Is Consolidation the Answer To the Problem?

Last week's assembly debate brought into the open one of State's moot questions. The proposal to consolidate the Echo and the Lion has been a live topic of discussion in many quarters this week.

The muckraking presented in the debate was to a large degree excellent. We ask the question, however, if the criticism constructively proved that the answer to present faults in the publications will be found in consolidation.

Syracuse and Hamilton have tried the combination of literary and humor magazines, and the result was regarded by critics at home and abroad as a hodge-podge of material which was neither literary nor humorous. The problems of a consolidated magazine therefore may be worthy of extended study if they are to be practically considered.

The Lion and the Echo can each well afford to think about the suggestions of their critics as to content and make-up. The Echo's advance this year is to be commended; both of the publications can be improved. All of which makes us inquire again if there is not a real place for two magazines at State College, one literary and one humorous.

The Debate Question Stands Clarified

Last Friday's debate assembly clarified the position of debate at State college for the whole student association, including responsible critics and those who know nothing about the debate set-up at all.

Mr. Hardy's outline in assembly indicated that debate is on the upgrade—not "out of the dumps," for debate has been on the upgrade for some time.

The new plan for a two year course in debate has a three-fold purpose which should correct faults in the present arrangement. The purposes are (1) to provide students with a better knowledge of the theory of debate, (2) to provide debaters with background in the social and economic affairs which they will be discussing, and (3) to give practice in debate coaching. The ruling that eligibility for varsity debate will be based on participation in these classes is a forward step.

We notice other signs of upgrade in debate, too. Twenty-six students have participated in intercollegiate debate so far this year, and twelve more in intramural, these figures exceeding those of past years. This year's schedule contains six more intercollegiate contests than ever before. Although 25 or 30 per audience at State debates may seem a small number, it is large compared with audiences which have witnessed debates in other colleges which State debaters have attended.

The faculty recommendation for the direction of assembly debates by managers appointed by the classes will mean the centering of responsibility for those debates. The rule that assembly debaters must come from the varsity squad will afford better forensic ability. One reason for poor assembly debates in the past is that "everybody was given a chance" to participate in them, and the result was often not the selection of debaters but of anyone who had the time to prepare a speech.

Appointment Bureau

Letters of Application

[The News presents the second of a series of articles emanating from the Appointment Bureau for the information of seniors and graduate students looking for teaching positions.]

Many teachers are hired by letters of application, but it seems that in New York State the personal interview is superseding letters. Bear in mind, therefore, when you write letters of application, that your final aim is to secure an interview if possible. In writing, remember that you do stand a chance for the position. Make every effort to secure it. Write it with that attitude; construct the best letter you can; it is your method of introduction; and it may reveal yourself to your employer.

Rules for writing application letters include:
1. Plain paper, or else your own stationery, 8½ by 11. Typewrite. Letter should not exceed one page in length. Inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope. To give the principal or superintendent a sample of your handwriting, it might be a good idea to address the return envelope in longhand. Typewrite the letter, remember, but sign it in ink over your typewritten name.

2. If your lead on the position comes from the Appointment Bureau, mention the fact. Refer to the definite position that you are applying for.

3. Be tactful. Don't ask questions about salary, the town, or rules of the school board. Wait until you are elected.

4. Every letter of application should be an entirely new one—write to each principal as individually as possible. Look up the location of the town, and get any facts about it that you can.

A Sample Letter of Application

1306 North Lake Avenue
Albany, New York
May 6, 1937

Mr. C. F. Roberts, Principal
Boston Central School
Boston, New York
My dear Mr. Roberts:

The Appointment Bureau of the New York State College for Teachers at Albany has notified me of your vacancy in commerce and mathematics, together with coaching. The Bureau is sending my folder of credentials which will supply you with the essential facts concerning my record at State College.

But in addition, it seems advisable to point out that during the summer I served as a recreational director in the Buffalo playground system. My position required the use of my commercial training in keeping financial records and in scheduling the activities of the children. This position afforded me an excellent opportunity to work with young people of junior and senior high school age.

