Student Discloses Greek Temple Hideaway Of Women Bookies

By ART PLOTNIK

I don't know whether it was my undying thirst for knowledge, a wicked assignment, or a lost weekend that brought me to the State Library, but there I was. As I gazed like a country hick at the inspiring stairway and the 36 Greek pillars, I never realized that the future was dark and ominous. Accordingly, I threw a snowball at a bronze horseman and promenade through a swinging door.

I saw no books upon entering, and became panicky and frustrated. As all freshmen know, frustration brings about motivation, and so I motivated up the nearest palatial stairway. I spent about a half hour in the next room I found, fascinated by the multitude of shelves, with reading material neatly put away in drawers. I would have left in a cold sweat upon realizing that this was the card catalogue, but I was wearing taps, and a thousand ears were watching my every move with malice. I asked for the proprietor, and was led to a book-shaped woman.

"All right, where's the books?" She threw me a frown that paralyzed my left side, and pointed to a pile of cards. I read them, and angrily told her that her books were too short, repetitious, and had miserable plots. She showed her fangs, and growled something about request cards. I staggered back to them.

By this time I had figured out the racket. I filled out the cards and dealt them to her . . . five-card draw with deuces wild. She picked up her hand and went to a back room, after sending me to a tavern-like table. I was about to ask for a menu, when she returned with, of all things, a book.

I thumbed through it, and since it was neither Mickey Spillane nor science-fiction, I quit the scene without leaving a tip.

I swung through the spherical doorway, threw a snowball at a bronze horseman, and went home.

From The Editor's Desk:

Tried--& Found Wanting Help Yourself . . .

With only one week left in which we will be able to express our opinion in this corner, we would like to review this past semester as far as government is concerned.

This has been a very controversial, greatly-debated point for many years and this was the first time the non-traditionalists have had a chance to experience their long-sought-after goal.

Those who have been crusading for it have either been people too lazy to come to an Assembly, take an interest in student government and the way their money is spent, and assume some of the responsibility that is theirs as members of Student Association; or those people who are power-hungry and wish the power to be concentrated in the hands of a few, namely themselves.

Since the legislature has taken over and approximately eighty people are in complete control, student interest and activity in government has decreased and apathy has grown by leaps and bounds.

How many times have you upperclassmen wished you could have your vote back or the right to make and amend motions?

This past semester should be enough to convince the "doubting Thomases" of the superiority of the Assembly and cause the supporters of Assemblies to become even more firmly entrenched in their convictions.

defeat it! Don't throw your vote away again!!

In his speech to the legislature recently, Governor Harriman named as two mainstays of his program aid to youth and education. The Governor advocated a raise in teachers' salaries which would raise the current minimum in New York State from $2700 to $3500.

The Ford foundation recently brought the problem to the national scene by sending out inquiries to various colleges. One of the big questions asked concerned faculty salaries.

The other day a remark was made by a high school teacher which was passed on to us. He suggested that the students at State form a lobby and petition the State legislature.

A suggestion for fare at a class banquet . . .

"Tis a tale told by an idiot, Full of sound and fury, signifying nothing." ALL MEANS EVERY-ONE The All College Revue is perking along, but with rather faint-hearted publicity as far as tryouts go.

PIPE DREAM History was made over Christmas vacation in the celebrated, sinning City of New York! One member of our distinguished faculty spent a gay time tripping over some fantastic footlights at the season's hit musical, "Damn Yankees."

WELL (?) Beware the snake pit before Draper Hall. Are they transferring the Washington Monument or burying Minerva? Hints from Student Council indicate that we are exchanging students with China, and are saving on carfare.

TUCKER TO TOOT TONIGHT Excite prospects will be given to all hardy pioneers who manage to find their way to the Shaker Ridge Country Club tonight.

TIME CAPSULE We'd like once again, and for the last time, to speak our piece on the college camp issue.

TENDER TRAP Talk to me Harry Winston! Whisper sweet Tiffanies in my ear. The dim corridors of State are aglow with the glittering rays from new diamonds.

