UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY NAMES DOUG O'BREY AS BASEBALL HEAD COACH

ALBANY, N.Y. -- Doug O'Brey, formerly an assistant baseball coach at Siena College, has been selected as the head baseball coach at the University at Albany, as Director of Athletics Dr. Milton E. Richards announced today.

O'Brey, who has coached baseball on the scholastic, collegiate and semi-professional levels, was recently an assistant coach at Albany (N.Y.) High School. He has also been a baseball assistant at Guilderland and Scotia-Glenville high schools.

From 1987-90, O'Brey served as both an assistant varsity coach and head junior varsity coach at Siena College, where he worked for veteran mentor Tony Rossi. A player/manager for six seasons in the Albany Twilight League, he guided his semi-professional teams to three championships, and was the league's batting champion with a .463 average in 1984.

A native of Scotia, N.Y., O'Brey was an all-Carolinas Conference player at Pfeiffer College, an NAIA school in North Carolina. He batted over .400 in his career, and was among the nation's leaders in doubles with 35 as a senior. Positioned at first base, outfielder, and as a pitcher, O'Brey attended nearby Hudson Valley Community College in the early 1980s, and was a junior college all-star.

As a scholastic athlete, O'Brey competed for four years in football, basketball and baseball at Scotia-Glenville High School. A three-year starter in baseball, he was twice chosen to the Suburban Council All-Star Team. He was a regular at quarterback and punter on the football squad.

O'Brey, 33, received a B.S. in physical education from Pfeiffer College in 1983, after earning an associate's degree from Hudson Valley Community College in recreation education. He gained a master's degree in health education in 1992 from Russell Sage College.

A physical education teacher in the Albany (N.Y.) City School District, O'Brey has worked at Arbor Hill Elementary School for the last nine years. He and his wife, Kerstin, reside in Glenville with their 16-month-old daughter, Domenica.

Albany baseball, coached by Ed Zaloom to a 124-117-2 record the last 10 years, will play at the NCAA Division II level, beginning with the 1995-96 academic year, and compete in the New England Collegiate Conference (NECC).

Capital District Women's Basketball Tournament
Championship, Albany 67, Skidmore 47
Consolation, Rensselaer 73, Union 60

ALBANY, N.Y. -- Sophomore guard Samantha Ginsberg scored 11 of her 13 points in the first half, as Albany defeated Skidmore, 67-47, in the championship game of the 16th annual Capital District Basketball Tournament on Sunday afternoon at the Recreation & Convocation Center (RACC).

Albany, which won its first Capital District title since 1991 and tenth overall, broke an early 10-10 tie with five straight points, and never looked back. Ginsberg, the tournament's MVP, nailed an 18-foot jumper to break the early deadlock.

Still leading 24-14 later in the period, the Great Danes reeled off 16 of the game's next 19 points. Ginsberg scored seven points in that stretch, and buried a three-pointer from the right corner to give her club a 40-17 halftime cushion.

"In the last three minutes of the half, we saw it was still close," said Ginsberg, who canned 6-of-12 field goals and added six assists. "We are a fast team, and used the uptempo style to break it open."

Albany, which shot 52 percent from the froot in the opening half, got 12 points from freshman Sheila McCaughin (Bethlehem H.S.) while center Erica Witham (Guilderland H.S.) had 10 points and seven rebounds in a balanced effort.

Skidmore, the Capital District champion in 1992 and 1993, was led by Tina Allen, who had 12 points and a game-high 13 rebounds.

In the consolation, Rensselaer upended Union, 73-60, as Nancy Kelly scored 16 points, and Sandy Hayn grabbed 15 rebounds. Andrea Pagnozzi totaled 17 points and 17 rebounds for Union, which was held to 29 percent shooting.

As part of the group's agenda, the IAB will begin a review of Albany's intercollegiate athletics program in an effort to determine how best to become gender equitable within the current fiscal environment. The IAB is expected to forward its recommendation(s) to President H. Patrick Swygert and the Executive Cabinet by December 31, 1994. A final decision will be made early in the Spring 1995 semester.

As provided by the State University of New York and the National Collegiate Athletics Association (NCAA), the IAB is the official campus intercollegiate athletic advisory body to the President, and acts under the Policies of the Board of Trustees while reporting to the President.
