JUNIORS TO FEATURE QUEEN OF PROM IN GRAND MARCH TONIGHT AT AURANIA CLUB

VARSITY TO FACE SETH LOW TEAM

New York Quintet Will Meet
State Team Tomorrow
on Page Court

By THOMAS RYAN, '34
SPORTS EDITOR, THE NEWS

Coach Baker's Purple and Gold quintet which has swept through the first half of the season undefeated, will attempt to add to its laurels when it meets Seth Low college for the first time in the history of the schools tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock on Page court.

"We expect a hard fight against Seth Low," Coach Baker stated, commenting on the game. "We have never had them on our schedule before, but advance reports place them as a strong team, since they have played some leading colleges in the Metropolitan district. In regards to our boys, it is doubtful as to how their physical and mental condition will be, seeing that the game immediately follows examinations. Due to the fact that the defense will not be as tight as it was in the Alumni game, I expect the score to be higher for both teams. We will have to wait a long time before we have the opportunity of seeing as strong a defensive game as we witnessed two weeks ago."

The varsity met a stubborn defense against the Alumni in their last game, but stepped away from their opponents in the fourth quarter to clinch a 20-15 victory, their fifth straight in as many starts. Cliff Rall and Ray Harris sank two brilliant field baskets to sew up the game for State.

Neither team was able to launch a strong offensive during the first half and the game quickly settled into a close checking contest. Ray Harris gave the varsity the lead in the first few minutes of play when he sank two free throws. Captain Gil De Laura then contributed his only basket of the game and both teams warmed up to a fast, rough style of play. Fast pass-work by the Alumni worked the ball into varsity territory, but they were unable to find the basket and resorted to long shots. Herney and Lyons caged two baskets from beyond the foul circle to cut down the varsity's lead.

Towards the end of the first half, the varsity first string was replaced by Ben Boldt, center, Bud Kistum and Ossy Brooks, forwards, George Hancock and Tom Garrett, guards. Hancock dribbled the length of the court to sink an easy basket. Boldt contributed a free throw, and at the half the varsity led, 11-9.

The regulars re-entered the game at the start of the second half, and were immediately forced to take the offensive against a strong Alumni attack. A sudden spurt by Alumni gave them the lead when Herney and Lyons sank baskets in rapid succession. The varsity drew ahead at the start of the final period when Ray Harris took the ball off the backboard and hooked in a basket. Rall and Harris contributed two additional baskets and the varsity held a five point lead until the end of the contest when the score stood 29-15.

Juniors Will Wear Gowns Of Classic Simplicity For Annual Dance Tonight

Classic simplicity will be the predominant note in the gowns worn tonight at the annual Junior Prom. High necklines and low decollete with very few accessories will be the fashion, while light colors, especially yellow, white and green, will be the most popular.

Maybelle Matthews, president of the junior class, will wear a gown of pink cotton lace, with silver slippers. Marion Howard's gown will be of yellow, with black slippers. Letitia Connelly will be present in a Nile green crepe gown trimmed with green, with green

English Is Most Outstanding Major Subject For Juniors

What subjects do the juniors study? Juniors prefer the commerce, English, history, and mathematics departments for their major work, according to statistics compiled by Miss Elizabeth Van Denburgh, registrar.

Fifty juniors are majoring in commerce; fifty-three in English; fifty-one in history; and fifty in mathematics. The favorite majors for juniors are history with sixty-four, English with fifty-four, and commerce, third, with thirty-seven. Those major subjects that appear least popular are biology, physics, combined science, and social science; while the less favored minors are chemistry, German, physics, combined science, social science, and Spanish.

JUNIOR TEA DANCE TO BE TOMORROW AT AURANIA CLUB

The annual junior tea dance will be conducted tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock at the Aurania club ballroom, according to June MacConnell, who is general chairman for the dance.

Don Alexander's orchestra will play for the tea dance. Other professional entertainment will be furnished by a group of Schenectady artists. Features of their program will be a fan dance and a military tap dance.

Miss Anna F. Pierce, dean of women, Mrs. A. R. Brubacher, Mrs. William Metzler and Mrs. George M. York, will preside at the tea tables.

All members of the student body who wish to attend are asked to sign up on the main bulletin board in the rotunda. Miss MacConnell said. Admission will be seventy-five cents per person or $1.50 a couple.

