THIRTY-FIRST TERM.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2,

1860.

Order of Exercises.

1. PSALM—"Lift up your heads, eternal gates."

2. PRAYER.

3. ESSAY—"The Present, the Time for Action."

HENRY AYER, Ellisburgh, Jefferson.

4. ESSAY—"The Teachings of Decay."

ESTHER L. BYRNE, Lewiston, Niagara.

5. ESSAY—"The Theoretical and the Practical."

MARY E. SMITH, Ballston, Saratoga.

6. HUNTER'S CHORUS—"We roam through the Forest."

Von Weber.

We roam through the forest and over the mountain,
No joys of the court or the banquet like this;
And then sunset glowing by some leafy fountain,
To crown our red goblets with young beauties' kiss.
Then end our bright ev'ning with dance and with singing,
Till night spreads her mantle o'er vale and o'er wood;
Thro' rock and thro' forest, our horns gaily ringing,
Farewell to the day-star that sets in the flood.
La, la, la, &c.

Then should icy winter be hailing and snowing,
Or summer look red o'er the yellow-haired corn,
Or breezes be blowing, or night winds be flowing,
Still ring thro' the forest the hunter's gay horn.
Then end our bright ev'ning, &c.

7. ESSAY—"Life's Mission to the Erring."

ESTHER E. ATKINS, Esopus, Ulster.

8. ESSAY—"Nature, an Educator of the Taste."

JARED H. TERRY, Upper Aquebogue, Suffolk.

9. GLEE—"To Fishermen." - - - - - H. R. Bishop.

Tho' oft when stillness calms the sullen deep,
When winds are hushed, and murmur'ing billows sleep,
Ye rove forlorn upon the silent shore,
Or ply in dull despair the lab'ring oar:
Ye all live so happy together,
In spite of the chances of weather,
With your messmates, your sweethearts, your children and wives,
That no lives are so happy as Fisherman's lives.

10. DIPLOMAS CONFERRED.

11. TEACHER'S SONG.

Words by Prof. F. S. JEWELL.

The plowman drives his shining share,
Athwart the mellow lea;
And turns the furrows broad and fair,
As waves upon the sea:
But in the mind and heart and will,
'Tis our's a nobler soil to till,—
Ho! ho!
A nobler soil to till!

The sower with a lavish hand,
Flings forth the gleaming grain;
And all along the eager land,
It falls like streaming rain:
But truths that gleam and thoughts that glow,
A brighter seed we sow,—we sow,—
Ho! ho!
A brighter seed we sow!

The reaper thrusts his beaming blade,
Into the bending corn;
And fair the yellow sheaves are laid,
Like golden clouds at morn:
But we in joy, and praise, and love,
A richer harvest, reap above,—
Ho! ho!
A richer, reap above.

17. GRADUATES' SONG—"Toil on!"

Words by Prof. F. S. JEWELL.

Toil on, toil on!

Thou friend and guide of youth;
 Touch thou the heart, and rouse its slumb'ring might,
 Lead on each soul to glory's radiant height,
 On to the crown of wisdom and of truth;
 Toil on, toil on!

Toil on, toil on!

With heart as spring-time bright;
 Work such as thine might angel-hands employ,
 Work bless'd as thine e'en angel-hearts enjoy,
 Be then thy lot thy glory and delight;
 Toil on, toil on!

Toil on, toil on!

In hope serene as even;
 O'er the fair field, shall wave the golden grain,
 Thy garner, greet the heavy harvest wain,
 Thy soul, foretaste the bless'd reward of heaven
 Toil on, toil on!

Toil on, toil on!

Be faithful to the last;
 Soon will the noon, with twilight shadows blend,
 Soon o'er the day, night's raven pall descend,
 And earthly toil, with mortal life be past;
 Toil on, toil on!

We can not bring them back,—
Those glad, those glorious days and years,
Along their olden track:
And thus they perish, one by one,
Our joys, how fleet they go!
Like the days when we went gipsying,
A long time ago.

"Let the dew-drops do our weeping,
Let the light winds breathe our sighs;
We've enough to do in reaping
All the joy that round us lies:
Moments sweetly gliding fleetly,
Form no hour for grief to waste:
Swift advancing, coyly glancing,
Love and Joy by Time are chased."

Feb. 2, 1866.

The Committee met at the call of the Chairman,

Present,

The Superintendent Mr. Van Dyck,

Mr. Townsend,

Mr. Woolworth, The minutes of the last

Mr. Pugh, meeting were read & approved.

Mr. Pugh and the Principal Prof. Cochran were appointed a committee to enquire into the propriety of purchasing the Study Room of the Normal School, with authority to have it done at an expense not exceeding Two Hundred and fifty dollars.

Prof. Cochran stated that during the winter of 1860 Miss Cora Butts a pupil from Westchester County had for some two months been very sick ^{of small pox} at the house of Mr. R. M. Newton that his family had been obliged to leave their house, that he had been subjected to great inconvenience and large expense - that the father of Miss Butts is poor, and utterly unable to pay a proper compensation to Mr. Newton. The physician of Miss Butts was Dr. Charles Devoe. He devoted himself with great faithfulness to the case, and in addition to the time spent, suffered much in his practice. After full consideration of the case it was resolved that One Hundred dollars be appropriated as a partial compensation to Mr. Newton and Dr. Devoe, to be divided between them in such sums as the Principal and Treasurer shall deem just.

The Principal and Treasurer were authorized to expend Two Hundred dollars in the purchase of such articles of Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus as they may deem desirable for more fully illustrating those subjects.

The Committee then adjourned.