While at State College I played on the baseball and basketball teams, and received varsity letters in each of these sports. For two years I assisted the athletic coach by taking charge of Milne High School gym classes.

I shall be willing to arrange for a personal interview when and where it is convenient for you.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN JONES (Signature)

Cover To Cover

[For sale in the Campus]

Not Under Forty, by Willa Cather. Alfred A. Knopf, New York, 1936. 147 pp. $2.00.
Willa Cather stood in thinking that this series of sketches would not interest those under forty years of age. Miss Cather's ability to carry her audience with her into other worlds makes this book vital for any reader, young or old.

It is the world of yesterday that Miss Cather depicts the world before it broke in two in 1922. The backgrounds are quiet and simple, and yet in these backgrounds live the great figures of Balzac, Flaubert, Emerson and Dickens, Sarah Orne Jewett, and Catherine Mansfield. In her drawing room the past lives again for a while, and the reader recalls with new pleasure the poetry and novels of those who lived in that past.

Mr. W. Hardy Proposes New Forensic Managers

A new system for intercollegiate debating in State college was announced by Mr. William G. Hardy, debate coach, in assembly last week. This method calls for a concentration by debaters on two or three definite issues of the day, and also the election of special debating courses to be worked into the curriculum.

The new plan as worked into the curriculum will embody more training and application to debating theory and speaking, a better understanding of the social and economic problems of the day, and study and practice in coaching high school debating.

As to interclass debating, Mr. Hardy advised that each class appoint a debate manager to manage more efficiently this activity. He urged that there be less "back passing" less blasting criticism, and more responsibility on the part of the individual. While debate council will be the advisory body for intramural debating, the real responsibility will lie with the classes themselves.

Statesman

This past week-end certainly kept us on the go. . . . Three vic parties Friday night, and three more plus an 'Open House' Saturday night. . . . We hope that you withstood the strain. . . . Potter club seems to have changed its emblem to a triangle—with one senior, a sophomore and a 'dorm' freshman at the key positions. . . . Another possible triangle(?) was disrupted when Betty eh-joes to break her date for Glen. . . . Speaking of breaks—Although the 'dorm' president and a College house alum had a 'nice' week-end, we predict storms ahead—Torren (US of them) and Walsh she playing a game with him or . . .

Since last Friday's debate decided that the Lion and the Echo should join forces, we now infringe on Lion territory and offer a few quotable remarks. . . . Morris (on being chosen to the election commission): "We have the whole school practically at our fingertips now!" . . . A group of businesslike(?) seniors—"We won't go into the profession; that would ruin our amateur standing!" . . . Strauss—"Only bad people make the Statesman" that is incorrect, for minnie girls good ones have tried to "make" us, but we remain cold. . . .

Kappa Deltas huddled with hoo-boes at their party on Saturday. . . . Devo was especially fetching in panties, etc., said to be stolen from the nearby clothes line. . . . Two of the sophomores satisfied the cravings of their appetites with three lunches apiece. Devo's Potter club ever feel you boys? . . . The bidding for the boxes was high but no one bid trousers. Tak are we men or mice who enter? . . .

Recent investigation on Ontario street reveals the overnight growth of several scrubby looking trees. . . . now all providers may roost in its branches. Don't crowd, fellows—save me a seat please!!

Notice any Myskania member who has not yet been spanked by Jack and Jimmie may file application in the Activities Office any Friday afternoon from 3:15 to 5:00 o'clock. . . . Use V. S. or B. M. for party dates.

It's not too early to begin asking for a date to Soirees. . . . Recent basketball games and their announcements prove that the sophs are taking their dancing seriously. . . . The Two Eyed of the Autumn Club, Kols. . . . We'll be there with open ears and eyes. . . . How about having a Soiree-queen or are you still too young to dabble in politics? . . .

This constant cross-dressing is tiring us now; so we'll close with our customary Hymn for the Week. If you don't burn your bridges 'til you cross them, the backfire may burn your britches. . . . all right. . . . Don't shoot!!!

