Individualism

To most of us, individualism implies a quality of possessing a separate and independent character. People who possess this trait will think and act according to their own convictions, regardless of outside dictates.

Throughout our six years at Milne, we have been treated as mature, responsible individuals. Given the freedom to explore life along our own paths, we have slowly developed ourselves as students able to enter the adult world, without many of the qualms identified with "growing up." The Milne attitude has enabled each of us to become a unique person, with a strong feeling of individualism.

Dedication

You have guided many of us in achieving our sense of individuality. As a senior homeroom supervisor, you have met us on terms other than those of a teacher-student relationship. We constantly came to you when we were in need of advice or assistance in attaining some goal, such as senior privileges. Whether we found you working in a lab, or running down the field with a football tucked under your arm, we always knew that your attitude would be one of friendliness and true concern. For these reasons and many more, we, the Class of 1968, dedicate this year's Bricks and Ivy to you . . . Mr. Joseph Kelly.

The first week of school was the worst. As if the classes weren't bad enough, we were also pushed around, and lost, going up the down staircase! By the end of the first week, I wished I had taken that elevator ticket a wise upper-classman had offered me.

Ninth graders participate in every activity possible. This year three freshmen were on the J.V. Basketball team. The girls teams were largely made up of ninth graders. Besides being active in many clubs, ninth graders have been participating academically. An experimental grammar course was one of the many interesting scholastic activities in which we took part.

Well, it's over. One down, and only two more to go. Now we start hearing dire warnings from the juniors who are, at the same time, getting the same treatment from the lucky seniors. "Your junior year is the hardest—that's when it all catches up with you."

To the freshmen I say, "We sophomores are leaving a little of ourselves behind as we go on. These are the best years, the fullest."

We always will cherish the memories that are unique for this past year. That will come later, though. Now we only have time for work, and the effort needed to succeed. Yet I know we will all succeed in our ways. How can we miss? We go to Milne!

Administration

The modular schedule represents something new for the Milne School, but for many schools this type of schedule has been used for several years. A module is a unit of measure and for the Milne School Day this unit represents seventeen minutes. For a complete school day we must combine eighteen of those units with a four minute unit between each seventeen minute module. The normal school period has a length of thirty-eight or fifty-nine minutes. Three of the eighteen units have five minutes added so that they may be used for lunch periods which contain thirty minutes.

The modular schedule has placed a great deal of flexibility in the school day which is the main reason for its use. Every department has available at least one fifty-nine minute period per week. This means that a guest speaker or a film will not have to be cut off at the close of forty minutes. Science classes now have three fifty-nine minutes for their labs and thus experiments can be completed rather than adjourned. Art, shop, home economics, and driver education classes have extended periods of fifty-nine minutes so that these lab courses will have time for work rather than just setting up their equipment and then putting it away. These are just a few of the advantages of the flexible (module) schedule. There are drawbacks, but at this writing the advantages have the edge over the disadvantages.

Library Reading

Miss Mabel Jackman

Mrs. Gloria Herkowitz

The library is a collection of over 12,000 volumes to supplement class work and to provide reading for pleasure. There are collections of slides of paintings, filmstrips, records, portfolios of pictures, continuous loop films for science, and filmstrip-record albums for physical education. This area is being expanded considerably. In addition, the vertical files have large assortments of pamphlets, pictures, and clippings.

Dr. Francis Hodge

Guidance

The guidance department exists to be of service to you, the Milne student. We hope that each year we get to know you better, and that when you leave school, you will be satisfied with your experiences here, that you will have some ideas as to where you are going.

If you have found someone in the guidance office whom you can trust, and who can help you work out situations that confront you as you move through Milne, then we have been playing our part. If you haven't, then we have failed. But, don't close the door. The future brings change and we are always trying to do a better job.

