STUDENT ASSOCIATION TO ELECT IN CHAPEL

According to an announcement of the student council, the annual elections will take up the time in the student assemblies today. Election of the president to be chosen from candidates selected from the class of '27, of vice-president from the class of '28, of secretary from the class of '29, and of the two members of Myskania chosen by popular vote, will take place. There will be tryouts for song and cheer leader, each of the two candidates from the three classes, '27, '28, '29, for both offices demonstrating the ability in the particular field which they have chosen before the massed assembly. Results of the election will not be announced until the Moving-up Day ceremonies. Class elections will be held a week from today.

MANY GUESTS ATTEND INTERSORORITY BALL

The intersorority ball held at the Ten Eyck May 7, proved to be the biggest success of the College year. The sororities were well represented. The Garnet Goblins furnished music, featuring a piano solo for one of the numbers.

The ballroom was hung with sorority banners. The orchestra was hidden by a screen of palms.

Dr. and Mrs. Abram R. Brubacher, Dean Anna E. Pierce, Dean and Mrs. William H. Metzler, Dr. Leonard W. Richardson, Professor George Painter and Sarah C. Petherbridge, Marjorie T. Bellows, Mary Dardess, Mildred F. Babcock, Jeanetta M. Wright, Marion H. Chesebrough and Marcia H. Chatfield, presidents of the sororities, received.

Among the faculty members present were Professor and Mrs. George M. York, Professor and Mrs. William G. Kennedy, Professor and Mrs. A. W. Risley, Professor and Mrs. A. A. Walker, Helen T. Fay, Mary Grahn, Ethel Huyek, Professor and Mrs. Clarence Hidley, Professor Anna Randolph Keim, Helen L. Oldrive, and Ralph A. Beaver.

Favors were hammered silver pen knives engraved with sorority insignia. The programs were enclosed in silver covers with an engraving of the College on the front and fastened with the sorority colors.

"Ped is Financial Success, We Have Cleared Expenses; But can not Yet Determine Exact Profit," Editor Says

The suspense is over. The Ped is out! Saturday, May 8, the 1926 Pedagogue was officially distributed to subscribers from ten o'clock to noon at the College.

"The Ped was a financial success. 750 copies were printed, almost all of which were signed for," said Marion Rhoads, '26, one of the subscription managers of the Pedagogue. "We cleared expenses, although we cannot yet determine the exact profits."

Members of the Ped board had their names printed upon the cover of the annual. Although this privilege was open to all, few outside the board took advantage of it.

In comparison with last year's Ped, the chief changes are as follows: The cover is blue with silver lettering. There are ten colored plates. In actual number of pages, this year's Ped is slightly larger. The joke department has been enlarged. Clubs have photographs of officers only, not of the whole group.

THOMPSON TO RETURN; GRANT OTHERS LEAVE

Dr. Harry W. Hastings, chairman of the English department, announces several changes in the courses and faculty of the English department. Dr. Harold W. Thompson, who has been studying at Edinburgh university, will return. Dr. Thompson was awarded a fellowship for European study by the John Simon Guggenheim foundation.

Miss Agnes Futterer and Miss Catherine Peltz will study at Columbia university during the coming year. Miss Mary Grahn, a member of the English department, will take over Miss Futterer's work.

Mr. C. F. Bowes will be added to the faculty and will take Miss Peltz's place for the year. Mr. Bowes comes from teaching at the Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh. Mr. Bowes has his M. A. from Dalhousie university, Canada, and has done graduate work at Harvard.

All courses will be given as listed in the catalogue with two exceptions. English 16 will be dropped, and English 26, a course in dramatic literature given by Mr. Bowes, will be added.

DR. BRUBACHER SPEAKS BEFORE HONOR SOCIETY

Dr. A. R. Brubacher will speak in the chapel May 24, at the initiation of the seniors of high standing who are being taken into the National High School Honor Society. This society corresponds to the Phi Beta Kappa of college.

The names of the seniors responsible for the '26 Pedagogue follows:

Editor-in-chief, Minnie E. Greenaway; literary editors, Hazel Benjamin, Marion Bessette, Georgia DeMocker, Alice Spencer; photograph editors, Ruby Herman, Charlotte Isenbergh, Herbert Campbell; art editors, Marion Chesebrough, Alice Gooding, Mildred Loman; athletic editors, girls, Florence Leeming, men's, Harold Ferguson; snapshot editors, Elizabeth Milmine, Helen Quackenbush, joke editors, Mary Dardess, Edna Fitzpatrick; business manager, Carolyn Coleman; subscription managers, Helen Barclay, M. D. Landon, Marion Rhoads; advertising managers, Eleanor Callery, Alice Blair, Kenneth MacFarland; publicity, Isabelle Plude; faculty adviser, Miss Edith O. Wallace, instructor in English and Latin.