Committees for the dance include: music, Charles Robson, chairman, Julia Shields and Robert Robinson, arrangements; Estelle Biennick, chairman, Hannah Parker and Virginia Sherrill; faculty, Helen and Shirley Diamond; service, Alice Doherty, chairman, Grenfell Rand, Hoyland, chairman, Marion Pike and Celia Bishop; floor, Aaron Jasper, chairman, Madolyn Dwyer and Richard Degnan.

Women Voters League To Meet On Thursday

The new members of the New York League of Women Voters will meet in room 111 of Draper hall Thursday at 3:30 o'clock to organize a new voters unit at State college. Babetta Hinton, '34, a member of the New York State committee for new units, is in charge of the organization of the State college unit.

The new voters' unit in conjunction with the government classes will visit the New York State Legislature, Monday night at 8:00 o'clock. Everyone is welcome to attend this visit and to join the new unit. It is not necessary to have attained the age of twenty-one. Miss Hinton said.

Thelma Smith will wear a blue sateen gown, with white and silver sandals; Katherine Hang and Marion Mloczek will both wear white sateen gowns with silver slippers; Muriel Scott, a black tulle, with silver slippers; Marion Lloyd, a green crepe gown; and Mary J. Moore, a black velvet gown, with silver slippers.

Rumor hath it that more men will be attired in full dress suits this year than in previous years.

FORMAL RUSHING PERIOD TO CLOSE

Sororities to End Activities,
Breakfast Is Tomorrow,
Tea Dance Today

Freshmen whom sororities are considering for membership will be entertained at tea dances in the individual houses this afternoon. Each sorority will also serve breakfast tomorrow for freshman guests.

Beginning 11:30 o'clock Saturday, a period of silence will be observed, during which freshmen may not talk to sorority women. Silent period will continue until 5:30 o'clock Wednesday.

At 9:00 o'clock Monday, February 6, a preference blank will be put in the mailbox of each freshman who has received a rush invitation. Before noon each freshman must fill this blank and return it to Dean Pierce's office. If she has but one preference, she need not fill in her second and third preferences. If she does not wish to join a sorority at this time, she is requested to hand in the empty blank with her name.

Monday night each sorority will call at the office of Dean Anna F. Pierce for the list of the freshmen who have automatically become eligible for membership through sorority and freshmen preference. Before 8:00 o'clock that night, the sororities must have their formal bids in the mail.

FIRST LOUNGE TEA OF NEW SEMESTER TO BE THURSDAY

The first student-faculty tea of the second semester will be conducted Thursday, February 9 in the Lounge of Richardson hall from 3:30 o'clock to 5:00 o'clock. The Lounge committee will be in charge of the tea to which the juniors will be especially invited in continuation of the junior week-end activities. The faculty guests will be: Dr. Elizabeth Morris, assistant professor of education; Dr. George Painter, professor of philosophy; Dr. Arthur K. Bekk, professor of education; and Mrs. Bekk; Dr. Earl B. South, assistant professor of education; and Mrs. South. Dr. Morris, Mrs. Bekk and Mrs. South will pour.

Schedule for Teas

The schedule for the second semester student-faculty teas has been arranged as follows:

Thursday, February 9, Junior tea in charge of Lounge committee.

Wednesday, February 15, Miss Goldena Bills, supervisor of mathematics, in charge.

Thursday, February 23, Dorothy Gramer, '34, member of Lounge committee, in charge.

Wednesday, March 1, Myskama, senior honorary society, in charge.

Thursday, March 9, Miss Marion Kelpatrik, instructor in English, in charge.

Wednesday, March 15, Muriel Denton, '34, member Lounge committee, in charge.

Thursday, March 23, Marion Howard, '34, member Lounge committee, in charge.

Wednesday, March 29, Milne High school faculty in charge.

Thursday, April 6, Sophomore tea in charge of Lounge committee.

17 Juniors Gain Distinction In Scholarship And Honors

Seventeen juniors gained distinction in scholarship this year, either by mention on the honor roll or by induction into honorary societies. Evelyn Wells and Dorothy Shapiro earned the rating of Summa Cum Laude. Ten men were inducted into Kappa Phi Kappa, national honorary educational fraternity. They are: Roger Bancroft, William Nelson, Anthony Dorsino, Philip Ricciardi, Robert Robinson, Leo Plante, Grenfell N. Rand, Robert Meyers, Charles Robson and Raymond Moore.