Mr. Mark Yolles

Mr. William Krauss and Miss Anita Dunn

English

Almost all statements about teaching any subject say that the instructor should start with an analysis of each individual. If a teacher is to help a student deepen his perception of anything, he must first find out how a student perceives a given part of his world such as a painting, a geometric diagram, a poem, or a test tube filled with oxygen. Instructor and student must then work together to enlarge and increase that perception.

Teachers of English at Milne are greatly concerned with the way each student refines his perception of his world through his study of language and literature.

Mathematics

The mathematics department at Milne is composed of six supervisors headed by Dr. Herbert Oakes. Currently, there are eighteen sections in grades seven through twelve, four of which are taught by supervisors.

The primary aim of the math department is to prepare Milne's students for the future by instilling competence in the mathematics which he will require in college and industry.

There exists an accelerated program which begins in the eighth grade, where selected students take elementary algebra. When these people become seniors, they may take the Advanced Placement course thereby completing their first year of college math, or discontinue mathematics and use the extra time to take an additional course in another area.

Experimental curriculum is being used in several grades. Mr. De-Long's Math 12X has been chosen as one of twelve classes in the state to take a course in spatial relationships, while an elementary algebra class will cover the material in elementary algebra over a two-year period.

Social Studies

Dr. Gerald Snyder

A visitor embarks upon a tour of all social studies classes; a grade seven student is discovering the mores and ramifications of modern American culture by studying the Iroquois and colonial cultures . . . Across the hall, those pupils in grade eight see American history portrayed through films and role playing. As noted by the migrator, such a course enlivens dull history text facts. . . . In a ninth year section, discussion groups are seen discovering 3,000 years of Chinese history. As the traveler shuts the door to procede to tenth grade, he hears a voice pipe, "China will eventuall . . ."

. . . In the next room, World History emerges perspectively through debates about Locke and Rousseau and theories of today's society. . . . Further down the corridor, the impressed visitor to Milne sees an eleventh grade class translate American civilization into its basic involving concepts. . . . Finally, the senior class is observed only to find Bob Bedian explaining Engel's Law, the Law of Diminishing Returns and Graham's Law in one sentence. Debates on drugs and Neo-Malthusian theories follow, but time is limited and the visitor must leave. The door closes, but talk continues.

Science

The basic goals of the Milne science department are to increase the students' understanding of the nature of science as it relates to every-day life, and to interest students in the further study of some phase of science.

Commensurate with the carrying out of these goals is an emphasis on scientific investigation through the use of demonstrations and laboratory experiences that illustrate unifying concepts in science.

*In attempting to widen the students' horizons in the fields of the arts, Milne offers a great variety of courses in corresponding surroundings. ## Business Education

In addition to carrying out its traditional functions of providing opportunities for Milne students to acquire skills in shorthand, typing, office machines and related subjects, the business department now offers liberal arts courses in economics and law. The eighth grade Basic Economics course provides initial exposure to elementary economic principles. American Economic Institutions gives a comprehensive overview of the American economic system and makes reference to the economics of other nations. Designed to familiarize students with the legal systems found in the United States and other countries is Law in Society. Some consideration is given to the contribution made by ancient and "primitive" legal codes to the development of modern law.

Dr. Bertha Wakin

Mrs. Joanna Milham

Though many Milne students are totally unaware of the existence of a little Columbian boy named Fabio Ignacio, they, along with the more aware students, help to make life a bit more pleasant for him. Through the Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., the Milne student body supports Fabio by sending him and his family money each month to buy necessities which they don't have. Thanks to the Foster Parents' Plan's help, his family has bought clothing, shoes and food.

Student Council

This year the council's major concern has been reform. An avid interest in solving and simplifying student problems has kept them more than busy. A new amendment which reduced council membership to a more workable number has enabled the council to work more quickly and efficiently. Constant action by a dynamic student government has effectively attempted to deal with congestion on the stairs and in the cafeteria, increased the amount of student supervision, and has established closer ties with the administration.

