Act on 8 Attendance Rule Proposals, CSEA Urges Civil Service

ALBANY, Jan. 28—The Civil Service Employees Association has urged the State Civil Service Commission to consider eight amendments to the State Attendance Rules as called for by delegates representing the Association's 83,000 state members.

The requests were outlined in a letter from CSEA President Joseph F. Feily to H. Elliot Kaplan, in which Feily also asked for an early meeting with the Commission to discuss the proposals.

What's Proposed

The amendments are:

1. Lump sum payment for accumulated sick leave credits upon retirement, death, or separation from service.
2. Deposit in the retirement annuity account a sum each year equal to the value of the excess beyond the 150-day maximum accumulation which has been earned but not used during the year.
3. Increase vacation period by one day per year for each two years of service after 15 years. Increase to be limited to five additional vacation days per year.

Diefendorf Committee:

School District Proposals Labeled Direct Attack On Aides And Merit System

ALBANY, Jan. 28—A proposal that would place business titles and other positions in the State's school districts in the unclassified category of civil service has been labeled as a direct attack on the entire concept of the State's Merit System.

The charge was made last week in Albany by the Civil Service Employees Association in a lengthy statement submitted to a public hearing on the interim report of the Joint Legislative Committee on School Finances, in which the controversial recommendation is made.

The section of the report contested by the Association is headed, "Supervisory business positions should be transferred to the unclassified category of civil service. The committee—popularly known as the Diefendorf Committee, after its chairman, Charles H. Diefendorf of Buffalo—recommends that a legislative amendment be enacted transferring five specific positions to the unclassified service and giving the Commissioner of Education the right to establish the qualifications and procedures for certifying the positions. The positions are business manager, superintendent of buildings, and grounds, purchasing agent, director of transportation, and director of personnel. In addition, the committee recommends that a requirement of a teaching certificate for these positions should be eliminated and, "the commissioner shall have the right in his discretion to add such other positions to this group as he deems essential."

Intention

"Intentional or not," CSEA said, "this recommendation is an attack on the Merit System."

The Association outlined its opposition in past years to similar recommendations and stated that this proposal requires a sweeping change in civil service philosophy." They said that the objective of both the Committee and the Association is identical, "staffing our school systems with the best possible personnel. However, we disagree with respect to the method through which this can be accomplished."

No "Tinkering"

The Association said there was "already adequate and time-tested means within the framework of existing statutes to reach your objective." It warned that "great caution should be exercised in tinkering with or overhauling the New York State Merit System," which it said is nationally and internationally renowned as a finely tuned, effective piece of personnel machinery."

Referring to the recommendation to do away with the teachers' certification requirement, CSEA said "this would place the

No Tax Increase Philosophy Causing Numerous Problems

SIGNS are beginning to show throughout the state that Governor Rockefeller's campaign pledge not to raise taxes this year is creating some political strain locally for Republican legislators.

In order to maintain Rockefeller's pledge and, at the same time, implement his "pay as you go" economic thesis, Senators and Assemblymen are having to tell their constituents that the theme this year is "hold-the-line." This means, of course, that anything costing new monies is not in the books this year. Bringing home the bacon from Albany is the key to any successful political career in the State Legislature and having to report an empty larder this year is said to be making the

Ogdensburg Mayor, Council At Odds On Appointments

(From Leader Correspondent)

OGDENSBURG, Jan. 28—Politics are being mixed with civil services here and it has caused a serious eruption in the top echelon of the municipal fire department.

A civil service test for deputies for creation of an eligible list for selection of a permanent fire chief has been pending more than a year. Assistant Chief Henry Montroy has been acting chief since the resignation of Chief Francis R. Cadieux.

The state civil service commission has ruled Montroy can serve no more than nine months and the city council must replace him.

Wouldn't Take Exam

Assistant Chief Montroy has declined to take the impending civil service examination and Mayor Edward J. Keenan submitted the name of another assistant chief, Augustus Ashley, to the city council for confirmation.

Keenan was beaten 5-3 in a special meeting vote.

It was Keenan who prior to election struck out against a move to consolidate the Ogdensburg police and fire departments.

He is expected to make a new move in the fire chief controversy when the city council holds its regular meeting this week.