Those subscribers who have not yet obtained their Peds may get them from the News office, Marion Rhoads announced.

FACULTY STUNT IS CARNIVAL FEATURE

Nine Instructors Work With Great Secrecy Under Miss Grahn's Direction

PROMISE NOVEL PARTY

Safely hidden from curious undergraduate eyes, nine members of the faculty, who refuse to allow their names to be disclosed, have been rehearsing for the faculty stunt to be given at Spanish Carnival tonight, under the direction of Mary Grahn, instructor in English. The stunt will be the third feature of the carnival, which will begin at 8:15 in the auditorium, following a dinner to be served in the cafeteria at 5:30 and 6:30. "The faculty entertainment tonight will be utterly unlike all former Spanish Carnival stunts," has been Miss Grahn's only announcement to curious members of Spanish Club, besieging her for information.

Surrounded by her attendants, the carnival queen, whose name has been kept secret since her election by the student body last week, will appear at the beginning of the program, to view the entertainment held in her honor. Mary Margaret Stinard and Mary Elizabeth York are her pages, while the rest of the royal party is Ruth Coe, '27, Anne Gaynor, '27, Cornelia Williams, '27, and Evelyn Graves, '29.

Mystery, love and treachery mingle in "Los Viajeros," a one-act comedy by Booth Tarkington, to be presented as the second number on the program, under the direction of Julia Fay, '27. The cast includes Georgia DeMocker, '26, Alexander Cooper, Ruth McNitt, and Marcella Street, '27, Ralph Stanley, '28, and Robert Shillinglaw and Wallace Strevel, '29.

The final act will be a song and dance number directed by Marcella Street, '27. Those in this act include Alice Spencer, '26, Charlotte Jones, '28, Ruth Moore, '28, Grace Chippendale, '29, Gertrude Schwenker, '29, Margaret Koen, '26, Thelma Valente, '26, Ruth McNitt, '27, Ruby Herman, '26, Bertha Zajan, '27, Pauline Crowley, '28, Nancy Morgan, '28, Lois Dunn, '27, Helen Stone, '29, Ethel Efron, '28, Cornelia Williams, '27, Leah Cohen, '28, Edmund Koblenz, '29, LaVerne Carr, '29, Alexander Cooper, '27, Robert Shillinglaw, '29, Richard Jensen, '28, Ralph Stanley, '28, and William Delehanty, '26.

INDIAN LADDER

Busses leave College for Indian Ladder, at 10:00 and 12:00 tomorrow morning. Bring your lunch; supper will be served by G. A. A. Return busses will leave the foot of the ladder at 5:30 and 6:00, arriving at College in time for the spring concert in the evening. It is still not too late to sign up.

ALUMNI SUBSCRIBERS

Two hundred new subscribers for next year will be sought in the class of 1926, by the News in a campaign to begin late in May.

Every member of the graduating class is to be asked to subscribe to the News as the first step of a circulation drive to be extended later to the classes of 1925 and 1924 and later to the earlier classes.

The campaign will also be the News' first attempt to build up an alumni circulation comparable in size to that enjoyed by many other college newspapers. As a stimulus to alumni subscribers, the paper intends to enlarge the space devoted to live news of alumni affairs next year. An arrangement will also be worked out to insure delivery of mail editions of the News. The move to increase mail sales of the College weekly will go hand in hand with the expansion policy voted by the student body recently, whereby a larger paper will be published.

Despite this sixty per cent increase in the size of the News next year, the subscription price will remain at $3.00 per year. This amount will include copies of the annual junior issue and the "big" issue, as well as regular weekly editions.

MATH. CLUB ELECTS

The elections of Mathematics Club officers took place Thursday, May 13. The nominees were: president, Mary Considine, '27, Ruth Maynard, '27, Marie Townsend, '27, vice-president, Mary Neville, '27, Gertrude Daniels, '27, Florence Elmore, '27; secretary, Kathleen Doughty, '28, Goldina Bills, '28, Ethelyn Wilkins, '29; treasurer, Adelaide Hollister, '28, Gilbert Ganong, '28, and Julia Titus, '28.

