CSEA Opens Two-Front Battle On DE Appeals

Special Division of Employment Committee; Alexander T. Aldrich, executive assistant to the Governor; Joseph F. Feily, CSEA president; Dr. T. Norman Hurd, Budget Director; Sol Neil Corbin, counsel to the Governor; Richard A. Weibe, representing William J. Ronan, secretary to the Governor, and Harry W. Albright, Jr., CSEA counsel. (See story at right).

Hundreds Join Fight Against Budget Veto

ALBANY, Sept. 14—Nearly one thousand Division of Employment workers have joined the Civil Service Employees Assn. in a court suit to force the State Director of the Budget to approve salary reallocations affecting four DE titles, it was learned at Leader press time.

A second courtroom battle was launched last week in a suit filed by the CSEA against the State Civil Service Commission. In this case the CSEA contends that two new positions, employment counselor and senior employment counselor, are not valid promotion examinations since the duties involved are essentially the same as those now being done in employer interviewer titles.

The Employees Assn. has declared that employment interviewers should be reallocated to the new position without examination, since they have already established their eligibility for these duties.

Appointments Stayed

In this latter case, Supreme Court Justice John H. Penneck signed a stay order which will prevent the State Civil Service Commission from approving any appointments to the new title until the entire suit is settled.

In the meantime, the Employees Assn., in a meeting with top members of Governor Rockefeller's cabinet, advanced several proposals in the whole area of State employee salary appeals. These proposals are now being studied by the administration and further meetings will be held.

The dinner meeting will be held at 6 p.m. and will cost $1.50 per member.

Dutchess County B of S Gets Salary Proposals For 26 Grades From CSEA

POUGHKEEPSIE, Sept. 14—At the request of the Dutchess County Chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn., the Research Department of CSEA, Albany, has submitted to the County Officers and Compensation Committee of the Board of Supervisors a proposed salary plan composed of 26 salary grades which, according to Supervisors Miller and Donaldson, co-chairmen of the committee, would cost the county approximately $72,000 additional funds over the present rate for the first year of operation, if adopted.

Electives Don't Count

The plan states, "No recommendation has been made with respect to the salary of elective and appointive officials or positions normally considered in the exempt class or unclassified service. . . (nor) for salary recommendations with respect to the salaries of department heads and their deputies."

Among the recommendations quoted in the plan are "Dutchess County should provide an appropriate procedure for the annual review of A., the adequacy of the general wage level; B., The internal alignment with respect to the individual classification of positions; C., The equity of the allocation of the position titles within the salary structure."

Effective Jan. 1

The proposed salary schedule in the plan, which if adopted would become effective Jan. 1, 1965, lists: Group I, (cleaner, food service helper, laundry workers,) $3100-$3900, increment $200; Group II, (clerk, elevator operator, institutional aide, laboratory helper, typist, watchman), $3225-$4065, increment $210; Group III, (court attendant, key punch operator, laborer, typist-telephone operator, matron, stenographer) $3390-$4270, increment $220; Group IV, (bookkeeping machine operator, head cleaner, janitor, photocopy operator) $3555-$4475, increment $230.

Attention To Capital District

ALBANY, Sept 14—A planned Institute by the Capital District Conference, Civil Service Employees Assn. scheduled for Sept. 15 has been rescheduled, according to A. Victor Costa, conference president. The reason the Institute was rescheduled for Sept. 30 was because of the fact Sept. 16 is Yom Kippur, the holiest day of the year for members of the Jewish faith. This Institute was for Secretaries and Treasurers. The Institute of Sept. 14 and Sept. 17 will be held as scheduled.

10% Absorption May Go

No Federal Loss Of Jobs As Nov. 3 Draws Closer

IS THERE A SCARE on in Washington or isn't there, regarding the Federal civil service worker? It appears from this corner that there is. Ever since the hearings on Morrison Pay Bill started there has been constant ill-feeling within the ranks of agency personnel. What it boils down to is the fact that some 10 percent of the total cost of the any raise may be absorbed by each individual agency. The concern although pertinent to Federal Employees, envelopes all service employees, there being Federal, State, County or City.