Two juniors became members of Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity: Hilda Bradley and William Rogers. Alice Fitzpatrick was awarded the Pi Gamma Mu annual history prize. Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary journalistic fraternity, inducted two juniors into membership: June Carey and Alvina Frentleman.

JUNIORS TO HAVE ANNUAL LUNCHEON TOMORROW NOON

The annual luncheon of the junior class will take place tomorrow noon in the Canary room of the De Witt Clinton hotel, according to Hilda Bookheim, chairman. Dr. A. R. Brubacher, president, and Mrs. Brubacher, Dean Anna F. Pierce, Dr. Harold W. Thompson, professor of English, and Mrs. Thompson will be the guests. The speakers include Donald Benedict, toastmaster, and a speaker representing each year of the class. Jack Saunders, ex-'34, and freshman class president, William Nelson, president last year, and Maybelle Matthews, president of the class of this year, will complete the list of speakers. The committees assisting Miss Bookheim are: Programs, Thelma Smith, chairman, Muriel Denton and Dorothy Griffin; faculty, Edith DeHollander, chairman, Catherine Brown and Mathilda Centner; arrangements, Ida Weiner, chairman, Mary Moore and Leora Geddes; and decorations, Genevieve Shorva, chairman, Frances Estes and June Carey.

Alumni Will Recount Experiences In Travel

The Alumni association will present a group of travel talks in the Lounge of Richardson hall, Friday and Saturday afternoons, February 24 and 25, from 3:00 until 5:00 o'clock. These talks will be given by alumni and alumni members of the faculty who will relate many interesting facts garnered on recent travels and tours through foreign countries.

Repairs For Hawley Hall Are Completed; Library Will Be Open For Use Monday

The final completion of repairs in Hawley hall in order to transform it into a library has been the result of two years' effort on the part of the student and administration.

Several years ago, the administration, noting the crowded conditions in the Draper hall library, worked to have an appropriation passed by the Legislature to provide for the remodeling of Hawley hall as a new library. In the meantime, in order to accommodate the students, the library extended its hours of service to evenings.

On January 15, 1932, more than a year ago, Mr. Francis Gimann, chief engineer of the college, made the following statement in regard to the repairs in Hawley hall: "By the end of two months the new Gideon

1934 WILL DANCE TONIGHT AT 9:00

Ted Brewer to Play for Prom;
Juniors to Crown Queen
After Sixth Dance

One hundred fifty couples will attend the annual junior prom tonight as guests of the junior class at the Aurania club ballroom from nine to two o'clock. Ted Brewer's orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. Roger Bancroft, vice-president of the class and general chairman of the prom, announced today that, following the fourth dance, the patrons and patronesses, the class officers, and their guests will form a receiving line.

The patrons and patronesses for the dance are: Dr. A. R. Brubacher, president, and Mrs. Brubacher; Dr. William H. Metzler, dean, and Mrs. Metzler; Miss Anna F. Pierce, dean of women; Professor George M. York, head of the commerce department, and Mrs. York; Professor Harry Birchough, head of the mathematics department, and Mrs. Birchough; Dr. Earl South, assistant professor of education, and Mrs. South; Dr. Milton G. Nelson, professor of education, and Mrs. Nelson; Professor V. W. Risley, head of the history department, and Mrs. Risley; Dr. Harry W. Hastings, chairman of the English department, and Mrs. Hastings; and Dr. Lloyd Cheney, Commissioner of Education, and Mrs. Cheney.

At the end of the sixth dance the queen of the junior prom, elected by the class, will enter the ballroom, accompanied by her two attendants, the runners-up in the class election. After the queen has taken her place on the throne and been crowned, the grand march, headed by the faculty guests, will form to the left of the queen's throne. The line of march will pass once around the ballroom and before the queen.

Complete committees for the dance are: Music, Charles Kissam, chairman, Betty Arnold and Diane Bohmer; decorations, Katherine Hang and William Nelson, co-chairmen, Philip Ricciardi, Elizabeth Salese, Helen Buckley, Dorothy Munyer, Thomas Garrett and Helen Mahay; floor, Theodore Eckert, James DeLan, and Edward Schworm; invitations, Jean Craigmiller, chairman, Elizabeth Kammerer, Helen Danahy, and Lorraine Crow; programs, Harriette Goodenow, chairman, Marie Prindle, Merion Kelly and Anita Fracliek; refreshments, Hilda Bradley, chairman, Elizabeth Zund, Rose Sockik, Robert Meyers, and Anthony Dorsino; chaperones, Alvina Frentleman, chairman, Maybelle Matthews, Christine Paland, and Helen Kluge.

