U. S. War Service Appointees May Get Chance to Hold Their Jobs

By CHARLES SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON-The chance-for Federal war service appointees to stay with Government after the war if they want to, might not be as slim as it seems.

Since March 16, 1942, all vacated positions in Government have been filled by war service appointments. As a result the actual number of permanent appointments in Government jobs has fallen far below the peace-time level.

NYC Departments Have Many Vacation Schemes

New York City employees get paid vacations, but how much they get seems to depend on where they work.

In his last Budget message, Mayor LaGuardia reminded his department heads that vacations are to be limited to 12 days a year; with another 12 days for year; with another 12 days for sick leave. So most departments promptly revised their schedules to suit the Mayor. But some work differently.

Sanitation has a schedule which allows up to 25 days. Police and Pire civilians also rate a 25-day vacation. But a new wrinkle is reported from the Borough Of-fices of Brooklyn and the Bronx.

There, each employee gets his 12 days, but no one ever seems to take sick in those bureaus. Thus, when vacation time rolls around. the worker has 24 days in which to combine his summer vacation and his annual illness.

Moreover, the order permits present employees getting less than $1,600 a year to receive a leave of absence and be appoint-ed "Emergency Staff Nurse" un-der Rule 8-C, which the Governor has just approved to meet this situation.

Association Objects

Swift opposition to the Governor's order and the supporting resolution of the Commission came from the Association of State Civil Service Employees. President Clifford C. Shoro, after revealing plans for calling representatives of all institutions to combat the move, dispatched strong letters of protest to Judge Conway and to Dr. Newton J. T. Bigelow, chairman of the Salary Standardization Board.

The Association contends the Swift opposition to the Gov-

And to add a bit to the vacation mixup—City employees are supposed to get overtime time-off to make up for the extra hours they work. However, the departments which require the extra work are short-handed and can't spare their staffs the time off.

The Association contends the emergency appointments are designed to by-pass the Feld-Hamilton law, to delay action by the board in revising salary grades, that they are a device to make pay incerases which should in fairness go to others, too; that the procedure is unfair to older employees, and that this policy will further delay the solution of the The Association contends the

What's Going to Happen to the Released UNRRA Explains Govt. Worker When the War's Over?

WASHINGTON-What's going to happen to the re-leased Government worker after the war? Workers in private industry will be protected by State unemployment insurance. As it stands now, the Federal employee gets

Civil Service Commission and Congress are working on the problem, and here is how it stands:

Two bills are in the Senate Military Affairs Committee which would give Government workers unemployment compensation after

The first attempt to help was a section of the Kilgore bill which would give all Federal employees up to 80 per cent of their weekly earnings, not to exceed $20 for a person without dependents, $25 with one dependent, $30 with two dependents, and $35 for persons with three or more dependents. with three or more dependents.
The fund would be administered

Best Bill Yet

Far from perfect, but considered by experts to be the best bill yet is a section of the George-Murray bill, which would give all persons who have been on a Government pay roll any time since September 16, 1940, eligibility for unemployment compensation under the laws of the States in which they file a claim.

One fault of this bill is that if Federal employees go home after the war, wide variance in pay-ment, according to the State in which the employee lives, would which the employee lives, would result.

Many Federal workers would qualify for the maximum benefits of the various State laws, but that may mean anything from $15 to $20 a week for 14 to 23 weeks—or $210 (Arizona and Mississippi) to $460 (Maryland) or $468 (California) a year. Onehalf of the Federal workers are in the third of the States with the more liberal maximum annual benefits, but one-quarter are in benefits, but one-quarter are in the third of the States with the least liberal annual benefits.

Another Difficulty Another inequality would arise for those — especially girls — who wanted to quit work after the war. To qualify for compensation benefits the unemployed worker would have to certify that he wanted a job and would take anything of-fered by the U. S. Employment

Both of these bills will be altered plenty before they ever get to be law.

However, the Federal employee needn't worry too much. Every-one is agreed, including Congress-men, that something should be men, that something should be done to provide unemployment insurance for the Federal worker.

And it seems generally agreed that it will be some form of unemployment insurance similar to that now provided by the States. Severance pay is gradually being ruled out. ruled out.

Civil Service Legislation Before Congress

WASHINGTON. — When Congress reconvenes in August, a large number of bills of vital importance to Federal workers will await its attention.

Holidays will be one of the sub-jects that affect all Federal employees now. It doesn't look too good for a restoration of them while the war is in its present bitter stage, but in the meantime Rep. Clason of Massachusetts feels that something ought to be done about the situation. He has introduced a bill providing that employees in any Government agency who earn overtime pay for hours in excess of 40 weekly shall be entitled to time-and-a-half pay on New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day, if they work on those holidays.

It provides that for employees paid on a per annum basis, the daily rate shall be considered one-three hundred and sixtieth of the annual rate, which is the basis on which overtime is now computed for this group. This bill would give some employees 50 per cent additional pay for holidays, and the per annum group about 21.6 per cent more.

12 Months For Promotion

Rep. Ramspeck (D., Ga.) has introduced a bill that would reduce the intervals between within-grade salary advancements from 18 months to twelve months for the lower-bracket jobs, where salary increments are $60 or $100, and 18 months instead of 30 for the jobs where the increments are $200 or more.

The bill would also provide for easier meritorious advancements within the grade.

Transportation Pay

Another Ramspeck - sponsored bill would permit the payment of travel expenses and subsistence of $3_a day en route to persons selected for appointment from the place of recruitment to their first post of duty, provided the applicants agree to reimburse the Government if they remain on duty less than six months.

Straight Time Pay

A third Ramspeck bill provides for straight-time payments to persons whose work is intermit-tent or irregular or less than full time, if they work more than eight hours in any one day or more than 48 hours in any one

FEDERAL EMPLOYEES:

Here Are Some Good Reasons Why You Shouldn't be Bounced

There are Congressmen who want 300,000 dropped from the Federal payroll. But there are plenty of good reasons why this shouldn't be done. Here are some presented by Senator James M. Mead of New York:

Of the 2,862,449 paid civilian employees, as of May 31, 1944, the war Department employs 1,213,-076, the Navy Department employs 652,385, the emergency agencies directly connected with the War (such as WPB, OPA, WMC, Selective Service and OWI) safeguard.

It must be re-membered that in this mechanized war, the arsenals, torpedo factories, Navy Yards, air depots, and other military facilities have expanded necessarily to meet the tremendous requirements of modern warfare. In these military facilities operated by the Army, the Navy, the Coast Guard, and the Marines can be found the great increase in civil service personnel mentioned in the Byrd report.

Mary Ruth Nelson Emerges as Miss Civil Service for 1944

A small-town girl, Mary Ruth Nelson came down to New York City last Wednesday, July 12, and emerged as winner of the coveted title MISS CIVIL SERVICE OF 1944, over 211 other civil service employees from State, Federal and Municipal agencies.

That attractive brown-haired girl with gray-green eyes was the unanimous choice of the judges from the 42 semi-finalists in The LEADER's second beauty contest. The girls were gathered on the steps of historic New York's City Hall and in the office of N. Y. C.'s Council President Newbold Morris for the final judging.

About Her Husband

Mary is a fairly new State employee, having taken a position as a trainee in the State Department of Health's laboratories at Albany, N. Y., on May 8, 1944. But she's not the only State employee in her family. Her husband, Harry B. Nelson, is a State Trooper, a member of Troop K. And at the moment that she was selected as grand prize winner, she wasn't even able to let him know because he was on patrol duty somewhere in the mountains upstate. In fact, Mr. Nelson also is a leading State employee—he was chosen last summer for the important assignment of guarding the farm at Pawling, N. Y., where Governor Thomas E. Dewey and his family have their summer home.

