There will be dancing in the gymnasium from nine to eleven, Miss Hall said. The decorations here will be in accordance with the theme of the bazaar. Each class will conduct a booth decorated to correspond with the theme also, at which small articles will be sold.

Jan Gillespie, '31, will be in charge of the senior booth. Josephine Holt, '32, will supervise the junior booth. The sophomore and freshmen booths will be directed by Laura Sten, '33, and Minna Russ, '34, respectively. Entertainment will be in charge of

Miss Van Buren Heads New Campus Guardians

Avenath Van Buren, '32, has been appointed chairman of the campus commission, according to Russell Ludlum, '31, president of the student association. The other members of the commission are Katherine Moore and Gilbert de Laura, sophomores. The commission has general oversight of the campus, including the bulletin boards, the lost and found box, and the locker rooms, Ludlum announced.

Dr. Smith Will Speak During 11:10 Assembly

Dr. Donald V. Smith, assistant professor of history, will be the speaker in the assembly this morning, according to Russell W. Ludlum, '31, president of the student association. Dr. Smith's topic will be "School Spirit." Campus queen will also be elected in assembly this morning. The 1931 Pedagogy will conduct its election of the "mosts." The results of this latter election will be published in a special section of the senior year book.

MEETING WILL BE DURING NEXT WEEK

"Adult Education" Will Be General Theme of 66th Annual Gathering

Teachers, principals, and supervisors from the entire State of New York will attend the sixty-sixth annual Convocation of the University of the State of New York, to be conducted at Chancellor's hall next Thursday and Friday. Dr. Chester S. Lord, chancellor, will open the session, and President A. R. Brubacher will preside during the second day of the Convocation.

The general theme of the Convocation will be "Adult Education." This subject will be discussed from several angles including that of art, music, and industry. Dr. Lawrence P. Jacks, Oxford university, England, will give an address upon "The Broader Vision of Adult Education."

Preceding the Convocation, there will be a reception given in the rotunda of the Educational building at which the Fredonia State Normal school will present a musical program. Among the speakers will be Dr. Charles H. Judd, University of Chicago; Dr. Arthur E. Bestor, president of the Chautauqua institution; Hugar Elliot, Metropolitan Museum of Art, and Dr. John Erskine, president of the Juilliard School of Music.

"Adult Education in Art, Music, Industry," will be discussed Friday while President Brubacher presides. This session will be opened by Dr. Grant C. Madill, Regent of the University. The Fredonia State Normal school will supply the music.

"The Library and Adult Education" will be discussed during the final session. The meeting will be under the direction of Dr. Harry W. Rockwell, president of the State Teachers college, and Dr. George H. Bond, regent, who will present the opening address. The speakers will be George H. Locke, public library of Toronto, Miss Alice S. Tyler, formerly of the Western Reserve university, and Arthur E. Bostwick, public library of St. Louis.

The invocation will be rendered by the Rt. Rev. Edmund F. Gibbons, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Albany, and benediction will be offered by the Rev. William W. Peck, minister of the Unitarian church of Albany.

QUEEN OF CAMPUS WILL BE CHOSEN TODAY FROM FIVE

One of five women will be elected campus queen today in the student assembly at 11:10 o'clock in the Page hall auditorium, although her identity will be kept secret until Saturday night, October 18.

The candidates, Helen Henderson, Dorothy Kline, Catherine R. Norris, Frances V. Peck, and Wilhelmina Schneider, were nominated last week by popular vote. Three of the women, Catherine Norris, Frances Peck, and Wilhelmina Schneider, are members of Myskania.

Committee chairman for Campus day have been appointed by Myskania, accord to Carolyn Kelley, '31, general chairman. They are: athletic events, Beatrice Van Steenburgh, '31; music, Dorothy Brandow, '31; decorations, Annabelle McConnell, '31; refreshments, Ruth Goldsmith, '32.

Miss Schneider Casts Drama For October 21

The advanced dramatics class will present its first play of the year in the auditorium of Page hall on Tuesday night, October 21, Wilhelmina Schneider, '31, director, announced yesterday. It will be a one act play, portraying the dual characters of two women of today. Those taking part are: Carolyn Kelley, '31, Helen Mead and Nile Clemens, juniors, and Katherine Traver, '33.

Parade of Freshman Class Will Be In Assembly Today

"Life is very different, so very different here, college life is very queer, rum, tum, tum"—thus the freshmen will sing this morning in assembly as, with bowed heads, they march around the auditorium and return to their seats in the balcony.