Hawley library will be ready for occupancy. The last step toward the completion of the library was begun during the Christmas recess." Dr. A. R. Brubacher stated that he expected the library to be ready by the latter part of March or the early part of April, 1932. He also maintained that the library will be used as a reference and reading room instead of a study hall.

In the September 30, 1932, issue of the STATE COLLEGE NEWS we see the optimistic statement: "The Hawley library work will be completed before the Thanksgiving recess." Last December a delay in the project was caused by the impossibility of demonstrations of authority in the case.

However, the new library will be ready for use Monday.

AN ADMINISTRATIVE GOAL

The new College library in Hawley hall will be open for use Monday, the first day of the new semester. The opening of this library marks the successful culmination of another long struggle in the rise and development of State college.

The students as well as the faculty have long felt the need for more adequate library facilities, as well as additional space for quiet study. Previously students have studied in dark halls, open porches, and under other more or less unhygienic conditions. An attempt has also been made annually by members of the Lounge committee to prevent studying in the only purely social room of the College. The new library will solve this problem, as well as another grave need, namely to furnish room for library stacks. Many of the books belonging to this library have not been in use, due to lack of shelf space in the rooms on the second floor of Draper hall. After the new library is completely organized, the stacks, to be found in the basement of Hawley hall, a part of the old gymnasium, will be open for student use.

The library staff is also attempting an innovation in regard to the letting out of reserve books. These books will be kept on open shelves, and will be designated by a red binding. The library staff requests that students help by the proper handling of these books.

Since this College is state maintained, and the new library has been made possible only through the state legislature, it is essential that the student body cooperate in making the project a success.

FEATURE EDITION

The members of the News board have dedicated this issue to the junior class in honor of their week-end festivities, and the junior board of editors presents to the student body this feature junior edition. Any discussion of the questions which have arisen in regard to the recent publication of the "Commentstater" has therefore been deferred until the next regular issue of the NEWS.

CO-OPERATION ASKED

For the first time in several years, State college students will have the opportunity to participate in a formal receiving line and a formal line of march. This opportunity will be furnished tonight at the annual junior Prom. The juniors are inaugurating the one, and reviewing the other in an attempt to make the dance a more dignified and stately occasion. The class is expecting the co-operation and support of members of the other classes in making this ceremony as well as the entire evening a success.

For some time, State college students have appeared lax in paying the proper amount of attention and courtesy to those faculty members who have consented to act as chaperones. Previously, faculty guests have been herded into one corner and ignored throughout the entire evening except by those few who had arranged the faculty programs.

This year, members of the faculty have expressed their sincere willingness to take active part in the program for the evening. As representatives of the junior class and of the student body, let us make them feel that they are appreciated as well as welcome.

BOOKS: THE GODS ARRIVE

By Edith Wharton

For Sale in the Co-op

The Gods Arrive, By Edith Wharton. D. Appleton and Company, New York City, 432 pages.

Frenside had said that being happy was a destructive experience, yet how joyfully Halo Tarrant had given up everything to become the companion of Vance Weston, the author. Vance himself believed that real happiness had come, yet how soon did he come to realize that at the very heart of their intimacy the old problem lurked, and that never, even in the closest moments of their union, would they really understand each other. How ever, in the last chapter Vance and Halo become reunited, giving the book a traditional happy ending.

Edith Wharton conveys a clear impression of American life abroad. Throughout she gives us vivid pictures of interesting places; the arched openings; lights reflected in polished marble glimmering through the foliage of wrought iron gates of an old cathedral; and the cafe terraces where brightly dressed people sipped cocktails under orange and white umbrellas at Monte Carlo.

The book, as a whole, is very well written. It gives an interesting cross section of one particular type of American life.

THE COMMENTSTATER

Having safely come through two weeks of interviews, threats, and sneers, and having escaped the dire punishment waved under our nose by a "lug-shot" from downtown, who claimed that he was considering using his "influence" with the governor of the State (melodramatic possibilities here—voice, significant looks, and villainous attitude), we now forego any further discussion of "basketball as it is debated" until, perhaps, next week, at the request of the editors of the junior issue.

