THE MILNE SCHOOL
ALBANY, NEW YORK
SENIOR CLASS PRESENTS

BRICKS AND IVY

FOREWORD

This year marks the 110th anniversary of our school. Since its beginning in 1845 as The Experimental School, Milne has been unique in that it has provided the best possible education for its students. In addition, it has provided the means by which the students of State College may become more fully aware of the work of a teacher and may perfect their own classroom skills.

Throughout its history Milne has been a forerunner and a testing ground for the new trends in what is termed "Modern Education". This is a program which trains students for everyday living, prepares them for college, and looks after their well-being. It is accomplished through a multiple curriculum, integration, self-expression, creative procedures, motivation and guidance.

The Milne School has meant a great many things to this year's Senior Class. It has meant privileges, such as the Senior Room, lunch time at Eddie's, and field trips; social activities, such as teas, sports' nights, dances, election campaigns, societies and student council budgets; and educational features, such as classes in Psychology and Humanities, and modern art in our gallery.

In the following pages we have tried to capture some of the spirit of our school and the events which have highlighted the school year. We present this book to you — our chapter in the continuing Milne Story.

DEDICATION

"FROM MEN LIKE THESE, OLD SCOT-
LAND'S GRANDEUR SPRINGS THAT MAKES HER LOVED AT HOME, REVERED ABROAD:
PRINCES AND LORDS ARE BUT THE BREATH OF KINGS,
'AN HONEST MAN'S THE NOBLEST
WORK OF GOD!'"

BURNS "The Cotter's Sat. Night"
Stanza 19

For his untiring efforts in our behalf, we the Class of 1955 proudly dedicate this yearbook to Mr. Hugh Smith. We will remember him not merely as a teacher, whose sincere efforts and quiet humor guided us onward, but as a friend who helped to mold one yesterday into a cherished memory.

ALMA MAE BECKER

Our petit and charming "First Lady" has been ready and willing to lend her talents to all our endeavors.

CAROL ANN BECKER

This little "gal" has kept the school well posted with Student Council news.

JON RICHARD BENEDIKTSSON

Reserved, yet ready to reply with his tremendous vocabulary; Jon has enlightened many a class.

CYNTHIA LEA BERBERIAN

Versatile and vivacious, Cynthia has our admiration for her ceaseless enthusiasm and ambition.

EDWARD ARTHUR BERKUN

"Ed's" cooperative personality made many friends and his good disposition kept them.

JOEL EDWARD BERMAN

Known and liked by all Joel's ability to get things done was one of his many distinctions.

EDWARD HAROLD BLESSING

Our "red head" without a quick temper has won many friends with his easy-going manner.

PETER CALEY BIRKEL

"Albert Feather, that's me" equipped with camera and those cool yellow zapatos.

CECIL TOVA BLUM

A dainty Miss with a French twist, Cecil's thoughts were poetic and sincere.

GEORGE CADE BISHOP

George's ever present grin and willingness to help have made him a valuable member of our class.

DAVID WILLIAM BROWN

One of the most ambitious members of our class, "Dave" was always willing to help out.

JOHN HENRY BRENNAN

John was absent for a few years from our "hallowed halls" but never from our thoughts.

LOREN JAY BUCKLEY

She was with us only a year, but her friendliness made her a valuable asset to the class.

JUDIE LEE BRIGHTMAN

Judie was a rare compound of friendliness, frolic and fun. Everyone will agree that this gal is as good as her smile.

GEORGE WESLEY BURROUGHS

A recent addition to our class, George has played an important part in making our senior year a memorable one.

MICHAEL ROBERT COHEN

If there's a discussion of "high fi" or Gershwin's music, you're sure to find "Mickey" in the midst of it.

ELIZABETH CHALONER DAVIS

An avid science fiction fan and debater are two of the things which characterize our "Betty".

SALLY ANN COOK

"Sal's" constant source of jokes and antics made us wonder who her "writer" was.

JOAN CHRISTINE DICK

With dimples, a quick smile and lovely clothes, Joan was a cheery addition to our days at Milne.

ANN LOUISE CROCKER

Her knack of doing many things well and her ability to get along with people made her a leader in our class.

JOHN ENGLISH DU MARY

John was one of our interesting seniors. We never knew what he would do next.

HILDEGARD RUTH ERB
"Hilda" had that quietness which is so appreciated in this world of "big talk".