This marks the end of a week of battles and scuffles between the men of the freshmen and sophomore classes and of sartorial embarrassment for the freshman women.

ALL TAX EVADERS WILL BE CHECKED BY HONOR SOCIETY

A close check-up will be made by Myskania on all students who fail to pay the student tax and class dues, according to Walter Driscoll, '31, a member of Myskania. Each class treasurer will keep a permanent record of each person in his class to see whether or not he has paid his class dues and student tax, Driscoll said.

A file will be kept in the office of Miss Anna E. Pierce, dean of women, with the records of the treasurers. This record will be kept from the freshman year on through the senior year. Each student will have a card on which the class treasurers will indicate the payment of student tax and class dues, Driscoll said. These records will be kept on cards of the students class colors. This year the senior cards will be green, the junior cards yellow, the sophomore cards red and the freshmen will have blue cards.

Each year the junior class will buy the cards for the entering freshmen class, Driscoll said. The file will be purchased by all four classes and will cost approximately $13 while the cards will cost each class $3.25.

The purpose of these records, Driscoll said, is to prevent students who fail to meet the financial obligations of their class and the student association from participating in the functions of the association or class. No person who has failed to pay his student tax or class dues will be allowed to hold any office or be on any committee, and his name will be withdrawn if he is nominated for any office.

All persons excused by the student board of finance from paying student tax may also be excused from paying class dues, and the rule will not be enforced against them, Driscoll said.

Editor Sets Dead-Line For Yearbook Pictures

Photographs for the Pedagogy will be taken until October 18th, according to Edith James, '31, editor. All group pictures, which will be taken today and next week, will be taken at noon in front of Draper hall.

The days for the different clubs are: today, Kappa Phi Kappa and home economics club; Monday, freshmen class; Tuesday, Canterbury club and Spanish club; Wednesday, mathematics club and French club; Thursday, chamber of commerce club and German club; Friday, biology club and the Troubadours.

35 COUPLES PLAN TO ATTEND DANCE TONIGHT AT 8:00

Thirty-five couples will attend the all-State dance to be conducted tonight in the Lounge of Richardson hall, according to Andrew Hritz, '32, chairman of the committee in charge. Dancing will continue from 8:00 to 11:00 o'clock.

This will be the third all-State dance conducted in two years, Hritz announced. The affair is unique in that it is conducted by no organization on the campus, but by the co-operation of all the men of the college. Another novel feature of the dance, according to Hritz, is that only State college students are allowed to attend.

The all-State dance was praised last year by Miss Anna E. Pierce, dean of women, who said, "It was one of the most delightful dances I have ever attended."

The probable guests will be: Dr. Donald V. Smith, assistant professor

Faculty Begins Study Of "Flunk" Problems

Why do freshmen "flunk out?" The answer to this question is being sought by the faculty through a comprehensive study of past freshmen failures. President A. R. Brubacher declared to the News today.

Statistics are being collected and carefully studied in order to determine the chief causes. Lack of study, over-participation in extra-curricular activities, and sorority rushing are among the fields being investigated, the president said.

"The rushing period is too intense and nerve wracking," Dr. Brubacher said.

Several plans have been tentatively considered as substitutes for the present system of rushing. Student leaders are aiding the administration.

THEY ACT LIKE GREEKS

Although running the risk of being trite, this paper, nevertheless quotes the old saw about when in Rome, don't act like a Greek. In other words when in State college act like a college student, not like a child. The numerous inter-class conflicts which have taken place this week are deplorable. When the sophomores take it upon themselves to enforce their rules against the freshmen, nothing can be said about it unless they act unlawfully.

As most of the sophomores seem to be unaware of the penalties for violation of their rules the News is printing them herewith. For non-conformity with sophomore rules the first offense is penalized by a warning and the second by an apology before a regular meeting of the sophomore class. These penalties, however, are to be inflicted only under the supervision of Myskania.

When the sophomores brawl with the freshmen on the campus they have no legal standing—they are enforcing no rules, for no rules have ever been stated.

According to the sophomores, the freshmen start the fights because of their overwhelming numbers. It is also declared that the upperclassmen are inciting the freshmen to riot and revolt. This is very poor sportsmanship on the part of the upperclassmen, if it is true.

Common brawling is no credit to any college and the class which encourages its members to continue street fights is performing an act which is destructive to the organization of State college and an indictment against the participants.