One Controversy Settled

Another controversy was settled last week when William Shoen, who had passed two civil service examinations, was appointed street and maintenance foreman by the council. The appointment was supported by unanimous vote after another dispute had been stirred up when the city engineer, Ross R. Germano, had recommended another candidate; one without civil service status.

Brooklyn Citizens Fight To Maintain Employment Agency

The importance of the Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners in the lives of American citizens has been reflected by the actions of some three million, five hundred thousand citizens of the Borough of Brooklyn who have protested the closing of the Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners at the Brooklyn Post Office.

Such a board acts primarily as an employment agency for the Federal Government. It recruits applicants for both written and unassisted examinations. It conducts examinations for all types of positions for all Federal Agencies and, for young men and women who wish to enter the Military, the Air Force, the Naval, and the Coast Guard Academies. At regular intervals, it holds written examinations for student trainees; (FSSE) Federal service entrance examination, and for the Peace Corps.

It also maintains registers for federal positions in the area and serves as an information point where the general public may make inquiries on the subject of employment.

The protesting citizens have realized the importance of such an office and have risen to the occasion, according to reports from organizations in the area.

Expansion usually creates problems. An expanding city certainly does. And one of the biggest problems for Con Edison is to be ready at the right time in the right places with plenty of electricity for the hundreds of big office and apartment buildings going up or being modernized each year.

That's why Con Edison planners are kept busy — forecasting the City's growth — determining where, how, and when to expand our facilities.

Keeping ahead is a costly job. Over the next five years Con Edison will spend more than $1 billion on new plants and the expansion of our distribution system.

Diefendorf Proposals Attack Merit System

THE SO-CALLED Diefendorf Committee, which recently made several proposals to exempt numerous positions in the State's school districts, needs to brush up on the history of the Merit System. The proposals, which also would give the Commissioner of Education practically full power to determine job classification in the field, not only attack the very base of the Merit System but contain some insulting thinking on the value of employees now in the classified service.

In reporting to the State Legislature, the Committee declared that one of the reasons it felt that more positions should be exempt was that better qualified persons would seek the positions and thus give these positions more status in the community. As the Civil Service Employees Assn. said in a strong protest against these proposals "What the committee seems to feel is that employees who are members of the classified service are automatically unqualified, inexperienced and of low status in the eyes of the community."

The CSEA opinion is that the civil service structure as presently constituted accomplishes the very thing the Committee envisions in its proposals.

We agree and feel that any such final proposals from the Diefendorf Committee made to the Legislature should be rejected immediately. They represent a misunderstanding of the worth of the Merit System and the quality of the public employee today.

Don't Repeat This!

Federal Tax Cut

A further pressure has been created by President Kennedy's call for a tax cut, which is generally backed by both Democrats and Republicans. The President's idea is that the accompanying deficit created by a tax cut will eventually be offset by increased business activity and resulting increased tax collections. This stated thesis caused one upstate Republican to ponder in public recently the wisdom of a "pay as you go" budget operation versus a deficit budget, although not too large a one. He said "we all buy things on credit, not because we want to but because it's the only way we can afford certain items. I think the idea of pay as you go could stand some scrutiny. Certainly, I don't think we should ever be committed to one single tax philosophy. Let the means of budget operation suit the need."

Civil Service Effect

On three different occasions in separate areas in the State, the writers of this column have heard GOP legislators expend considerable time explaining to civil service groups that 1963 would be a lean year because of lack of money. The conclusion of these talks has generally been couched in phrases that hint of making up for it all next year. But in one large upstate city recently, a Republican senator told his audience "The Governor made a pledge not to raise taxes. Frankly, I think he's now biting his tongue."

Rockefeller, however, is reported to believe that he will be able to get through 1963 safely without increasing taxes, at least income taxes. Democrats, though, are already accusing the Governor of violating his "no tax raise" pledge through the device of increasing licensing fees. The Governor is showing no concern over these accusations for the time being and is said to be confident that no matter how much GOP legislators grumble about the lack of local spending money, they will continue to back him up publicly on the no tax increase pledge and, to a major degree, on no new spending.

Mayor Wagner is faced with parallel problems on taxation.