ROBERT ROY FAUST

Our philosophical craftsman had a taste for profound music, too.

RICHARD BRADFORD EDWARDS

"Dick's" interest in history and his friendliness must have contributed to his forte as a marine.

SHEILA MARY FITZGERALD

Brown hair and smiling eyes plus pep and friendliness made Sheila one of our most popular seniors.

THOMAS GEORGE FOGGO
Tall, athletic and considerate,
Tom holds a respected place in our class.

LAWRENCE MARSHALL GENDEN
"Lar's" puns and inexhaustible humor made him a popular member of our class.

DENISE JOAN GARTNER
Petite and polite, Denise was a pleasant attraction along Milne's hallways.

ANN DONNAN GAYLE
Our "Southern belle" had the warmth and sincerity that pleased us all.

TOBY RUTH GOLDSTEIN
The gal with those natural curls made many of the girls envious.

ALAN PETER GUSSE

"Dark and handsome—that's our man".

ALICE GOSNELL

Here's a pert, peppy Miss who thought of great ideas in a second. What would we have done without her?

JUDITH ESTELLE HALLENBECK

Hamburgers and hotdogs. That's what she fed us at her terrific open houses. Lake George, here we come!

RICHARD TAFT GREENE

"Dick", one of the friendliest guys in our class, was always ready to lead you into a long conversation on "hot rods".

MARGARET JUDITH HANNAN

She's quiet, sincere and a great secretary . . . a real asset to the future business world.

PETER JEREMY HOPPNER

Witty and well dressed, "Pete" was a guy who lived, ate and slept basketball.

JERRINE MARGARET KANE

Party, party, but always ready to lend a helping hand, "Jerry" has sparked many a gathering.

JOHN POSTON HOUSTON

Here's an all around guy who was tops in everyone's opinion.

ROBERT LEONARD KELLER

His "cracks" in class kept us laughing, while on the basketball court he was "the little whiz".

ELEANOR CAROL JACOBS

Her movies (backward and forwards) kept us in stitches.

MARCIA ANNE LEONARD

Quietness, pretty face, and Home "Ec" classes are a few of the things we think of when "Mish" comes to mind.

NANCY CONSTANCE KELLEY

She was great in math courses and better yet when it came to making friends.

STEPHEN W. LEVINE

"Steve", our effervescent clown, has shown us his serious side when he speaks of psychology.

DOUGLAS KNOX

Quiet assurance was "Doug's" contribution to the strength of our class.

WILLIAM FREDRIC LONG

No one can deny that "Bill" has earned his driver's license. He has proved it often to a friend in need.

DIANA LYNN

Our dark eyed "deb" had lingual charm that could brighten anyone's day.

CAROL THERESA MYERS

Here's a gal who liked to see things done right. If there was a job to be done, Carol was right there.

VERNONA MAE McNEIL

"Honey" does all jobs with the same enthusiasm whether it's conducting a meeting or swinging a hockey stick.

THOMAS MARTIN NATHAN

"Tom's" success is assured if his efficient handling of his jobs at Milne are any indication.

CHARLES SCOTT MOOSE

"Charlie" amazed us with his knowledge of music, but his success as an organist didn't surprise us.

RUSSELL CARL PETERS

A good natured smile and quiet friendliness were "Russ's" true assets.

DAVID MOSS NEVILLE

What's the latest? Ask Dave—clothes, music, bop—he's studied them all.

CAROL LILLIAN PFEIFFER

Friendly? Yes. Personality? Terrific! These were only two of "Pff's" many attributes.

CAROLYNN GENEVIEVE OLIVO

Attractive, quick-witted and popular, "Connie" was a constant source of fun.

MARION JEANNE PREISSER

Like lavender and old lace, Marion was sweet and needed for that touch of perfection.

JOHN ELLIS REYNOLDS

When you hear a roll of drums, it might well be "Johnny" our "man of rhythm".

TOBY SCHER

Tall and attractive, Toby could really "pound the ivories". Her accounts of those R.P.I. weekends have been interesting!

HERMAN RONALD RUF

"Ron's" distinction lies in his capacity for being friends with everyone.

SARA JEAN SEITER

Decorative, dependable, and delightful to know, "Dee Dee" was one of the "greatest".