Twenty-two year old Mrs. Nel-son is a native New York Stater. son is a native New York Stater. She was born on a farm in Lin-colndale, N. Y., a small village in upper Westchester County. Her maiden name is Mary Flood, and she was the third of 5 children—3 girls and 2 boys—born to Mr. and Mrs. James Flood, who still are keeping the farm going.
She went to local schools, and was graduated from Pawling High School, where she served as drummajorette with the school band in 1940. Then she worked in a store in Patterson, N. Y. In April 1944, she married Trooper Nelson, and took an apartment in Albany;

They are the semi-finalists in The LEADER's search for Miss Civil Service of 1944. They were selected from among 212 entries. All who were present at the final judging in the office of Council President Newbold Morris agreed that a finer selection of beautiful women just couldn't be located anywhere. One photographer commented: "They'd give the professionals a run for their money." Out of this group, the three winners were selected, one representing the Federal service, one the New York State service, and one the New York City service.

Soldier-Have You Taken A NYC Civil Service Test?

By JEROME YALE

Many persons who have taken and passed civil service examinations for New York City jobs are now in military service. Mayor LaGuardia has directed the Municipal Civil Service Commission that such eligibles on open-competitive and preferred lists are to be certified when they are reached for appointment. Strictly followed, this would mean that such persons would find a job with the City waiting when they return from service.

The State Military Law, on this subject states: "Any appointing subject states: "Any appointing officer or body may in his or its discretion fill a vacancy by appointment or promotion of public employee or any person legally eligible for such appointment or promotion, notwithstanding the absence of such person or employee in military duty. . . Such employee upon termination of his military duty shall have the same military duty shall have the same rights, privileges and obligations as if he had served continuously in such position from the date of his appointment."

Departments Demur

However, when a survey was made of the City departments by the Commission, to find how they felt about apointing persons on military service, there was a general protest.

the idea of appointing persons they never had a chance to see. Others pointed out that it would be necessary to appoint military substitutes to cover important jobs, and that when the military appointee returned, there would have to be layoffs.

But the words "may in his or its discretion" provide a conveni-ent loophole which means that persons now in the service won't necessarily be given appointments.

Many of the City departments make it a matter of policy to pro-mote employees in service when they are reached on the list-effective on their return.

But the service men and women who haven't worked for the City, will have to wait until they become civilians again for a chance to get on the municipal pay roll.

Second-Prize Winners in Beauty Contest

Mary E. Schmidt

Winner of the award as loveliest New York City employee was Mary E. Schmidt, a blue-eyed blonde, who came from Ohio a year ago, shortly after her marriage to Roland Schmidt. Roland is now a Coast Guards-man assigned to the station at Manhattan Beach.

In fact, she received the LEADER award of $100 in I. J. For merchandise almost in time to make it a first anniversary present.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stiles, who live in Tole-do, Mary was formely employed as a multilith operator by the War Department. Then when she came to New York, she found an opening in the Division of War Training, where she prints the educational material used in the program of in-service and public education.

She studied at the Davis College in Toledo, after completing high school there.

She has donated blood to the American Red Cross, and admits to an unusual hobby-she collects picture post-cards.

As to her plans for the future—they are waiting till the end of the war and the return of her husband to civlian life.

Phyllis Spreiser

Winner of the Federal award is Miss Phyllis Oler Spreiser, a secretary in the office of the Supervisor of Shipbuilding in New York City. She transferred here from the office of Briga-dier General Robert Denig, who is head of Public Relations for the Marine Corps in Washington, She's been in Federal Service since 1941, and has permanent status. Old-Timers Staying On In NYC Civil Service

New York City is finding a partial solution to its manpower troubles right in the ranks of City employees. Many old-timers who reach the mandatory retirement age of 70, ask to stay on the job. They need the consent of Mayor LaGuardia and the Board of Estimate-which is given gladly.

Here are the Board of Estimate reports on some of the municipal workers who were recently granted approval to stay on the job. They show that the oldsters know their stuff and are doing a good job: instead of leaving for their well-earned retirement and pension checks;

Mortimer A. Smith

The Chief Engineer of the Board of Estimate, Head of the Bureau of Engineering, says that applicant was formerly in the Land Condemnation Division the Law Department and acquired a knowledge of such proceedings, which has proven of great value in the preparation of reports for Board of Estimate action. With the increased activity due to the acquisition of land for post-war projects, it is essential that applicant's services be retained.

John T. Skelly

The Corporation Counsel cer-tifies that before Mr. Skelly entered the Law Department he had a very broad experience in private law offices which has been of special advantage to the City in the preparation for trial of court ac-tions and research of questions of in connection therewith, and his knowledge of his work dis-plays initiative not commonly shown by employees of his grade.

Thomas J. Hart President Burke of the Borough of Queens stated that the work done by applicant is of a highly specialized nature; he collects and prepares data for use in the annual Budget; prepares and keeps schedules of Highway Mainte-nance forces; keeps records of expenditures of funds of personnel, materials, supplies and equipment and furnishes and prepares data for Budget Director, Borough of-ficials and City agencies.

Harry A. Cooper Chairman Delaney of the Board of Transportation certifies that for several years Mr. Cooper has been in charge of the Court cal-endars in the eight Municipal Courts of the Borough of Queens, and frequently assists trial law-yers in the trial of actions in those Courts. By reason of his long employment, he has acquired a thorough knowledge of the calendar practices of the Courts which is of great assistance to the Triple Department in ance to the Trials Department in the conduct of its business.

Frederick W. Gardiner

Mr. Delaney also certifies that this applicant has been engaged in a supervisory capacity on the maintenance-of-way and structures in the IRT subway and elevated lines for 41 years and for the past six years has been the immediate head of the Maintenance-of-Way Department on those lines. A Piece of Dialogue About the 2-Job Issue

On the surface, there was peace on the New York City "no dual job" front, but things seem to be brewing.

Mayor LaGuardia, last week informed newsmen that he in-tended to keep an eye on the Board of Transportation employees who admitted holding outside jobs, and that they would be slapped down for any in-fraction of rules about absences, lateness or inefficiency on the

And investigators from the Commissioner of Investigation's office were again snooping around municipal offices, asking personnel officers for reports on any employees who were suspected of holding outside positions.

Dialogue

One bit of dialogue between an investigator and an official went something like this accord-ing to reports which reached a

Service Rating Project Probably Won't Get Far

A long-range survey to try and find a solution to the problem of service ratings in the NYC Civil Service was started last week at a meeting of representatives of all City

The meeting was first called by Commissioner of Investigation Edward Bromberger, but it was agreed to make it a City-wide project, partly because municipal employees are suspicious of anything connected with the Investigations office. (It is this office which has been snooping into the outside jobs of City workers.)

No Changes in View

However, no imediate changes are in view. The present service rating setup was installed after extensive studies by Samuel H. Ordway, a municipal civil service commissioner, later Federal; and John C. Laffan, who went from the municipal commission to the City Board of Transportation, where he is now head of the personnel office.

The municipal big-wigs weren't able to decide on anything at the meeting, but will submit their recommendations at some future time. However, it was generally agreed that changes must be made. Some felt that the whole system was wrong. Others that the system is O.K., but is being botched up because supervisors aren't capable of making competent reports on their workers.

At the same time, a college-girl survey of City employees is being continued to get their feelings about service ratings and other aspects of City service.

This dissatisfaction with service ratings is nothing new. Two years ago, a similar committee of years ago, a similar committee of department officials was set up to make changes, headed by Michael White, then Deputy Commissioner of the Hospitals Department. But the war came along, Mr. White entered service, and the project

"B" Man Trouble Bothers NYC Sanitation Dept.

