.

Nominations for election of one chief, one captain and one lieutenant representative will be received by the UFOA until the regular July meeting. The election will be held in August.

Members who did not vote on the group life insurance project are having their opportunity now. If 75 per cent approved, the contract can be signed.

NYC SIDELIGHTS

THE COUNCIL committee considering the bill to waive the NYC residential requirements for probation officers heard Presiding Justice Hill of Domestic Relations Court and Chief Magistrate Murtagh argue for its adoption, but reserved decision. Some objections came from employee groups. Justice Hill said the probation service is a disgrace to the City, even higher pay won't solve the problem, and that on some lists nearly all the eligibles are provisionals, and even some of them don't have NYC residence. . . . Despite the opposition of police line organizations, the Board of Estimate approved hiring civilian guards for part-time service at school crossings to free patrolmen for "footwork." For three and a half hours work a day the guards probably will get $5. A force of 1,000 is planned. First operation will be in the Bronx. Police Commissioner Adams will appoint a board to take care of recruitment. Requirements, pay, hours, uniforms, and other problems will be decided by the Board, subject to his approval. When the department is ready with requirements it will invite applications, but meanwhile do not send any in.

SCHOLARSHIP PRESENTED

The Employees Recreational Association of the NYC Housing Authority presented a four-year college scholarship to David Goldstein, son of Mrs. Rose Goldstein, an Authority employee. David who ranked highest of the children of HA employees in the State Regents scholarship exam held last March, will receive $350 a year for four years, in addition to the State scholarship award. A Lafayette High School senior, David will study mechanical engineering at the Polytechnical Institute, Brooklyn.
