STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

December 4, 1972

TWO ALICES will alternate portraying the famous Lewis Carroll character in the State University Theatre production which opens here Wednesday night. Bertilla Baker, l., and Nancy Sama rehearse for their roles in "Alice in Wonderland."

SUT's 'Alice in Wonderland' To Hold Thirteen Performances

State University Theatre will present Alice in Wonderland, adapted from Lewis Carroll with additional dialogue from the version by Eva LeGallienne and Florida Friebus, for 13 performances beginning Wednesday under the direction of Patricia Snyder. Music, by Richard Addinsell, will be under the direction of Findlay Cockrell.

Tickets for the production, to be staged in the Arena Theatre, have been just about sold out. Performances are scheduled for Wednesday through Sunday at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., with a 10:30 a.m. show Saturday and matinees at 2 both Saturday and Sunday.

Bertilla Baker and Nancy Sama will alternate in the lead role. There are 64 persons in the cast which will be seen in such familiar scenes as "Down the Rabbit Hole," "The Cheshire Cat," "The Mad Tea Party," and "Tweedledum and Tweedledee." Leo Bonneau will play White Rabbit; Aviva Yvette, Dutchess; Peter Paverini, Mad Hatter; Lucille Paolillo, Red Queen; and Beth McGee-Russell, Dormouse. One of the scenes will be enlivened by the presence of a pig.

A host of musical numbers will include "The Boat Song," "All in the Golden Afternoon," "Father William," "Speak Softly To Your Little Boy," "March of the Cards," "Croquet Ballet," and "The Walrus and The Carpenter."

Theatre, Music Presentations

Noted playwrights Jack Gelber ("The Connection") and Arthur Kopit ("Indians"; "O Dad, Poor Dad") will be here tonight to discuss contemporary American theatre in an informal panel beginning at 8 in the Studio Theatre of the Performing Arts Center. Gayner Bradish, of the Department of English which is sponsoring the event, will chair.

Jack Richardson, whose play "Gallows Humor" recently was enacted on campus, has tentative plans to participate in the panel discussion and question-and-answer period. Currently he is at work on a novel.

Forty-six persons are listed on the production staff. They include Stephanie Goodwin, assistant stage manager; Susan Morton, assistant musical director; Ruth Roper, properties mistress; Victor Saffrin, master electrician; and Steve Aminoff, Edward Bell, Harry Reiner, Joe Riley, and Carol Scheiber, sound and light crew.

Choreography is by Jan Mitchell and costumes are by Elaine Yokoyama. Other production responsibilities are handled by Robert J. Donnelly, scenery; Jerome Hanley, lighting; Jo Oliver, costumes; Douglas Krantz, technical director; Joseph Alaskey, graphics; and Keith Smith, stage manager.

Week's Lectures To Feature Japan, Brazil, Chemistry, Math

Several lectures of particular interest will take place on campus this week.

Thursday evening, under the sponsorship of the Department of English, Earl Miner of Princeton University will talk about "The Japanese Sensibility." The lecture is scheduled to begin at 8:15 in the CC Assembly Hall.

Professor Miner is the author of several books including The Japanese Tradition in English and American Literature, Dryden's Poetry, The Cavalier Mode from Jonson to Cotton, and An Introduction to Japanese Court Poetry. Additionally, he is the editor and compiler of the University of California edition of Dryden's works and co-editor of a selection of Japanese poetic diaries.

Friday morning Professor Miner will talk informally with students, and perhaps classes, from 10 until noon in the Humanities Lounge.

Paul Manor of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem will speak on "The Military Establishment in Brazil" on Friday at 2 p.m. in ED 335. There will be a discussion period following his presentation.

Professor Manor, a leading scholar of Brazilian history, will be on campus as part of his first lecture tour of the United States which will take him to 10 other American universities from New York to California. His visit here is sponsored by the Center for Inter-American Studies, the Department of History, the Graduate School of Public Affairs, and the Department of Judaic Studies.

Today at 4 p.m. in LC 12 there will be a Chemistry Colloquium lecture. Mathematics Colloquium lectures are set for ES 152 at 4 p.m. Wednesday and Friday.