THE MAN OF STATE.

State's Stage

Negro Play Well Chosen Unusual Makeup Sophistication

PLAYGOER

A week ago Tuesday Advanced Dramatics once again gave us a taste of what they can do. The sets showed a lack of originality—we are especially tired of the center fireplace with the ship on the mantel. The make-up, however has improved.

The first play of the evening was well chosen. We realize that some of the parts were miscast; but it was a good attempt. Ruth Sinovay is a find. She presented a definite character in every minute of her performance, her movements were spontaneous, and her reactions natural. . . . We were sorry about Tom Kelly. He has done many excellent roles, but his negro character was a let-down. His movements were too quick and jerky. He tried, but didn't succeed in giving us a convincing negro character. . . . The first stage appearance of Marjorie Crist was a pleasure. She showed some of the usual first appearance faults, but gave us a real negro accent, and excellent characterization. Her hands were sometimes at a loss, but try again, Marjorie. . . . Perhaps Lillian Olson was very old, but her voice seemed much too high and strained, and hardly that of a dying woman. Her make-up was unusual and well done, but Lillian didn't live up to it. She was a little of a disappointment.

The second play was interesting, but not an unusual presentation. When it was over we were left a bit dubious, feeling that everyone could have done better than he did to make a more successful play. . . . Jeanne Chrysler did age overnight, both in manner, voice, and movement. She was at ease during the whole play, and we were pleased with her presentation of the modern mother. . . . Betty Appeldoorn seemed uneasy at times, especially when she sat on theavenport with Jenn. Her make-up should have given us an older woman—her face was too young, and not quite as grave as her character and voice. . . . Hostler's role didn't give much chance for individualism. She played it quite well, but she needs to acquire an easier stage manner. Most of her lines were mechanical as were her actions. . . . Flossie Nelbach portrayed a character quite typical of herself, and likewise did a nice natural bit of acting. She showed good stage poise, and was a bright spot in the performance.

Hellenics

And now the pledges are learning formal sorority life. At E. B. Phi, Marion Kelly and Helen Greene, juniors, were taken in to full membership.

Sigma Alpha welcomed into formal membership Ella Gifford, '38, Betty Bunce and Justine Hermann, sophomores, and Florence Barrows, Barbara Ann Patten, and Victoria Yanowski, freshmen.

The freshmen of Gamma Kappa who have been received into full membership are: Jane Barrett, Edith Bailey, Frances Becker, Audrey Connor, Grace Cullen, Elmer Bible, Frances Field, Lois Gagne, Dorothy Pritchard, Marie O'Meara, and Harriet Sprague.

Gamma Kappa Phi will be at home Sunday, the fourteenth, from 12:00 until 5:00 o'clock.

E. B. Phi welcomes Leah Wilkins, '40, into pledge membership. Pledges at Phi Lambda are Beulah Gifford and Bernice Foyeneyer, freshmen.

A. E. Phi, as its annual social service project, entertained ten poor children at a party. Also at A. E. Phi, Hannah Frost, '38, was a recent visitor.

Albany chapter of Pi Alpha Tau entertained three members of the Gamma chapter at Adelphi. P. A. T. had its annual alumnae bridge Sunday, March 7.

Bible and Jones Are Almost Twins

ON a Saturday afternoon in 1928 Dana Xenophon Bible of Nebraska and Major Lawrence McCeney (Biff) Jones of Army had a number of things in common. They coached highly respected football teams about to engage each other, they had the same birth date, October 8, and both had served as lieutenants in separate aero squadrons with the A. E. F. The final score was Army 13, Nebraska 3. In 1937 Nebraska's bald-headed grid tutor evened the score. His Cornhuskers trampled Major Jones' Sooners of Oklahoma two years in a row.

Biff Jones

Now ex-servicemen Bible and Jones are about to have coaching at Nebraska in common. Bible goes to the University of Texas at something like $17,000 a year, leaving behind him tearful farewells and a record of bringing the Huskers six Big-six championships in eight years. An army transfer robbed Oklahoma of Biff Jones's services several months ago. Now he has been lost irrevocably to the Sooners. He has resigned his commission in the U. S. A. to become Nebraska's new coach.

