EIGHTH GRADE HOMEROOMS PLAN SEVERAL ACTIVITIES

Homeroom 130 is planning to go to Washington Park for lunch today. They will be in the park from 11 to 12 o'clock when they will return to school.

Homeroom 228 has decided to start a bank account with their homeroom dues.

Homeroom 129 will present a play entitled "The Toy Shop" in assembly June 4.

EDITORS RECEIVE HONOR

Virginia Tripp and Elizabeth Simmons have been appointed advertising managers for the Crimson and White Magazine next year. They secured the largest amount of advertising for this year's Crimson and White year book.

MILNE GIRLS DEFEATED 28-8 IN BASEBALL GAME

The Milne High girls' varisty baseball team played the team from Mount Pleasant last Tuesday at Mount Pleasant. Three junior high girls, Frances Seymour, Lois Nesbitt, and Patricia Gibson, played on the Milne team. Our team was defeated with a score of 28-8. Refreshments were served.

NINTH GRADE HOMEROOMS TO HAVE PICNIC OUTINGS

Homeroom 135 is planning an outing at the home of Mary and Damia Winshurst at Hampton Manor on Thursday, June 6.

Edith Stephens is chairman of the food committee, Ed Walker of the games, and Elizabeth Simmons and Virginia Tripp of the entertainment. Helpers for the chairmen will be chosen from the other two ninth grade homerooms who have been invited to the picnic.

A few junior high boys have been going to senior high baseball practice, and three have made the team. They are John Hawkins, Erastus Davis, and Arnold Rosenstein. Some of the boys have been playing golf while others have been practicing tennis.

LAST MINUTE NOTES

This is the final issue of the weekly Crimson and White. If its object has been attained it has pleased the readers. The year book will be distributed before the close of school.

The last club meeting of the year was held last Wednesday. Most of the clubs had parties.

A joint assembly will be held on June 6 at 1:00 o'clock.

Classes will end June 14. The final examinations will be held according to the schedule on this page. If any conflicts occur see the critics immediately about them. If all exams are not printed they may be found on the senior high bulletin board.

Class Night will be June 14, and graduation will be held in the Page Hall auditorium on June 24.

AN UNAPPRECIATED ART

Recently a very good exhibition of musical talent was displayed in one of the junior high assemblies in this school. It was very well prepared and presented under very capable leadership. This assembly, one of the best presented this year, is a good example of the talent which can be discovered through proper training and leadership. Of course, this requires the co-operation of the pupil. It also requires the desire for such work. Such a desire for musical work seems to be noticeably lacking in this school. The pupils do not show the slightest interest in this type of entertainment.

Even though it is not the practice of most Milne students to show that they like any form or display of musical talent, the greater share of them seemed to enjoy this assembly as much as if it were the usual play. The seventh grade group responsible for this fine production certainly deserve unstinted credit. No less should be given to their fine leader.

After this program some of the students should be inspired enough to inquire as to the foundation of this work. The results of real work were evident. It is a fact that more music in this school would be a much added interest.

The other schools of Albany all have orchestras. Their main pride is in their show of musical ability. This could also be true in this school if an active interest were displayed. Each year a very capable leader has been found to help an orchestra. No fitting response has been made to the attempts for any musical things so far.

The singing in our assemblies is disgraceful. The students do not seem to realize the value of music. When asked to sing they make all forms of noises and disturbances.

It is advisable and very profitable to uphold the attempts for the promotion of music in this school. Take the assembly presented by the seventh graders and follow up the example given with more assemblies like it.

EVENTS AND ADVICE

Did you innocent Junior High students know that the big event of the year was about to happen? It's a true fact that the final exams are coming and that means really hard work (which is something we are not too well acquainted with).

The alert people of this industrious high school have noticed a decided change in the manner of the students concerning their studies. Either it is their desire to get good marks in the final exams or the threats made by proud parents were too exasperating to overlook. Anyway, the students of this school are turning a new leaf at the last minute and "cramming" for the final exams.

Another thing of importance this week is the annual Milne excursion. It will take place tomorrow. It is advisable to be at the boat landing at a safe time before the boat leaves for its destination, which is Kingston Point. The main advice concerning this trip is to behave and uphold the honor of our school.

As a parting remark, it is really expected that girls dressed in evening apparel should be dignified, at the Junior High parties. (Especially the eighth grade girls.)

CHARACTER SKETCH

After much careful consideration, I have finally chosen a seventh grader for my victim because ninth graders have been the subject of my puzzles for the past few weeks.

He or she has light brown curly hair and is a very accomplished dancer and musician. The person's homeroom is on the second floor.

The correct answer to last week's character sketch is Edward Walker.

BOOMERANG

Mother: If you are naughty, your children are sure to be naughty, too.

Mildred: Oh, mother, you gave yourself away that time!