Senate To Consider Bill On Promotions and Tenure

A bill proposing changes in the university's policies concerning promotions and continuing appointments will be brought before this afternoon's meeting of University Senate at 3:00 in the Campus Center Assembly Hall. The bill, submitted by the Executive Committee upon recommendation from the Council on Promotions and Continuing Appointments, was on the agenda for the November Senate meeting, but did not reach the floor due to the lengthy debate on undergraduate grading.

In general, the bill seeks to overcome criticisms of the present system of tenure and promotion by establishing several criteria to be considered when planning the promotion and tenure procedure. The major criteria may be summarized as follows:

1. the right of the candidate to a fair hearing by his peers, due process, and appeal to a more broadly representative body;
2. the concern of the department for a program that satisfies high professional standards;
3. the need for a process which maintains a high standard of selection;
4. the concern that the process not devalue good teaching; and
5. the importance of student input in the process.

There are no other bills on the Senate's agenda, but among the reports of councils and committees is one from the Council on Promotions and Continuing Appointments. The council has authorized an ad hoc committee to advise the council concerning application of criteria for promotion and continuing appointment to faculty members whose responsibilities are somewhat different from the usual academic position. Librarians, campus school teachers, and physical education staff would be among those affected by the committee's recommendations.

Holiday Sing Set for Sunday

The annual Holiday Sing competition will be held in University Gym at 7 p.m., Sunday. This year's theme is "Fantasia" and at least 24 groups are expected to perform.

In addition to the traditional awards for first, second, and third place, two "Chairmen's Trophies" will be given to the groups judged best in originality and spirit. The same group may not win both awards.

Following the competition, everyone is invited to a reception in the Campus Center Ballroom, beginning at approximately 10:30. The winning groups will give encore performances and Neil Brown's Band will entertain. Refreshments will be served.

About half of the participating groups in the Holiday Sing competition will be representing fraternities and sororities. Among others entered are various dormitory groups, the Jewish Student Coalition, Ukrainian students, and Sayles International Students.

Each group will sing one selection, on which it will be judged for interpretation and expression, dynamics, harmony, diction, and stage presence. Five semi-finalists then will be chosen to perform a second number, before the three places are awarded.

Judges for the competition will be Drew Hartzell and Marjory Fuller of the Department of Music; Sorrell Chesin, university affairs; Lois Gregg, student affairs; and Alice Corbin, student activities.

Co-chairmen for Holiday Sing are Jeanne Gramer and Gary Sussman.

Night Courses

Registration for evening courses offered through the College of General Studies will be held tonight and Dec. 12 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and Dec. 9 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at Draper Hall. Evening students may also register during regular office hours at the College of General Studies until Jan. 4.

More than 125 evening courses are planned for the spring semester which begins Jan. 15. Seventy-five evening courses were offered during the fall semester. Total enrollment for the fall semester was 921 students.

For further information on advisement and interview appointments, call the College of General Studies, 472-8493.

Proposed Bill To Revise Promotion System

Senate Bill -04 (Council on Promotions and Continuing Appointments) was on the agenda for the Nov. 6 meeting; however, due to the press of other business, the Senate was not able to consider the proposal. This bill will be brought before the governing body at its meeting today; no discussion or action has yet taken place.

Rationale

I. PREFACE

Criticisms of the present system of tenure and promotion are based on the arguments that colleagues of a candidate in his own department can better evaluate the quality of his work than can a council composed of people from different disciplines. A further argument is that the university has "matured" enough so that there no longer needs to be pressure on most of the departments to raise their standards. As a result of this criticism some want to abolish the Council on Promotions and Continuing Appointments. There are others who want to maintain the procedure as it now exists because departmental decisions are sometimes clouded by personal biases. Rather than commit ourselves to one of these positions or the other, we proposed to start from the position that there are several criteria to be considered and that a program can be developed which best satisfies these criteria.

There are several criteria to be considered when planning the promotion and tenure procedure: (1) the right of the candidate to have a fair hearing by his peers, due process, and appeal to a more broadly representative body; (2) the concern of the department for a program which satisfies professional standards of the discipline; (3) the need for a process which benefits the university by maintaining a high standard of selection; (4) the concern that the selection process not devalue good teaching; and (5) that students have some input.