NO NEED TO RUSH

Evidently the freshmen do not know the proper etiquette for leaving the assembly. Myskania leaves the platform first. The seniors then march out of the auditorium, followed by the juniors, sophomores and freshmen in the order named. Of course the class marshalls have not been appointed, but this need not deter the assembly from following the correct order of procedure. The upperclassmen should be well enough acquainted with the accepted custom so that they can show the freshmen the way to go.

Complaints have been voiced vociferously about the students who persist in standing at the back of the auditorium during the assembly and who make a dash for the door as soon as the meeting is adjourned, thus blocking the way for the more virtuous students who have been seated throughout the program.

Freshmen cannot be expected to abide by traditions if upperclassmen do not set good examples for the first year class to follow.

ATTEND THE CONVOCATION

Students of this college are particularly fortunate that they are living in the city in which the sixty-sixth annual Convocation of teachers, principals and supervisors of the State of New York will meet.

It will afford them an excellent opportunity to attend some of the meetings as well as to add to the number of their acquaintances in the educational world. Men and women of state-wide and nation-wide educational prominence will be present and will speak on subjects of interest to every teacher and to every embryo teacher.

It is particularly significant that the College president, Dr. A. R. Brubaker, will act as chairman at one of the sessions. If no other reason motivates the State college student, at least pride in the honor bestowed upon his president should impel attendance at the sessions.

Perhaps it is safe to say that much of our work in methods is conveyed from textbooks, supplemented by the instructors' own personal experience. This meeting will afford an opportunity to hear of teaching problems from those who are actively engaged in teaching and who can present situations of present day interest.

One possible regret comes to mind as the Convocation approaches. It is that the students of Fredonia Normal school will present a musical program prior to the opening of the session. Had State college a capable orchestra, it could undoubtedly have rendered the program and at the same time add to the general reputation of the College.

BOOKS:

BYRON, BY ANDRE MAU-
ROIS—BRONSON'S NEW TEXTBOOK.

Byron. Andre Maurois. D. Appleton & Company, New York. 596 pages. $5.00.

Byron, the man whose love affairs were the scandal of all England, Byron, the poet whose works made him famous in his early youth and which have stood the test of time, Byron, the patriot giving his life and fortune for the freedom of Greece—these are some of the incidents of the poet's life that are brilliantly and wittily told by his biographer, Maurois.

Byron's early boyhood with his mother, Catherine Gordon Byron, is perhaps the most appealing age described by the author. His life in college, his melancholy disposition, his physical disability and handsome features are made to live so realistically that the reader cannot but see Byron as he really lived and moved among the scenes he made famous or infamous by his acts.

His life at Newstead Abbey, his ancestral home, the drinking bouts he held there, using a human skull for a drinking cup, became known throughout England. He purchased a coach, had it remodeled to resemble that of Napoleon, and began his travels in Europe in the cumbersome vehicle attended by a large retinue of friends, servants, and animals. The coach having become mired and disabled, he was forced to leave it and continue his journey by less imposing means.

He went to Italy where he became one of the leaders in a secret revolutionary society, seduced the wife of an Italian count, lived with her for a time with the consent of her husband, wrote some verse, and finally tired of her.

He was one of Shelley's intimates and the two spent some time together in Europe writing verses and amusing themselves with mistresses.

His friends, Moore, Hobhouse, and Shelley were men who were the dictators of the aristocracy of letter of the day.

The writer strongly recommends this book for students of English literature. To read it is to thoroughly know and enjoy English life and literature for the period contemporaneous with Byron.

Nutrition and Food Chemistry. Barnard S. Bronson. John Wiley & Sons, New York. 476 pages. $3.75.

This book is the latest addition to the volumes written on various subjects by the members of our faculty and is well worthy of being placed on the bookshelf with Dr. Thompson's "Anecdotes and Egotisms of Henry MacKenzie," and Dr. Hutchinson's book on the Constitution.

The purpose of the book is to present the elements of nutrition and foods to college students who have little foundation in physiology and little or none in organic chemistry. Only elementary knowledge of chemistry is assumed by the author.

The book is undoubtedly designed to aid the teacher to interpret the material for classroom work. Students engaged in the study of hygiene should find the book particularly helpful and interesting.

"There is no field of human knowledge overburdened with a greater mass of accumulated misinformation than that of food and diet," the author says in his preface and after a reading of this volume, one cannot but say that he has done much to gather and present facts pertinent to the study of nutrition and food chemistry in a manner readily as comprehensible and easily assimilated by the student.