To Catch A Thief No one knew it was missing until little signs began popping up all over school asking "Did you steal it?"

Dean Elaborates On Current Freshman Class; Dispels Rumors

By OSCAR E. LANFORD, Dean of the College What is wrong with the Freshman Class? This question, phrased not so bluntly, has been raised in my presence several times this fall by upperclassmen.

How do you, the State College student of today, stack up with your contemporaries in other American colleges? In terms of all the facts and figures available, you compare very favorably.

As a matter of fact, complaints about the present freshman class have come, not from the faculty, but from the upperclassmen. From what I have heard, comments about the present freshman class seem to center around the fact that they have shown a tendency to establish themselves on a firm academic basis before going overboard on extra-curricular affairs.

Incidentally, the last time State College participated in this National Testing Program was in 1954.

Varied Opportunities Available Students Vote Absentee Ballot Dean Elaborates To January, June State Graduates On Warrensburg Camp Issue On Current Freshman Class

Over the vacation we received much correspondence concerning job opportunities for prospective graduates. These careers correspond to a great many majors or minors being pursued at State.

For mathematics majors the career of insurance actuary is pointed up. An actuary is a person who calculates the probabilities of loss on insurance and what insurance companies should charge for assuming certain risks. They also collect and analyze data for the company, and attempt to determine means of reducing losses in the company. A knowledge of business methods would also be extremely helpful. Most actuaries are employed directly by insurance companies, but others find work with rating bureaus. Persons interested in obtaining information regarding this career should write to Casualty Actuarial Society, 200 Fourth Avenue, New York 3, N. Y.

For the biology major, a civil service examination for Medical Biology Technician has been announced. Most of the positions to be filled are in various Federal agencies in Washington D.C., and vicinity. No written test will be given. The basic requirement for qualification is appropriate technical experience in the field of biology. Some of the specialized fields include animal anatomy, bacteriology, cytology, physiology and hematology. The pay ranges from $2,960 to $4,525. Full details may be obtained from the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C.

Thursday and Friday, January 12 and 13, all members of Student Association will vote on the school camp issue. The ballot will read: "I move that $10,000 be appropriated from surplus for the purchase of the Warrensburg Camp." There will be a place to check Yes or No. The ballot will continue: "If no, check one: I do not want a camp, I do not want the Warrensburg Camp, other reason ....."

The following information on the three camps investigated by Student Association has been compiled by Bruce Kling '56, Chairman of the Surplus Committee:

The first site is near Warrensburg, approximately 80 miles from Albany, and is priced at $10,000. The 700 acre site features one small beaver pond, the size of which is about one-half mile by three-eighths of a mile. A natural horse-shoe shaped ridge surrounds the pond, with the open end facing the Hudson River. At present there is one building on the land, a farm building. The structure could provide temporary shelter for small groups until other buildings are constructed. A definite advantage is that the lake is entirely within the proposed property lines, which would give the college exclusive rights to the body of water. This proposed site is accessible to winter sports regions.

The second available site is 65 miles from Albany, in the region northwest of Gloversville. The quoted price is $4,000 for approximately 1,000 acres of land. There are three lakes partially included in the wooded area. One cabin and one barn are the only structures on the site. The chief body of water, Irving Pond, has several other owners on its shore front. The water level of the large lake fluctuates at times from 10 to 15 feet because of the operation of a power dam on the southwest end of the lake. The only road leading to the property is on another tract of land. To reach the proposed site, one must either go around the entire lake, go by boat, or travel through a pathless brush area. The two buildings now standing could provide temporary shelter for the small groups.

Statesmen Form Swimming Club

The State College Swimming Club is in its formative stages, announces Merlin W. Hathaway, Director of Physical Education. At the first meeting, attended by 15 people, a discussion was held on the selection of a organization committee. The following comprise that committee: George Plummer, Chairman, Brenda Buchanan, freshmen; John McAuley '58. The advantages and disadvantages of the ten available pools in the area were also discussed. The announcement was also made that the Red Cross will assist financially and provide an instructor.

