Students Show Professors Practical Use Of Theories

New York (AP)—Theories are all right, and to learn some is what students came to New York university for. But theories should be given practical tests, reasoned Professor Corwin D. Edwards, and the professor finally agreed with his students that they were right.

The professor told his class they must read eighteen books on social control of business. He also told them to adopt a practical attitude toward labor problems.

After a whispered conference of the students, up rose Elinor Marshall, 17, a junior, and said:

"We believe your assignment is unfair. We are taking a practical attitude toward labor problems. We are ready to reach a compromise through collective bargaining. If you don't agree I'm afraid there will be a strike. We can, of course, employ sabotage."

Professor Edwards compromised at six books on social control of business.

HAWLEY LIBRARY TO OPEN FOR USE SECOND SEMESTER

The new Hawley hall library will be ready for student use beginning the first week of the second semester with the completion of last minute details in the project, Dr. A. R. Brubacher, president, said recently.

Books and materials will be moved into the new library beginning January 24 at a time when these materials will not be in use by the students. Dr. Brubacher expects that the entire process of moving will be completed by Monday, February 6, the first day of the second semester.

The changes and innovations in the library include a large reading room on the main floor, with overhead ceiling lights and chandeliers; a series of three offices and work rooms for the library staff; and an elevator running to the basement of Hawley hall, which will be used for stacks. Special meeting or conference rooms have been prepared on the second floor of the building. These have been designed especially for the use of debate groups and conference work.

Thoughtlessness, Not Discourtesy, Is Fault Of Students, Faculty Believe

Thoughtlessness rather than discourtesy seems to be the fault of State college students, according to the opinions of several members of the faculty as the spring vacation nears. continued its investigation on the problem. This is a continuation of the statement made last week by Mr. Ames E. Entwistle, assistant professor of English.

"We should size up a situation before we react," Dr. Elizabeth Murray, assistant professor of education, suggested as a remedy. "We tend to be a little bit over-impulsive. We react first and size up the situation afterwards," she said. "The unfortunate habit is to react. In the student council, for example, the impulse to react is to obtain action, will be recognized."

Dr. Murray believes that State college has the problem only as a little handicap to overcome. "The more we recognize the actual situation in the college of people, the more we will be able to cope with the habit which smoothes out relations between people," and Dr. Murray felt she was able to differentiate between the term "political hand shaking" and "social courtesy" and "social politeness."

Mr. Clarence A. Hedley, a full professor of history, is of the opinion that for the most part thoughtlessness prevails the more. It might seem that student are thoughtless when they hamper the beginning of classes on schedule time, by refusing to refrain from last minute and disturbing conversation, but he refused to call it discourteous action. # VARSITY DEFEATS HAMILTON, 34-23

Offensive in Second Half Gains 21 Points for Undefeated Team on Friday

By THOMAS RYAN, '34
Sports Editor, News

Staging a brilliant second-half offensive to run up twenty-one points behind the accurate shooting of Roger "Sparkie" Bancroft, Cliff Rail, and Grover Hotelling, State's inviolated basketball team made history when it trimmed Hamilton college, 34-23, on Page court Friday night.

Coach Baker declared that the third-quarter rally made by the varsity was the finest ten minutes of basketball that he had ever seen played on any court.

The starting lineup of Bancroft and Hotelling, forwards; Ben Boldt, center; and Captain Gil De Lanza and Cliff Rail, guards, quickly broke through Hamilton's zone defense at the opening of the game and sank four field baskets before the countermoves could organize an offensive. With State leading 8-18 the Hamilton defense suddenly tightened, and the visitors began a fast passage at tack led by O'Brian, forward; and O'Connell, center, who sank four field baskets to cut down State's lead. Tom Garrett replaced Boldt at center at the start of the second quarter, and led by Captain De Lanza and Hotelling, the Purple and Gold quartet succeeded in breaking up Hamilton's block play. Two overhead shots by Cliff Rail gave the varsity a two-point lead which it continued to hold a half time when the score stood 14-12.

Starting at the second half, Ray Harris replaced Garrett at center, and Coach Baker's men organized the fastest passing and shooting game ever witnessed on Page court. Bancroft and Hotelling also had been missing their shots during the first two periods of the game, but in the third and began to drop in baskets from all angles. On the contrary, Hamilton was unable to advance 36 ball beyond the foul circle. De Lanza and Hotelling gave a sparkling demonstration at taking the ball off the back board and advancing it into the opponents' territory. Unable to penetrate State's defense, Hamilton resorted to shooting from beyond the foul circle, and succeeded in scoring several long shots to prevent a complete rout, but were unable to stop the Teachers' onslaught.

