FRANCOIS POLLET — STATE COLLEGE'S PROTEGE

During the war, State College organized and maintained an active Red Cross chapter. A contribution of $194.58 was made to the college chapter by individual subscribers and the following organizations, late in 1918: Pedagocue Board,

Class of 1918, Dramatics Class, and Spanish Club. Miss Mildred Carswell, '18, who was the chairman of this organization, authorized, with the approval of other members, that $73 of this balance be sent to "The Fatherless Children of France, Inc." for the adoption of two orphans, and Miss Charlotte C. Loeb, head of the French department, was made the custodian of the correspondence between the children and the college. The balance of the fund, $121.58, has just been sent to renew the subscription.

It is of interest to know that the orphans are a little boy and girl each 11 years old. They are Marie Jacob and Francois Pollet. A small photograph of our little protege is shown above. The letters which have come to us from the children have shown how much the help was needed and how deeply the friendship of the "god-parent" was appreciated. Below are translated a few passages from letters received which will emphasize the great need and the spirit of gratitude.

(Sept. 9, 1920)—"I have just received the check which you were kind enough to send me and I want to thank you most sincerely for your great kindness. We have just returned to our devastated city. Dean Horner attended the Inter-Fraternity Conference, which was held in New York City Friday and Saturday of last week.

JOHN DRINKWATER TO LECTURE

Presented by Dramatic and Art Association

Through the efforts of the Dramatics and Arts Council John Drinkwater is coming to State College and Dr. Clarke is to be presented in student assembly on December 3. Dr. Clarke is going to show us the advantages of the Historical and Art Society from a student's viewpoint.

This year the Dramatics and Arts Council has adopted the old maxim of "quality versus quantity." That is, the council of 1920 aims to concentrate their resources on the procuring of a few really noted authorities in this field of art rather than to present a larger number of less influential lecturers.

The faculty members of this year's council are as follows: Miss Futterer, Miss Perine, and Miss Murray. The officers of the council of 1920 are: Miss Gladys Thompson, president; Miss Marion Hunter, secretary; and Miss Edith Weatherwax, treasurer. The other members of the council are: Miss Myfawny Williams, Miss Agnes Smith, and Miss Grace Fox. From time to time the members of this council intend to ask various members of the student body to cooperate with them. So, let us always remember who the members of the council are, and let us determine to give them the assistance of the whole student body, if the occasion demands it.

ALL OUT FOR COLLEGE NIGHT

Be sure and remember "All College Night," Friday evening of this week. All plans are working out successfully and everything points to an interesting evening. Of course you are all coming! Bring your college spirit, your class spirit and your supply of songs and cheers. Come and have a good time!

DR. CLARKE IN STUDENT ASSEMBLY

Dr. Clarke, the president of the Historical and Art Society of Albany and the director of the State Museum of Natural History, will speak in student assembly on December 3. He will show the advantages of the Historical and Art Society from a student's viewpoint.

St. Michael's To Meet State Saturday

Purple and Gold to Oppose Strong Team

State opens her basketball season Saturday, December 4, when the Varsity meets St. Michael's on the Albany High court. From all reports the Vermonters have a strong aggregation of basket tossers, and this opening game will be well worth seeing from all standpoints.

Coach Snavelly has had the squad out for some stiff training every night. Passwork is better handled, and the men are not depending so much on dribbling. These things make the prospects of victory bright in spite of the fact that several of the men have missed practice because of illness, and Baker will be entirely out of the game for some time because of an injury to his knee sustained in an interclass football game.

The following Saturday the Purple and Gold will tackle Union at Schenectady. Plans are under way now to charter cars so that State College students can attend this game in a body.

LAW SCHOOL PLAYS ST. MICHAEL'S FRIDAY

Friday evening, December 3, the Law School quintet will open their season with St. Michael's. The game will be played on the Albany High court. "Marty" Barry, ex-'21, who was a star forward on the State College team for two years and who is well known in basketball circles, is coaching the Law School five. The team is composed of men who have won athletic honor in high school or college, and a good game is predicted. On the following night St. Michael's will play State College.

MUSIC OF THE POLISH PEOPLE

In the auditorium on Wednesday evening, December 1, a concert was given in connection with the extension course treating with "Immigrant Backgrounds and Homelands" which is under the direction of Dr. De Porte. This concert was a coordinate with the previous musical given by the Russian choir of St. Basil's Church. However, this concert dealt exclusively with the music of the Polish people. The cooperation of the "Echo" Polish Choral Society of Schenectady, which is under the direction of Stanislaus Kosinski, was secured. The program included the Polish national anthem, selections from the Polish opera "Halka" by Moniuszko, piano solos, and several Polish folk songs. The Polish national dance was effective in bringing to our attention the customs of a foreign country. Such a concert is not alone of value to students of music, as it helps the Americanization campaign by creating sympathy on the part of Americans for the ideals of foreign countries.