These are the major criteria. There are several other aspects of the current situation which may have some bearing on our suggested plan. The Council on Promotions and Continuing Appointments is terribly overworked and their decisions could be more carefully made if the number of cases coming to them could be cut.

II. SUGGESTED RESPONSIBILITIES

A. Department:

1. Evaluate the individual's professional qualifications and competency.
2. Consider the individual's competency in relation to the needs of the department.
3. Obtain information as to the individual's competency from all students whom the individual teaches or advises.
4. If appropriate, secure the opinions of recognized authorities in the individual's field.
5. Make a recommendation as to promotion or continuing appointment, and through its chairman, forward the appropriate material to the dean.

B. School Committee:

1. Review departmental recommendations with respect to:
 - a. Application of criteria
 - b. Procedures used in obtaining information from faculty and students.
2. Return to the department for revision recommendations which the School Committee finds violate procedures.
3. In the event of a substantial disagreement within the department, review the material, allow the candidate to present his case if he so requests, and make recommendations to the council.

4. Forward recommendations to the council.

5. Recommend to the University Council promotion and tenure for those faculty who have responsibilities in more than one department of the school.

C. University Council:

1. To review recommendations from the schools and departments with respect to:

- a. Application of criteria
- b. Procedures used in obtaining information from faculty and students.

2. To return to the appropriate dean for revision recommendations which the University Council finds violates procedures.

3. To recommend to the President promotion and tenure for those faculty who have responsibilities in more than one school.

4. To devise procedures which ensure the effective involvement of faculty and students in the promotion and tenure process.

5. To devise procedures with respect to initiation and transmission of recommendations of promotion and tenure including such things as deadlines and determination of what constitutes a departmental recommendation.

Proposed Bill 197273-04

I. It is hereby proposed to modify the Senate implementation of the Faculty By-laws, Section III, Senate Councils, sub-section 9, Council on Promotions and Continuing Appointments, as follows:

Section 2.3 "Recommend to the President promotion in rank"

Delete the present sub-sections 2.31, 2.32, 2.33, and 2.34 and substitute:

2.31 Department and school recommendations shall be reviewed to see that proper procedures have been followed; to wit: recommendations shall be made by department chairmen in consultation with department members.

Recommendations shall be submitted through the deans of the schools, who shall add their recommendations.

Recommendations shall include information gathered from students.

2.32 Recommendations, positive and negative, with clear support of the department and the school shall be forwarded to the president.

2.33 Recommendations which reveal substantial disagreement within a department or between the department and the school shall be reviewed by the council and a recommendation made to the President.

2.34 Recommendations which are appealed by the individual shall be reviewed by the council and a recommendation made to the President.

Section 2.4 "Recommend to the President individuals for continuing appointment"

Delete the present sub-sections 2.41, 2.42, 2.43, and 2.44 and substitute:

2.41 Department and school recommendations shall be reviewed to see that proper procedures have been followed; to wit: recommendations shall be made by department chairmen in consultation with department members.

Recommendations shall be submitted through the deans of the schools, who shall add their recommendations.

Recommendations shall include information gathered from students.

2.42 Recommendations, positive or negative, with clear support of the department and the school shall be forwarded to the President.

2.43 Recommendations which reveal substantial disagreement within a department or between the department and the school shall be reviewed by the council and a recommendation made to the President.

2.44 Recommendations which are appealed by the individual shall be reviewed by the council and a recommendation made to the President.