Wants Pension Apart From Social Security

Editor, the Leader:

Recently articles have appeared in many Civil Service publications stating that the Administration is again considering "coordination" of the Social Security and the Federal Civil Service Retirement Systems.

We, the Affiliated Government Organizations, want Social Security separate and apart from our civil service Retirement pensions on an employee optional basis. All we want is the same rights as those given to the City and State Civil Service Employees, namely the teachers, firemen, police, etc. A large majority of our states have extended Social Security coverage to their employees, in addition to their civil service pensions.

We are the only large group of employees who do not have Social Security coverage. To repeat—we want rights equal to those granted to the City and State Civil Service employees—nothing more.

A foremost champion of our worthy cause has been Congressman Eugene J. Keogh, Chairman of the Congressional Committee in Charge of Social Security, who has given considerable time, thought, and attention to our interests, and who has indicated that he will continue to exert every effort to get the Congressional wheels turning at the earliest possible date. The congressman has further stressed that he will adhere to his firm and original position that Social Security coverage shall be separate and apart from our rights covered under the Federal Pension System and shall be optional with the employee.

The federal employees are a devoted and conscientious group. Why should we be treated as second class citizens?

Sincerely,

RHODA A. RUFF,

Chairman

AMERICO NAZZARO,

Co-Chairman.

Affiliated Government Organizations

With a $100,000,000 deficit looming in the current budget, Wagner must find money somewhere and he is reluctant to foist new taxes on New York City residents. The Mayor's feeling is that the State is short-changing the city on local aid, but his argument is reported to still be falling on deaf ears in Albany. Rockefeller declares that Wagner has all the revenue raising power he needs. The result is that solving the New York City revenue dilemma is now Wagner's major problem.

The line of "no new taxes" is therefore going to be the major influence in deciding state and city budget policies this year and nobody is really happy about it. All in all, the only person in an enviable position on taxes these days appears to be the President.

Your Public Relations IQ

By LEO J. MARGOLIN

(Mr. Margolin is Adjunct Professor of Public Relations in the New York University School of Public Administration and is Vice President, Public Relations, of A. J. Armstrong Co., Inc.)

The views expressed in this column are those of the writer and do not necessarily constitute the views of this newspaper.

A Hopeful Sign

A HOPEFUL SIGN for the improved public relations of civil service is dimly seen on the government horizon.

MANY THOUGHTFUL people are beginning to think about civil service. Some are even beginning to worry about its future.

THAT IS ALL TO the good because ignoring civil service is equivalent to neutral public relations, which is therefore bad public relations.

WE CERTAINLY ARE not suggesting an attitude expressed by a politician of yesteryear, who declared: "I don't care what you say about me; just make sure to spell my name right."

THOUGHTFUL DISCUSSION about civil service by responsible people is an important key to improving the public image of civil service. It's almost like the game of "name-dropping." When the "right" people drop the "right" names to other "right" people, that's being "in." And it's about time that civil service was "in" instead of being "way out."

TAKE AS A PRIME example of thoughtful discussion the report of the Municipal Manpower Commission, a study group sponsored by the Ford Foundation. Three years of research went into the report which is now in book form, "Governmental Manpower for Tomorrow's Cities" (McGraw-Hill: $6.95).

PUBLIC RELATIONS plays a significant role in the report, but so does salary.

"Make salaries for APT (administrative-professional-technical) positions competitive," urges the Commission. When the report says "competitive, of course it means competitive with private industry."

A QUESTIONNAIRE answered by 1,700 municipal executives in 25 cities revealed that low salaries and lack of recognition for a job well done were the two principal reasons for dissatisfaction. And for the same reasons, these executives would not recommend civil service as a career for young people.

THIS CONFIRMS WHAT many civil service executives have found out the hard way. William F. Moehrke, executive secretary of the Dutchess County Personnel Department, a veteran of 32 years in civil service, put the problem bluntly:

"THE REASON WE cannot attract a better grade of employees is because Common Councils, Boards of Supervisors, Town and Village Boards will not fix an attractive salary for the positions involved, and when you live in a highly industrial area as I do, the private concerns pay far better salaries and give more fringe benefits than government employment."