PLANS FOR JUNIOR PROM WELL UNDER WAY

The Junior Prom committee has nearly completed its plans for the promenade to take place early in February. As usual the Prom will be held in the Ten Eyck ballroom and efforts are being made to secure the best music possible. The dance orders will be of special interest—the order committee can assure you of that, for they have spent considerable time and effort to obtain something new.

Because the junior class is smaller than in previous years more bids will be open to seniors and possibly to underclassmen. Help the class by signing up as soon as possible.

STATE COLLEGE AND ATHLETICS

The following article, entitled "Winning Grid Team Helps Penn State," was clipped from the "Knickerbocker Press":

"The value of a good coach who turns out good football teams was never more plainly to be seen than in the case of Penn State College and Hugo Bezdek. Penn State has had more applications from prospective students for the term which begins in September of 1921, than in any previous year of its history. And strange to relate, Penn State has no organization of former students to bolster attendance.

"Athletes from all of the leading high schools of the east have shown a preference for Penn State College, and apparently for no other reason than that Penn State turns out a first class grid machine coached by a past master. The enrollment for Penn State in September of next year promises to be the greatest the school ever had. Does winning football pay?"

In this article a proposition is set forth which is applicable not only to Penn State and football but to all colleges and all college sports. Do college athletics pay? Undoubtedly they do, for they are one of the best possible advertisements. Not only do they attract athletes, but men who have never taken a very active part in sports or, even further in the case of co-ed institutions, girls like to go to a college where athletics have a prominent place, for they form the nucleus about which college spirit and loyalty are built up. Penn State, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Colgate, and other institutions realize this and they all have their special ways for letting the world know about their activities in this field.

Now New York State College has started a campaign for more men next year. In connection with this campaign an athletic bulletin has been planned. This bulletin will be sent to high schools throughout the State in order to advertise State College. Would it not also be wise to take another step along this same line? Why not have an athletic press agent? This could be provided for in much the same manner as the office of cheer leader. The holder of this office or his assistants would make all trips with teams, and he would be entitled to a minor "S." His functions would be to co-operate with the daily papers and the "News" in publishing all sporting items of interest.

The need for such an office can readily be seen. This year there was an Interclass Basketball League. How many of the games were given to the daily papers? This year also there was a well played football match between the upper classmen and the lower classmen. Was there any mention of that in the daily papers? Varsity basketball practice has started, a captain has been elected, and the first game comes next Saturday night. What has been done to let people know about these events? Colgate, Union, and the Law School have already started to advertise basketball. Who is to blame? Certainly the daily papers are not to blame? They cannot be expected to publish these things unless State College takes some pains to keep them informed in regard to them. The Albany papers have always had a good deal of civic pride, and State College is a part of Albany. They have always given space to State College athletic news, and there is every reason to think that they will continue to do so if we co-operate with them and bring them items of interest.

So the blame clearly rests with State College. But still it is not possible to pick out any particular individual and say that he is at fault. The fact is that there is no one whom we can hold responsible for neglect to advertise State College events. If we intend to get those men next year, it seems as though one of the first things for us to do is to remedy this situation.

ATTEND THE UNION GAME

A week from Saturday State plays Union at Schenectady. As has been the custom in previous years, special cars will be chartered in order to take the State College rooters over in a body. Here is a chance for everyone to show that he is back of the team. The expense will not be great, but the confidence which will be given the team, if there is a good cheering section, will help them to win this game. So everybody sign up for this trip.

CHEER PRACTICE HELD

Wednesday afternoon State College students gathered in the Albany High gymnasium in order to practice cheers for the St. Michael's game. At this time also tryouts for cheer leader and assistant cheer leaders were held. One of the new features this year is that girls may try out for cheer leader. Enthusiasm is great among the students, and undoubtedly one of the features of the first Varsity game will be the Purple and Gold cheering section.

NOTICE

All organizations and classes are requested to hand in a schedule of the amount of space they will subscribe to in the Pedagogue to the business manager at once.

PLEASANT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Red Room, the Green Room and Dr. Brubacher's office will be open to all women students Sunday afternoon from two till nine. Magazines and writing material will be provided for all who wish them, and refreshments will be served. At four there will be a vesper service in room 111. If you have the blues or that homesick feeling forget them, and come out.

HARVARD-PRINCETON TIE LEAVES QUESTION OF SUPREMACY ON GRIDIRON UNSOLVED

New York, Nov. 29.—The close of the eastern college football season finds the task of selecting a championship eleven more complicated than usual.

In past years it has frequently been the case that one varsity team, with a remarkable record at its back, stood out so prominently that was the choice for titular honors among a large majority of the gridiron experts. Such a situation does not exist at the termination of the 1920 play.

Six college or university eleven's passed through the season without defeat, but in the case of five of these teams the record was marred by one or more tie games. Boston college is the only one which has an absolutely clean slate to date and that team still has one game to play, being scheduled to meet the strong Holy Cross eleven next Saturday.