II. This bill will take effect with the organizational meeting of the 1973-1974 University Senate.

Proposed Deletions

2.31 Recommendations for promotion in rank shall be made by department chairmen in consultation with appropriate department members;

2.32 Recommendations shall be submitted through the deans of the schools who shall add their recommendations;

2.33 The council may discuss individual promotions with the appropriate deans and/or department chairmen;

2.34 The council may take the initiative in recommending to the President persons for promotion;

2.41 Recommendations for continuing appointments shall be made by department chairmen in consultation with appropriate department members;

2.42 Recommendations shall be submitted through the deans of the schools who shall add their recommendations;

2.43 The council may discuss individual cases with appropriate deans and/or department chairmen;

2.44 The council may take the initiative in recommending to the President persons for continuing appointment.

Campus Plan Undertaken By Long Range Task Force

The Long Range Planning Task Force, an advisory group appointed last spring by President Benezet to prepare enrollment projections for the next five years, completed that task in mid-summer. It is now involved in preparing a local plan, in conjunction with the SUNY statewide master plan, that will reach beyond enrollment numbers to treat questions of program development and administrative policy. The task force has been asked to prepare a preliminary campus plan for the president and the Council on Educational Policy.

In an interim response last month, the task force noted certain distinctions between the new statewide plan and its 1968 predecessor. While agreeing that any master plan must be aimed at multiple goals—educational soundness, responsiveness to changing social needs and individual aspirations, financial feasibility, and administrative practicality—the task force suggested that this year's model reflects a more cautious and less expansive approach to institutional development.

"Programmatically, there is a heavier emphasis on undergraduate instruction, on regionalization, and on self-financed innovation," wrote the task force in a recent communication to the EPC. "Administratively, there is a pronounced concern for accountability and effective management of resources, including space; and there is a clear indication that historic tenure policies will soon come under close review. In sum, the plan suggests that we need to recognize locally a different world from 1968 and proceed to reconcile previous plans and objectives in that light."

On Nov. 9, detailed instructions were received on campus for preparation of the local response to the SUNY master plan. The were accompanied by a tight time schedule that requires a preliminary draft to be submitted to Central Staff by Jan. 5. Due to the specific nature of the instructions, and their adherence to the framework of the SUNY master plan, the task force anticipated a two-pronged approach to campus planning.

The first, as dictated by Central Staff instructions, will be aimed at providing a framework for local development that appropriately touches all bases of the statewide plan. The second, reflecting the processes by which campus activities are planned and implemented, will be directed at local issues of program priorities and administrative support.

"It is not enough to lay out a series of appealing new programs," observed Dwight Smith, Jr., chairman of the task force. "We must also develop mechanisms for allocating resources and decentralizing decision-making through which program development will appear as attractive an option as program continuity."

The task force now is developing a set of priority questions that can be considered by the EPC as the basis for a local plan. Other members of the task force are Sorrell Chesin, university affairs; Jay Goldman, undergraduate; John Hartigan, controller; Helen Horowitz, economics; Peter Idleman, general studies; Edward Jennings, president's office; Robert McFarland, graduate studies; Harry Walling, graduate student; and Roy Speckhard, public affairs.

Faculty Notes

NATHAN GOTTSCHALK, music, is conducting a series of concerts by the Pioneer Valley Symphony this season. YEHUDA HANANI and FINDLAY COCKRELL, will perform in two of the concerts.

RONALD LEY, educational psychology and statistics, presented a paper, "Meaningfulness and Conceptual Relationships Between 319 Verbal Units and Their Most Frequent Association Response," at the annual convention of the Eastern Psychological Association in Boston, Mass. He also presented a paper, "Associative Reaction Time in Language Acquisition," at the American Educational Research Association Convention in Chicago, Ill.

MARK MONMONIER, geography, read a paper entitled "A Comparison of Methods for Relating Two Sets of Variables" which he co-authored with FAY EVANKO, graduate student in geography, at the Northeast Regional Science Conference.

JOSEPH SZOVERFFY, comparative literature, has published a study in a recent issue of the Mittelalterliches Jahrbuch on recurrent features as embellishments in medieval Latin lyrics. His study on the penetration of courtly traditions into medieval Latin legends was published in a recent issue of the Zeitschrift fur Deutsche Philologie.