Time and again people such as Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia and Elmer Staats, Deputy Director of the Budget have emphasized the fact that there was no danger—check that—no danger in the report that people would be laid off within each agency in order to make up the 10 percent absorption cost.

As previously reported in this column, Elmer Staats, the high budget executive pointed out, "the 10 percent can be saved simply by cutting down on the number of paper clips that are used in the office. Any method of economy that cuts a 10 percent chunk out of the budget for said agency is all that is required."

Since that time, and presently, there exists a tension uncalled for within the working force of Washington.

A spot-check of several agencies reveals an uneasiness which does really not hold water; The feeling that some aides will be fired for economy.

10 Year Survey

Recently, a 10-year survey published by the office of Sen. Byrd revealed that there was a two percent step up in Federal jobs over the past ten years, plus an increase in pay of some 70 percent. He is chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-essential Federal Expenditures, and known as Mr. Economy.

"We are not complaining, we are reporting facts," the Senator's office told the Leader.

According to Vaux Owen, president of the National Federal of Federal Employees the uncertainty felt and the uneasiness shown is not worth paying attention to: Says Owen: "This is an election year and the forces of capital hill have informed me that they will relent on the necessity of the various agencies to absorb the 10 percent cost of the Morrison Pay Bill. Also because it is an election year we are hopeful for more benefits for retirees and we feel sure that the possibility of such is worth thinking about."

"The way the 10 percent absorption would be taken care of would be for the Congress to pass a supplemental appropriations bill which would easily take care of the supposed agency responsibility," said the offices of Owen.

So what does all this boil down to? Simply this.

The uneasiness can stop and the various agencies that think they are feeling the pinch can relax.

For in the words of the people in the know on top of the capital beat, there is no sweat. This is the year, Nov. 3 is the day, when all the musts must be taken care of. And to quote even an official in the office of Sen. Byrd: "A Federal worker's problem in these times is a must."

It must be remembered that those on Capital Hill and in the Legislative Halls of Albany are well aware of the powers of Civil Service reporting.

It must also be stated that things have changed since the old days, and now with 20 percent of the voters coming from the ranks of the civil service worker and his family, one must sit up and take notice, for the watchful eyes of the Civil Service employee, the Civil Service Employees Assn., various groups and Leader reporters, are sneaking behind the scenes and breaking important developments for the public servant's benefit.

Fact Sheets—Door To Good PR

GOVERNMENT AGENCIES should use "fact sheets" like oil companies use road maps. Both the "fact sheets" and the road maps are open doors to good public relations.

THE "FACT SHEETS" are the ready reference which shows the way to and within a government agency to all the "publics" interested in an agency's operations—newspapers, taxpayers, legislators, other government executives, and citizens having business with the agency.

AS A TOOL of public relations practices, the "fact sheet" covers all bases better than any other technique except a personally conducted tour of a government agency's operations. In most cases, such a tour for very large numbers of people just isn't feasible.

A CASE IN point is one of the best "fact sheets" we've ever seen come out of any government office—the 36-page "fact sheet" recently issued by the New York City Housing Authority.

HOW CAN YOU take anyone on a personally conducted tour to 125 housing projects totalling 1,598 buildings, where live 134,695 families—all of which are worth an astronomical 1.73 billion?

NO ONE CAN afford to take six months off for such tour. But almost anyone interested can take a profitable 30-minute tour of this vast operation by going through this intelligently conceived and executed "fact sheet."

NEW YORK CITY is a huge place, making it necessary for the "fact sheet" to cover the Authority on a city-wide basis, and then borough by borough through all five boroughs.

AT A GLANCE we discovered that approximately 523,118 people live in the projects operated by the New York City Housing Authority, a population greater than all but the largest cities in the United States.