National Honor Society

This year National Honor Society has tried to be an ACTION society. Members served as guides and ushers at the various Parents' Nights. To raise money for the series of cultural programs brought to Milne by Lincoln Center, NHS sponsored a folk concert featuring The Folkus and free expresso, a school dance and a Milne Little Red Schoolhouse team. In the spring, NHS traveled to New York City to tour Lincoln Center and attend a performance there.

Bricks And Ivy

P. Rosenkopf, L. Binder, M. Barelski, S. Schorr, S. Gasorowski, M. Cali, S. McDermott.

This year, the staff of the Bricks and Ivy underwent some changes. The editors' position were more specialized than in previous years, thus demanding that each staff member perform his own assigned task to perfection. Of course, after the preliminary work was finished everyone worked together with the main effort of making "the best yearbook".

The staff for 1967-68 were: Editor-in-chief: Susan Schorr
 Assistant Editor: Sue McDermott

Sigma-Quin Literary Society

For the first time in the history of the school, Milne's two literary societies, Zeta Sigma and Quintillian, consolidated and formed one organization, Sigma-Quin Literary Society. This step was decided on after careful consideration of what would keep the literary societies alive in the school. Officers from both groups act as a board, with each one performing her own special duties. With the consolidation, the groups' treasuries were united, thus allowing the members to carry on more activities. The annual trip to New York City was taken in the spring; the girls went sightseeing and to a Broadway play.

The officers for 1967-68 were:

Cross-Country was successful again this year. Yes, fans, we added a sixth straight sectional trophy. We also were representing Class C, D, and E, Section II at the "State Meet" for the second consecutive year. Sparked by juniors Ouellette and Welch, our young squad has excellent potential. Freshmen Dean Karlaftis, Mark Landau, Rich Schorr, Chris Barker, Gary Elsworth, and Jon Drew are hopes for the future. Reid Golden, Brad Knipes, and Rich Millard are seniors. Because of the seniors experience and speed, the freshmen were able to become used to the varsity pressure gradually. Captains Millard and Knipes set the example throughout the year.

Being a Cheerleader is not all fame and glory, as some may think. It entails hard work, and an abundance of spirit and enthusiasm for the team and school. During the season, all their pep and vigor was displayed vivaciously on the basketball court leading the spectators in cheers. The Cheerleaders were always ready and able to cheer for the team throughout the game, no matter what the circumstances. Among practicing, making hoops, signs, and urging Milnites to support their team, the Cheerleaders had a busy season. This years squads, full of enthusiasm did their very best, displaying the true spirit of sportsmanship at all Milne games.

"Khach"

Although the Milne Red Raiders have only one starting returnee from last year's powerful squad, Coach Robert Lewis anticipates another banner season with the successful defense of our Class D Sectional crown. Offensively, the Raiders are led by; all Albany candidate Ron Laraway (R.L.), hot shooting Tom Bearup and second year starter Bill Khachadourian (Khach). The rebounding chores are controlled by the dunker Jon "Henri" Goldfarb, and junior "Spider" Kayne, who are both expected to contribute heavily to the scoring column. Up from last year's Junior Varsity to supplement the starting team is Al Lerner, the J.V.'s leading scorer, Mel Grant, a tough rebounder, Dean Quackenbush, who possesses a "dead-eye" jump shot, and Jon Pitts, another strong rebounder. Rounding out the squad are back courtmen Rick Otty, Ron Platt and Ken Graham.

Jr. Varsity Basketball

This year's J.V. team shows promise for next year's Varsity. Led by 5'-2" Louis Milstein, the J.V. ended the season with a 6-6 record in league play and a 9-7 overall record. Mark Goldfarb and Louis Milstein were the two outstanding scorers, with Joe Hanley and Karl Krichbaum dragging down many of the rebounds that made this year so successful. This season was a tough one for Coach Wallace with many close games; however, Mr. Wallace could always rely on his boys for the performance necessary to win games. Their success seemed to depend heavily on our strong backup men; Gene Altus, Gary Manasse, Pete DeLong, Steve Lerner, Gerry Hausler, Larry Patent and Abe Dorsman.