JAMES TEDESCHI, psychology, is co-author of an article entitled "A Paradigm for the Study of Coercive Power" which appears in the Journal of Conflict Resolution.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

TO ENABLE STUDENTS TO REGISTER MORE EASILY THE Office of the College of General Studies has moved to the downtown campus, Draper Hall, 135 Western Avenue. At the present time, however, no classes are scheduled for the downtown campus. Over 125 evening courses are planned for the spring semester which starts January 15. Evening students' registration will continue until January 9. Evening students will be allowed to register at special registration dates: December 4 and 12 - 6:30 - 8:30 pm and Saturday, December 9 - 9:00 am - 12:00 Noon. For further information on advisement and interview appointments call 472-8493, the College of General Studies.

Campus Clipboard is prepared by the Student Activities Office. Items to be included should be submitted in writing to CC 137 by the Tuesday preceding publication date.

For further information about items listed in the Clipboard, call 7-6923.

Cagers Face Utica Tonight; Home Win Streak on Line

The home basketball season opens tonight against one of six teams that beat Albany last year, Utica College. The Great Danes, who opened at Stony Brook Saturday, have a two-year, 19-game home court winning streak.

Senior center-forward Werner Kolln is recovering from a bout with mononucleosis, so coach Dick Sauers probably will start Bob Curtiss at center, with juniors Byron Miller and Reggie Smith at the forwards, and seniors John Quattrocchi and Bob Rossi at guard. Dave Welchons and Harry Johnson are the top reserves in the backcourt and frontcourt, respectively.

Utica, which blitzed the Danes last winter, 86-69, en route to a 13-7 season, has several returning veterans and highly-touted transfers. Key men to watch are guard Ricky Williams from Broome Community College, and holdovers Dave Owen and Marty Shiel. Shiel scored 21 points against Albany a year ago.

Cortland visits here Friday evening for the first SUNYAC game. Conference contests are crucial because the champion will receive an NCAA tournament bid. Albany can't afford a loss, with strong competition expected from Brockport and Potsdam for the title.

The varsity games start at 8:30 both nights, preceded by 6:30 JV contests against Mohawk Valley tonight and RPI on Friday.

Coach Joe Garcia's wrestlers also have a pair of home matches upcoming, as they will host Williams this Saturday. Both matches will start at 2 p.m.

Three-year captain Jeff Albrecht is one of a half dozen lettermen listed as probable entrants, along with some talented newcomers. Dick Moody, Larry Mims, Tom Horn, Doug Bauer, and Rudy Vido are the veterans; Walt Katz, Ethan Grossman, Ken Knickmeyer, Alan Cedarstrom, Jim Dickson, and Frank Villanova head the list of rookies.

Women Studied

The Ad Hoc Committee on Women's Studies, of which June E. Hahner is coordinator, has announced that four courses will be offered during the spring semester. Several are underway now in such diverse areas as women in modern literature, the rhetoric of the women's rights movement, and the history of women in the Americas.