We wish to thank Mr. Yaffee for his communication, published in the last issue of the NEWS, which took exception, fairly cleverly, to our criticism of the Lion. The only answer we can make is to say that, quite apparently, our tastes are widely different. And as for the hemlock, one neither eats or drinks it, but, if he wishes, chews it, and the question is whether we wish to remain at the bottom or ascend to some of the higher branches. It may elucidate our position to tell that during the memorial service conducted in assembly two weeks ago, two prominent contributors to the Lion were seen reading Balthazar through the entire service; from the beginning of Dr. Hutchinson's eloquent prayer to the last lovely note of the "Silver Swan," they glared in the splendid humor in that magazine's pages.

While we are speaking of it, we wish to thank the student council for arranging that memorial service. It was quietly and graciously done, with just the proper amount of tribute. We were especially pleased with the choral selections.

We wonder if it might not be possible to engage members of the faculty more often to participate in our assembly programs.

Recommending to your notice The Fair of St. James, by Eleanor Farjeon, which we are in the process of reading a lovely book. And speaking of delightful books, have you made the acquaintance of Kenneth Grahame? The Golden Age and Peter Raby offer a glorious occupation for several hours to anyone who likes just to read. We understand that Mrs. Grahame is planning to publish a volume of the late Mr. Grahame's letters, and we're looking forward to it eagerly.

There is an organization of artists in New York who call themselves the Epimox Press, and who do all the work necessary to publish a book by hand—printing, binding, etc. Besides issuing beautiful limited editions, they have been printing small "pamphlets," nicely done, for twenty-five cents; they include Prophets, by Conrad Aiken, a poem by William Faulkner (which is considered a first edition, by the way), and several other remarkable pieces, printed on special paper, in attractive type, with interesting illustrations.

Examinations have wearied us so much that we hope they "return to plague their inventors." We don't really, because we imagine that they are much more bother to the faculty than to us. But as we began to say, they have reduced us to a mere shadow, and we are unable to go on—so, until next week, farewell.

1934 Is Prominent In Class Athletics; Win Pole Rush Two Successive Years

The juniors may claim no honor of having done anything sensational in athletics, but when it comes to dealing out class athletics awards in the college the juniors will be found fighting to keep out in front of the van.

There is one feat which succeeding classes may equal but never surpass, and that is winning the pole rush two years in a row. Who can ever forget the battle royal on the Western Avenue campus between the pole rush teams of '34 and '33? "Sparkie" Bancroft, whom the present seniors unsuccessfully kidnapped, managed to gain the top of the pole and slip the coveted ribbon into his mouth, after Frank Petronis, who successfully climbed the pole, unfortunately was forced to make a swift descent when he began to lose the lower half of his attire. Guarded more or less by his classmates, Bancroft secured victory for his class by holding the ribbon for the required ten minutes.

Last year the class of '34 proved too powerful in defending the pole and had an easy time in warding off the attacks of the class of '35. The attackers injured their own cause by turning a horse on the pole.

Perhaps the earliest venture of the juniors into sports occurred with a football game between the classes of '34 and '33 two years ago. The game ended in a tie, 0-0. When the final whistle blew the '34 team was backed up on its own goal line fighting to stave off a score. The inter-class football game has fallen into disrepair and the last game will long be remembered by both class teams.

As freshmen, the class of '34 boasted a crack basketball quintet, swamping the sophomores in the annual inter-class game. Tom Garrett, Roger Bancroft, Bill Nelson, Ossy Brooks, Bob Meyers, and Jack Saunders made the varsity in their freshman year. Meyers and Nelson left the varsity squad at the beginning of the present season, and Jack Saunders transferred to Albany Law School. Four juniors are prominent in the varsity's games this year. Bancroft one of the finest players that Coach Baker has produced at State, is a regular forward. Bud Kissam, Brooks, Garrett are reserve players.

In intramural basketball the juniors have yet to win a championship, but they seem well on their way to the trophy this year. They are leading the league with two victories and no defeats and the only team which appears capable of giving the leadership fight for the championship is the sophomore outfit. However, the juniors claim one victory over the sophomores and the next clash between the classes will decide the issue. The junior team includes Harry Yaffee, Bill Nelson, Bob Meyers, Tom Ryan, Willard Fowler, Don Benedict, Art Templeton, Phil Ricciardi, and Bob Robinson. The junior aggregation is managed by George Ketchum.