WE DON'T LIKE overwhelming our readers with "numbers", particularly astronomical "numbers", such as $2.198 billion, the total value of New York City Housing Authority property in operation, under construction, in planning, and under study.

NOT ONLY DID Oscar Kanny, director of the Authority's Public Relations Division, list each project, but he carefully set forth all the services available to tenants such as community and children's centers, health clinics, etc. The location of each project is given, its completion date, number of apartments, estimated population, development costs, and average rent per room.

BY DIVIDING the total operation borough by borough, Kanny immediately pinpointed local interest. A newspaper such as the "Long Island Daily Press" can determine in a matter of seconds the location of every Authority project in the Borough of Queens. Thus, the handy reference saves the newspaper time, telephone calls, and other wasted motion. The same is true of the sister paper of the "Press", the "Staten Island Advance."

ONE OF THE most important aspects of the "fact sheet" is its simple explanation of complicated financial facts.

SO INGENIOUS is the Authority's compendium of its operations—which is also a record of its achievements—that we unhesitatingly award our "Public Relations Blue Ribbon" to the Authority, Chairman William Reid, and Kanny.

WE RECOMMEND that all government public information officers get a copy of this "fact sheet" to follow as a model for their own agency.

Pending State Ruling

Lewis County Sheriff's Deputies Authorized To Be Paid Overtime

WATERTOWN, Sept. 14—The Lewis County Civil Service Commission has agreed to approve county payrolls pending a state ruling on the legality of a Board of Supervisors Committee ordering payment of overtime for deputies in the sheriff's department. The board itself did not act on the committee's recommendation.

Attorney Clark Chase, Civil Service Commission secretary, says he is waiting for a state Commission ruling on the board committee's orders. An opinion is also being sought from Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz. The head of the County Officers and employees committees, Supervisor Ralph Marmon, said he has directed the county Civil Service Commission to approve the payrolls.

Attorney Chase said the Commission will comply pending final decisions on the legality of the procedure, adding that if the Board of Supervisors granted overtime pay it would be legal.

He is not sure that the action of a single committee is legal, however. The petition from the sheriff's department came at a time when public health nurses also petitioned for pay raises. They were turned down by the Board of Supervisors. As a result of the dispute, two nurses quit their jobs and a public health committee doctor resigned.

Supervisor Marmon says the Lewis County pay plan gives his committee the right to alter the system by authorizing overtime pay to the deputies.

Will Boost Take-Home Pay

Onondaga Offers Aides 5-Point Plan Increase

(From Leader Correspondent)

SYRACUSE, Sept. 14—Onondaga County Board of Supervisors is expected to act on a resolution authorizing the county to pay another three percent of employees' contribution to their retirement plan, thus boosting their take-home pay this week.

The increase in the county's contribution to the retirement plan was one of the recommendations made early this year by Onondaga Chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn.

The chapter urged the county to approve the additional payment under the act of the Legislature permitting governmental subdivisions to boost their retirement contributions.

The supervisors' personnel committee approved the additional retirement contribution last week, at the suggestion of County Personnel Commissioner Louis A. Harrolds.

Approval by the committee paved the way for possible adoption by the Board of Supervisors soon.

Lessen Impact

If approved, the boost in county payment would increase to eight percent of employees' salaries the amount the county would pay into the retirement fund. Employees would pay only two percent of their salaries, compared with five percent now — the county also pays five percent of salaries.

The boost in take home pay also would lessen the impact of the new county salary plan on employees whose salaries would increase by only small amounts next year—some employees are due to get raises of as little as $7 to $15 under the new plan.

Onondaga Chapter officials explained that approval of the resolution by the Board of Supervisors would mean a boost of $150, for example, for an employee making an annual salary of $5,000. Other workers will benefit proportionately.

The personnel commissioner suggested the retirement payment boost at a meeting of the committee after explaining that the cost of implementing the recently approved salary plan would total $180,000, not $240,000 as previously estimated.