Questions Answered On Social Security

Below are questions on Social Security problems sent in by our readers and answered by a legal expert in the field. Anyone with a question on Social Security should write it out and send it to the Social Security Editor, Civil Service Leader, 97 Duane St., New York 7, N. Y.

"My doctor has told me that I cannot work at my usual job as a fireman. I could do light work, but I can't find a job. Can I draw disability benefits under social security?"

Before an answer to your question is possible, a great deal of additional information is necessary. Social security disability benefits may be paid to workers who have social security work credits for at least five out of the 10 year period ending when they became disabled. The illness or injury must be so severe that they are unable to "engage in any substantial gainful work." The disability decision is based on a careful evaluation of all these facts. You should get in touch with your nearest social security office and discuss your situation with them.

"I hired a woman the first week in April of last year to clean up my house on Saturdays. I pay her $5.00 each Saturday for this work. Do I have to make a social security report showing the wages I pay her since she works only one day a week?"

Yes. Whenever a household worker is paid $50 or more cash wages in a calendar quarter, these wages must be reported for social security purposes to the Internal Revenue Service. The social security report and tax payment for the third calendar quarter of last year (July, August and September) was due by October 31st. For

"My name is Miller . . . I'm a cop -

"WHY? That's easy . . . GOOD PAY, SECURITY, ADVANCEMENT, PRESTIGE; they all add up to a pretty good argument for joining the force.

"You start at $117 a week. And in three years it's $146 (with new increases in the works). Not bad for a 21 year old High School graduate! And this uniform I wear—it's got a lot of history behind it . . . and plenty of future ahead of it. That's the kind of security you can count on.

"So, that's why I'm a cop, or at least part of the story. Why don't YOU think about it?"

Join the RECRUIT-A-COP campaign to add 3,000 men to the Police Force. If you are 20-28 inclusive, at least 5'8", and a U.S. citizen, you may qualify for a future with the Finest. HIP Enrollment Now At Highest In 15-Year History

Year-end enrollment in New York City departments added more than 20,000 employees and dependents to the City's Health Program (H.I.P.-Blue Cross), according to Arthur T. McManue, H.I.P.'s director of enrollment.

This was the highest year-end total since the initial enrollment years, Mr. McManue said.

The new group of enrollees brought HIP's total enrollment in all accounts to 662,000, the highest in its history. About half of this total is made up of city employees and their families. The plan's other enrollees include state, federal and county employees, union members covered by labor-management welfare funds and employees in private industry.

The plan began providing fully prepaid medical, surgical and specialist care to city employees and their families in April, 1947. Since then the percentage of employees joining the plan has increased year by year, the spokesman said.

In addition to medical care, HIP provides X-rays, laboratory tests, physical therapy, visiting nurse service and private ambulance service, all without extra charge.

HIP is the only plan in the Greater New York area which provides its services through medical group practice. By paying teams of family doctors and specialists to take care of the medical needs of its subscribers, HIP has been able to eliminate extra charges and the use of claim forms while at the same time exercising supervision over quality of care, McManue pointed out.

Public Works In-Service Training Program Marks Step Forward For State

ALBANY, Jan. 28—An advanced in-service training course for 35 appraisers and adjusters with the State Department of Public Works has opened its first two-week session.

Public Works Superintendent J. Burch McMorran hailed the program as the "first of its kind in the nation" and said the trainees would attend three, two-week sessions within the year for a total of 200 hours of instruction.

"The State's appropriation of an increasing volume of urban property for the construction of arterial and Interstate, expressways, with its attendant complexities in human problems, equity, law and the application of Federal and State regulations, has made imperative a higher degree of training for appraisers and adjusters," McMorran stated.

He added, "Since New York State leads the entire nation with its highway program, it is fitting—in the exercise of responsible leadership—that we make this pioneering effort toward meeting the need."

The training course was set up under contract by the firm of Beasley and Beasley of Washington, D.C., which operates nationally in the field of property values. The firm was employed as a consultant to Bertram D. Tallamy, when he served as Federal Highway administrator during the Eisenhower administration.

As an aid to the training course, the Department of Public Works plans to arrange conferences between government officials, the judiciary and other experienced parties to delineate issues concerning property values.