"B" man trouble is the latest difficulty at the NYC Depart-ment of Sanitation. The department would like to add about 250 men to its staff as temporary employees at $2,040 a year. They've been able to get men to take the jobs, but then it begins.

A lot of the new employees like A lot of the new employees like the sound of "Sanitation Man 'B," but when they find out it means lifting heavy barrels and dumping them into trucks, they're not so enthusiastic. Others quit when they discover that they'll have to wait 2 weeks till their first pay. All in all, it's a head-ache for the department.

Wire-Pulliing Won't Help Now!

The NYC Civil Service Commission had a rule that no employee was eligible for a promotion until he had served in the department for 60 days.

This ruling had been dropped for the duration but was put back on the books last week.

What happened was that some of the City employees would look around, find a department for which a promotion examination was schelduled, then pull wires for a transfer there.

Now that won't work any more,

Promotion Tests A group of promotional examinations for employees of various New York City Departments was ordered by the Municipal Civil Service Commission last week. They are:

Why Do You Quit? Transit Board Asks Subway Men

Employees who leave their jobs on the NYC transit lines are called in to the personnel office for an "exit interview" to find why they are quitting.

It seems that the lure of highly paid war work isn't dragging the City employees away from their positions. Last week only one subway man left for a defense

Welfare Employe Going To UNRRA

The Social Service Staff of of the NYC Welfare Department last week held a cocktail party to honor one of its members who is leaving for a position with UNRRA.

Rebecca Shakow, administrator of Welfare Center 84 in upper Manhattan, was granted a leave of absence to join ex-Governor Lehman's overseas staff.

CITY NOT SURE QUEENS STENO SHOULD BE EXEMPT

Borough President James A. Burke of Queens asked the City Civil Service Commission to put the position of Stenographer to Borough President James the Commissioner of Public Works in the exempt or non-competitive class because he felt that the confidential nature of the job made it unsuitable for a civil service employee.

But after holding a public hearing on the request last week, the Commission withheld permission to fill the job by appointment.

Subway Men Get New Liberal Rules On Vacation, Leave of Absence

By FRANCIS KELLY

Employees of the NYC Board of Transportation have received an addition to "Rules and Regulations," the bible of the transit lines. Vacation, sick leave and other allowances was the field covered. This is what the transit workers learned:

-Vacation allowance: All employees with at least one year service will receive not less than 2 weeks vacation during the calendar year. Employees with less than one year of service will receive vacations in proportion to the length of time worked.

-While on vacation, employees will earn the regular rate of pay for a 48-hour week.

-Vacation time cannot be carried over from one year to another.

Holidays

4-The following are set as holidays for employees of the qualify for sick-pay. Absence be-Board of Transportation: New cause of injuries suffered while Year's Day, Memorial Day, Inde-pendence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. Whenever possible, employees will be given these days off with pay. Hourly-paid employees who must work on these holidays will have their choice of another day off with pay; or payment of time-and-a-half for the holiday. Employees in service less than one ployees in service less than one year, will receive no pay for any of the above holidays if they are not required to work, but if they do work, they will receive time and a half.

-Sick leave has been set as 12 working days a year. How-ever, illness resulting from indul-gence in alcoholic liquors does not on duty will not be deducted from the sick-leave.

-Sick leave may be accumu-6—Sick leave may be accumulated for two years, but no longer (a maximum of 24 days). Employees injured on the job will be entitled to their full salary (less any workmen's com-pensation payments) for the period of time they are disabled, subject to review by the Board; they may be assigned to lighter jobs, but at their regular rate of pay.

Promotion Exam's

No employee will lose pay for o time spent taking a promo-tion examination. If such an ex-amination is scheduled within 8 hours after the end of an employee's tour of duty, he will be ex-cused from that tour.

Leaves of Absence

Here is the full text of the Board's rule on Leaves of Absence and Outside jobs:

"Rule 171. Leaves of absence will not ordinarily be granted to enable an employee to engage in other employment than that of the Board. Proof of such other employment, without the consent of the Board, during an employ-ee's assigned working hours will be regarded as an abandonment by the employee of his position with the Board and will be ground for dismissal of the employee from the service of the Board. Likewise, if work performed for another employer outside of the time assigned to an employee for his work for the Board causes him to be unfit for the efficient performance of his work for the Board, this will constitute neglect of duty and delinquency and will be punishable by dismissal from the service of the Board."

Letter in LEADER Gets Quick Results

A letter which appeared in last week's LEADER over the signature of Harry Mann, clerk in the NYC Department of Sanitation, is producing results.

In his letter, Mr. Mann suggested that the City arrange courses in such fields as writing, art, music, etc., to help City workers develop their cultural life—and at prices which they can afford can afford.

Several City officials have taken this matter up with Newbold Morris, president of the City Council, and it is receiving seri-ous consideration at City Hall,

Suggestions

Among suggestions were that special arrangements be made with the City colleges to provide justment to civilian life.

It was also proposed that a questionaire be distributed among the employees to check their

the employees to check their ideas on this project.

Sponsors of the program feel that it would help the City employees spiritually, just as the proposed health program would help them physically, and that such a setup would help returned service men make a quicker adjustment to civillan life.

Police Lists, Women N. G. For Court Jobs

There are vacancies in the NYC Domestic Relations Court for Court attendants. In order to fill these positions, the City Civil Service Commission sent in names from the list for Patrolman and Special Patrolman; and also from the women on the promotion list to Court Attendant.

However, the Court rejected the lists of eligibles sent in and Acting Presiding Justice W. Bruce Cobb said that women wouldn't do for the job.

So, the Court is hiring its attendants on a temporary basis as the Commission doesn't feel that it would be advisable to hold an open-competitive test during the

Is New York State By-Passing Civil Service?

TAT HAT looks like a cold attempt to by-pass civil service procedures, supersede the Feld-Hamilton career law, and to stymie the State Salary Standardization Board, has just been perpetrated in Albany.

A new rule (Rule VIII-C) regarding "emergency" institutional appointments provides that, "Whenever it appears impracticable, because of emergency conditions, to fill or continue a position in State . . . institutions on a permanent basis, the Commission, by special resolution, may authorize appointments on an emergency basis." When an emerg-ency exists and when it is over will be determined solely by the Commission.

A second, and even more significant part of the new rule provides that "Any employee occupying a permanent position . . . who accepts an emergency appointment . . . shall be granted a leave of absence from his former position . and the vacancy resulting from this leave of absence shall be filled on an emergency basis for a like period. . . .

WHAT IT REALLY MEANS

Now, what does this mean in practice? Let's take an example: Suppose you are a nurse in a State hospital earning $1,400 a year. The State says, in effect: "Take a leave of absence from your job, then come back to the same job as an emergency appointee, and we'll give you $200 a year more. When we determine that the emergency is over, we'll revoke your leave of absence, then you can once more come back to the same job you've been holding all along—at your old salary of $1,400."

It is clear beyond question that this ingenious maneuver is merely a way of circumventing the necessity of giving you a permanent raise in salary.

Now let's continue with our example of the nurse. You've appealed before the State Salary Standardization Board for an adjustment of pay, in line with your duties and rates of pay elsewhere. You asked for $1,650-$2,150.

Now, when the Civil Service Commission establishes an arbitrary (and temporary) rate of $1,600, what has happened is that the Salary Standardization Board has been kicked in the face. It was this board that listened to 40 different groups of institutional employees. It is this board which has the legal responsibility for determining what the proper salary schedule should be. And yet, so far, this board has failed to act on the appeals which it heard.

STANDARDIZATION BOARD MUST ASSERT ITSELF

Basic increases in State salary scales are long overdue. The action of the Civil Service Commission looks like a substitute for the action of the board.