Harrolds then suggested that the $60,000 "surplus" could be used to pay the additional three percent of retirement cost, and boost employees' take home pay. "We will make a lot of little people happy," he said.

The salary plan, some county officials have indicated, has brought complaints from a number of county workers, particularly those whose salaries will go up only the smallest amounts.

Under the new plan, all employees will receive a pay boost, but some, because they will have to go into the next higher step in their grade will receive only a small boost. The new plan will increase many employees salaries four percent next year.

The personnel committee last week also boosted the minimum hourly wage of county employees 40 cents to $1.50. Action on this is also scheduled.

Watertown Battle Still Unsettled

WATERTOWN, Sept. 14 — This city's sharp controversy over City Manger Ronald G. Forbes' challenge to civil service through appointment of police and fire chiefs without benefit of examination has come into sharper focus with the official request to the Municipal Civil Service Commission for an exempt classification for the officials.

Up to now police and fire chiefs have always been required to take non-competitive civil service tests for promotion. Currently, through the city manager's action, Chief John L. Touchette of the police department, and Chief George S. Bates, fire department, have been made in defiance of local civil service advice.

To bring the matter into proper focus for eventual official ruling by the New York State Civil Service Commission, Attorney Ward proposed the city council adopt a resolution requesting exempt status for the two chiefs. The council agreed.

Now the local commission will be required by law to hold a public hearing on the council request. Following the hearing the matter will be handed to the state commission to decide if the law permits the change.

City Manager Forbes apparently made up his mind after the police chief who retired Sept. 1, Carl H. Green, had failed a civil service non-competitive examination. The administrative officer of the city said he opposed examinations for chiefs.

1,000 New Trees

ALBANY, Sept. 14 — The new State University campus on what was once the Albany Country Club is getting 1,000 new trees. A contract has been awarded the Lawn Beautiful Nurserymen of West Sand Lake for $58,850. Planting will begin shortly.

This Is A Wheel Amongst Wheels—Ecker Is The Name

SYRACUSE, Sept. 14 — Nearly a quarter of a century of active membership in the Civil Service Employees Assn.

That's the record of Charles J. Ecker of Warners, who is now president—for the fourth terms—of the Syracuse State School Chapter—the unit he was active in forming in 1941.

Ecker also is the Mental Hygiene representative on the CSEA Board of Directors, representing the Central and Western Areas state hospitals and state schools since his election to the board last October.

He has served on the CSEA's education and membership committees, and now is a member of the Special Mental Hygiene Committee which is to meet with the commissioner of mental Hygiene Sept. 16 in Albany. And he is an active member of the CSEA Central Conference, serving as a chairman of one committee and a member of three others.

Served First Term

In the Syracuse State School Chapter, Ecker served as treasurer, delegate and vice president before being elected to his first term as president.

Ecker's rise in CSEA almost paralleled that in his work at the state school.

Starting as an attendant in 1933, he was promoted to Assembly Hall custodian, to Industrial Arts instructor, to Recreation Instructor, Social Worker, Colony Supervisor and then to Senior Colony Supervisor, in charge of Ward Service of the Syracuse State School's Suburban Division, the post he now holds.

Broido Finds Navy Yard 'Doomed'

The Brooklyn Navy Yard "is doomed as an active facility" under current Navy policies, according to Louis Broido, Commissioner of the New York City Department of Commerce and Industrial Development.

Commissioner Broido came to his conclusion after attending high-level conferences in Washington, and in view of the fact that the Yard has had no major construction contract since 1961.

Shutdown of the New York Naval Shipyard in Brooklyn (which is its proper name) would put some 10,000 workers out of jobs.

Merit Exam Points

POLICE COMMISSIONER Michael Murphy last week announced that he was rewarding policemen with commendations for every two narcotics arrests within a one year period. These commendations count points for promotion.

The same system has been in effect for some time in auto theft arrests and arrests for driving while intoxicated.

Commissioner Murphy's action makes for a true merit system. After passing the examination the patrolman or superior officer competing for promotion will have his arrest record taken into consideration for extra points.