Leading by ten points towards the end of the game, the State team realized that it had won victory and settled down to a cool, collected game, being content to keep possession of the ball and stall out at Hamilton rally. At the mid-way state was leading by eleven points, 24-13.

Bancroft and Rail accounted for twenty-two of state's points between them. Bancroft contributed thirteen and Rail twelve points. Hotelling added three, and De Lanza, O'Brien, O'Connell, and Harris contributed the remaining five baskets.

O'Connell, who was fouled by Hamilton with eight points to count at center was present in the "accidental" foul play and passed out on the floor, but returned to the game.

In a post-game interview the Purple Delta Kappa chapter reported Alpha chapter to retain the leadership of the inter-collegiate basketball tournament.

Final Score:
Hamilton 23
Varsity 34
Bancroft 13
Hotelling 12
De Lanza 3
O'Brien 3
O'Connell 3
Harris 3
Rail 10

"General" Deyo To Retire From Service After Seven Years As College Janitor

Seven years of service to State college will come to a close on Tuesday, January 31, for "General" James J. Deyo, janitor, who receives his permanent retirement papers "with merit." Mr. Deyo will celebrate his seventy-third birthday, next Friday, four days previous to his leaving the service of the janitorial force.

Mr. Deyo, in spite of his age, says he feels "as young as thirty," and to look at him as he goes about his daily work, one would be inclined to believe as the school janitor.

He was born in 1860 just before the heat and turmoil of civil strife between the North and the South. At the age of five, he says, he recalls hearing stirring stories of Abraham Lincoln from his father's lips. Speaking of politicians, "General" Deyo, as he is familiarly called, said that there is a distinct difference between the politician of the last century and the political leader of today. "The present one," he says, "lack poise and politeness, although they are just as intelligent and just as crooked."

Mr. Deyo attributes his good health to the fact that he "never sleeps on a hard floor and never wears a heavy coat." In the prime and vigor of his youth he worked in the laying of the campus and in the winter he shoveled snow from the sidewalks.

"General" Deyo is a lover of horticulture. He notes his unimpaired ability to meet in state his long experience of State college and other busy days in the last forty years.

He is a member of the Hamilton chapter of the I. O. O. F. and has been taking the lead in many of its activities since 1895.

The complaint that "General" Deyo has of late years is that he is "too old" to do any more work. He says, however, that he is "too old" to do any more work.

The reason for state college's failure according to his own words, is that it is "too old" to do any more work.

He is a member of the Hamilton chapter of the I. O. O. F. and has been taking the lead in many of its activities since 1895.

GREEKS TO SEND RUSH INVITATIONS, PRESIDENT STATES

three preferences can be listed, this is not a restriction, for by her acceptance of rush bids, the student has already named her first three choices.

If a girl has been bid by the sorority named as her first choice, she automatically has accepted their bid. If this sorority has not bid her, but the one she named as second choice has, she automatically accepts the bid of her second choice. If neither the first or second sorority listed in her preferences bids her, but her third choice does, she accepts the bid.

In the advent that none of the sororities listed on the student's preference list bids her, she is still open at any time to rushing by any sorority. Intersorority council wishes the freshmen to know that they do not have to put down three preferences if there are not that many sororities which they would be interested in joining. However, students must accept the bid of any sorority on her list if she submits a preference list to Miss Pierce. In the advent of a student's refusing to join a sorority which she has put on her preference list and which has bid her, she is not open to rushing at any later time by any sorority.

Freshmen need not be reluctant to put down any sorority whose rush party they never attended. The sororities will never be informed as to whose names were on the student's preferential blanks, Miss Simmons explained.

War Veteran, Aged 36, Is Smartest Freshman

(Chicago) (AP) The smartest freshman at the University of Chicago is a 36-year-old World War veteran who is the father of two children.

He is Linton Keith, who before he joined the Marines in 1917, was valedictorian of his high school class at Princeton, Ill.

Keith was one of 750 freshmen at the University of Chicago who took the scholastic aptitude test, and he came out first in the test. What is more, those who gave the test said that Keith made a higher grade than any of the 200,000 freshmen in some 200 colleges who have taken the test in the last ten years.

After the World War Keith came to Chicago and attended business college and for twelve years thereafter was an employee in a correspondence school and other firms.

When he lost his job last summer through the depression he made up his mind to spend his savings on a college education, which he hopes to, and probably will, complete in two years.