D. X. Bible was born in Jefferson City, Tenn., 46 year ago, Biff Jones in Washington, D. C., five years later. Jones was captain of West Point eleven in 1917. Delta Kappa Epsilon Bible warmed the bench frequently as a football sub at Carson-Newman College. He supplemented his B. A. degree with graduate work at North Carolina, Ohio State, and Centre College. Before the war Bible had coached Mississippi College three years, Louisiana State one year. After the war Biff Jones rose from assistant coach at West Point to the head coachship (1926-29). Army regulations causing his transfer, he followed in D. X.'s footsteps at Louisiana State where he developed an undefeated eleven in 1933, ordered Huey Long out of the dressing rooms between halves in 1934.

At Nebraska D. X. established a reputation as coach and soft-spoken gentleman with a habit of smacking his lips as he talked. Biff Jones has the gallantry of an Army officer of the old school, without its starched aloofness.

For Digestion's Sake—Smoke Camels

Smoking Camels, you enjoy a sense of greater ease while you're eating, and afterwards too!

WHAT Fred McDaniel (below) says about Camels is backed up 100% by baseball's "Iron Man," Lou Gehrig — by Frank Buck, of "Bring 'Em Back Alive" fame — by Eleanor Tennant, the outstanding woman tennis coach of the U. S. — and by millions of other Camel smokers in all walks of life. Enjoy Camels at every meal. They speed up the flow of digestive fluids. Increase alkalinity. Help you enjoy food. Camels set you right! They're the cigarette for steady smoking. Light up a Camel and get a "lift."

TEDIOUS STUDIES tend to drag on the nerves, often penalizing digestion. But Camels help in two specific ways: You get a "lift" in energy with a Camel. Again, smoking Camels with your meals and afterwards helps digestion run along smoothly. And Camels don't get on your nerves or tire your taste. Camels are mild!

"AFTER RIDING HERD from sun-up to sun-down, the chuck-wagon looks mighty good to me," says Fred McDaniel (left and right). "But I'm sure I wouldn't enjoy my 'chuck' half as much without the pleasure I get from smoking Camels with my meals and afterwards. After a good meal and Camels I feel plenty O.K. Camels set me right! They're throat-easy, and they never get on my nerves."

BUSY SECRETARY. "I smoke Camels—nothing else!" says Josephine Libby. "Camels put more fun into eating and smoking too. So many girls feel the same way that I do—so they smoke Camels."

Varsity Defeats Bard For Fifth Straight Win

RPI and St. Michael's Bow To Powerful Sophomore Combination

By claiming victory over R. P. I., St. Michael's, and Bard in their last three engagements, the State eagles have made it five straight; and a fitting epitaph to their 1936-37 campaign would be a win from Hartwick tomorrow night in their final contest of the current season.

It was Coach Hatfield's "Sophomore" quintet, who, having hung up two consecutive victories for State, proved their worth in emerging victorious in their past three engagements. The able assistance of the seniors, however, was felt in all of these franchises.

A highly-touted R. P. I. team, who had previously lost a narrow 1-point victory to a powerful Union squad, invaded Page Hall on February 26 to be routed 36-27 by the Purple and Gold eagles. Revenge was sweet for State after having lost a hard-fought battle to the Engineers earlier in the season.

Coach Donald started his second string five against Hatfield's "Sophomore" quintet only to be forced to replace them by the first stringers after six minutes of play. State took a 15-13 edge at halftime and for the first 12 minutes of the second stanza the Purple and Gold quintet took complete control of the fracas to put the game "on ice."

Let by Captain "Ace" Levonian and Quincy Gileoyne the Donaldians made a strong bid for victory; but the massive lead which the Teachers, having followed the example of George Amyot and Tommy Ryan, had accumulated proved too great to be overcome.