WALTER RUTH

In spite of his devotion to books, "Walt" still had time to keep our class "rolling in the aisles" with his dry humor.

RUTH ANN STROBEL

She was our gal about town with a round of college week-ends to her credit.

MARTIN AARON SILBERG

The Class of '55 will never forget "Marty's" impetus for yearbook ads and his inevitable, "It's emperical!"

RICHARD ALAN SWARTZ

"Dick" was a ski enthusiast. If anyone needs a ski instructor, he's your man.

SANDRA BERTHA STEGMAN

We all were dazzled when "Sandy" breezed in with her diamond. What a Christmas present!

JERRY ALAN THOMAS

We're looking forward to reading Jerry's "surrealist drama". Those crazy mobiles have helped to make him our class Bohemian.

JANET DIANA VINE

Her pleasing combination of brains and personality have made Janet tops with us.

BARBARA PHYLLIS WOLMAN

This pert little Miss captivated many of us with her charms.

POLLY ANN VINER

School spirit and ready wit were two of Polly's contributions to the Senior Class.

JUDITH CAMBLIN YOUNG

Nothing phases our imaginative Judy not even motorists who "attack" her green Buick.

DIXON SHERMAN WELT

Friendly and sincere, Dixon's personality has done much for the spirit of our class.

IN MEMORIAM

Looking back over the years
It seems impossible to grasp
That so much has happened,
So many things are past.

It's difficult to determine
Which were happy — which were sad.
Certainly they were worthwhile,
All the good as well as bad.

It might not seem like we've accomplished
That which we have sought to gain,
But if you carefully look back,
You'll see our triumphs printed plain.

In Seventh Grade we made a start
Which opened up the door
To a strange, exciting kind of life
Of which, later, we found more.

We were in the swing of things
When Eighth Grade rolled around,
And we realized that in prestige
We were gaining ground.

Ninth Grade was a goal for us;
We felt our power strong
Through basketball and cheerleading.
Only algebra seemed all wrong!

Wagar's was long obsolete
When we entered our tenth year
To find that "Ed's" and other "nooks"
Were busy spreading "cheer".

As Juniors we were kept quite busy —
Elections, C.S.P.A., and Alumni Ball.
Our scholarly term paper kept us
From getting sleep at all.

But now the time is drawing near
When from these halls we'll part,
And, rest assured, we'll keep a place
For Milne deep in our heart.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We of the Senior Class, after due consideration, do hereby declare our last will and testament.

1. To Dr. Snyder, we bequeath our neat and exquisitely furnished Senior Room, the comforts of which shall be distributed as he sees fit.

2. The former American History classes leave to Mr. Soderlind the dream of punctual book reports.

3. The well-worn path through the girls' locker room is left to the "State" men who find it a convenient short cut.

4. For future Humanities classes we leave a picture of the Parthenon. Be sure to count the steps!

Alma Becker leaves her lonesome seat in the stands to Ginny Pitkin.

We leave to the future Secretary of Student Council Carol Becker's mimeographing techniques.

For use in the next edition of his book, we bequeath Jon Benediktsson's vocabulary to Mr. Webster.

Cynthia Berberian leaves her ability to collect C & W assignments and Quin dues to anyone with a good long whip.

To Don Milne, we leave one half of a used film from the cameras of Ed Berkun and Peter Birkel.

Jerry Thomas and George Bishop leave two pairs of splintered skis to Dave Wilson and Carl Eppelman.

To all redheads who "want to stay red" we leave Sally Cook and Ed Blessing's bottle of No. 3 henna rinse.

Cecil Blum leaves her silhouette to any shadow which needs it.

One can of Judie Brightman's dramatic ability is left to the "Hams".

To the alumni, we leave Loren Buckley and her Vermont experiences.

Larry Genden leaves his "hoop pills" to Dave Quickenton.

Toby Goldstein leaves one strand of her naturally curly locks to any girl with a shaggy "D.A.".

We bequeath Alice Gosnell's peppy "oomph" to Judy Webel.

Pete Gusse leaves his trunk of absent slips to Mrs. Scully.

To brighten any gloomy class, we leave the continual antics of Sara Seiter with the effervescent laughter of Judy Hallenbeck.

Pete Hoppner and Bob Keller leave their places on the Loudonville bus to anyone who likes to be late for school all the time.