In baseball the juniors have an outstanding athlete in our own Ossy Brooks, varsity hurler for two years, and one of the leading batters on the State nine. Ossy hurls all of State's games, and has proved a valuable man on the mound. Don Benedict, regular first baseman is a slugger of note. Benedict was also a regular varsity man for two years and his timely hitting aided in more than one of State's victories.

In their sophomore year the junior baseball nine slammed Bill Torpey, the "Binghamton Flash", and a score of opposing pitchers over Beverwyck park to sink the freshmen under a huge score. The juniors teamed up with the class of '35 this year and lost a close game to the senior-sophomore nine.

SPORT SHOTS

Ken Miller has certainly accomplished a fine job with his Jefferson High outfit. Miller's team completely outclassed Milne High. Their "sleeper" play during the first half should never have worked, but they repeatedly caught Milne flat-footed for easy baskets. The visitors showed an exceptional brand of passwork. They had plenty of fighting spirit and were a credit to Coach "Abe."

Crover Hoteling and Roger Bancroft in the Albany game drew two of the finest players that Coach Baker ever produced in Leo Klein and Joe Herney. Cliff Rall soon realized why Charlie Lyons was always considered a clever guard. The Rall Lyons fight was interesting to watch. Neither player hesitated in roughing up the other. The Albany thoroughly enjoyed the workout, especially Joe Herney who seemed to be having a great deal of fun during the contest at the expense of the Varsity. Joe was fast, elusive, and plenty rough. Ask Bancroft, he knows.

With Bancroft and Hoteling so cleverly tied up it devolved upon some other member of the Varsity to take scoring honors, and Ray Harris came through in fine style. The two baskets that Harris hooked in were well earned. Ray was following up the snots all night, and finally got the rebound free from his guard to earn high scoring honors. This marks the second game in which Harris has given a stellar performance at the pivot post.

The inter-class teams got away for a fast start at the beginning of the season, but interest is waning. The juniors and freshmen are already the pick of the league. The juniors are leading but were forced to step back to nose out the sophomores. Six games per season seem to be too few to keep up interest. The same men who play in the inter-material league games play on a class team. There is no point in forming two different leagues where each team averages one game every two or three weeks.

Group of Water Colors To Remain on Display

The groups of water colors, by Miss Jane B. Reid, will remain on display in the art department, second floor of Draper hall, throughout the coming week. Miss Fannie Perine, instructor in art, announced today.

This collection is of sketches made in England, many of which are from the Shakespearean country. They are done by Miss Reid, of Rochester, who is a professional water colorist.

These pictures may be purchased at a small sum, Miss Perine added, but the primary purpose is the opportunity which it gives State college students to inspect this type of art.

The studio will be open from nine o'clock in the morning until five o'clock in the afternoon so that everyone will have the opportunity of seeing this display.

ELEVEN COMPLETE CREDITS REQUIRED TO GET DEGREES

Eleven seniors completed their courses necessary for their degrees at the end of the first semester, according to Miss Elizabeth Van Denburgh, College registrar.

Those who will receive degrees of Bachelor of Arts are: Augusta Baker, Dorothy Cronk, Frank MacFarland and Mary White. Helen Cragg and Ormond Guyer have completed the required courses for a degree of Bachelor of Science in Commerce. Marion Larbey will receive a degree of Bachelor of Science in Library Science. Those who will receive degrees of Bachelor of Science in Education are Mary Monaghan, Eloise Mulligan, and Bernice Wier.

Dorothy Cronk began teaching commerce at Government High School, Wednesday.

THE COLLEGIATE WHIRL

Student dramatic artists at the University of Minnesota, in order to stage a play secured a number of smoke bombs from the local National Guard. On the opening night of the play, when the fire scene was presented, the smoke was so thick the audience had to leave. The National Guard had neglected to inform the actors that the bombs were powerful enough to lay a smoke screen over a 40-acre field.

A series of "Dawn dances" were conducted at the University of Alabama for the benefit of those students who studied late. The dances ran from 6:30 o'clock to 8:30 in the morning. (NSFA)

Girls at Wellesley college have decided not to speak to their friends when they meet on the campus. They say that it gets tiresome to greet the same person several times a day.

Students at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, are required to pay fines for cutting classes. These fines are used to buy the president of the college a Christmas present. Last year, he received a fine cigar.