Girl's Basketball Team

This year's girls Basketball team received a good turnout of players, which adequately demonstrates Milne sportsmanship. In lieu of the fact that most of the players lacked experience, the girls played extremely well. The Junior Varsity gained an invaluable amount of experience that will be advantageous for the future team. The Varsity has high hopes and the skill for improvement on this year's 3-4 record.

Countering a lack of experience and talent with a winning spirit, this season's Varsity bowling team captured the Central Hudson Valley League Championship. Spurred on by an opening day sweep of Waterford at The Bowler Lanes, the Raiders went on to a 19-5 League record. Included were 4-0 shutouts over Maple Hill and Catskill, while the season finale saw the Raiders triumph over Waterford 3-1 with captain Richard Friedlander's 635 series. The team did not fare so well in the Section Two tournament. Finishing third out of five divisional teams, the Raiders were lead by Kevin Bartlett's 540 triple. Next year the youthful Raiders will be without the services of graduating seniors Richard Friedlander and Arthur Vener.

On other alleys, this year's Girls' Bowling team had a tough goal to shoot for in trying to live up to last year's enjoyable and undefeated season. In spite of the fact that two seniors from last year were absent, a commendable season followed. After splitting the first game, the girls captured victory after victory, including the C.H.V.L. title.

The 1968 Varsity Golf team will once again face the spring season under such conditions as 30 degree temperatures, ankle deep mud, wind swept Albany Municipal and Super 88 golf balls. But such memories as the 1967 CHVL playoff should keep spirits high. Three returning lettermen, including Seniors Jon Goldfarb, Arthur Vener, and Junior Bob Kayne will form the nucleus for Coach Kelly's linksmen, who once again show winning potential.

Await Spring Season

Outdoor Track

Bill

The Milne Track team worked toward another successful year, under the direction of Coach Ahr. This year's outlook was brightened by the eagerness of the new members and the capability of the veterans.

Don VanCleve (school record-holder in shot and discus), Jay Dickstein and Steve Gasorowski made up the main-stay of the weight team, along with Fred Robinson and Andy VanCleve. In the field events division, Mel Grant, Abe Dorseman and Larry Binder showed much promise.

The runners fell into various categories, including hurdlers, sprinters, middle-distance, and distance runners. Rich Reynolds and Bob Dorkin added new records for the hurdlers, while Ira Oser, Jon Kurland, and Bob Gerber strengthened the sprinter team considerably. Middle-distance runners including Bill Khachadourian, Dean Quackenbush, Mark Goldfarb, and Larry Luongo, worked on the one-quarter and one-half mile events. The distance races were the team's strongest events, with Lou Ouellette, Stu Welch, Tom Phillips, Rich Millard, Dean Karloftis and Chris Barker completing the teams running one and two miles.

Softball And Baseball Come Through

When the bright sunny days of March arrived, many ardent sluggers took to the field in hopes of securing a position on the Girl's softball team. The selection of the players was a difficult task, for each girl had to fulfill the responsibility of becoming a skillful player, and an asset to the team as a whole. All of the days were not spent in hard practice in the blazing sun. The fondest memories are winning the hard fought games and the painful pangs of defeat.

Paul

The 1967 baseball team rode the pitching arm of Mike Brodie, coupled with the excellent hitting of Steve Patent, and Ron Laraway to the Central Hudson Valley League title and the Sectional Championship. This year, the slack left by last year's seniors will be picked up by the return of veterans Rick Otty, Ron Laraway, Warren Edwards, Paul Hardmeyer, and Bob Schacter, plus such new faces as Bill O'Brien, Kevin Bartlett, Bob Bedian, and John Drew. Coach Robert Wallace looks toward co-captains Edwards and Laraway to lead his inexperienced but highly talented team. A repeat of last year's success seems very likely.