MORE STUDENTS GET TEACHING POSITIONS

The following names have been announced by Professor John M. Sayles in addition to the ones previously released, as having secured teaching positions for the year 1926-27: Cecile Alexander, science at Fort Plain; Amy J. DeMay, training class at Norwich; Lena Lewis, English critic at Geneseo Normal; Ethel Persk, English at Whitehall; Ida Gould, history and chemistry at Plattsburg; Dorothy Zinke, history at Wappingers Falls; Adelaide Grueschow, grade work at Lindenhurst; Edith Dieckrich, English and French at Schroon Lake; Margaret Koen, Latin and history at Schroon Lake; Herman Dietz, commercial, physics and English at Harriesville; Mary Hitchcock, French and English at Fultonville; Ida Button, New Paltz; Hiram Goodrich, principal at So. New Berlin; Margrid Hagelberg, biology at Walton; Minnie Greenaway, commercial and library work at Salem; Florence Lecming, English at Salem; George Kershaw, commercial at Oneonta; Mary Dardess, English and Latin at Central Islip; Iva Hand, commercial at Attica; Marguerite Leishman, English at Lyubrook; Eric LeBarron, Frewsburg; Mary Nolan, Albany grades; Gladys Snell, English at Deanson; Ella Mae Greenway, mathematics at Mohawk; Alice Blair, Schenectady; Joyce Persons, French and English at Beaver Falls; Margaret Buckbee, home economics at Cornwall; Catherine Smith, home economics at Tuxedo; Marion Rhoads, commercial at Schenectady; Isabelle Wetherbee, English and French at Millport; Loyse Ward, commercial, geometry, civics and drawing at Ravena; Olla Mae Goewey, French and drawing at Adams Centre; Margaret Lynch, French and history at Skaneateles Falls; Elnah Krieg, mathematics and physics at Warwick; Gladys Moore, science at Rensselaer; Helen Quackenbush, English and history at East Springfield; Edith Greene, English and French at Newcomb; Olive Quackenbush, Latin and English at West Heoron.

MISS PERINE IS ILL IN ALBANY HOSPITAL

Miss Eunice Perine, art instructor, recently underwent a serious operation at the Albany City Hospital. The news came unexpectedly to most of the students, for only a few knew that Miss Perine had been granted a leave of absence by President Brubacher.

The students of State College take this opportunity to express their sympathy, and the hope of Miss Perine's speedy recovery.

This summer Miss Perine intends to spend a couple of months in France; especially to visit and study the different art centers.

225 ARE CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES IN JUNE

Two hundred twenty-five students, the largest number in the College's eighty-two years, have been announced by Dr. A. R. Brubacher as candidates for degrees this June. Of the candidates, 157 are for the degree of bachelor of arts, twenty-five for bachelor of science, twenty-three for bachelor of science in commerce, eight for bachelor of science in education, and twelve for bachelor of science in home economics.

1926-27 NEWS STAFF PICKED NEXT WEEK

Elections for next year's News staff will probably be made late next week by the News board, Harry S. Godfrey, '26, editor-in-chief, announced today.

Besides selection of the five successors to the present News board, which regulates the weekly, a long list of other promotions is to be made.

A sixth position on the News board will be created for next year. This position, open to juniors or seniors, will include that part of the present duties of the managing editor which has to do with the freshmen try-outs and in addition will include the charge of the News' training class for cubs, which is to be repeated early next fall. The new News board position will necessitate a change in the News constitution. Six News board pins, instead of five, will be awarded at Moving-up Day. The present members of the News board are the editor-in-chief, managing editor, business manager, subscription manager, and head copy reader. The title of the new position will probably be 'associate managing editor.'

An editor-in-chief is to be chosen to succeed Godfrey, a business manager to succeed Helen E. Elliott, '26, a managing editor to succeed Edwin Van Kleeck, '27, a head copy reader to succeed Margaret Benjamin, '26, and a subscription manager to succeed Helen Barclay, '26.

Similar promotions will take place throughout the staff. There are five juniors eligible for editor-in-chief. They are Sara Barkley, Katharine Blenis, Julia Fay, Louise Gunn, and Edwin Van Kleeck. Of these Miss Barkley, Miss Blenis and Miss Gunn are now associate editors, Miss Fay is assistant copy reader and Van Kleeck is managing editor.

A new gradation of associate editors, dividing them into two classes, junior associate editors and senior associate editors, will also be made. The placement of staff members in these divisions will depend upon service and seniority on the News staff, rather than upon College classifications of junior or senior.

There are two candidates for business manager, Helen Zimmerman and Myra Hartmann, both at present assistant business managers.