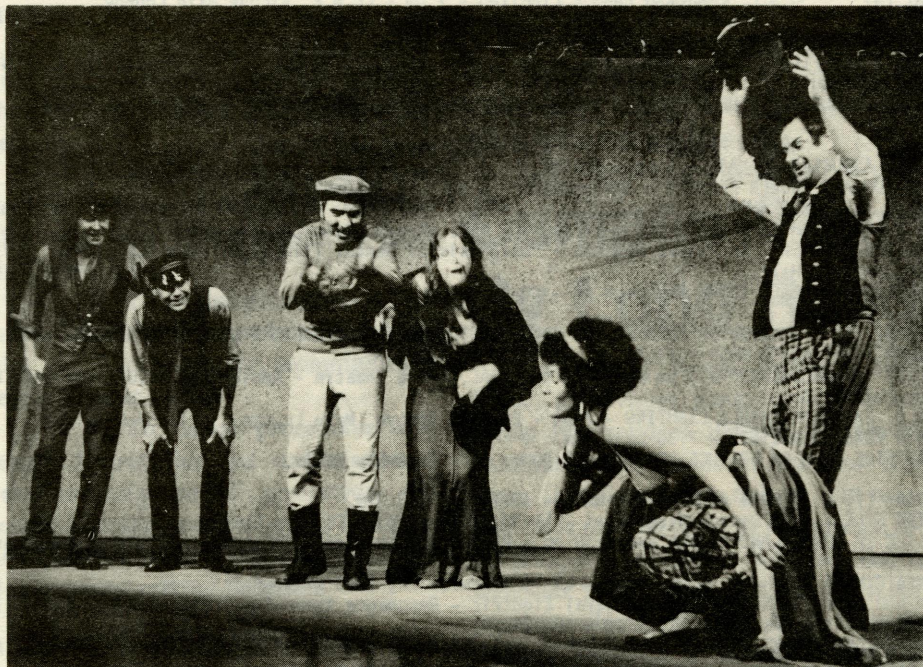

Spring three-credit courses will be Women in European History His 156, Mary Coyle; Women in Antiquity Clc 310, Sylvia Barnard; Contemporary French Women Authors Seminar Fre 333, Pauline Courchesne; and Women in Modern Literature Eng 313, Diva Daims and Lois Sklepowich. The latter course will be taught in two sections. Ms. Hahner has additional information about plans for women's studies.

Tower Tribune

Published weekly when classes are in session by the Community Relations Office as a service to the university community; carries news of campus-wide interest for and about students, faculty, and staff. Submit items in writing 10 days in advance to AD 235. Name and address must be included. All material is subject to editing. For further information call 7-4901. The "Tower Tribune" is printed on recycled paper stock.

The swimming team has no meets scheduled this week, but will return to action a week from Saturday against visiting Buffalo at 2 p.m.

Junior cross-country runner Jim Shrader won the Thanksgiving Day Turkey Trot in Troy. Albany grad Larry Frederick, now the JV harrier coach, was second. A few days later, Frederick won an AAU-sponsored 10,000-meter run, with Shrader taking third.

"WOYZECK", BY GEORG BUCHNER, one of the great dramas of the 19th Century, will be presented by the German ensemble, Die Brucke, next Monday afternoon at 3 in the Main Theatre of the Performing Arts Center under the sponsorship of the Goethe Institute of Munich and the co-sponsorship of the Department of German in conjunction with the International Student Association. The cast of well-known German actors comes to the campus fresh from successes in Asia, Australia, and New Zealand. Tickets at $1.50 for students and $2.50 otherwise are available at the PAC box office.

Nominations for SUPA/A Due

Nominations for offices in the State University Professional Association at Albany (SUPA/A) should be submitted by Friday to Stephanie L. Stroyen of the Nominations and Elections Committee in AD 332. Nominations other than self-nominations must be submitted in writing with a petition signed by at least 11 members.

As of mid-November, the paid membership totaled 69, of whom 18 were eligible for nomination for president by virtue of having served as an officer or director of the association. Any member may be nominated for other positions: vice-president, secretary, treasurer, or a member of the board of directors.

Membership in SUPA/A is open to all non-teaching professionals (NTP's) at the

Talk on Immigration

Francis P. Murphy, officer-in-charge of the Albany Immigration and Naturalization Service, will be on campus tomorrow, according to an announcement by Ruth Fordon, international student counselor.

Mr. Murphy will be in the CC Assembly Hall, beginning at 3 p.m., to discuss current immigration regulations. Members of the faculty from foreign countries and international students are especially invited to attend. Other interested persons also are invited.

Campus Exchange

WANTED: Substitute babysitter for work days. Call Mrs. L. Cheng, 434-4314 evenings or weekends. . . . Donation of fireplace tools, 10' x 12' or 12' x 14' rug, and usable couch to Chapel House. Call 489-8573 or 489-1561.

'Round the Campus

"Viewpoint 1973" is a publication in search of an editor-in-chief, an advertising manager, and a staff. An interest meeting will be held at 7 tonight in the Fireside Lounge. Aralyn Abare, at 7-7716, has additional information. . . An exhibition and sale of original graphic art by contemporary and old master artists will be conducted by the Ferdinand Roten Galleries at the Campus Center Thursday from 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. . . John Buckhoff, director of physical plant, reports that during a snow storm, or immediately afterward, persons stuck in the snow in a regular parking lot and requesting assistance will be aided by the motor pool without charge now that SUNYA has its own tow truck. The same approach will apply to persons stuck in other locations who have approved permits for the area. All others will be referred to private garages. The number to call is 7-8300. . .