Harvard, Princeton, Pittsburgh, Penn State and Stevens all closed their schedules undefeated, but the tie contest between Princeton and Harvard left the question of supremacy unsolved. Penn State played tie games with Pittsburgh and Lehigh; Pittsburgh was tied by Syracuse and Penn State, while Middlebury held Stevens to a scoreless tie.

While comparative scores and comparison of individual games is a futile means of arriving at the strongest team in any section, it can be safely stated that if a championship team were to be selected it would be found among the combinations enumerated.

A second group, but thinly separated from the first division, would naturally include Dartmouth, Syracuse, Navy, Army, Brown, Holy Cross, Lehigh, Williams and Yale. Weather conditions, the physical and mental status of the players and other surroundings, which have a direct bearing upon each contest of the season, make a definite selection almost impossible, if justice is to be done to all teams.

An analysis of the records of the various college eleven's of the east develops some interesting and confusing data. The West Point cadet team, although defeated by the Navy and Notre Dame, managed to roll up an aggregate score of 314 points which, so far as scoring is concerned, gives the Army first place in the section totals. Williams, with Benny Boynton, the star individual scorer of the east, is next in line with a total of 312 points, although defeated in three out of the eight games played. These are the only combinations to cross the 300 mark. Penn. State and Cornell are third and fourth respectively with 259 and 231.

From a defensive standpoint, Boston college appears to hold the palm as Coach Cavanaugh's gridiron pupils held their opponents to a total of sixteen points, of which Yale made thirteen and Marietta the remaining three. Syracuse was next, with a low opponent score of twenty-seven while Harvard was a close third, with but twenty-eight points scored against it.

The records of the larger institutions of the east, showing the number of games won, lost and tied; total points scored by home team opponents, as well as the name of the leading individual scorer for each eleven, follows:

College	Scorer	W.	L.	T.	Pts.	Opp's

In another letter the mother writes:

"We must be happy in our poverty and have courage to be able to raise these poor children to manhood and womanhood. It is terrible to have such young children deprived of the blessings of a father. I am alone with five children. My husband left for the war and I never had the pleasure of seeing him again. He was killed in April of 1915."

Our little Francois writes (Nov., 1920):

"I am only 11 years of age and still very young. I want to work but am still too young to do so."

The children's addresses are as follows:

Marie Jacob, a Andilly par, Varennes - sur - Amance, Haute Marne, France.

Francois Pollet, Route de Bethune, Haisne Les La Bassee, Pas de Calais, France.

The French Club and French classes are raising a fund to send them a Christmas check. A box will be found on the desk in the library where donations of any amount, however small, will be gratefully received.

As the Christmas season draws near, can we not drop a postcard or letter to our little proteges? They are so appreciative of anything we send.

The Fighter

No man is a failure until he loses his ambition. As long as he can hope and strive for greater things—as long as his eyes are still upon the goal he set out for, he is potentially a success.

No man is down as long as there is fight left in him. It may be a long ways back or up but he is never beaten until he cries "quits."

Come back! Why no man ever went so low or failed so utterly but that it was possible for him to battle his way to the very top if he kept his courage and his ambitions.

Watch Your Pep

Pep is a slang word invented to convey the idea of those who are always up and about, who are full of "ginger," who never go to sleep at the switch. When you are full of pep you can go a long way toward doing almost anything. But pep runs out. If your stomach goes back on you because you don't know how to take care of it; if you consort with weak-minded people, taking on the color of their weak-mindedness; if you burn the candle at both ends, then your pep runs low. Watch your pep.

She: "You don't deserve a good wife."

Her Husband: "Well, I got what I did, now rub it in."

Just Before the Fight

The black-haired boy had a mighty contempt for the tow-headed boy.

"Huh," he said, "your mother takes in washing."

"Of course she does," the tow-headed satirist replied, "you didn't think she would leave it out at night unless your father was in jail, did you?"

It Said So; and He Did

A German took out his first naturalization papers. As he was about to leave the courtroom he was observed to scan very closely the official envelope in which had been inclosed the document that was to assist in his naturalization.

In a few days he turned up again. Presenting himself to the clerk of the court he bestowed upon that dignitary a broad Teutonic smile, saying:

"Vell, here I vos."
"Pleased to see you, I'm sure," said the clerk with polite sarcasm. "Would you mind adding who you are and why you are here?"

The man seemed surprised. He exhibited his official envelope. "It says, 'Return in five days,'" he explained, "und here I vos!"

Couldn't Resist That One

Little Davey was forever asking questions. "You'd better keep still or something will happen to you," his tired mother finally told him one night. "Curiosity once killed a cat, you know."

Davey was so impressed with this that he kept silent for three minutes. Then: "Say, Mother, what was it the cat wanted to know?"

"I'm chagrined," complained the dollar,
"When I get inside a store;
For I feel so small and futile
And embarrassed—since the war!"