Twelve reporters become eligible for promotion as associate editors. More than twenty try-outs will become eligible today for promotion to reporters.

"BEST YEAR FOR POLI SCI", JANSEN STATES

"This has been Political Science Club's best year" says Esther Jansen, '26, president of Political Science Club.

The club has not only presented good speakers to the College students, in Ruth Miner, Professor R. H. Kirland and Professor Risley, but has also given a dinner and a pageant.

A dinner is to be the last activity of Political Science Club this semester. This will take place in the cafeteria, May 20. The following are in charge: chairman, Esther Jansen, '26; arrangements, Elma Bird, '26; publicity and decorations, Dorothy Watts, '28; music, Helen Arthur, '26.

The speaker is as yet unknown. Next year's plans include a trip to Saratoga, which was not held this year, and a trip to the Schuylers Mansion for the incoming freshmen.

DR. PAINTER WRITES "SPRING CAROL" POEM

"Spring Carol," a poem to the season, has been composed by Dr. George S. Painter, professor of philosophy. Students will recall Dr. Painter's ode to Cleopatra which was published in these columns last year. The new poem, reproduced by Professor Painter's courtesy, follows:

SPRING CAROL

Dr. George S. Painter

'Tis spring, 'tis spring!
Again 'tis spring!
The Sun's warm gleam
Wakes every stream.
Birds are singing,
Bees are winging,
Grass is springing,
Buds are pluming,
Flowers blooming,
Flocks are lowering,
All things growing,
Let joy-bells ring,
Rejoice and sing,
For it is spring.

'Tis spring, 'tis spring!
O gentle spring,
How sweet a thing
That from thy hand,
O'er all the land,
The seed of life
Is scattered rife.
In young men's hearts
And maiden's arts,
Love ne'er shall cease,
For life's new lease
In everything
Returns with spring,
Again with spring.

'Tis spring, 'tis spring!
Awake my soul,
Forth to thy goal;
Let impulse new
Resolve imbue,
Now that 'tis spring
With everything;
And truth, beauty,
Goodness, duty,
In virtue end,
Whate'er life send;
That life may bring
Eternal spring,
From spring to spring.

FRATERNITY VALUES DISCUSSED IN ORGAN

In the May issue of the Gamma Gazette, published by the local chapter of Kappa Delta Rho, appears the following editorial on the value of fraternities:

"The value of fraternities has been a widely discussed subject in past years. Many arguments for and against them have been offered. Criticisms of fraternities seem to be based on two points, neither of which is an adequate basis for the denunciation of all fraternities. Some criticize when they know nothing of the actual conditions; others base their judgments on a few extreme cases which prove nothing—there are always a few who insist on breaking away and running wild.

"The greatest values to be found in fraternity life seem to be in the personal, intimate, contact in every-day life with many different types of men. One learns to respect his fellow's views, to sympathize with him, to tolerate his shortcomings, to aid him in every possible way, to talk personal matters over with him—in short, he learns one of the secrets of success—the ability to get along with his fellowmen, to their mutual advantage."

NEWS CLASSES END WITH EXAMS TODAY

15 Editorial Tryouts Attend Last Session Conducted By News Editor

Fifteen editorial tryouts for positions on the State College News staff today attended the last session of the course in news writing offered by the News board as a part of a reporters' training. Edwin Van Kleeck, '27, managing editor, conducted the class at 8:10 o'clock in Room 103. Classes began May 3.

At the first session Van Kleeck varied the usual preliminary definition of "news" with that of Charles Dana, famed editor of the New York Sun: "If a dog bit a man, that wouldn't be news; if a man bites a dog, that is news."

Students learned that people read newspapers with various interests, all of which are catered to. The average reader enjoys accounts of struggle for supremacy, whether in sports, politics, or debating. Feature stories are always popular even when they contain little or no actual news. Human curiosity accounts for the news value of extraordinary events. Van Kleeck illustrated this by saying that an account of the robbery of $10,000 would not arouse as much excitement as if the thief broke into an office and stole $10,000 and the office broom. In the second case, people's curiosity would be aroused and the story would have greater news value.

The opening paragraph, called the "lead" (pronounced "lead") was studied. It was learned that in journalistic writing, contrary to most other forms of literature, the climax must come first and the other necessary facts follow in inverse order of importance. In this connection, the head line writer, who must select the most striking detail in a story, often disagrees with the reporter in his judgment of what the climax is.