THE STATESMAN

BY RAY COLLINS

The men and women seem to differ as to the qualifications of the campus queen. According to the fair sex she should be primarily cute and display an excellent brand of basketball. She should also take long hikes and carry her lunch in order to retain the lines necessary to assume the proper angle. Moreover, her style should be most conservative so as to avoid undesirable attention. On the other hand, the men seem to hold an extremely opposite view on this very delicate proposition. According to the current chatter in the locker room, our campus queen should be the most precious girl in college. She should possess primarily that sincere and devoted look in her eyes which make her the irresistible type. Her hair should blend with her complexion in order to convey the glow of her charms to the eyes of her admirers. Her lines should be most graceful in order to effect a more perfect coordination. Finally our queen should smile to all the men (State men), thus giving the boys a thrill which will stimulate them to pursue a more liberal course in the future. Freshmen, in casting your vote let your conscience be your guide.

Big Ben Ingraham, commonly known as Handsome Freddie, is back with us again this year and his presence is distinctly evidenced by the manner in which the co-eds have been surrounding him in the corridors. We hope that Freddie will not be partial with his affections because after all the co-eds are quite democratic. As you probably know, he performed courageously along the seashore this summer in the role of a life guard. His major activities were concentrated on the beach; but occasionally Freddie could be seen wading in the tide water.

Thus far the dancing in the gymnasium has been characterized by a real democratic spirit. The girls have been very considerate in allowing the boys to cut and of course this affords an excellent opportunity for closer relationships. Frequently one may discover a few boys standing helplessly after attempting to cut; but of course, these are rare cases.

TWO YEARS AGO TODAY

An attempt to solicit subscriptions to obtain an orthophonic victrola to be used for dancing in the gymnasium will be inaugurated by Daniel P. Corr, '31.

The senior class voted to wear caps and gowns during assembly, according to a unanimous vote taken by the class. The class felt that since the sophomores and two upperclasses are meeting in the assembly, the wearing of caps and gowns would distinguish them from the other students.

Sophomore Class To Publish

First Activities Scrap-Book

The sophomore class is instituting a new feature this year by the establishing of a class scrap-book. The book will contain snap-shots and clippings of the various class activities which will be submitted by the class members.

Additions will be made to the book each year, so that when the class has reached its senior year there will be material available for use in the 1933 Pedagogue and the class history section.

Alvina Lewis, class reporter, has been appointed to have charge of the scrap-book this year. The material already collected for the book includes pictures of the outing which the class took last year at Professor Richmond H. Kirtland's country home, and various individual Moving-day photographs.

TENNIS MATCHES

ENTER UPON THIRD ROUND THIS WEEK

The third round of the men's tennis tournament will be played this week, according to Carl Tarbox, '32, manager.

The results of earliest play are as follows: First round: Sanford Levinstein, '33, defeated Charles Dunham, '34, 6-4, 6-3; Jack Saunders, '34, defaulted to Ormond Guyer, '33; Charles Lyons, '31, lost to Alvin Shaffer, '33, 6-4, 6-2; John Biro, a special student, defaulted to Frank MacFarland, '33; Anthony Sroka, '32, defeated Jack Saroff, '32, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Albert Ritchie, '31, won when Tarbox withdrew from play; Gordon Hughes, '32, defeated Arelton Bush, '33, 9-7, 6-1; Vincent Chmielewski, '32, defeated Simon Maslan, '31, 6-0, 6-0; Harold Hendee, '33, lost to Howard Mann, '32, 6-2, 6-1, and Leo Allan, graduate student and winner of the tournament last year defeated Alexander Schoor, '31, 6-4, 6-1.

In the second round of the tourney, Levinstein won on a default from Guyer, Chmielewski defeated Hughes, 6-4, 6-2, and Allan defeated Mann, 6-0, 6-1.

Assembly Will Select "Mosts" This Morning

Balloting will be conducted in the assembly at 11:10 o'clock in the Page hall auditorium for the Pedagogue "mosts," according to Edith James, '31, editor-in-chief.

The seniors which will be chosen this morning are the most beautiful girl, most charming girl, most popular girl, most popular man, girl who has done most for State, most scholarly, and the most popular faculty member.

The selection of the most popular faculty member is a new feature which has been added to the Pedagogue this year, Miss James announced.

Eight "mosts" were chosen last year. Ethel Grundhofer was named as the most beautiful, Grace Brady as the most charming, Beverly Diamond as the most popular girl, Louis J. Wolner as the most popular man, Marion Botto as the girl who did the most for State, Emanuel Green, man who did the most for State, Anna T. Moore, as the most enthusiastic, and Thomas Kinsella as the most scholarly.