The following night State terminated its home season by landing a powerful St. Michael's quintet a 28-29 setback. Once again it was Hatfield's "Sophomore" quintet that took the floor against the Vermonters, but outwardly slowed by their hard fought game of the previous night, they went into a slump to be on the short end of a 11-3 count at midpoint of the first frame. They rallied, however, to give the well-seasoned seniors an even "break," and the veterans led by Captain Johnny Ryan held their own to place the contest in a 17-17 dead lock at halftime.

In the final half headed by the continued barrage of doubleheaders by "Duke" Hershkowitz and Carroll Lehman, the Teachers forged ahead. Captain Joe Burke, an Albanian playing the final game of his intercollegiate career, played brilliant defensive ball in a vaudeville bid for victory.

Last Saturday night the Hatfield aggregation journey to Amsterdam where they made it five straight by capturing a 32-23 victory over the Bard basketekers. This marked the third consecutive win the Teachers annexed by a 9-point margin.

State started the fireworks early in the initial frame and a 1-7 advantage at halftime. In the final stanza the Teachers were not to be stopped and with acting captain Tommy Ryan setting the pace they consisted to victory. George Amyot claimed second scoring honors while playing a stellar defensive game.

Hartwick Is Last Foe Of Teacher Quintet

It's all over tomorrow night for this year's basketball squad. The team bus rides to Oneonta to trade field baskets with the Hartwick engers in the closing game of the season.

When the purple and gold battled the Lutheran college on the night of February 13 on the Page hall court, a 50-39 victory for the teachers was the result. That marked the beginning of a winning streak for the State team which now includes five victories.

The return of Hartwick's regular center to action, and memory of last year's reversal on their court combine to point to a closely contested game.

Junior Girls Lead Intramural Teams

The approaching end of the basketball season finds the juniors leading with a score of four out of eight games. The sophomores follow with two games and the seniors and freshmen tag along with one each. Individual high scores for all the games are as follows: Phyllis Johnson, 28; Grace Yorkey, 28; Lucy King, 20; Ethel Little, 28; Della Dolan, 29; and Isabel McGowan, 37.

Realizing that high scoring depends on cooperation by the whole team, the good guarding and pass work displayed by all the members of the various teams merits praise. Referees for the games have been Miss Isabelle Johnston, instructor in physical education; Hester Price, 28; Dorothy McLean, 29 and Ethel Little, 28.

Regular practice is conducted on Monday and Saturday. Twenty times are necessary to receive credit for the sport. The team who wins the rivalry will play the Alumnae team on Saturday afternoon, March 20. An honorary varsity team will play a team from the Men's Athletic association on Sport's Night, Saturday, March 20.

Milne High To Be Host To Parents March 19

As a part of the thirteenth annual round table conference of State college, Milne High school will conduct a parents' night on Friday, March 19, under the direction of Professor John M. Sayles.

These annual round table conferences consist of meetings conducted by the various departments of the college in which the latest developments and methods in their respective fields are discussed. All college students are invited to attend.

The Milne Parents' Night will begin at 8:00 o'clock in the Page Hall auditorium.

From 9:00 to 10:30 o'clock the Milne High school will be open for visitation by the parents. Practice teachers will attend.

"Junipers" To Entertain

"The Junipers", women's group house of 27 Western Avenue is holding a card party Saturday, March 13, from 7:00 to 5:00 o'clock. Refreshments will be served and admission will be fifty cents.

Schonenberg Reports On Lutheran Meeting

John Schonenberg, 28, gave his report on the regional conference of Lutheran clubs at Mollenberg college at a meeting of the Lutheran club conducted on Wednesday, in the Friendship house.

Miss Mildred Winston, student secretary, board of education, united Lutheran Collegiate association was the guest of the club. Temporary plans were made for a sub-regional conference to be conducted in Albany after Easter recess. The conference will include Russell Sage, R.P.I., Union, Skidmore, and Hartwick.