To the president of next year's Senior Class, we leave the peace and tranquility of our class meetings, but we advise him or her to get a few tips from John Houston.

Eleanor Jacobs leaves her wrist bandage to any unfortunate person who has to wear one.

We leave Nancy Kelley's ability to charm the teachers to Stu Doling.

To Dave Baim, we leave Doug Knox's quiet assurance.

We leave to all of Milne's bull sessions, Diana Lynn's "gift of gab".

To Betty Korman we leave "Honey" McNeil's sportsmanship and athletic prowess.

We leave Tom Nathan's competence for backing up a convincing speech to the campaigners in the coming elections.

We leave Connie Olivo's straight hair to anyone with a large supply of "bobby pins".

To all future swimmers, we leave Russ Peters' uncle's "swimming" pool.
We leave the amusing talents of Steve Levine and Bill Long to Steve Greenbaum and Jackie Bonzycck.

For any dull history class, we leave John Brennan and Dick Greene's book How to Rile Teachers.

Being too selfish to leave any of Dave Brown's and Charlie Moose's musical ability, we hope that future Milnites will have lots of the same "stuff".

George Burroughs leaves his quietness in class to Russell Weber.

The Juniors will have Mickey Cohen to thank for the Gershwin album and "high fi" phonograph which he would like to leave to the Senior Room.

We leave Ann Crocker's love for printer's ink to all future C & W Editors.

Betty Davis is going to leave her bicycle in exchange for a new tri-colored convertible.

Joan Dick readily consented to leave her dimples to Joan Canfield.

John DuMary and Dave Neville bequeath their fast "pick up" to Bob Martin and Bill Romain.

Dick Edwards leaves his truck to the lucky man who can make it run.

To Maryann Bullion and Trudy Show is left the friendship of Hilda Erb and Polly Viner.

Bob Faust leaves his love for classical music to next year's Humanities Class.

Sheila FitzGerald gives the twins to the highest bidder.

To Paul Howard, we leave Tom Foggo's elongated tape measure.

We thought that we could leave a certain "B.C." boy to the "B.C." girls, but Denise Gartner won't let us.

To Merrill Andrews, we leave a copy of Ann Gayle's report card.

Marion Preisser and Carol Myers leave their old worn out typing erasers to the Commerce Department.

We leave to future drummers in the Milne band Johnny Reynold's ability to "roll" the drums.

We leave Ronny Ruf's sly way of "hackin' around" to Mike DePorte.

We leave Walt Ruth's ability to read during class to whomever can get away with it.

With a smile, Toby Scher gives her dates at R.P.I. to Elaine Lewis.

Marty Silberg leaves his advertising space to U. S. Steel if they are willing to buy it.

The Senior Class gives to Sandy Stegman heaps and heaps of best wishes.

Ann Strobel leaves her receipts from Yezzi's to Ginny Huntington.

The height of Dick Swartz is left to Jackie Keller in the hope that he will some day reach it.

Janet Vine leaves the B & I to anyone who can pick up the pieces.

To Ronnie Killelea, we leave Dixon Welt's way "avec les femmes".

The Girl Scout Handbook that Eleanor Erb sadly bequeathed to Judy Young is now bestowed upon Hilda Klingaman.

Jerry Kane leaves her booth in "Ed's" to the first one to nab it.

Carol Pfeiffer leaves a well-greased baking pan to her freshman Home "Ec" class.

Now, at the close of this morbid document, we the undersigned do hereby swear that any resemblance to reality in what is here written is purely intended to be invalid.

I WAS THERE IN SPIRIT

To a passerby, I was just another building — dark, silent in the June night. My halls were hushed but for the muffled echoes which sifted through my classrooms. This night, for me, was passing strange, for I am The Milne School, and my prospective graduates are missing. A strange state of affairs? I agree.

But before I explain, let me reassure you as to the whereabouts of my prospective graduates. Even now as I relate these unusual circumstances to you, the Class of 1955 proudly files its way across the commencement stage to receive, one by one, their diplomas. Chancellor's Hall, I believe the building is called. I wonder if they miss me — my Seniors, I mean.

I hope you will not mind if I refer to myself in the objective form, The Milne School — modesty, you know.

I was the first one to greet those bewildered students as they passed through their first day at The Milne School as Seventh Graders. I saw them grow from noisy, scrawny little imps to men and women — from Seventh Graders to Seniors. I watched it all.