SIX OF FACULTY TO ATTEND STATE MEETING MONDAY

Members of the State college education and history departments will attend the annual convention of normal schools and teachers' colleges to be conducted at Syracuse, Monday and Tuesday, October 13 and 14.

Dr. Alva W. Risley, head of the history department, and Professor John M. Sayles, head of the education department, Dr. Elizabeth H. Morris, Dr. Earl B. South, Dr. Milton G. Nelson, and Dr. Arthur K. Bek, members of the education department, will attend.

At the conference Dr. Morris and Dr. South will have several meetings with other college professors who are working together on a research report on college entrance tests and requirements, and on the adaptation of the student after he has matriculated at some college or university.

Y.M.C.A APPOINTS ACTIVITY CHAIRMEN

Council Members Discuss New
Plans for Coming Year
At Club Meeting

Plans for the coming year were discussed by the cabinet of the student Young Men's Christian association at a dinner at the University club, according to George E. Graff, president.

Committee chairmen were appointed to take charge of various departments of the Y. M. C. A.'s program. Clayton Stewart, '33, will head the social committee; Samuel S. Dransky, '32, will be chairman of the newly-formed committee on employment; Graff will take charge of student counselling; Earl Bloomingdale will head the membership committee, and Alvin Shaffer, '32, will direct the Hi-Y club in the Milne junior high school. Other committees will be formed in the near future, according to Graff, and chairmen will be appointed.

It was decided at the meeting that interest indicators, or questionnaires locating student interests, will be distributed to the male students at State to determine the personnel of the committees, so that an individual may serve on a committee, the function of which interests him. Other new features decided upon by the cabinet include plans to aid students in budgeting their time and money. In the pursuit of this plan it was decided to mimeograph a model budget and distribute it to the students. Another innovation into the program was the plan to arrange for tutoring of any freshman who finds difficulty in doing his school work. "Caution would be taken, however," said Graff, "not to overdo the idea by doing the work for the pupil."

The program will also include an all-State conference similar to that conducted last year by the Y. M. C. A. and the Young Women's Christian association. Other features will include an attempt to organize for the men of the College an inter-mural basketball tournament, a volleyball game played between the students and the faculty, a series of smokers to which the faculty will be invited, and Sunday discussion groups to be conducted bi-monthly. The yearly dinner given to the freshmen will be scheduled for some time in November, and council representatives will be sent as usual to all important outside conferences, Graff announced.

Writes on Debating

How the College built up its reputation in intercollegiate debating is told in an article in the News today written by Wilhelmina Schneider, '31. Miss Schneider tells of the organization and purposes of the council and of the proposed schedule for 1930-31.

SPORT SHOTS

The freshman class is rather rich in athletic material according to authentic reports. At least three yearlings, Bancroft, Saunders, and Garritt, all of whom have had basketball experience in high school, will form the starting nucleus around which Coach Baker will build the freshmen quintet. Saunders has played baseball also and will be given a chance next spring to bolster up a hole in the infield.

Manager Haswell is working hard to get together a fair schedule for the court season, and has lined up five of the ten or twelve contests which the Purple and Gold will play each season.

The calibre of the opposition will not be as good as it was two or three years ago when the Baker machine was a real threat in intercollegiate circles, yet it will rank with some of the games played last season.

The annual tennis tournament is once more under way, and we are curious to see how Lyons and Allan, both victors in past tournaments, make out. It is quite likely that they will meet in the finals, but like all athletic contests, starting upsets may occur and cause an early elimination of the favored players.

Miss Schneeder Discusses State Debating; Tell Of History And Value Of Council

By WILHELMINA SCHNEIDER, '31
President of the Debate Council

Within the past four or five years, debating has enjoyed such a revival of interest here that it has again assumed the high place it deserves among the various extra-curricular activities open to students. I say "high" because I believe that there is no other activity which offers an equal amount of genuine mental training and enjoyment. It trains the participant to think clearly, to reason logically, to express himself aptly. He learns to read thoughtfully and to observe closely. Besides, it provides a source of real sportsmanship, keen competitive spirit, and mental activity.

The history of the debate council is not a long one. During the school year of 1927-28, several students who were anxious to see debating hold its former place of importance in the College took a definite step in that direction by founding the council. Its purposes was to stimulate and to maintain interest in debating as well as schedule and manage intercollegiate contests.

The council is composed of a debate coach who is a member of the faculty. The present coach is Dr. Harold W. Thompson, professor of English. Due to an internal revision of its organization, the council is now composed of three seniors and three juniors. The sophomores who are chosen are named at the end of their second year and serve on the council for the remainder of their undergraduate days.