The course is to be permanent, McMorran said, with Beasley and Beasley gradually farming-out its supervision and the Department of Public Works assuming direct control.

The first class of 35 Department employees will come from the 10 engineering districts in the State and the main office in Albany.

The Bureau now employs 225 appraisers and adjusters. An additional 74 allotted to the Bureau will be assigned to the school as they are appointed. It is anticipated that 300 trainees can receive instruction within a year's time.

Future classes will also take in employees of the Conservation Department and other agencies directly interested in land administration.

MENTAL HYGIENE MEMO

By WILLIAM ROSSITER

CSEA Mental Hygiene Representative

(The views expressed in this column are those of the writer and do not necessarily constitute the views of this newspaper or of any organization).

Understanding Mental Illness

MENTAL ILLNESS casts its shadow behind the homes of all—in everyone's closet—it involves many things and many people in greatly varied ways. It is impossible to measure its anxiety or its destruction—one can only speculate. Crisis and insecurity are everywhere—so many are too anxious.

APATHY EXISTS in the hearts of most individuals when it comes to mental illness. Escape hatches are many and many devices for self insulation are used but the cold, hard facts show that mental illness affects more people now than any time in history.

SERIOUS MENTAL illness with all its disruptive influences, touches one family in three, since one person in ten requires hospital treatment sometime in his life. At the present time more than one half of all the hospital beds in the United States are occupied by mentally sick people.

A 45-MEMBER CONGRESSIONAL Commission and 38 organizations, representing every national association and agency interested in mental health, after a five year study of the nation's No. 1 health problem, mental illness, reported that present facilities for the treatment of the mentally ill are so inadequate that more than half the patients in this country's State hospitals received no active treatment of any kind. It challenged the United States to become the first society in modern history to provide humane and healing care for the mentally ill. Their 100,000 word report, calling for wide spread reforms and tripling of funds (from one billion to three billion a year) to fight mental illness over the next ten years was sent to Congress and State Governors.

THE NEW YORK STATE Department of Mental Hygiene is already on top of many of these existing problems and Gov. Rockefeller has recommended many steps to be taken. New York State's comprehensive new masterplan for care of the mentally disabled has received wide acclaim and national recognition.

LEADERS IN THE field of mental health agree that one of the greatest obstacles in getting help for the mentally ill is the lack of public understanding and interest.

THE STIGMA OF mental illness should be removed—give it an aura of respectability so that the public grows to accept it as a sickness not unlike heart trouble, cancer or diabetes.

THE COMMUNITY CANNOT "giraffe" its responsibility concerning mental illness. More statistics, more education and information should be available to the rank and file citizens in order to better equip them with some of the facts of mental illness so that they can adequately cope with the problem if it strikes. With effective communications "Out Patients Clinics" for the mentally sound, so to speak, would therefore be established. Community attitudes would then reach a new vein.

THOSE OF US WHO care for the mentally ill know that it is not an easy task. The work is demanding but the rewards are many for the right thinking employee. It is a unique challenge that we have faced. Helping us in this challenge should be a better informed and more interested public.

MENTAL HYGIENE workers realize how important it is to practice good public and human relations—images that are created, whether good or bad can be very lasting. But they do not understand why the public, in general, remains so detached from the problem of mental illness. It would be much more practical to be prepared—why wait to be suddenly jarred when mental illness strikes loved ones of all ages.

MUCH REMAINS to be done in the field of mental health. With cooperation, sincerity and determination great strides can be made.

CSEA GROUP LIFE INSURANCE OFFERED TO MEMBERS NOW

been steadily developed and improved throughout the years. It provides double indemnity for accidental death and waiver of premium if total disability occurs before age 60. The premium charges to insured members under the plan have been reduced on several occasions in the past and cash refunds have been paid to insured members.

The continued development of the CSEA Plan was made possible by ever increasing membership becoming insured thereunder. The total membership of CSEA is now over 110,000. Any employee of the state or any political subdivision is eligible for membership therein. State Police, prison guards, and other members who have hazardous employment usually have to pay additional premiums for Life Insurance, but in the CSEA Group Plan cost to all members, regardless of employment, is the same.

The special offer is good only during February, 1963. Bring this matter to the attention of your fellow employees. Within CSEA circles, the usual reference to its Group Life Insurance is "How can I afford not to have it?"