The Fire Department does the same thing for rescues and other actions above the call of duty where the fireman places his life in jeopardy.

Other agencies could look into this system of adding promotion points to an employees record as the meritorious act occurs so that the candidate for promotion knows in advance what extra points he has in their favor.

Civil Service Law & You

By WILLIAM GOFFEN

(Mr. Goffen, a Member of the New York Bar, teaches law at the College of the City of New York, is the author of many books and articles and co-authored "New York Criminal Law.")

Justice Prevails

STATUTORY TIME limitations may forever bar a legal remedy. However, there are cases in which justice is not thwarted by the mere lapse of time.

SUCH A CASE involving correction of a long standing injustice was brought on behalf of an applicant for the position of social investigator with the New York City Department of Welfare. His certification was withheld because of a detention for disorderly conduct sixteen years earlier.

ON THE way to the station house where the prisoner was incarcerated for about six hours, the detaining officer assured him that, if he pleaded guilty, he would have only to pay a $25 fine and could then go home and forget about it. He was not informed that a plea of guilty constitutes a conviction of which a permanent record is made.

WITH THE officer's repeatedly whispering in his ear during the arraignment, "Plead Guilty," he pleaded guilty although innocent, paid the fine, and was released from custody.

SIXTEEN YEARS later, he discovered he could not forget about it when his dream of a civil service career was jeopardized.

A PROCEEDING in the nature of coram nobis ("our court") was instituted. The petition was based upon the misrepresentation of the police officer that the matter could be forgotten and upon the failure of the magistrate to inform the petitioner of his right to counsel.

UNFORTUNATELY for the petitioner, he was not able to support his petition with the stenographic minutes of the arraignment because the Court reporter had since died. However, Criminal Court Judge Arthur Braun, whose goodness of heart matched his legal scholarship, vacated the plea of guilty and directed a trial. Judge Braun based his decision on the fact that the sentencing magistrate had not signed the paragraph on the face of the complaint specifying the rights of which the defendant was to be advised. The magistrate customarily signed this paragraph to indicate that the defendant had been advised of all his rights. Such rights included the right to counsel, probably the most important right of an accused.

JUDGE BRAUN did not analyze the defendant's further contention that his guilty plea was induced by the police officer's fraud because the issue was unessential to his determination.

INSTEAD OF proceeding to trial, the assistant district attorney, after numerous adjournments, moved to set aside Judge Braun's decision on the ground of newly discovered evidence. Such evidence consisted of the deceased reporter's minutes which, it was said, showed that the defendant had been advised of his right to counsel.

AT THE hearing of the motion, cross-examination of the court storekeeper revealed that the minutes were not newly discovered. They had been located readily upon the district attorney's request at the inception of the proceeding and had been in his possession all along.

A REPORTER for the district attorney transcribed the minutes so that the word "lawyer" appeared in the recital of the defendant's rights. He was contradicted by the petitioner's expert, Morris I. Kligman, the author of a textbook on Pitman shorthand. Kligman read the word as "record" and supported his interpretation with the symbols for "lawyer" and "record" as reflected in a Pitman dictionary. Besides, he pointed to other arraignments on the same page of the deceased reporter's notes in which he had used the conventional Pitman symbol for "lawyer."

JUDGE BRAUN denied the District Attorney's motion and again set the case down for trial. On the date of trial, the District Attorney placed on the stand the arresting officer who had since retired from the force. He testified that he had no recollection of the case, and the District Attorney had to drop the unprovable charges.

WITH HIS record cleared, the petitioner was marked "Qualified in investigation" and certified for the position of Social Investigator Trainee.

THERE IS no statute of limitations on coram nobis. It is never too late to eradicate a conviction in disregard of due process.

Social Security Questions Answered

Below are questions on Social Security problems sent in by our readers and answered by a legal expert in the field. Anyone with a question on Social Security should write it out and send it to the Social Security Editor, Civil Service Leader, 97 Duane St., New York 7, N.Y.