They are chosen on the basis of interest and ability in debating. Student members of the council are: Dorothy Abrams, Lawrence C. Newcomb, and myself, seniors; and Ruth Kronman, Kenneth Miller, and George P. Rice, juniors.

During the past three years the men's and women's teams have compiled a record of six consecutive victories in competition with teams representing colleges of high reputation. Among the colleges we have met in debate are: St. Lawrence university, Boston university, Vassar, Hamilton, Union, University of Pittsburgh, and Victoria university of New Zealand.

Last year the College, through the men's team, participated in its first international debate and in its first debate over the radio from the General Electric station in Schenectady. Interest in debating has extended to interclass contests during the past two years. These contests aroused much interest, were hotly contested, and attracted the attention and support of the entire student body, particularly the rival classes.

When debating interest here was at its height, a new course in debating, English 13, was added to the English curriculum and taught by Dr. Thompson. Formerly the course was for two semesters, but this year it is being tried as a one-semester course.

Plans for the debate season for this year are still tentative, but we have challenged eight colleges to debates. The majority of these will probably take place in Page hall auditorium, since several of our return debates call for engagements here.

BOARD REVERSES COLLECTION DAYS

Freshmen Are Paying $14 First at Government Office; Seniors are Last

Collection of student tax has been reversed this year, according to Clarence A. Hidley, assistant professor of history and treasurer of the student association. In past years taxes were collected from seniors first, then from the juniors, sophomores, and lastly from the freshmen, but this year taxes are being collected from the freshmen first and from the seniors last.

As the budget proposed by the student board of finance amounting to $16,101.65 was passed in the assembly without any changes, the freshmen paid a student tax of $14 each on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Next week Wednesday and Thursday, the sophomores will pay the student tax, on Wednesday and Thursday, October 21 and 22, the juniors, and on Wednesday and Thursday, October 28 and 29, the seniors.

DR. ADNA RISLEY TO REFEREE NINE FOOTBALL GAMES

Dr. Adna W. Risley, head of the history department, will officiate at nine inter-collegiate football games in the East this fall.

These games are: Syracuse-Hobart, at Syracuse, October 4; Cornell-Hampden-Sidney, at Ithaca, October 14; Union-Vermont, at Schenectady, October 18; New Hampshire-Vermont, at Durham, October 25; Penn State-Bucknell, at Lewisburg, Pa., November 1; Holy Cross-New River State, at Worcester, Mass., November 8; Dartmouth-Cornell, at Ithaca, November 15; and Rochester-Hobart, at Rochester, November 22.

Dr. Risley will also officiate in the annual Albany High school-Albany Academy game at Albany, November 11.

PAPER WILL HAVE 2 NEWS WRITING CLASSES WEEKLY

For the first time in its history, the News board finds it necessary to conduct two regular classes in news writing each week for freshmen candidates. Catherine Broderick, '31, associate managing editor, announced today.

One class will be conducted at 12 o'clock, and another at 3:20 o'clock on Thursdays in room 109. The sections are arranged and will meet at the time which they have been assigned once a week for the remainder of the semester.

Promotions on the News staff are made on a basis of ability, attitude toward the work, and willingness to assist in any capacity on the paper. Regularity in attending the weekly classes is also a deciding factor, Miss Broderick said.

47 Freshmen Try Out For Dramatic Council

Y.M.C.A. Conducts 1930 Membership Campaign

The annual membership drive of the student Young Men's Christian association will begin this week, according to Earl Bloomingdale, '31, chairman of the committee in charge. A large budget has been adopted, and the best list of speakers brought by the student Y. M. C. A. to State college will be presented this year, he said. Every man will be expected to contribute one dollar, Bloomingdale announced.

Students will have a week in which to sign pledges and join the organization. Membership cards entitle the holder to all of the privileges of the student Y. M. C. A. including a full social and a partial athletic membership at the Central Y. M. C. A.

If You Ask Me—

Question: "What do you think of the establishment of an inter-class debate league?"

Jean Gillespy, '31: "I am afraid that inter-class debating would just be another one of those extra-curricular activities which drag along and never excite much interest. I think that the people who are really interested in debating are already evidencing their interest sufficiently by means of the inter-collegiate debates."

George P. Rice, '32: "This project carried out would bring debating to more students. The interest of the college in debating has already been displayed. For the past two years the freshmen and sophomore classes have chosen to have a debate instead of a sing."