And Rule VIII-C means still further delay in settling the basic wage problems of the employees.

The Salary Standardization Board has the facts. Its answer to this whole mess is to make the necessary salary adjustments without regard to Rule VIII-C, and without regard to pressure from above. The Board must assert the independence of its thought and action-or stand accused of voluntarily surrendering its powers and responsibilities in a manner it should not do under the law . . . slinking off in a corner because it is afraid to do its job.

Governor Dewey has a stake in this issue, too. As candidate for the Presidency, his stand on the merit system is of interest to public employees of this State and of the whole nation.

"The bone" is what every NYC commissioner fears. . . , It's an ordinary meat bone, but fancily ensconced in a green velvet-interiored case, and it's presented to the commissioner who commits a big boner. . . . The first to receive it was Fire Commissioner McElligott, in 1936, and the wheel has made a complete turn, for the last to receive it is Fire Commissioner Patrick Walsh. . . . Well deserved in both cases, say their fellow-commissioners. . . . The bone is coated with a substance which is supposed to preserve it permanently, so it will be available to many commissioners yet to come. . . . Custodian of the bone is License Commissioner Paul Moss, who presides over the commissioners' Wednesday luncheon-meetings, and Moss himself has been the recipient of this booby-prize ... Police Commissioner Lewis E. Valentine und Sanitation Commissioner William F. Carey have been awarded the bone, too. . . . Most be-boned commissioner of all was Paul J. Kern, during his term as civil service head. . . . Laid end to end, the "Baby Ballot" boys who vun New York City would reach hardly more than 15 feet among them: They're Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, Comptroller Joseph McGoldrick, and LaGuardia's aide Reuben Lazarus. . . . The two tallest men in NYC's service are also in City Hall-and they reach close to 13 feet between them: They're Council President Newbold Morris and LaGuardia's secretary, Goodhue Livingston. . . . Firemen who communicate with the press now put the words "For security reasons" in the place where their signatures should be. . . . NYC Council Prexy Newbold Morris is being measured for a New Yorker profile. . . . It's said, too, that the whole City Council is being sized up for a New Yorker rapier-job. .

Politics, Inc.

Despite all the names you've been hearing as prospective GOP candidates for U.S. Senator, the man to be tapped will be Tom Cur-ran, Secretary of State. Watch for the announcement within the next few days. All the other hopefuls, despite their build-ups, may as well Yorget it, say the real Dewey men.

Merit Men

HIS JOB is to plow his way through swarms of "whereases" and "parties of the first part," to protect New York City, but that hasn't made Joseph Pascal a stuffed shirt.

As Deputy Assistant Corporation Counsel, he has charge of con-tract work for the City. Every time the City does any construction work, or buys anything, or hires any service, the contract has to get an OK from Mr. Pascal.

During the World's Fair, he had the busiest time ever, and he's been with the City since 1914, when he came into a job with the Contract Division in the old Hall of Records. He was graduated from NYU Law School in 1901, but that wasn't his first career.

Started as School Teacher

Back in 1898 he took a degree from City College and became a school teacher at P.S. 26, then on 28th Street. But he decided that law offered more of a future, and studied nights. He aimed at and studied hights. He aimed at a job with the City and took a flock of civil service tests, making a high grade on each. He passed tests for law clerk, junior examiner, title examiner, and law assistant.

What He Must Do

His present job, in addition to passing on contracts, calls for appearances in Court when contracting firms sue the City. What often happens is that the City gives out a contract, then the contractor hires sub-contractors, but doesn't pay the sub-contractor, who turns around and tries to collect from the City. Mr. Pascals then steps into his role as protector of the municipal pocketbook and tries to show why the City isn't liable.

Another odd thing about him is the fact that he's a native Manhattaner, born right on the Island, lived here all his life and now has an apartment on 165th

He says his only hobby is work.

POLICE CALLS

That Talk Which Fiorello LaGuardia Gave Last Week Had Some Warnings

Fiorello LaGuardia is satisfied with the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, but he doesn't want NYC cops tying up with any labor organization. He said it in a curious way during his speech at the PBA meeting which inducted Patrick Harnedy last week for another term as president. The Mayor said he had received communications from other cities asking him about organization for cops. He answered, Fiorello re-lates, that he doesn't have any trouble in New York City because cops here are organized on a "pro-fessional" basis.

Kane Was There

Sitting at the meeting were Vincent Kane, head of the Uniformed Firemen's Association, an AFL affiliate; and Joseph Burkard, former president of the PBA, now an organizer for the American Fed-eration of State, County and Mu-nicipal Employees, also an AFL

A number of the men present at the meeting have confessed they've wondered just what was up La Guardia's sleeve in making the kind of a speech he did. Does he fear organization of the cops by one of the major union groups? Thirty-three cities have uniformed patrolmen organized under labor

Sick Leave Another thing the Mayor warning doing! We didn't deserve it. He thinks they're taking too much We are only temps. We were of it. Watch it, fellas, he said, or forced to do added duty for 10 the privilege might be taken away from you.

> PBA Officers Pay Is Up Again

Remember when the PBA pulled in its wartime belt on Tuesday, April 11. Well, that belt has been let out wide again.

One of the things that happened in April was a reduction by half in the expense money of officers. Another was a cut from 10% to 5% on the collections made by delegates.

Well, it's all been restored.

Pat Harnedy, as president, will now draw again $6,000 a year, in-stead of $3,000. The first vice-president wil draw $3,000 instead of $1,500. And so on down the

Also, the organization is turning over to an actuary the problem of studying whether cash settlements can be restored to retiring men. In April, payments to retiring members were stopped. The old scale went like this: Any man with 25 years of service got $275; 20-25 years, $210; 10-20 years, $150; less than 10 years, $70. The money came out of the benefit fund. But with the lessened funds from dues, and with the virtual stoppage of new members, the idea was to conserve the funds of the organization.

Under the new setup discussed last Tuesday, it is proposed that the man with 25 years of service should get $125; a man with 20 years $100. Incidentally, at Tuesday's meeting Pat Harnedy introduced every-body who was anybody—except his opponent in the election—John

Vet Employees Ask Higher Grade

Sirs: Many of us at the Veterans Administration, New York, N. Y. are now working on "conversions." This work is complicated and we all believe that those who are working on it deserve a Grade 4 at least. The majority of the Grade 3's have been in that grade for over 20 months. It is no wonder that the morale of the employees is so low. If conditions were more pleasant and if increases were given more often the turnover of help would not be as great as it is in the V. A.

The Situation with Federal Attorneys

Sirs: I am an attorney and have been trying for some time to obtain a position with the Federal Government. Now I understand that the hiring of lawyers has been taken away from the Civil Service Commission.

Could you clarify this situation?
J. WILLIAMS.

Failure of Congress to make ap-propriations for the Board of Examiners means that since July 1 the appointments of lawyers has been outside of civil service. However, it is believed that a oBard of Legal Examiners will be set up in the Justice Department after Congress reconvenes. Legislators seem to feel that the Department of Justice would be more capable of selecting lawyers than the Com-mission.—Editor.

Craig Colony Problems Solved

UNDER DATE of May 20, 1944, Dr. V. I. Bonafede, President of the Craig Colony Chapter, Association of State Civil Service Em-ployees, directed a letter to me in which he called attention to two conditions existing at that institution that were causing, as he put it, "great irritation to fifteen or twenty families."