For ladies with superior eye appeal, there is a wide career in broadcasting and television. The National Academy of Broadcasting offers courses in Announcing, Drama, Journalism, Dictation and Programing. Some of the notable personalities trained at this school include Estes Kefauver and Margaret Chase Smith. For information regarding a career of this sort write to Miss Alice Keith, President, the National Academy of Broadcasting, 338-16th St. Northwest, Washington 10, D.C.

Weekend Features APA Jazz Concert

Livingston Smith '56, president of Kappa Beta announces that there will be informal initiations at the house tonight at 10:30 p.m. Sunday there is a formal initiation at the house at 3 p.m. January 13 is the date for their first semester rush party to be held at Brubacher from 9 to 12 p.m. The theme of the party is superstitions.

Edward Eldred Potter club announces that John McAuley has been elected to Inter-fraternity Council, according to James Sweet '56, President.

Alpha Pi Alpha will sponsor a jazz concert on Sunday at their house at 765 Madison Avenue from 2 to 5 p.m. The committee for the concert consists of Joseph McDowell '56, chairman and Brian Mortenson, Thomas Hoppey and Joseph Curley, Juniors.

These facts and others all attest to the quality of our student body as a whole. They also suggest that there has been no lowering of standards for admissions, even though in September, 1955, the College enrolled almost twice as many freshmen as it did ten years ago. As to whether or not these entrance standards are maintained, or raised, in future years depends to a great extent upon the interest you take in your college after you graduate.

The group will offer instruction in competitive, synchronized, recreational, and instructional swimming. A course in life saving is also planned.

The second meeting of the infant organization is scheduled for Wednesday, January 11, at 7:30 p.m. at Brubacher. All interested students are urged to attend.

On Thursday, December 15, B.V. (before vacation) the matmen extended their undefeated season by handing their arch rivals, the engineers of R.P.I., a 22-17 setback at Page gym. The Statesmen who secure victory hungry went into this match and displayed some wonderful talent as well as fine team spirit and optimism are beginning to predict an undefeated season for the grapplers.

Wayne Harvey, Dave Goldberg, and Ozzie Leahy all extended their undefeated season by pinning their opponents. Also winning his match was Burt Rounds who returned to the winning ways while Don Birtum was held to a draw in his match. Fanned by their opponents were Statesmen Ed Weaver, and Bill Gropp. Ronnie Novak, wrestling in place of the injured Bob Bosomworth, was also defeated.

During the Christmas vacation Wayne Harvey traveled to Wilkes College, located in Wilkes-Barre, Penn., where he participated in the Open Wrestling Championships. Wayne, using his own funds, wrestled against boys from schools like Michigan State, M.I.T., and Phi. He won his first two matches by scores of 5-0 and 8-0, but being very fatigued, was defeated in his third.

A Peek Through The Hoop

If the State College varsity received anything for Christmas, we hope it was an inspiration for victory. At this point in the season, the Peds have a record of 2-3. However with this record, the Sauersmen have outscored their opponents by 82 points and have lost two games by one point each. Everything is in their favor for victory, outside of the fact that they have been hit by the loss of their star playmaker, Denny Dempster. They have averaged 64.4 points a game, while their foes have

Sauersmen Lose To Hartwick, Oneonta After Downing Harpur

Before leaving for vacation, the Harpur varsity basketball squad went on the road for three games, and came back with a mediocre showing of one win and two defeats. On December 8, the Peds travelled to Hartwick college and lost by four points 55-51. The next night at Utica College in the Page gym, but due to the Wednesday night deadline, it was impossible to write up the game for this issue.) Tomorrow night the New Haven Teachers come to Albany to take on the Peds. Game time is set for 8:15 after the 7:00 preliminary.

In the Hartwick game, State held a 24-20 half time edge but faltered in the second half and lost 55-51. Hartwick was in excellent shape for the game and they proved it by having three men hit double figures. Gary Holway starred again for State by garnishing a total of 20 points, Sig Smith hit for 15 points, but State's defeat came from the floor as they were outscored 38-30 on field goals.

CAPTAIN of this year's squad and second leading scorer is Sig Smith, pictured above. Sig, a consistent scorer, is well in reach of States high scoring record. He is averaging 14 points per game this year.