Asenath Van Buren, '32: "I think the idea would be very valuable for the certain few who would participate. The two upper classes, particularly, need something to stimulate their class spirit. But it is a question of whether or not we have enough extra-curricular activities now."

Ruth Kelsey, '31: "I consider it a splendid idea. It would promote a fine spirit of rivalry among the classes."

'31 ELECTS OFFICERS

Marion Odwell was elected a member of the finance board, and Ardith Down was elected as class representative on the girls' athletic council at a meeting of the senior class conducted recently.

VISITS SORORITY

RICE AND MILLER TO DEBATE SCOTS

Dr. Harold W. Thompson Picks
Two Juniors to Represent
State College

Two juniors, Kenneth A. Miller and George P. Rice, have been chosen to represent State college in the proposed debate with the representatives of the Scottish universities.

They were named at a meeting of the debate council last week by Dr. Harold W. Thompson, coach of debate and professor of English. A vote of the council had given him the power to name the team. The men were chosen in this manner rather than the usual competitive try-out method because of lack of time, members of the council said.

If the debate takes place here Friday, October 24, the team will debate John M. MacCormick and Norman A. B. Wilson. It will be the first two-man debate that State college has ever scheduled for the men's team and will be the second international debate in which its teams have ever participated.

Last year the men met New Zealand in a non-decision debate. The Scottish team has suggested that there be no decision in their proposed debate here.

Both Miller and Rice have had previous experience on the men's varsity, Miller having been alternate in three debates last year and a member of the sophomore class team last March.

Rice has been a member of the men's varsity team as a speaker for three consecutive years and for two years was captain of his class team in the interclass rivalry debates.

WOMEN'S CHORUS TO SING TONIGHT IN NEW YORK CITY

Forty members of the State college women's chorus left this morning for New York city to compete in a contest between musical clubs conducted by the New York Federation of Music Clubs.

Tonight at 9 o'clock in the ballroom of the Hotel Astor the College chorus will compete with the Buffalo State college glee club.

The prizes of $300, $200, and $100 will be announced tomorrow. Contests between clubs have been going on each night this past week. The judges each night place the mark awarded to each club in a sealed box.

Dr. T. Frederick H. Candlyn, head of the music department, and Mrs. Candlyn, and Miss Marion Chesebrough, instructor in Latin, are chaperoning the group. The students left for New York by daylight, bus, and auto.

Last April the College chorus won the sectional prize of $100 from the Utica Musical club, and the Monday Musical club. The winning of this contest made the chorus eligible for the contest tonight in New York.

125 ARE PRESENT AT SENIOR DINNER

Catherine E. Broderick Announces
Committees for Hop
At Meeting

One hundred and twenty-five seniors attended the dinner in the cafeteria Wednesday night. This was the first time that such a dinner had been conducted, its purpose being to dispose of important class business as well as to get the class together socially.

Professor John M. Sayles, principal of Milne High school, was the speaker of the evening. Lawrence C. Newcomb, senior president, also spoke, and outlined the activities of the senior class for the coming year.

The committees for senior hop, as announced by Catherine Broderick, '31, general chairman, are as follows: music, Margaret Hickey, chairman, Doris Markham and Horace Myers; programs, Dorothy Kline, chairman, and Ethel Smith; decorations, Edythe Cairns, chairman, Carolyn Kelley, Jean Minkin, Alice Splain, Walter Driscoll, Edward Osborne and Alexander Schoor; publicity, Mildred Hall, chairman, and Norma Butler; faculty, Mabel Gilman, chairman, Adelaide Pulver and Lucia Stephens; invitations, Clara Lyons, chairman, and Mae Bonesteel; refreshments, Raymond Collins, chairman, and Rose Koren; taxis, Frances Cornell, chairman, and Lilly Nelson. Distribution, Alfred Basch, Ardith Down and Anne Savercool.

The hop will be in the Page hall gymnasium, Friday, October 31. The price of the bid will probably be $2.50, the class decided. A sign will be posted on the main bulletin board today for those who wish to sign up to attend the hop.

Royal Knox was toast-master, and Edythe Cairns and Margaret Hickey were in charge of a musical program which included singing of class, college and popular songs. Clayton Stewart, '33, gave several violin selections.

SALE OF TICKETS FOR LINDSAY TALK WILL BEGIN SOON

Miss Hazel Rowley, assistant instructor in physics; Miss Anne L. Cushing, supervisor of mathematics; Miss Agnes Futterer, assistant professor of English; Miss Anna E. Pierce, dean of women; Miss Minnie B. Scotland, assistant professor of biology; Miss Laura Thompson, instructor in home economics; Miss Marion Chesebrough, instructor in Latin; and Miss Margrid Hagelberg, instructor in biology.