One of these sources of irritation was the rate of rental of houses owned by the State and rented to employees. Previous to October 1, 1943, the date on which the new "Maintenance Charge Schedule" went into effect, the value of the monthly rental was set at $18.00. The new rate established for these houses is $40.00 which is based on rents charged for comparable houses in the area. As Dr. Bonafede stated: "No one challenges the fact that the original rent was low," "when the new rental values went up for employee but, he added, "when the new rental values went up for employees in the lower paid groups, there was no compensatory increase in their cash salary to offset this additional raise in rent." This situation was discussed with the Albany office of the Department of Mental Hygiene. It was stated that each employee's schedule of gross salary would be checked and if any errors were found they would be corrected. Under date of June 8th, I received a letter from Dr. Bonafede giving me certain information I had requested and the following is quoted from this letter:

"In reply to your letter of June 5th, relative to the rental values of houses occupied by employees, I would advise you that an estimate according to an arrangement with the Department of Mental Hygiene is being submitted reducing rents to $18.00 per month retroactive to October 1, 1943. I had not known that the Department had intended to correct this situation when I wrote to you." And so the question of rents was settled without difficulty.

Anoher Source

THE OTHER SOURCE of irritation reported by Dr. Bonafede was the question of whether or not these employees occupying rented was the question of whether or not these employees occupying rented State owned houses were entitled to laundry service. In his letter Dr. Bonafede stated "the State contends that since the employee is receiving his full salary, he is not entitled to receive laundry service. The employees contend that as long as they live on institution grounds they are resident employees and entitled to this service." The provision in the "Maintenance Charge Schedule" applicable in this instance reads as follows:—"Special Laundry Adjustment"—No resident employee not entitled to family maintenance shall have his gross salary on September 30, 1943, increased by the value of personal and household laundry done for him and his family prior to that date. Any such laundry done after September 30, 1943, shall be charged for at the rate of $2.50 per month for each family member other than such officer or employee." Hence, it would seem that the employee is entitled to have his family laundry done in the institution laundry at a cost of $2.50 per month for each member of his family, other than himself, providing, however, that the laundry is equipped to take care of this service. On taking this matter up with the Department of Mental Hygiene, I was advised that Dr. Newton J. T. Bigelow, Deputy Commissioner, had written to Dr. W. H. Veeder, Director of Craig Colony, under date of June 6th, as follows:

"The Department believes that you should interpret the section on laundry rates of the Maintenance Charge Schedule literally. It would appear that resident employees should be allowed their perwould appear that resident employees should be allowed their personal and household laundry without charge, but a charge should be made for personal laundry of such in the household as are not employees." And so, the other problem has been settled.

I wish to point out that both of these questions were settled by the Commissioner of Mental Hygiene in a manner acceptable to the employees and without any "fuss or fury" other than the simple procedure of calling the situation to the attention of the proper officials

Mental Hygiene Employees Desiring To Leave Service, Find They're Frozen

ALBANY—Employees of the Mental Hygiene Department who seek releases under the Federal "job-freeze" order so they can go into private industry can expect no aid from State authorities in getting the necessary certificate of availability.

That was indicated in the ex-perience of some 15 such em-ployees of Mental Hygiene who already have sought such release it was learned this week.

When heads of institutions in the department denied the em-ployee applications for a release so they could go into higher-pay-ing jobs, appeal was taken to the Civil Service Commission, but the Commission backed up the department and refused to grant the applications.

They're Hard Hit

Mental Hygiene institutions have been hard hit by the man-power shortage and there are vastly fewer attendants and other employees now on the roster than are actually needed. The Civil Service Commission, in considering appeals of employees to go into private industry, is influenced by consideration of the ef-fect on the State service when employees depart for higher-paying jobs in industry. This and the crisis which inspired the job-freeze order indicate that State workers are not going to get too much sympathy in seeking leaves to make high-paying connections in industry and this probably prompted the application of four of the department's auditors to escape the freeze ban. All were denied.

Of the 35 cases in which the Civil Service Commission found it necessary to deny an appeal, 15 came from Mental Hygiene, one came from the Labor Department.

Three appeals for certificates came from employees of the Public Works Department and 5 came from workers in the Cor-rection Department. The Health Department produced appeals from four employees.

State Assn. Evolves 9-Point Program To Improve the Retirement System

ALBANY-Members of the Retirement Study Committe of the Association of State Civil Service Employees, headed by Charles C. Dubuar, have drafted the outlines of a nine-point program looking to the "humanization" of the state retirement system.

The program was formally adopted by members of the committee and will be presented, after re-writing and compilation in briefed form, to State Comp-troller Frank C. Moore, who is presently engaged in recodifying the retirement act.

In general, the nine points are:

Optional retirement at age 55 or after thirty years of service for all institution employees and other employees whose duties in-volve substantial physical exertion.

-A vesting of retirement benefits if an employee is sepa-rated from the service after fifteen years of employment, or after ten years of employment if he is 45 years of age. At the present time such employees lose all their rights in the Retirement System upon separation from the service. Under the proposed amendment they would have the privilege of leaving their funds in the Retirement System so that they would be eligible for a retirement allowance when

Necessity For Releases

It should be noted that there is nothing in the New York State Military Law or in the Civil Service Law or Rules which requires a State employee to obtain a re-lease from his appointing officer before he can enlist in the armed forces. Under our law, State em-ployees who enter upon military duty must be given a military leave of absence for the duration of their military service. Such leave of absence is mandatory and must be given whether the employee is drafted or enters the armed forces by way of enlistment.

However, while an appointing officer is unable to prevent an employee's induction, he may be able to prevent his enlistment. The appointing officer's power to pre-vent enlistments is derived, indirectly, from the various branches Area Appeals Committee. The LEADER contest is the first she has ever entered and she was thrilled beyond words to receive the crown from Newbold Morris, president of the New York City Council, in his City Hall were to get back to Albany, meet her husband when he finishes his tour of duty and go out for a celebration with some other troopers and their wives which will set a new record for Albany.

The pleasantest thing about Mrs. Nelson is the fact that she doesn't act like the prettiest girl in civil service. She says she never considered herself exceptionally Office. Her only immediate plans attractive; never had any plans for a movie or stage career; and once when she was younger, thought about trying modeling, but didn't get around to do it.

The LEADER is pleased to present her with the trophy symbolic of her award as Miss Civil Service; and wishes her and her hus-band all the luck in the world.

ODB EMPLOYEES KNOW HOW TO BUY BONDS

Employees of the War Department Office of Dependency Benefits have exceeded their War Loan Drive quota by 284 percent, with total cash purchases of $427,058,50 in war bonds.

Why They Won The War Service Contest Prizes

These are the activities on which General John J. Bradley, USA, Ret., based his selection of Miss Leona Hudson as grand prize winner, and Mrs. Ann George as another top-prize winner in The LEADER'S War Service Con-test. Records of the other con-testants, Miss Janet Strube and Miss Barbara Heidenreich, will appear in future issues of The LEADER.

Miss Hudson

 She devoted her spare time to knitting for the French soldiers through "Au Bonheur du Soldat." When France fell, she transferred to "Bundles for Britain." Solicited funds for yarn and knitted garments: then knitted for the American Red Cross until the sacreity of wool ended this project.

2. Right after Pearl Harbor, she registered with the Office of Civilian Mobilization and was assigned for training as an Air Raid Warden, already having completed Red Cross standard and advanced first aid courses, a total of 30 hours of training.

3. In the Fall of 1942, the local in the civilian defense council asked the Western New. York Branch of the American Medical Society, of which she is a member, to organize for protection against possible gas attacks. She served as gas reconnaissance officer, attended regular practice meetings and in-cidents. In June, 1943, she attended the Training Institute for Gas Reconnaissance Officers conducted by the New York State War Council.

4. Since August, 1942, she has worked as an Aircraft Warning Volunteer at the Buffalo Information Center for the First Fighter Command. In this, she served on the "dawn patrols," from 4 to 8 a.m., three times a week, and every other Sunday, until the end of February, 1943. . . . Since then, twice weekly and every third Sunday. In December she received the award of the U. S. Army Air Forces for "Merit," and 1,000 hours service.