State Grapplers Defeat Brooklyn, Down RPI 22-17

On December 9, of the anno just completed the State College wrestling team defeated a brawny Brooklyn Tech aggregation by a score of 28-13. The Grapplers were paced by Dave Goldberg, Ed Weaver, Ozzie Leahy, Bill Gropp and Wayne Harvey who all pinned their opponents. Also victorious was Don Birtum who defeated his opponent by points.

SLS made their debut with a 54-23 drubbing of KB.

The Seinops continued to pace the State League with their second and third wins. Vanderzee Hall went down in defeat as the Seinops capped their second win 49-29.

Chinese Nationalist Veto Weakens Their Position In Security Council

By DOMINIC DECECCO

The Nation... A recent editorial in the Journal American reveals that inside sources predict that Eisenhower will run in 1956. We still stick to our guns and say he will decline the nomination. Republicans of course cannot start politicking until Ike makes his decision. Democrats are confident of winning majorities in both houses of Congress because they have fewer seats in contest in the Senate (15 with 7 in the Solid South) and can lose some seats in the House and still retain control. Adlai Stevenson has started his band wagon rolling and seems to be leaving the other Democratic hopefuls far behind. Harriman is finding it quite hard to convince other Democrats about his qualifications. Kefauver got off to a slow start and is still lagging to lack of financial support. Considerable mention has been given to Ohio's Governor Frank Lausche as a possible dark horse candidate.

Communism... For all those interested in Communism in the United States, the U. S. News and World Report has an excellent article entitled "A Handbook for Americans, How to Detect the Activities of the Communists in the U. S." The article is taken from a report issued by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on "The Communist Party of the United States of America." The article is well written and very revealing. Should be a must for all students.

The World... We were very much relieved to find that the United Nations had not lost some of its sense of universality when they admitted 16 new members to up the total membership from 60 to 76. Considerable opposition was given by the U.S.S.R. and Nationalist China. China vetoed the bill because it objected to the admittance of Outer Mongolia and then Russia pro-

Carlson Speaks On Education

Speaking at the recent Conference on Higher Education in New York State at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, on December 9, President William S. Carlson of the State University of New York said that New York State's support of higher education lags.

"Any analysis" he explained, "makes clear that New York is well below the national average in its support of higher education in proportion to per capita income of its people."

As a by-product, President Carlson said, 10,000 more undergraduates leave New York each year than come in to attend public colleges. He warned that pressure of growing population would force many of the out-of-state schools to turn away New Yorkers, thus increasing the burden in the State.

President Carlson reported that Education Department estimates indicate that by 1970 the number of high school graduates in the state would rise from the present 116,000 a year to 230,000.

Forum Sponsors Legislative Study

Charles McHarg '56, Chairman announces that Forum of Politics is sponsoring a Legislative Seminar for the students of State College on Monday at 4 p.m. at Brubacher Hall in the Government Room conducted by Mr. William O'Reilly, legislative assistant to the New York State Senate. O'Reilly will speak on the operation of the Legislature, followed by a discussion period. In the evening there will be a reserve gallery in the Assembly chamber for thirty students so that there may be first-hand study.

Every student is urged to consult the Forum bulletin board in lower Draper for further details and to sign up for this excellent chance to study your government in action.

Poring Over The Exchange

By ANN RIDLEY

A Kansas State College student did a little digging and came up with these Shakespearean comments on college life:

Studying in the library: "More lights, you knaves; and turn the tables up, and quench the fire, the room is grown too hot." Romeo and Juliet.

Cramming at 7 a.m.: "It is not for your health thus to commit your weak condition to the raw cold morning." Julius Caesar.

Fountain pen leaked: "Out damned spot! Out, I say!" Macbeth.

Also from the Indiana Penn is the following: "Girls are like newspapers: They have forms, they always have the last word, back numbers are not in demand, they have great influence, you can't believe everything they say, they're thinner than they used to be, they get along by advertising, and every man should have his own and not try to borrow his neighbors." A few definitions found in the Daily Californian and reprinted in the Reflector of New Jersey State Teachers College are:

Cramming—The desperate hours. Cut—Being where your class isn't when it is. Finals—Hell week at the wrong end of the semester.