I saw them return to school in the fall of 1954 bearing the newly acquired title of "Almighty Seniors". I saw them open their Senior year with rounds of parties and "open houses". Those Milne "open houses" are something they'll never forget.

I knew they were still "green" Seniors until they received the beloved Senior Room. Then, did they begin to feel like the class almighty. I can remember every one of them crawling out of bed in the "wee" hours of the morning so that they could be one of the first twenty-five allowed in the Senior Room . . . twenty-five indeed!

Then they were beginning to feel the spirit of the Senior Class. How they plunged into the Senior Play with all the vim and vigor of true Seniors! I can still see them emerging from the little gym covered with set paint and glue. They never could find enough paint brushes. Many of the actors thought that they had forgotten their lines, but I knew they would come through with flying colors.

I will never forget how they waited for Thanksgiving Vacation, for upon returning, they were to receive off-campus privileges. They would surge through sun, rain, sleet and snow to eat lunch at "Ed's".

The close of the first semester was sad for them, for it meant Dr. Fossieck's departure and semester marks. I can remember the party they gave for him to show their appreciation for all he had done for them. I shuddered when I heard the excuse they used to get him to the "Home Ec" room, but I know the teddy bear he received helped to relieve the emotional strain he suffered that day.

The semester marks weren't as bad as they thought for many of my Seniors were being accepted at colleges and making plans for the future.

They made Mr. Howes bone up on his driving, for they took many field trips in the college station wagons. I wasn't with them when they took the trip to the county jail, but I made sure everyone made it back. I missed the pleasure of having my picture taken with the governor when they visited the legislature.

The card party fell on them sooner than they expected. They worked hard and made it a success.

They strung five thousand one hundred and twenty feet of crepe paper in my gym at the C & W, B & I "Future Fling". I watched everyone dancing and having fun.

I heard them planning for the Senior Banquet and though I wasn't there, I know it was "filling" and enjoyable to all of them.

Their senior social life was climaxed with a tremendous Senior Ball. They looked like different people in their formals and tuxedos. That was quite a weekend! They made an all night stand which included "open houses" at Glen Lake and Lake George.

Graduation is the final chapter of their Milne Story. Although it is not held in my Page Hall, I am with them in spirit, watching them move from "Almighty Seniors" to graduates.

At the beginning of our Junior year, we, the Class of '56, began to take part in almost every activity Milne had to offer. We faced many problems and lots of work, but we pulled through with few casualties.

Becoming acquainted with our new subjects was our first obstacle. This was quickly overcome, and we found the Alumni Ball our next hurdle. As our "Crystal Ball" progressed, we were justly confident of its success. Excellent attendance, a marvelous band, and wonderful decorations made it the social highlight of our Junior year.

Aimez-vous le basketball? Yes, we certainly did like basketball, for our own boys were playing Varsity, and seven Junior girls were constantly losing their voices after a rigorous night of cheerleading.

We entered the baseball and tennis seasons with the same ceaseless enthusiasm and confidence — the Class of '56 was an integral part of Milne's activities.

As the year came to an end, the election of Senior Student Council officers arose, and we were confronted with a long list of worthy candidates. The votes came in, and we were on the last lap of our journey.

The coming of June with its exams caused us to look back with happiness on our Junior year. We saw in the future the prospect of a bright and shining Senior year.

Major changes in curriculum greeted us as we began our eventful Sophomore year. We found ourselves doing everything from shorthand to frog dissections. "J.V." basketball had scooped up some of "our" boys, but we didn't mind . . .

Remember those rushes? Our "gals" split up into Quin and Sigma, while our "fellas" became loyal Adelphoi, Theta Nu, and Theseum supporters. Our social calendars were strained. Clubs and committees, dances and meetings crowded our days and made them speed by.

As the days grew longer and warmer, thoughts of "Regents" and "finals" slipped into our minds, but would we falter? No, "siree". We fought through them like "vets" to become next year's jolly Junior Class.

My, how our class has aged in one year. We may only be Eighth Graders, but it seems as if we're so much older than those underclassmen. This year saw many activities in our class: dances, basketball games, cheerleading, boys getting ready for the Freshman squad, and last, but not least, the roller-skating parties where many of our "gals" could be seen waltzing around the floor. We had a wonderful year and are looking forward to our new location in the Freshman seats in the auditorium.