5. Since August, 1942, she has served weekly as a hostess at the U.S.O. lounge at the Buffalo Cen-tral Terminal, to date having completed 272 hours of service.

6. She has contributed to the ARC Blood Bank 7 times.

Since February, 194, she has been buying war bonds through a 10 per cent payroll deduction.

8. To help out a local labor shortage, she has been working in her free time for the Social Serv-Department of the Buffalo General Hospital.

Mrs. George

1. She has had charge of collection of funds from State employees for the Red Cross.

Utica District-Public Works

MERCER WEISKOTTEN, director of the Fifth War Bond drive for the Utica district, re-ports that the department's quota was exceeded. . . . Two familiar faces are being seen in the Utica office again: Eddie Geraty is back after ten months' service in the Seabees and Gerald Fenner has resumed work in the department after a two-year leave, during which he was employed in the province of Oriente, Cuba. Jerry worked for the contractor on a 35-million-dollar U. S. Defense Plant project—a nickel development which has been successfully ment which has been successfully completed. . . Congratulations to Evelyn "Boots" Cole on her recent appointment as Senior Typist (Accounts) in place of Florence V. Brennan, who resigned last October after 18 years' service. The employees miss both Florence Brennan and Mary B. Miller who to become homemakers after eighteen years with the State. . . . Many are reporting thriving Victory gardens. . . . John W. Staudt, clerk in the office of County Assistant Arthur Smith at Oneida, has reached the age of 70 and is retiring. His boss, "Sliv" Smith, must follow suit before the end of the year. . . . Word reaches us that Bil Barden, ace bowler and one of the "old time" assistant engineers, has retired under dis-ability. . . . Russell B. Graham, Assistant Engineer, with the department since 1906, succumbed to Parkinson's disease after a long illness; known by all as "Ginger," his passing caused widespread regret. . . . Tommy Maier, on leave of absence as Lt. (j.g.) in the Navy and Ann Fitzpatrick, now employed by the F.B.I. in Washington, made the rounds at the Utica office recently. Ann is quite interested in a certain captain interested in a certain captain who is now in India. . . . Bobby Gray and Pat Kelly are on the sick list. . . .

New York City

VACATIONS are on the minds of members of the Big City Chapter of the ASCSE . . . Among those who are now enjoying their summer furlough . , . Bill Hopkins, publicity chairman of the Chapter, vacationing at Long Beach . . . John F. Powers, president of the Chapter, at his summer place in Freeport . . . Kenneth Valentine, financial secretary, hob-nobbing with the swells at Southampton . . . Kilmer J. McLoughlin, at Vergennes, Vermont . . . Members of the Chapter are extending congratulations to Herman T. Stichman, former attorney for the Morelands Investi-gation of Workmens Compensation, newly appointed Commis-sioner of the State Housing Commission; and the new Deputy commissioner, Ira S. Robins . . . Joseph J. Byrnes, elevator pilot at 80 Center Street, is proud of the Byrne Army which is fighting the axis. Two sons are in service: Joseph James, Jr., a corporal with the 81st Fighter Squadron in England, and James Francis, in France with the 79th Division. Besides that, he has 7 nephews in the armed forces: 1 army captain, 1 naval warrant officer, 1 ensign, 1 coast guardsman, 1 Seabee, and 2 soldiers make up the family honor roll . . .

Syracuse

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the Syracuse Chapter of the State Association was held at the Onondaga Hotel. Plans were suggested for the improvement of the condition of the State employee. Dis-cussion on the Hampton-Devany bill for veteran's preference took place, also the establishing of $1,200 as a minimum entrance salary on a permanent basis, and the raising of the Feld-Hamilton wage scales to offset the high standard of living. Adjustment of Retire-ment System to allow optional re-tirement after 25 or 30 years' servtirement after 25 or 30 years' service, with rates commensurate with the high cost of living, was proposed... At the meeting in September a Legislative or Resolutions Committee is to be appointed by the President to formulate the Chapter's proposals to be submitted to the Association in Albany for adoption at the Annual Meeting in October... The following officers were elected: President, Henry J. Wagner, Unemployment Insurance; Vice President, Henry J. Wagner, Unemployment Insurance; Vice President, J. G. Moyer, Bur. of Rehabilitation; Secretary, Doris Le-Rever, Department of Labor; Treasurer, Harry Kallet, Department of Unemployment Insurance."

Creedmoor

A MEETING of the Creedmoor Chapter of the State Association held to discuss the pension system, George Milton Schwartz, Vice-President of the Association.

The general sentiment of the employee was to liberalize the pension system so that it could be optional with them to have 25 years service retirement. Due to the type of work in a mental hoshospital most employees feel that a man or woman that has worked 25 years under such stress and strain should be retired. . . On Monday, July 24, there will be a field event, including oftball.

Dannemora

THE DANNEMORA State Hospital Chapter, Association of State Civil Service Employees, has electto office: President Ralph ker: Vice-President, Ernest ed to office: President Ralph Walker; Vice-President, Ernest Harkness; Howard St. Clair and Thomas Cummings, Secretary and Treasurer, respectively, continue in office for another term. . . . Mr. Walker's program calls for a continuation of the present drive for prison pay scales; retireupon completion of 25, instead of the present 35, years of service; and classification with and reallocation to prison guard status. The Chapter is confident ZEBB V. KENNEDY that marked progress will be made toward these reasonable ob-jectives. . . . Despite his plea that press of other duties would make it impossible for him to continue in office, Charles Fitzpatrick, rein office, Charles Fitzpatrick, retiring president, received many votes, attesting to his popularity among the hospital personnel. . .

Under Mr. Fitzpatrick the Chapter has marched steadily onward.
Untiring in his efforts to promote the weifare of his fellow employees, and generally to raise the standard of working conditions in Matteawan and Dannemora State Hospitals, he has worked early and late to impress State officials with the evils resulting from diswith the evils resulting from discrimination against employees of these two institutions. He has ac-cepted, and overcome, many of the handicaps attendant upon his drive forward to a true interpretation of the provisions of the Feld-Hamilton Law—absolute parity with prison guard status... The Chapter takes this opportunity of expressing its singer cratifule. expressing its sincere gratitude and best wishes.

Let 'em hatch, Brother, let 'em hatch!

SHOSE WAR BONDS you're buying today-what a beautiful nest egg they're making for your future!

In ten years, you'll get back four dollars for every three dollars you in-

That is - unless you redeem them before they mature.

You see, in one respect, War Bonds are like eggs-you've got to let 'em hatch to get the most profit from them.

So let 'em hatch, Brother, let 'em

Sure, there may be times when you need money. But before you cash in your War Bonds, take a minute to think of the future-and then stick those precious Bonds back in their hiding place!

Here's something else to remember. Whenever a War Bond is redeemed before maturity, it means not only less profit for the person who cashes it in -it also takes those dollars out of the fight.

So be smart. Buy all the War Bonds you can. Put them where they'll be Seen and Heard In Vet Agency

JUST HOW are promotions ade. . . That's the question. . . made. . . That's the question. . . This correspondent the other day This correspondent the other day took a survey on the subject and found that the promotions were being made "according to Hoyle." At least, that's how it would appear to the average person making inquiries. Let us demonstrate by means of an example. Two persons working for the same agency, one for the manager, directly, the other in one of the departments although both persons. rectly, the other in one of the departments, although both persons might be "EXCELLENT," the one working in the Manager's office will get much further. . . "The human element," they call it. Similarly, those close to the big bosses get their "Excellents." the others, their "Very Goods." . . . When it comes to promotions, the ones near the big chiefs, "request" certain positions that they have heard were "open" and in many instances, the particular division instances, the particular division boss writes a "recommendation" for his pet. . . Need I say that these "Excellent" workers get

If they are not satisfied with the job offered them, they can get to the responsible authorities to "discuss" their problem without red-tape. They just "drop in for a friendly chat." It helps, of course, if the person is female and atractive. This system is represent from the main floor to and atractive. This system is rampant from the main floor to the very top at Veterans Admin-istration in New York City.