Q. "In January I filed an application for social security benefits, thinking that my earnings would be less than $1200 this year. Now I find I am going to earn more than $1200. What should I do?"

A. Since you are being paid social security benefits on your estimated earnings of less than $1200, you should file a revised estimate as soon as possible to avoid an overpayment of benefits. At the end of the year when you have filed your annual report, it can then be determined whether you have been underpaid or overpaid, and the Social Security Administration will make the necessary adjustment.

Q. "What do they mean, "Your social security card is the key to your payments?"

A. That card shows how your social security record is set up and identified by your name and your social security account number. When your earnings are reported with the name and number shown on your social security card, your earnings can be speedily credited to you and you alone, regardless of how many other persons have an identical name. Payments to workers and their dependents or survivors are based on the amount of earnings credited to workers' (and self-employed persons') accounts. To be sure you get full credit, take good care of that social security card. Make sure your employer sees it when you take a new job. Above all, use it; don't lose it.

Q. "How do I find out if all my earnings have been credited to my social security account?"

A. Your district office or representative has a special post card for checking your social security account. It is called "Request for Statement of Earnings," or Form OAR-7004. (If you do not know the location of your nearest social security office, look in your telephone directory under Social Security Administration or check your local post office.) The Social Security Administration encourages everyone to check on his earnings record from time to time, especially if you change jobs frequently or work for more than one employer during the year. That way, if a mistake appears to have been made, it can be more readily corrected.

Q. I am a new bride and do not plan to retire from my job. What should I do about my social security card. My name is now different from the name on my card."

A. You should ask your social security office for a new card showing your new name. You will be asked to complete a short application and then will be issued a new card.

Q. My wife hires a cleaning lady to come in each Friday afternoon to "do" our apartment. She is given her lunch at noon and $3.50 cash wages every day she works. Is my wife required to report her wages for social security and if so, would the value of the meals be included?"

A. If a household worker is paid cash wages of at least $50 in a calendar quarter, reports are required. In your case, cash wages of $3.50 per week for a 13-week calendar quarter would produce cash wages of less than $50 eliminating the need for reporting her wages. Only cash wages count. Items such as room and board, bus tokens, etc., would not be considered in determining whether she had been paid $50. However, if she is given cash for transportation, this must be included in total paid.

Q. "I am retired and wish to file for my social security. However, I plan to move in about three months. Should I put off filing until I am at my new address?"

A. No. You will only be delaying receipt of your benefits. You should go to your nearest social security office now and file your claim. You will receive a change of address card when you make your application. Then, after you move, notify the Social Security Administration promptly of your new address; and your checks will reach you, with little delay, at your new address.

Q. Is the rate of social security taxes different for domestic employees?"

A. No, it is the same as for other workers. You are expected to deduct 3-5/8 percent from the worker's cash wages. This is his contribution toward the social security tax. Your contribution is an equal amount.

Q. I started getting social security when I was 65. My wife will soon be 62. I've been told her check will be one-half as much as mine. Is that true?"

A. No, a wife who applies before age 65 gets less than one-half the amount of her husband's benefit. If, for example, her husband's retirement benefit was $100, she would get $50 if she applied for her payments at age 65; but if she applied at age 62, her benefit would be reduced by 25 percent to $37.50.

A Project in Harlem . . .

Thirteen years as a vestryman of the big St. Philip's Church in Harlem gave Randolph Jacobs an inside view of the things the great St. Philip's Community Center does for city children. Such as teaching them arts, crafts and sports. Some 500 youngsters a day. A nonsectarian program.

When the Community Center at 215 West 133rd St., New York City, saw the need for enlarging its work, Randy volunteered to help raise the parish quota of $250,000. He, his team and others in the project, worked long hard hours. They made it. A big step toward the total building fund goal of $1,000,000. Randolph V. Jacobs is happy that he could join in a crusade for citizen-building. He is head clerk in the computer department of the New York State Insurance Fund. One public spirited public employee among many.