In addition to the above list, approximately 60 Albanians will serve as patrons and patronesses for the performance.

Among Mr. Lindsay's best known poems, the material from which his recital will probably be drawn, are the following: "The Congo," "General William Booth Enters Into Heaven," "The Chinese Nightingale," "Jenny Lind in Chicago" and "Every Soul is a Circus." Mr. Lindsay will render the above in chanted recitals to his own tunes.

In addition to his own poetry recital, the author offers lectures on "The Art of the Moving Pictures" based on his book of the name. Among the subjects for this part of the program are: "The Talkies vs. the Moving Picture," "The Best Moving Picture I Have Ever Seen," and "Thirty Differences Between the Movies and the Stage."

The London Observer has said of Mr. Lindsay and his work: "Mr. Vachel Lindsay is easily the most important living American poet. He is more than that. He is the voice and hope of that eager, generous, young America, the goal of all kinds of frustrated people. America can never be regarded as submerged by mere commercialism so long as Mr. Lindsay sings his songs from New York to New Mexico."

The remaining committees and their chairmen are: window card placing, Miss Agnes Demman, a member of the English department of Albany high school; mailing list, Miss Bushford, secretary of alumnae association; newspaper publicity, Dean Anna E. Pierce; and ushers, Miss Agnes F. Futterer, assistant professor of English.

All of these committees will probably be enlarged, Miss Scotland announced.

A program of music and entertainment was given by Clayton Stewart, '33, and Margaret Hickey, '31. Stewart rendered several violin solos, and Miss Hickey played piano for the singing.

"The first social hour was far more successful than we expected," said Annabelle McConnell, '31, who is the chairman of the committee which is arranging the weekly programs. "We should like to have seen more freshmen there and hope they will attend in larger numbers."

EDITOR TO PUBLISH 1500 DIRECTORIES

Annual Publication to Be Ready
For Distribution to All
Students Next Week

About fifteen hundred copies of the student directory will be published this year, according to Ardith Down, '31, editor in chief of the publication. "The directory will be ready for distribution to the students by the end of next week," Miss Down said.

The gold seal which was made standard by the editors of the 1929-1930 directory will again appear on the cover. The contents will be similar to the directory of last year, according to Miss Down. Regular, special, and library school students' names, classes, home addresses, Albany addresses, and telephone numbers will be printed. The regular order of faculty, office force, college telephone numbers and students, will be followed.

Miss Down is assisted in her work by Walter Driscoll, '31, Virginia Hawkins, '32, Violet Putnam, '33, and Robert Myers, '34. The publication will cost approximately twenty-five dollars more than last year's. "The increase is due to the number of freshmen entered this year," explained Miss Down.

Alvina Lewis Becomes Desk Editor For News

Promotion of Alvina Lewis, '33, from the position of reporter to that of desk editor is announced today by the News board.

Last year as a "cub" Miss Lewis contributed 175 inches of printed copy to lead the "cubs" in that line. She also did work in proof reading during the past month.

The board announces that another desk editor will probably be appointed soon. The post may be filled from the present sophomore candidates on the staff.

19 STUDENTS JOIN STATE ORCHESTRA

The Group Will Play at All
College Functions, Its Sponsors Declare

Nineteen students have signed up for the State college symphony orchestra, which is being reorganized this year by Duane Baker, '32, and J. Bruce Filby, '33. The group will play at college functions, and will rehearse one night a week, according to Filby.

Last year an attempt was made to get such an organization together on a permanent basis, but lack of co-operation in attending rehearsals made it necessary to drop the matter. Dr. Frederick H. Candlyn, head of the music department, has expressed his willingness to support the orchestra, and even to direct it, provided enough students signify their intention of attending all rehearsals during the year, Filby said.

Those who will form the nucleus of the orchestra are: Violins: Irving R. McConnell, Zoe Hendricks, Theresa Wienecke, Winifred Hurlbut, Clayton Stewart and Eleanor Waterbury, seniors; Rose D. Bochner, Genevieve Shorey and Philip Riccardi, freshmen; piano: Robert J. Floody and Duane Baker, juniors, and Bertram McNary, '34; trombones: J. Bruce Filby, '33, and Robert Robinson, '34; clarinets: Edward Deevey, Lois Benjamin and Fernanda Gizzarelli, freshmen; alto saxophone and euphonium, Ormond L. Guyer, '33; banjo, Helen Buckley, '34.