Anthony Peterson, chaplain of Sing Sing Prison, records in an article that many college men are prisoners. In his list of the colleges represented among the inmates, teachers are not included. Forgery seems to be the most universal crime among this type of prisoner.

A Cornell university English professor discovered that an essay he had received in one of his courses was copied word for word from a text book. He withheld the identity of the culprit, but announced that he would like the guilty one to meet him after class. Five people waited to keep said appointment.

College Students Find Historic Bell In Junk

Berkeley, Cal. (P).—"Old Bill—Damn Him," ear-splitting, booming bell in North Hall, University of California's oldest building, has been found again.

"Old Bill," which received the additional cognomen, "Damn Him," because for generations he thundered out the time in 15-minute intervals night and day, has been discovered this time in a junk pile in the Zoology Building of the university.

The old bell, brought around the Horn in 1859 and first used in the old College of California, predecessor of the University of California, has been "lost" repeatedly in recent years on student and faculty insistence.

In 1910 it was taken from storage to be used in connection with the 50th anniversary of the university. Since then it has disappeared and reappeared again and again.

In 1925 it was "retired" because its great weight was endangering the old building.

Y.W.C.A. SERVICE TO AID STUDENTS IN FINDING WORK

The Young Women's Christian association will conduct an employment service bureau for the second semester, beginning Monday. All students who desire work and any persons who have need of the services of College students may register with Marion Pike, '34, chairman, at the association's desk in the activities office in the lower corridor of Draper hall between 3:15 and 4:15 o'clock.

This bureau is an experiment, started at the suggestion of Grenfell Rand, '34, in his report from the National Student Federation convention last month. It will be operated in co-operation with the employment service conducted through the office of Dean Anna E. Pierce. Those who register with Miss Pierce will be also placed on the Y. W. C. A. list, Miss Pike stated.

"Chesterfields Satisfy"

WHEN smokers keep buying the same cigarette day after day... it's a pretty good sign that they're getting what they want... mildness, better taste—a smoke that's always the same.

So we're going right on making Chesterfields just as we always have... selecting choice, ripe tobaccos... ageing them... blending and cross-blending them... making them into cigarettes in the most scientific ways that are known.

As long as we do these things we know that smokers will continue to say, "They Satisfy". For that's what people are saying about Chesterfields.

If you smoke, why not find out about them? A package or two will tell you the whole story.

HAWLEY LIBRARY TO OPEN MONDAY

Students to Secure Additional Advantages in Project Recently Completed

Library services for readers and borrowers will be resumed Monday morning at 8:00 o'clock with the completion of the moving of books and equipment from the old quarters in Draper hall to the new situation in Hawley hall. Service was discontinued last Saturday in order to move the materials into the new library.

Several innovations in the methods of borrowing and reserving books have been instituted, according to Miss Mary E. Cobb, College librarian. In the new library reserve books will have red tape marks on the back and will be placed on open shelves in the middle of the room and will be restricted to use in the library only. Current issues of magazines will also be restricted to use in the library. Students are required to use not more than one or two reserve books in the same subject at the tables. This will prevent a shortage in the demand for books. Trucks near these shelves will be used to hold the reserve books in case students cannot replace them in their places on the shelves.

Reserve books must be replaced on the shelves or on the trucks, Miss Cobb stated. This method in the use of reserve books is an experiment, she added. "We hope to have the co-operation of the student body for its successful outcome," said Miss Cobb.

Books will be charged at the front of the desk and due books will be discharged at the side of the desk nearest the peristyle entrance. Signs will be placed to indicate the places where books will be charged and discharged.

A portion of the Hawley hall gymnasium has been set off to use for stacks, that is, the books which cannot be placed in the main reading room. These stacks will not be open to students until a staircase, leading to these stacks can be constructed.

Two small conference rooms on the second floor of Hawley hall will be open for student use. For the first two weeks of the semester, these rooms will not be scheduled, according to Miss Cobb.

TEAM WILL VISIT NEW YORK CITY

Coach Baker's Squad to Leave Tuesday; Varsity to Meet Three Opponents

By THOMAS RYAN, '34 Sports Editor, THE NEWS

The varsity basketball team will leave for New York city Tuesday night to meet three opponents in the Metropolitan district, Seth Low college, Brooklyn Polytechnic, and Montclair Teacher's college, Montclair, New Jersey.