PERSONNEL now being hired at Vets with "Bookkeeping" ex-perience are wondering just what they are going to do in Vets that will utilize this experience . seems that they have been as-signed in the majority of instances to positions not requiring the knowledge of Bookkeeping. . . .

This is a typical scene at the largest lake on Long Island, where LEADER readers are offered an opportunity to purchase little estates for vacations or retirements, with a year-round choice of healthful sports only a short distance from the City.

SSM, one of the lasses on a lower floor may have another initial added to her name soon. . . . DKW, in Adjustment and Refund, has just been named Miss Sleeping Beauty, by her co-workers, but they won't say why . . . Collections are still being made throughout the building despite the "R & P" strictly prohibiting it. . . . Seems that some of the supervisors themselves are conducting the collections. Employees not wanting to hinder their rating contribute, but mutter to themselves . . . (this cor-respondent just has the luck to be around at the opportune time). or so and from what we've heard, there will be six units set up. . . . Oh yes, many thanks to some of the supervisors who are forward-division soon. . Looks like Dorothy Smith impressed the powers that be and is soon to be (or is now) a CAF 7 . . . what will Joe say now . . . hmmm? . . . Employees are wondering how long it will be before some of the personal office staffs of some of the chiefs stop being chit-chat clubs.

MEMO to C. J. Reichert: One of your supervisors en the Fifth Floor threw a pencil sharpener at one of the employees and then offered to fight anyone in the room. . . . Is that what your superisors learned at the Supervisor's Course? . . . Chief Day and Chief Carlton from Central Office are down in New York . . . seems Chief Carlton from Central Office are down in New York . . . seems that Chief Day and her N Files will be at a 34th Street Building within the next few weeks. . . . More personnel will be required . . . Adjustment and Refund is moving to the 2nd Floor within the week or so and from what we've heard,

State Insurance Department, asking for "all benefits to which I may be entitled as a member in good standing". But this help on the part of the department didn't do any good to about 3,500 of the men.

They're members who dropped out of the endowment groups when they saw that the organ-izations were headed for the rocks.

Adding to Confusion

They're not in good standing, so they couldn't fill in the forms . . Then to add to the confusion, some of them received bills from the State Insurance Department, asking for back payment of dues.

In addition, if they became paid-up members they'll be liable for assessments in some of the association, if they pay dues.

they don't pay they're liable for assessments if they were in good standing one year before the date of liquidation.

Men Looked Into It

The Elected Endowment Investigation Committee, headed by Frank A. Mott, of Hook and Ladder 26, made a survey and reported that the men ought to get together and try to make order out of the chaos. If they can't get their cash back, at least they may be able to de-duct the losses from their income tax.

The Committee also advised them that they only have four months from the date on which the associations surrendered to the State to get their claims in.

Employee Group Goes Over Head Of Civil Service

Last week, the NYC Civil Ser-vice Commission went ahead and vice Commission went ahead and reclassified Assistant Foremen (Cars and Shops) in the City Board of Transportation, giving them the title Foremen. The resolution was signed by the Mayor, and immediately the AFL employee union who didn't like the change filed a protest with the State Civil Service Commission.

State Civil Service Commission.

Their objection is this: The Commission recently held a promotion test from assistant foremen to foremen for men in this group. There were a large number of failures on the test, but those who passed the written examination are peeved. They think something is wrong when those who pass a test, and those who fail it are all promoted.

They don't mind seeing people get promotions, but they want it done according to the law.

State Assn. Protests 'Emergency' Rule

ton Law in the expectation that it would bring about long overdue increases in basic salary scales. When it was put into effect on October 1, 1943, they were disheartened and dismayed. The scales promulgated were so inadequate and inequitable that in far they many cases employees found too many cases employees found that the basic rates for their posi-tions had been reduced rather than increased. Many of them lost hope and left the state service. The majority remained, in the hope and expectation that the inequities would be promptly cor-rected through the appeal proce-dure set up by the Feld-Hamilton

Further Delay Harmful

"Any further elay in the final determination of these appeals will inevitably result in a further loss of confidence. Aiready rumors are circulating to the effect that the Board is delaying its decisions: that the make-shift expedient of "emergency institutional appoint-ments" is to be inaugurated in-stead of the essential revision of basic scales and that the Board by the implications and far- der established procedure on the that 'the recruitment of Staff will not decide the appeals until reaching consequences of your basis of the complete facts now Nurses has become almost impossar-reaching, though unspecified, new Rule VIII-C with reference in their possession rather than by sible . . . and the shortage of this amendments to the Feld-Hamilton to 'emergency institutional apschedules are put through at the pointments.'

"We feel that the adention of

"The inadequacy of the rates as promulated, the inequities and disparities that have been demonstrated on the appeals before your Board, and the long-continued delay in remedying these conditions have combined to create an ex-tremely critical situation, wholly destructive of morale in the insti-

"The Association has gone as far as it can go in advising employees to patiently await the decisions of the administrative agencies, whose decisions are of such vital importance.

"I think it extremely important that the Board make a public an-nouncement as to when the appeals now pending before it will be decided. May I, therefore, request that you let me know the approximate date when the Salary Standardization Board will hand down its decisions?"

To Civil Service Commissioner Conway, Mr. Shoro wrote:

"The Association is disturbed

"We feel that the adoption of the proposed policy is not only unnecessary but that it is com-pletely at variance with the principles of the career law and cannot fail to be destructive of morale throughout the institu-tional service. Our reasons for this view are fundamental:

"(1) The proposal on its face has the appearance of a make-shift expedient designed to by-pass the established procedure set up under the Feld-Hamilton law.

"The Feld-Hamilton law, with its provisions for hearings before the Salary Standardization Board, is completely adequate to make ordinary as well as emergency sal-ary adjustments. Salary schedules, established last year, have been reviewed in formal hearings which were conducted by the Board during April, May and June of this year. These hearings were con-cluded over a month ago. We be-lieve that the necessary amendments to the salary schedules should be made by the Board un-der established procedure on the apparent reason for delaying the decisions of the Salary Standard-ization Board which has at its command in fact, as well as in law, all of the facilities of the technical staffs of the various branches of the State government as well as the wealth of informaas well as the wealth of informa-tion placed at its disposal by the employees who appeared at the hearings.

"(2) The new policy cannot be viewed by employees in any other light than as a substitute for ac-tion by the Salary Standardiza-tion Board or an invitation to the Board to further delay its deci-

"Your announcement establish-ing a minimum salary of $1,600 for Staff Nurses would be entirely unnecessary if the Board would act upon the very modest appeal of the Staff Nurses for a salary scale of $1,650-$2,150, a request that was supported not only by department heads but by the report of the Dawson Commission.

"(3) The proposed policy, which has been used to give an emergency increase to Nurses, must in all fairness be extended to practically all other positions in the hospital service.

"Your resolution to the effect that 'the recruitment of Staff unsound to superimpose a make-shift plan of questionable value before utilizing existing procedure which we believe is wholly ade-quate to meet the persent situa-

"(4) The proposed plan is unfair to older employees and not sufficiently attractive to induce properly qualified persons to enter institutional service.

"New employees would receive the same wages as older employees" with many years of service. A temporary rate of $1,600, with no assurance as to its continuance and with no provision for increments, is obviously inadequate. The permanent scale, now under consideration by the Salary Stand-ardization Board, would, on the other other hand, furnish a real inducement for new employees without discriminating against present workers.