Executive Chapter Elects Two New Vice Presidents

ALBANY, Sept. 14 — Because of resignations due to job transfers the executive Chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn. recently elected two new vice presidents. Mrs. Dorothy MacTavish, State Commission on Capital City, was elected first vice president and Mary Masterson of the office of local government was elected the second vice president.

Mrs. Rose Frambach was named as the new membership committee chairman by the president of the chapter, May DeSeve.

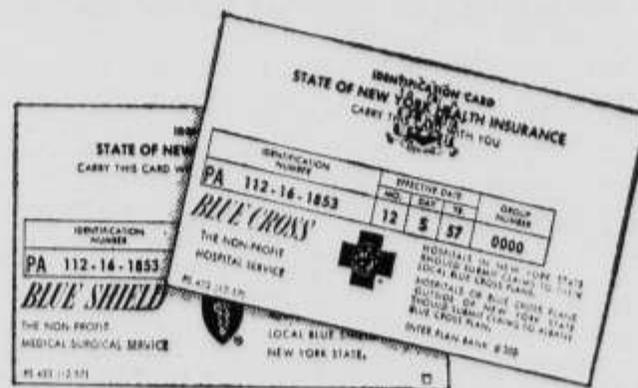

The chapter plans a seminar Sept. 15 at the Assembly Room of the Public Security Bldg. here. The Seminar will be on social security and will start at 3 p.m.

The chapter also plans to have a "Dollar Dance," to be held in the near future.

This is New York State's No. 1 skyscraper . . .

The Empire State Building on New York City's famed Fifth Avenue is the tallest building in the world . . . 1,472 feet high with a 222-foot television sending tower rising above it. At the 90th floor level, there are four revolving beacons that can be seen in seven Atlantic coast states up to 95 miles away.

. . . and these are New York State's No. 1 Get-Well Cards!

More than 485,000 State employees and employees of many local subdivisions of New York State and their dependents are glad they have them. These New Yorkers depend on the three-way STATEWIDE PLAN — Blue Cross, Blue Shield and Major Medical — to protect them against the costs of hospital, surgical-medical and major medical care.

If you're not a subscriber and would like to learn how the STATEWIDE PLAN offers the most liberal benefits at the lowest possible cost . . . see your payroll or personnel officer.

'No Business Like Show Business' Is Theme of C.S. Variety Group

By ART YATES

After work activity is a must. This is the thinking of several persons working for the New York Payment Office of the Social Security Administration.

Instead of sitting on their haunches and talking about it, these people decided to do something about it. They formed an entertainment group called The New York Variety Group.

This collection of artists and so-called artists gives shows across the city for the benefit of patients in the city's hospitals.

"We realized that putting a show together was a good way to spend time and we also knew its value therapeutically," Joshua Velez, chairman of the group said.

"We knew from the start that we could entertain, and it was just a matter of putting things together in a proper show format that was necessary," the industrious social security worker added.

"We have singers, guitar players, piano players, a master of ceremonies, some comedy skits, some dramatics presentations, all the things that make up for a good piece of entertainment," he added.

There are 30 people involved in doing the shows, and this takes up quite a bit of their time. They had no idea at the beginning that the shows would be accepted as well as they have been. They have been asked back to several hospitals but have had to decline because there just isn't enough time.

HERE'S TWO OF THE GROUP

They're a good group, they pool their monies so that they can get transportation to the various hospitals. They pool their monies so they can eat on the road, so they can get instruments, makeup, and the other ingredients that are necessary to put on a good show.

They have entertained in many of New York City's hospitals, among them being the Brooklyn State Hospital; The Veteran's Hospital in Brooklyn and Manhattan; Bellevue; Kings County; St. Vincent's and others.

They also did a camp show for the Salvation Army in New Jersey

They have all kinds of letters from various organizations and hospitals thanking them for the help received

They have held charity shows, where they have raised money for such groups as the American Cancer Society and the New York Community Chest.