Copies of last week's State College News were used in studying the relative prominence of different parts of a newspaper and the consequent distribution of the copy over the paper according to its relative news value.

Tricks of the trade were described such as the use of the word "today" in most news stories; the use of the lead (pronounced "led") which is a piece of metal put between lines of type to take up room and fill an allotted space exactly. The headlines stretching over all columns on the page, called "banners" were discussed with the justification for their occasional use.

Sara Barkley, '27, associate editor of the News, has the afternoon section of the news-writing course at 3:55 o'clock, in Room 109.

CANTERBURY

Canterbury Club held a corporate communion at St. Andrew's church, May 9. The communion was followed by breakfast at St. Andrew's parish house. Mrs. Findlay, wife of the rector of St. Andrew's was a guest.

At a food sale held April 7, Canterbury Club made $8.66.

The alumnae of Alpha Delta Omicron held a dance at Colony Plaza Friday, May 7. The Collegiate Entertainers furnished music.

COMMERCE CLUB PLANS SPRING OUTING SOON

Commerce Club held a cake and candy sale Wednesday, May 5. Ellen Hoyland, '27, was in charge and was assisted by Elizabeth Plum, '26, and Dorothy Wickwire, '27.

Plans for an outing were discussed at a meeting of the club Tuesday, May 11, at four o'clock, in Room M. The outing will be the last of this month and the exact date and details will be announced later.

SPEAKS ON RECREATION

Mrs. Lucy Retting, director of the summer play schools, under the direction of the Child Study Association of America, New York City, was in Albany Monday, to talk before the Albany chapter of the Child Study Association of America and the Council of Jewish Women on "Home Recreation in the Summer Time."

JAMAICA TEACHERS TO PLAY TOMORROW

Coch is Pleased With Manner Team Exercises in Work Outs

Despite the fact that the weather man says that Old Sol will be among the missing tomorrow afternoon and that we will all need our slickers, Manager Charles Cole, '26, and Coach Rutherford R. Baker have arranged for a baseball game at Ridgefield Park against the Jamaica Teachers.

The coach is very well pleased with the manner in which the team is working out. "They are all in far better condition than they were Monday," he says, "and if we don't have a fast game tomorrow, I miss my guess."

The squad has had busy workouts every day this week and they feel confident that the Purple and Gold will cross the plate more times than the Jamaicans. The game with Hamilton has been changed to May 27.

NEWMAN ELECTS NEW OFFICERS FOR '26-'27

Officers of Newman Club for the year 1926-27 are: president, Winifred Carey, vice-president, Helen Zimmerman, secretary, Ruth Flanagan, treasurer, Agatha Flick, and reporter, Marjorie Seeger.

Election of conciliators for the coming year will take place at a special meeting later in the month.

Plans for the pilgrimage to Auriesville, which was to have taken place on Sunday, May 23, have been cancelled. Unseasonable weather and difficulty in obtaining cars have made the trip impossible this year. The fourth Quarterly Communion and Breakfast will consequently be moved from June 6 to May 25. Dr. A. R. Brubacher will be the principle speaker.

The annual province of Newman Club meeting will take place the week-end of May 22.

MORE SITTINGS ARE NEEDED FOR PICTURE

David Lithgow, Albany artist and painter of Dean Anna E. Pierce's portrait, announces that the picture should be finished by next November. Four or five more sittings will be needed for completion. Dean Pierce will resume sittings after college opens next fall.

Two canvases are being used by Mr. Lithgow. One is almost unanimously voted more pleasing by those who have seen both. One, which is made on Belgium canvas, and upon which Mr. Lithgow has spent a good deal of his skill in the tone and texture of the face, gives a very light effect.

In the other, the background is darker, and the poise is more characteristic of Miss Pierce; she is leaning a little forward in her chair with a kindly sympathetic expression about the eyes and mouth which seems to say: "What can I do for you." This portrait is painted upon Italian canvas. Although, the first mentioned portrait is considered exquisite in tone, the attitude seems rather severe; the second gives the impression that Dean Pierce will walk out of the picture.

CLASS SPEAKERS FOR JUNE 4 ANNOUNCED

The class speakers for Moving-up Day have been appointed by Myskonia. Isabelle Plude will represent the seniors; Julia Fay will speak for the class of 1927. The under classes will have as their speakers Chrissie Curtiss, '28, and Thomas P. Fallon, '29.

These speeches will precede the Moving-up of all the classes which will be under the general charge of Helen Barclay.

The class stunts which are a part of inter-class rivalry, will follow the planting of the ivy, a traditional ceremony.