Wage Standards Unsettled.

"Wage standards and security of employment are unsettled by the proposed policy which places all these employees in the Non-Statutory group. Uncertainty and possibilities for favoritism and discrimination are substituted for the well-established principles of the career law which has done so much to bring state service to its present high level.

"(5) This policy will encourage further delay in the solution of the pressing problems of state in-stitutional workers.

"The career law was adopted for the avowed purpose of correcting the inequalities and inequities that have long existed. The ad-justments sought by employees were not emergency adjustments. They were to correct long stand-ing inadequacies in basic scales.

Old Scales

"The facts brought out at the hearings have established that the salary scales established on October 1, 1943 were, in many cases, unsound and unsatisfactory. Employees have been unbelievably patient and wholly cooperative in following and waiting upon the procedure set up for the correc-tion of these errors. Very satisfac. tory progress has been made in correcting classification errors, but initial errors in salary schedules still remain unchanged, although ten months have elapsed. The maintenance of morale among inmaintenance of morale among in-stitution personnel depends upon the prompt correction of these errors; the problem cannot be solved by halfway measures which will inevitably cause disillusion-ment and despair on the part of thousands of institution workers.

"We are issuing a call for a meeting of Association represent-atives of all state institutions to take action with reference to the problems arising from the pro-posed 'emergency' policy and the delay in Salary Standardization Board decisions.

"We respectfully request that you join with us in requesting a prompt determination of the appeals now pending before the Salary Standardization Board, that the proposed emergency policy be reconsidered in its entirety and its further application be held in abeyance until a more satisfac-tory plan can be formulated."

Postal Men Will Get Time Off In Big Chunks

WASHINGTON. - Postal employees who have accumulated, compensatory time-off may now enjoy it in big pieces, which is welcome news these hot days.

An order issued by the First Assistant Postmaster General provides that postmasters may grant the combined compensatory time off for Sunday, holiday, and Saturday service in one period. How-ever, the rules still provide that time off for Saturday and Sun-day work must be given within five days, and holiday time off within

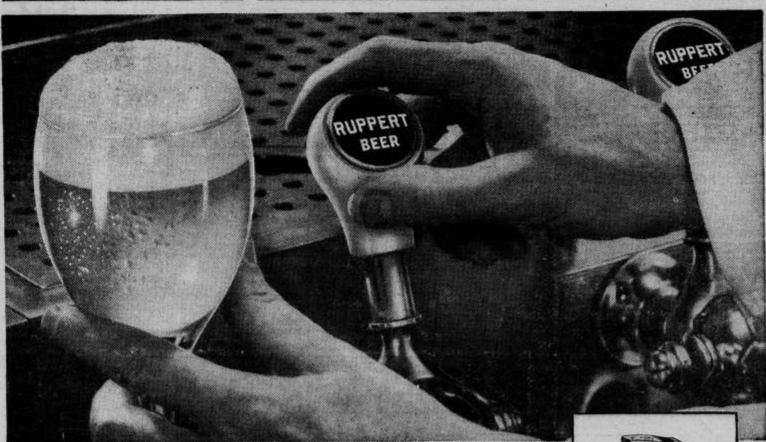

And compensatory time may be used as part of a day and be followed by work at overtime rates. Another change in the rules reads: "When the exigencies of the service require an employee who has been on leave with pay or compensatory time, a part of his schedule may be employed after he has completed 8 hours of combined leave and service on an 8-in-10 hour basis, and be paid therefor as overtime."

Welfare Dept. Wonders About Post V-Day Job

What will happen around the NYC Department of Welfare after 'V" day is becoming the concern of far sighted Welfare employees.

The Veterans Division of the department is already beginning to get a foretaste of what conditions the department will face after the war. With a low of 125 workers, that bureau is now facing a short-age of help. When need for investigators show up, there are plenty around the other Welfare Centers who can be spared to work with

After World War I

But after the war, conditions will be different. Following World War I, the staff of the Welfare Department expanded so greatly that there were 16,617 employees in the Home Relief Division alone. Today the entire department has only 4,492 employees.

Some of the persons now working for the City Welfare Department may find themselves State employees in the future. A State Rehabilitation Program is now in the intertion and it may absorb its inception and it may absorb the Veterans and other welfare sub-divisions.

Veteran Aid

According to law the veterans side of Welfare activities consists of helping not only veterans but also their dependents. Today there are still widows and daughters of Civil War veterans who are receiving assistance. An increasing number of World War II veterans are being referred to the department by the various veterans or-ganizations and the Federal Vet-erans Administration which has close connection with Welfare ac-

Some Welfare employees are afraid that the present adminis-tration of the department is not showing sufficient imagination in setting the framework for facing future problems. The abolition of Welfare Centers; stretching caseloads over wide areas; relaxing be-cause the present load of 101,350 cases reflects war-time prosper-lity is a bad policy they feel.

They would like to see the or-ganization kept at peak efficiency to be able to meet any emergency that might be brought on by posteconomic conditions. Even with the increase in State and Federal participation in Welfare work, they predict a big post-war job for the municipal agency. Particularly if another depression should come along.

for certain positions at inter-mediate rates within a grade.

Rep. Rees of Kansas has a bill before the House which would make the law perfectly clear that the size of a unit or the number of employees supervised need not be regarded by anyone as the sole factor determining the grade and pay of the supervisor.

When Congress adjourned it apparently was in no mood for civil service legislation of any sort. To curry the favor of as many voters as possible on the eve of one of the most important elections in the history of the nation, however, Congress can be expected to give serious thought to this legislation which is gen-erally believed will better the lot of the Government worker.

War Prisoner Wants Job as Health Inspector

The Municipal Reference Library is busily occupied answering the daily questions of its municipal public, but they also take the time to collect books and magazines and supply them to the men in the armed services. Only recently the Municipal Reference Library established a service to supply men in the armed service with books they want. Recently, however, a totally different request has come to the Library's Public Health Division which merits interest and attention.

One of the social agencies referred a specific request from a Prisoner of War who was confined in a prison camp in Germany to the Library's Public Health Divi-Health Inspector. The Prisoner of War wrote that he had plenty of time and he desired to utilize it in time and he desired to utilize it in preparing himself for the next civil service examination for City Health Inspector. The Librarian immediately recommended several good titles which would help him, and the agency proceeded to purchase them and supply them to this optimistic and ambitious Prisoner of War.

The prompt efficient service

The prompt, efficient service which this request received by the Municipal Reference Library is one of the many services available to all who make use of the Library's resources.

Many Called-Few Came

Last week, four candidates from the list of eligibles for temporary police-fire jobs were called to the office of the City Civil Service Commission for interview in con-nection with their applications. Only Anthony D. Mollica ap-peared, and he was judged qualified for the position. Louis C. Becker, William A. Maynard and Raymond T. Murray didn't even show up.

Navy Guards Object to Working As Cleaners

Some of the Naval civil service guards working at installations around New York City are peeved because they are assigned to do jobs they don't consider part of their duties. A lot of the men figure that such assignments as cleaning floors and heads (lavatories to civilians), running ele-vators and answering phones shouldn't be handed to men who are guards,

But the U. S. Civil Service Commission explains that these guards are part of the protective and custodial service, and that they can be required to protect the buildings from dirt as well as from intruders.

Personnel Officer Test is Cancelled

Many employees of the NYC Health Department were looking forward to an examination for Personnel Officer which had been ordered by the Civil Service Commission and were waiting to learn the eligibility requirement.

But last week, they got the bad news. The Commission ordered the test cancelled and denied the request of the Health Department for an open competitive test. for an open competitive test.
