HOMEROOM 135 LEADS IN HONOR POINTS

Homeroom 135, which is Miss Moore's homeroom, has 76 points for the past month, the highest number of points in the Junior High School.

The following are the number of points for the Junior High School homerooms;

Seventh grade--Mrs. Barson's homeroom 130, 39; Miss Smith's homeroom 129, 68.2 points; Miss Conklin's homeroom 228, 75.

Eighth grade--Miss Wheeling's homeroom 233, 59; Miss Moore's homeroom 135, 76; Miss Bill's homeroom 124, 67.4.

Ninth grade--Miss Martin's homeroom 128, 70.4; Mr. Raymond's homeroom 127, 70; Miss Halter's homeroom 121, 72.

RECEPTION SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

The annual reception will be held tonight between eight o'clock and eleven forty-five. It is to be a joint assemblage of the Junior and Senior High Schools in the gymnasium and auditorium. There will be a program in the auditorium presented by groups from the various classes, after which everyone will adjourn to the gymnasium for dancing.

The Junior High School stunt was written by Christine Bayreuther. It is called "The Charm School" and is supposed to show the difference a modern young man can make in an old fashioned school which was left to him by his uncle.

HOMEROOMS PLAN ACTIVITIES

Homeroom 135 is planning to purchase an aquarium for the room. Last week Barbara Souper and Marjorie Flaten presented a skit for the entertainment of the homeroom.

Room 128 is planning to give a play, Friday, January 18. Several plays are being considered, but no final choice has been made.

The seventh grade homeroom 130 is planning an assembly program for November 16. The program will be presented by the talented members of the class. The numbers on the program are to be a secret until the day of the assembly.

Today, the pupils of Homeroom 127 are going to imitate radio stars in a program. The scene will be that of a radio studio. Those who will take part are: Ethel Fasoldt and Mary Ellen Gillett, Snowvillage; Grace Gallien, monologue; Marion Kosbob and Frances Levitz, George Burns and Gracie Allen; Betty Leitch, Norma Rapowich, and Janet Bremer, A Bedtime Story; Mitchell Ford, Bert Lahr; John Jenkins, Rubinoff; Edmund Haskins, Joe Penner. James McClure will be the announcer.

CLASS TAKES TRIP; PLANS PROGRAM

The 8A Social Science Class, taught by Miss Klose, visited the state buildings last Friday. The members of the class visited the State Office Building first and viewed the surroundings from the top. From there, they went through the tunnel to the Capitol, where they saw the flag room, the governor's office, and the assembly and senate chambers.

The class is planning an assembly program to be presented November 23. Members of the class who will take part are: Wilson Hume, Billy Saunders, Robert Wilke, Franklin Steinhardt, Betty Douglas, Elizabeth Simmons, Herbert Marx, Mary Winshurst, Frances Seymour, Virginia Tripp, Marion McCormack, Sylvia Rypins, and Alfred Wheeler. The announcer is Gordon Robinson. The title of the skit is "In a Naturalization Court."

PUPILS TRYOUT FOR PLAY

The tryouts for the annual Junior High School Christmas play were held on Monday, November 6. Miss Moore, the director of the play, announces the cast as follows: Mitchell Ford, John Hawkins, Thomas Farran, Marjorie Pond, Virginia Tripp, Elizabeth Simmons. The rest of the cast will be announced in next week's issue.

The play will be Told In A Chinese Garden by Constance Wilcox.

8A ENGLISH CLASS PRESENTS ASSEMBLY

The 8A English class presented original monologues in the auditorium yesterday. Those who took part were: Betty Douglas, announcer; Patty Gibson, Herbert Marx, Mary Winshurst, Virginia Tripp, Wilson Hume, Franklin Steinhardt, Frances Seymour, Margaret Charles, Helen Barker, Hazel Roberts, and Janet Cole.

WHAT'S YOUR JOB?

The choice of a vocation is a serious problem. It should be approached with much careful thought and planning. If we are unfitted for the job we choose we are usually failures. If our job should be dull and uninteresting, we would soon tire of it. If we get no return whatever from the work we put into the job, it certainly will not be very valuable to us. So it is important that we find out whether we are to be doctors, lawyers, merchants, or chiefs, and spend some time in preparation for our job.

Everyone has something which he can do best. That is the pointer he should follow in choosing his vocation. Square pegs need square holes, so we should begin making our holes now.

BOOKS EXPLAIN GREEK PICTURES

The art bulletin board offers an interesting exhibit this week. It displays pictures of the Acropolis and other ruins of Athens. Some books which explain these pictures in an interesting manner are: Greek and Roman Mythology by K. P. Harrington, Theras and His Town by C. C. Snedeker, The Perilous Seat by C. D. Snedeker.

STUDENT COUNCIL BRIEFS

The Student Council decided at the meeting last Friday that it would wait until more suggestions had been given to the Council before deciding which pins to wear.

Thomas Parran, president of the Traffic Club, plans to have his club members wear Traffic emblems to distinguish them from other students while on duty.

The Student Council has received the twenty-five dollars which was asked for to finance the club programs. The clubs that have not informed the Council of the amount of money needed to carry out their plans are asked to do so now.

CLASS HAS PROGRAM

The 8C Social Science class gave a special project program on Tuesday, November 7. On the program was a play about immigrants. Those who took part were: Peggy Jantz, Edgar Harding, Damia Winshurst, Jack Hodecker, Betty Holmes, and Arnold Rosenstein. The play was directed by Marjorie Pond.

The next project was a debate: Resolved, that immigration should be limited. The people on the affirmative side were: Edgar Haring, Kenneth Wilcox, Arnold Rosenstein. Those on the negative were: Edith Stevens, Damia Winshurst, Anne Hague.

The last project on the program was another debate: Resolved, that there are more advantages in a compact neighborhood. The speakers on the affirmative side were: Kingsley Griggs, Betty Smith, Anne Hague. Those on the negative side were: Althea Wallace, Edith Stevens, George Farrington. Robert Campbell was the chairman of the program.

NEWSPAPER CLUB PLANS TRIP

The Newspaper Club is planning a trip to the Knickerbocker Press for Wednesday, November 15. The members will be accompanied by the club sponsors, Miss Pike and Miss Hart.

CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The Excursion Club, under the supervision of Miss Erb, has elected Margaret Charles as president and Dorothy Sherman as secretary.