This is the civil service worker in operation other than on his job. He is the hard worker, who in his spare time, spends hours entertaining others, making sure that none are forgotten and few are left out.

RECOGNITION NECESSARY

These 30 people have their problems. There must be organization, there must be recognition; there must be contacts and there must be unity. All these things do not come easy. It takes work and coordination, effort and cooperation. It takes understanding that the rewards are few, but that the results are most gratifying.

These people not only entertain from the standpoint of a show, but they also, on several instances, have sat down with patients after the performance and had coffee with them, and talked over the problems of the world.

This a good group as the letters of appreciation prove. There're good civil service workers, who know that the world does not stand alone but needs the help of all who care.

Scholarships Are Varied In Westchester

WHITE PLAINS, Aug. 14 — A variety of scholarships, student loans, and other educational aids are available to New York State veterans and children of deceased or disabled veterans, William A. Donoghue, Westchester County Director of Veterans' Service Agency, has announced.

"For example," Donoghue explained, "New York State provides 500 Regents Scholarships for children of deceased or disabled veterans who qualify in competitive examinations. In addition, there is a Basic Nursing Scholarship Program, a Teaching Fellowship Program and a Scholarship Incentive Program. Further assistance in the form of student loans is available through the New York Higher Education Assistance Corporation. War orphans can receive up to $110 a month for higher education and a National Defense Student Loan Program provides loans up to $5,000 for full-time college students. Under the Korean GI Bill vocational rehabilitation is available to Korean veterans who suffered service-connected disabilities."

"These are but a few of the many assistance programs in progress to help veterans and their dependents. Almost every institution of higher learning also has a scholarship and student loan program as do many private, industrial and business organizations," Donoghue concluded.

A pamphlet briefly outlining these educational benefits can be obtained without charge by writing to or visiting the local office of the Westchester County Veterans' Service Agency located at White Plains, New Rochelle, and Peekskill.

Upper Manhattan Co-op Housing Units in Demand

Response to the initial announcement of the availability of cooperative apartments in Esplanade Gardens, the middle-income housing development which will be built in upper Manhattan, has been impressive, according to George Brooks, vice-president of Dahage Realty Corp., sales agents for the project.

The opening of sales offices at 1706 Amsterdam Avenue last week created a response that was even beyond the optimistic expectations of the sponsors and others who had planned the venture on the basis of research indicating a market for cooperative housing in the area.

The development, which upon completion will contain 1870 apartments, will occupy the site of subway yards abandoned by the city several years ago between 145 and 149th streets and Seventh Avenue.

ALBANY, Sept. 14 — Roderick Stephens of New York City has been named as head of a city-wide advisory council to the State Commission for Human Rights. His appointment was announced by George M. Fowler, chairman of the commission. Stephens is a consultant to Sparkman and Stephens, naval architects.

CSEA Opens Battle On Appeals

Director Dr. T. Norman Hurd, Sol Neil Corbin, counsel to the Governor, and other members of the Rockefeller cabinet.

In the suit against the budget director, Albany Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth allowed the state two weeks to answer the petition that asked the court to compel the budget director to approve salary reallocation for four titles in the Division of Employment that have been approved by the State Civil Service Commission.

These are employment interviewer and claims examiner, Grade 12 to 14, and senior employment interviewer and senior claims examiner, Grade 16 to 18.

In regard to this particular suit, Feily stated that the CSEA intended to pursue the issue, "up to the highest court."

Significance of Meetings

Commenting on the meeting with administration officials, Feily said, "The meeting with the State Budget Director and other members of the Governor's cabinet is a tribute to the effort of the forest rangers, correction officers, employment interviewers, and all other who have sought to remedy the continued practice of budgetary vetoes.

"The very fact that the representatives of the Governor are meeting with us to discuss new procedures and new alternatives is of enormous significance to all state employees, who wish to avoid, in the future, any repetition of the previous vetoes," Feily declared.