Yearling Hoopsters Have Fair Season

Defeat From Powerful Teams Complete Freshman Games

The State college freshman basketekers capped off a season marked by sporadic successes with a fine triumph over the RPI freshmen and rather disappointing losses to Amsterdam and Mont Pleasant High schools.

The yearlings took the engineer first year men into camp by a 32-27 score. Then, going into a late season slump, they lost to Amsterdam 28-12, and to Mont Pleasant 26-16. In neither of these two games were they in their best playing fettle.

A glance over the results of the whole season shows four victories as arrayed against ten losses. That gives a batting average of .286, which, of course, to take into consideration the toughness of the opposition. Milne High school fell twice before the yearling onslaught, in the opening game 26-22, and on February 12, when Harper's foul shot gave the freshmen a 29-28 win.

Against RPI, the freshmen broke even. They lost 27-20 on December 5, and two weeks ago atoned for that loss with a 32-27 triumph. With Hartley High school, of Green Island, the better hoopsters also divided the two-game series. State went over there to win on January 8, but Hartley prevailed on the Page hall court on February 13.

Troy Business college, a very good team, beat the yearlings in their own backyard on January 8, in a poorly played game. The six remaining games, home-and-home series with Rensselaer, Amsterdam, and Mont Pleasant, resulted in six losses. Against Mont Pleasant at home, the freshmen played some of the best ball of the season, losing by a respectable score, 40-29.

Balog and Leggett at forward, Simons at center, and Fremont and Quinn at guard was the usual starting lineup. But Barney Tuttle saw plenty of action at guard despite a mid-season illness. Others on the squad throughout the season were Moore, Kelly, Haser, Van Keuzan, and Harper. Coach Barrington has turned out group well fitted to go out next year and challenge Coach Hatfield's galloping sophomores for positions on the squad.

Faculty Attend Meeting

Three members of the college faculty are attending the Thirteenth Annual Junior High School conference in New York City, today and tomorrow. The theme of the meeting is "Reducing the Economic Waste of Poor Teaching."

Friendly members attending are Dr. Robert Frederick, assistant professor of education; Dr. John M. Sayles, professor of education; and Miss Virginia R. Smith, supervisor of French. A number of State alumni will be present at the convention.

Two Athletic Groups To Sponsor Week-end

Exhibition Will Feature Freshman-Sophomore Rivalry Game

On Saturday evening, March 20, the Men's Athletic Association will join with the Girl's Athletic Association in presenting what might be termed an athletic revue. Highlight of a program packed with interesting events is the concluding feature, the annual sophomore-freshman rivalry game. Neither a definite starting time nor the exact content of the schedule of sports competition has been determined, but the set-up in the interclass rivalry game will be a men's women's basketball game, to be played under women's rules and to feature several of the elite of State in court tussle. Woven around these two basic attractions will be tumbling, boxing, wrestling, paddle tennis, volleyball, and girls' and men's fencing exhibitions.

The no-admission-fee charge will also include dancing in the Page hall ballroom until 12:00 p.m.

Winter Season

Sport's Night Silver Anniversaries

H. F. C.

At last Anastasia will have a chance to meet Cuthbert on equal terms when boy meets girl in the G.A.A.—M.A.A. basketball game on Sport's Night. Rumor has it that the husky lads are practicing in secret. Can it be they fear the skill of their fair rivals? Christine Ayles, '39, reports that over thirty people have bowled during the past season. An honorary varsity team will be chosen from those who have an average of one hundred or above.

The twenty five years of G.A.A. at State will be well represented when past team captains, council members, and G.A.A. presidents come tramping back to celebrate Alumnae Week end. Every one is invited to attend the various events. Let's make G.A.A.'s twenty fifth birthday the big event of 1937.

Foul-Shooting Contest

An all college foul shooting contest will be conducted on the Page hall court beginning Monday, March 15. Each contestant will be given twenty five attempts and his success closely checked. The contest closes Wednesday, March 24.

All entries can be made on the sheet provided on the locker room bulletin board and must be in by tomorrow night to count.