Coach Baker is undecided on the squad which he will take on the trip. The men will be chosen after practice on Monday night. Captain Gil De Laura, Roger Bancroft, Grover Hotelling, Cliff Hall, Ben Boldt, and Ray Harris, who have participated in all of State's games appear to be certain of making the trip with Manager Ralph Harris and Coach Baker. The remaining few players chosen to make the trip will be probably chosen from Bud Kissam, Ossy Brooks, and Tom Garrett.

State will be seeking revenge from Montclair for the defeat which they handed Baker's team last year. The varsity will meet Montclair on Wednesday night.

The Seth Low contest on Friday night will be a return game for the contest which will be played tomorrow night.

Brooklyn Polytechnic, who will play host to the team on Saturday night, gave State a hard fight on Page court last year before State could eke out a two point victory.

"CUBS" WILL MEET IN NEWS CLASSES

Bernard Kerbel, '33, to Direct Freshman Journalists Next Semester

Editorial classes for the STATE COLLEGE NEWS "cubs" will be conducted under the direction of Bernard Kerbel, '33, managing editor, during the second semester. The classes will not be resumed until the second week of the semester, Kerbel said. He will be assisted by Marion Howard, '34, associate managing editor.

The membership of the try-out classes number seventy-eight as compared with the one hundred and ten, which originally started in September. The classes last semester were directed by Laura Styn, '33, staff director. These classes received instruction in writing news stories, the elements which are combined in journalistic writing and the methods used to write interviews.

Next semester the "cubs" will receive further instruction in writing, following assignments, reading and preparing copy for print, proof reading, head line writing, and make-up.

If a sufficient number of students signify their intention to begin trying out for the News, a new class will be formed, Kerbel said.

ARE VISITORS

Rough and tumble fights intermingled with gracefully swaying figures at Soiree, are among the visions recalled by the present junior class as it prepares for its biggest college social event—Prom.

The class of 1934 had not been in college one month before it had set three records for succeeding classes to aim at. It enrolled 362 members, sent 121 candidates to strive for positions on the STATE COLLEGE NEWS and adopted the largest budget of any class, calling for a collection of $1,000.

That fall saw the men of the class accept the football challenge of the sophomores. Eleven men representing both classes repaired to Ridgefield Park where they battled through a scoreless tie.

When spring came around, activity was transferred from the gridiron to the rostrum, where the freshmen team won a three to nothing decision over the sophomores. The team was composed of Renwick Arnett, Frances Higgins and Edward Deavey.

The men's basketball team overwhelmed the sophomore quintet, but the freshmen women's team bowed to the sophomore basketesses and it took Roger Bancroft's spectacular capture of the sophomore colors in the pole rush, and the winning of the Moving-up day stunt to give the yearlings a thirteen to thirteen tie in rivalry.

The sophomore soiree, with Robert Robinson as chairman, was graced by nearly two hundred members of the class with their guests. The soiree nearly turned into a rough and tumble melee when the freshmen endeavored to seize the banner before the appointed time, but the solid front of the juniors prevented the gorillalike siege of the freshmen from obtaining the coveted banner.

The sophomore year found the class exchanging the leadership of Jack Saunders for that of William Nelson. The class won rivalry by a good margin this year, winning one basketball game, another decision in debate, a victory in the pole rush, and a successful hiding of the class mascot. The sophomores also won the Moving-up day sing under the direction of Maybelle Matthews who later stepped into the president's chair.

Juniors expect to add to Collegiety tonight when its member follow the first "Queen of the Prom" in the grand march around the ball room of the Aurania club.

This Queen of the Prom inaugurates a new plan—another of the original ideas that the class has carried out, for originality and leadership have characterized the 34's throughout these two and one-half years at State. Strong individuals have merged their personalities to form the individual class of 1934—a class of which each member is proud, and of which we hope State is proud, for our class no matter how original, how individual, is working toward a common ideal—our State. We with all of you, are Arm in arm through friendly ways, Pressing on our college days. For common bond we are N. Y. S. C. T.

William Nelson, who was president of the class of 1934 during their sophomore year, and vice-president during the freshman year. Nelson is a member of Kappa Phi Kappa, national honorary education fraternity, and of Kappa Delta Rho, social fraternity.

Maybelle Matthews, president of the class of 1934.

Roger Bancroft, vice-president of the junior class, who is general chairman for the annual week-end festivities. Bancroft is a member of Kappa Phi Kappa and Kappa Delta Rho fraternities.