Western Conference Votes County Membership; Backs CSEA Overtime Proposals

(From Leader Correspondent)

ROCHESTER, Jan. 28—Membership in the Western New York Conference, Civil Service Employees Association has been opened to county chapters as a result of action taken by the Conference at its Winter meeting recently.

The historic conference action, designed to broaden the conference base, was approved at meetings conducted by George DeLong of the Craig Colony chapter, conference president.

Other Action

- The conference also:
- Discussed creation of a third vice-presidency to be filled by a representative of the county chapters;
 - Accepted into membership a chapter forming at the West Seneca State School;
 - Retained a one-year limit on terms of conference officers;
 - Was told that a chapter at Alfred soon will petition for membership;
 - Set Feb. 2 as the date for the next meeting, in Batavia; and
 - Adopted a resolution supporting CSEA President Joseph Feily's opposition to Gov. Rockefeller's proposal that provision for overtime by state employees be eliminated from the fiscal 1963 budget.

State Sen. Thomas P. Laverne (R-52nd Dist), told the conference that he sees little chance for salary increases for state employes this year. He said improvements in the retirement payment system will mean more take-home pay for the state's workers, but the Governor's aim to economize probably will result in relatively little else in the form of improved fringe benefits.

Former Monroe County Judge John P. Lomenzo, the Republican candidate for state comptroller in last November's election, told a luncheon meeting that state workers should set an example for the younger generation by participating in worthwhile community activities.

CSEA Executive Director Joseph E. Lochner detailed the Association's position on the City of Rochester's recognition of the American Federation of State, County & Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, as exclusive bargaining agent for city employees.

He said CSEA was asking for equal treatment with AFSCME and the policemen's and firemen's organizations on representation. City Manager Porter W. Homer's action, he declared, appeared to be a "political payoff."

Delegates representing nearly 30 CSEA chapters heard Frank J. Lasch, assistant CSEA counsel, on the subject of "Disciplinary Action Procedure and Grievance Procedure" and Stanley Kollin, coordinator of recruitment and examinations for the State Department of Civil Defense, on "Examination Process."

County Chapters Present

County chapters at the meeting were from Monroe, Erie, Niagara and Wyoming, with Onondaga an observer.

The Rochester State Hospital chapter, of which William J. Rossiter is president, was conference host. Rossiter also reported for the constitution and by-laws committee and was dinner toastmaster. Claude E. Rowell of Rochester, fifth state vice president, was dinner chairman. Among the dinner guests were Robert J. Benedict, of the Rochester State Hospital Board of Visitors, and his wife.

The conference also was attended by Paul Kyer, Civil Service Leader editor; Hazel G. Abrams, Association secretary, and Gary J. Perkinson, Association public relations director.

CSEA Hits School District Proposals

(Continued from Page 1) positions specified and many others related to them completely outside the framework of the Merit System, which is contrary to constitutional intent. Should your recommendation become reality, existing positions could be abolished, promotional opportunities might become discretionary, sever limitations might be placed on tenure rights and mandatory salary increment rights of employees might become non-existent or severely impaired. They might well have neither the protection now afforded school teachers nor those given to classified competitive employees."

Committee Downgrades Aides

The Association discounted the committee's reasons for the recommendation, which included better qualified persons seeking the positions, greater status within the community, and others. "What the committee seems to feel," CSEA said, "is that employees who are members of the classified service are automatically unqualified. Actually, the civil service structure as presently constituted accomplished the very thing the Committee envisions in its recommendations."

In commenting on another recommendation within the report, that "The Commissioner of Education shall specifically recommend standards and specifications for classified civil service positions." CSEA said it had sought for years many of the same objectives outlined in the recommendation including uniformity of title structure, adequate minimum qualifications, more effective examining procedures and the requirement that each school district have a salary plan.

"For many years the burden of accomplishing this was in the hands of the State Civil Service Department," CSEA said, "but sufficient manpower to accomplish this was never provided."

The Association also said it is not impressed that there has been a significant improvement in the implementation of the Merit System in the State's school districts as a result of the transfer several years ago of the administration of Civil Service for school districts to local commissions.