Girls' Association Celebrates Its Silver Anniversary With Alumnae

The Girl's Athletic association will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary on Saturday, March 20. A Sports Night sponsored by G.A.A. and the Men's Athletic association will climax the program.

As the occasion for this celebration the association has chosen its annual Alumnae weekend. Invitations have been issued to all women graduates who were active in sports during their college years to attend. The program for their entertainment has been planned as follows:

Friday night the guests are invited to attend the All-State Dance at the Alumnae Residence Hall. Saturday will present varied opportunities for amusement. A luncheon at Camp Johnston will be followed by an afternoon of games in the gymnasium of Page hall.

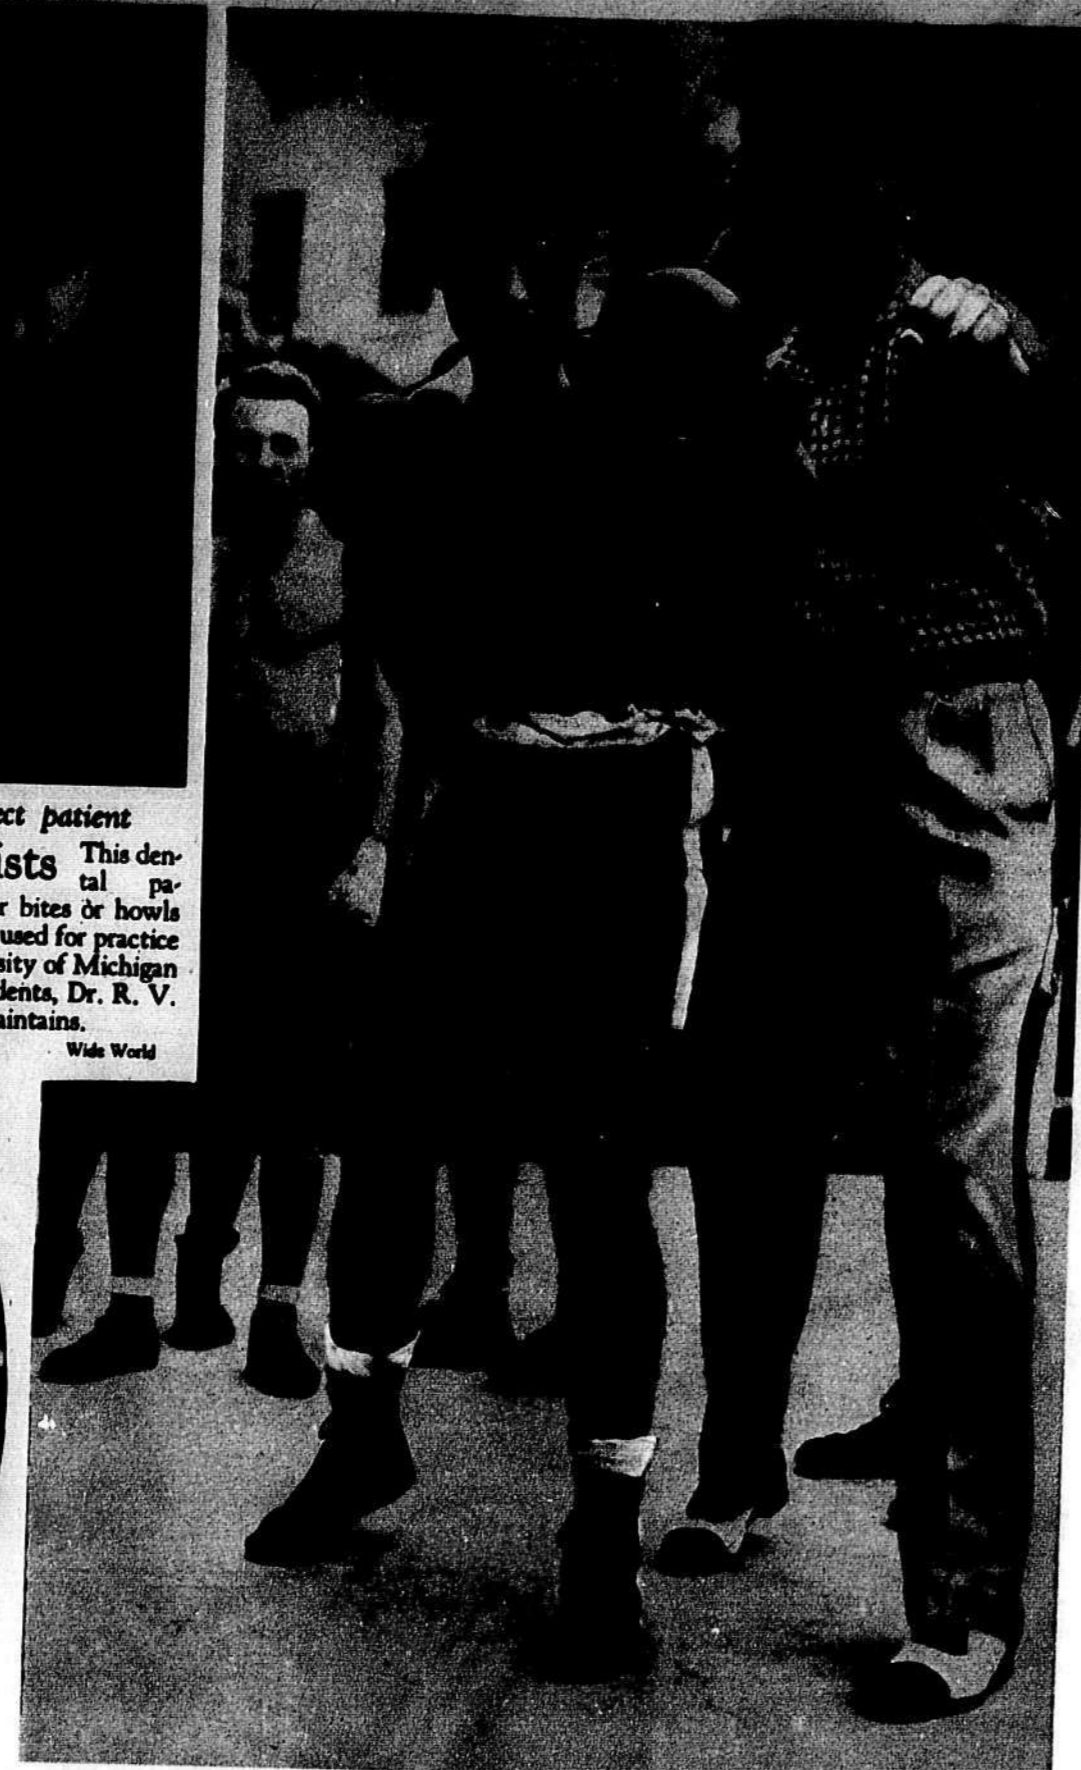

The Winter award dinner will take place at 5:30 o'clock. The theme will be a birthday party, and entertainment will feature a revue of twenty-five years of women's athletics at State.

Committees in charge of the week-end are as follows: Sport's Night—chairman, Helen Clyde, '37; assistant chairman, John O'Brien, '38; arrangement, Elsa Smith, '37; Dorothy Clapp, '38; Ruby Stewart, '40; publicity, Charles Morris, '37; Phyllis Johnson, '38; Helen Lowry, '39; Harriet Sprague, '40; Grace Yorkey, '39; Men's sports—Thomas O'Brien, '39; women's sports—Ethel Little, '38; Lillian Shapiro, '37; Irma Anderson, '38; Frances Field, '40; Thelma Miller, '38, is in charge of the luncheon at Camp Johnston. The afternoon program is under the direction of Phyllis Johnson, '38. Christine Dersheimer, '38, is chairman of the Silver winter award dinner.

Classical Club To Meet
Dean Milton G. Nelson will present an illustrated lecture at the next meeting of the Classical club, which will be held Tuesday, March 16, at 7:45 o'clock in the lounge of Richardson hall.