Some advice for those with a heavy foot on the gas pedal from the Xavier University News.

"Sing While You Drive" At 45 miles per hour, sing: "Highways are happy ways."

At 55 miles per hour, sing: "I'm but a stranger here."

At 65 miles per hour, sing: "Nearer my God, to Thee."

At 75 miles per hour, sing: "When the roll is called up wonder, I'll be there."

At 85 miles per hour, sing: "Lord, I'm coming home."

A Kansas State professor summarizes the difference between a college student and a high school student in this way:

"When you walk into a high school class and say 'good morning,' the students reply 'good morning.' But when you walk into a college class and say 'Good morning,' the students write it down.

Hurley Speaks For NAACP

Students and faculty members have been invited by the Albany chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to hear a lecture by Mrs. Ruby Hurley on Sunday at 3 p.m. in Friendship House of the First Lutheran Church, 181 Western Avenue. Mrs. Hurley is Southeast Regional Director of the NAACP, with headquarters in Birmingham, Alabama. Admission is free.

The speaker will report on the successful integration of schools in her hometown of Washington, D. C. When Emmett Till was murdered in Mississippi last summer, Ruby Hurley was sent by the National Office to investigate the facts of the case. When the White Citizens' Councils organized to prevent the integration of schools and to intimidate Negroes through mob violence and economic pressure, Mrs. Hurley was sent to give advice and to mobilize support for the NAACP branches under attack.

To The New Chiefs...

As I leave my desk, having edited the 40th volume of the State College News, and turn my "editorial ruler" over to you, the Co-Editor of the 41st volume, I relinquish one of the most satisfying, yet at the same time, terrifying jobs in the extra-curricular field. It is a job full of responsibilities to the students, the administration, the traditions of the News and to yourselves.

As the only organized means of communication on campus the News is dedicated to conveying the truth to the students, no matter how it hurts. It is numbered in the minority among college newspapers in this country in that it is solely a student-organized, student-edited, student-censored newspaper. Always be proud of this and never dishonor it in any way.

You will find many new friends and many more enemies; you will be pressured by groups and individuals trying to gain their own ends without consideration of Student Association; you will think, sometimes, that you have reached the darkest depths and will never arise again. At times you may think it's not worth the time, energy, worry, tears, and sacrifice that go into it, but looking back on your 26 issues you won't regret one minute of it and will wish it was just beginning again.

In 40 years the News has never violated one tradition which stands far above the rest—"The News always comes out on Friday" and as long as there are students like the ones on the staff this past year, this tradition never will be violated.

For standing by me this past year and giving me advice and encouragement, I owe many thanks to the News Board; secondly, for their criticism, understanding and commendation I thank the Administration; thirdly, I am grateful to the printers and publishers of the Hudson Register-Star for their patience and cooperation in our efforts to meet the deadline; and fourthly, my heart-felt thanks to my staff who have been wonderful and have never let me down.

Something I shall never forget is that wonderful feeling you get when the paper comes off the press and you can point with pride and say—"I helped to produce that." I sincerely hope, Marcia and Tom, that you have as nice a year as I have had.

College Explains Exam Schedule

Because of college beginning a week later than usual last September, it has been necessary to continue the January examination period to one week, and to end classes Thursday, January 19, at 12 noon. Examinations will begin Friday, January 20, and continue up to and including Saturday, January 28. As a result of this shortened exam period, it has been necessary to reduce all exams to two hours, including exams for three hour courses. In order to arrange all the examinations in the time period on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, there are three exam groups, while on the other days there are only two.

In order to begin school by the middle of September every year, it is necessary, once every six years, to move the starting of college up a week and this happened to be the year.

Instead of starting examinations for second semester on May 31, as is stated in the College Handbook, exams will begin Monday, May 28, allowing nine days for exams at that time.

The examination schedule for this semester is printed on page four of this issue.