Here we are, little Seventh Graders, chock full of questions, such as: "Where's the Guidance Office, where's the Little Gym, where's the 'Math' Office, what stairs do we go up, what stairs do we go down, where's this and where's that?"

Other things we found at Milne, besides studies, were: social life—are you going to the dance? What girl are you taking? What do you wear to an informal? Who's going to fight over what girl? Sports—The Seventh Graders are in favor of it all, and think we've got a couple of pretty fine athletes in our ranks. Soon comes vacation and then on to upper grades.

Now for a look at the Senior Student Council. The first thing on our agenda was the budget. When we found it balanced, we continued down our list.

One of our problems concerned buses for "away games". They were needed to encourage a larger cheering section. We worked for an association paper for all student councils in the capital district. We also organized dancing after the basketball games.

With the help of the student body, we adopted a Navajo child through the Save the Children Federation. Our solicitors were so generous that we were able to give extra money for maintenance of the Indian Reservation.

These were just a few of the projects which confronted this year's council. We found that co-operation and discussion were important to our student government, for they helped to prepare us for active, intelligent citizenship.

"Ye Olde Student Council" started off with a whirl. Something new . . . a Seventh Grade Welcome Party. What a great start for the new Milnites. The next dance was called the "Bermuda Ball". What a plug for Bermuda shorts! What's this, another dance? Yes! "The Snowball" took place in January.

Problems were brought up, discussed, and solved. What a mad circle of dances, dances, and more dances. Finally, came the biggest event of the year—the Junior High Formal. Elections drew near. Posters were everywhere. Campaign buttons went flying through the air along with the speeches. Then the votes were in and our well worn Student Council abdicated, leaving behind them a record that even McCarthy can't challenge.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Junior and Senior Choir, Band, Milnettes, and the Music Council were important parts of the Music Department this year. With the able supervision of Dr. Roy York, Jr., these organizations provided delightful and entertaining programs for our student body.

A musical assembly program before Christmas vacation provided great enjoyment as the students joined the choirs in singing familiar carols.

Under the direction of the Music Council, exchange assemblies with Bethlehem Central High School were arranged. The final music program was given by the Milnettes for the Commencement exercises in June.

BRICKS and IVY

Here you are, flipping through the pages of our finished product—the BRICKS AND IVY, pride and joy of the Senior Class. You'll find pictures which have captured the outstanding events of the year.

A great deal of hard work by all the staff members was necessary to give you this enjoyment. Connie assigned all the stories, patiently waited for the day they would be turned in, only to write them all over again. Her position is probably appreciated by Mr. Fagan, who kindly proofread the final copies. Marty hustled about with his advertising staff so that we might have a bigger and better yearbook than ever. His constant cry was, "Seniors, do you or don't you want a section for yourselves? Cecil, filling the new post of Photography Editor, has pleased each one of you by capturing your smile or your candid pose at a party. Jerry's cover makes your eye go round and round, and the Milne Story, running through this entire work, is due to the efforts of industrious, competent Janet Vine, working under the expert counseling of Mr. Edward Cowley.

CRIMSON and WHITE

"Please get your articles in on time, kids!" This was Ann Crocker's familiar plea at the staff meetings of our school newspaper. There was always a deadline set, but the reporters never quite seemed to meet it. However, things were hurried up a bit, and the paper came off the press and into the hands of the student body.

In March, Ann, Mr. Cowley, and fourteen Juniors "checked out" for the Columbia Scholastic Press Conference in New York. The "big city" provided many varied activities for the Milnites. "The Village", the theaters and exotic restaurants all helped to deplete the wallets of our delegates. However, they returned full of ideas for next year's publications.

Combining the talents of the C & W and B & I staffs, we put on the annual Publications Dance. "The Future Fling" was our theme, and red and black streamers filled the gym. At this affair the new editorial staffs were announced, and the Juniors took over the very next issue of the paper.

As the year drew to a close, we found that we were beginning to forget the unpleasant aspects of making those deadlines, and our memory of the C & W recalled only the "greatest" of things.

SIGMA

Sigma started off the year with a great rush, "Alas in Sigmaland". All the nursery rhyme characters, the White Rabbit, and Alice provided "the greatest" of entertainment.

New "Soph" members were installed at a banquet at O'Connor's Restaurant. Sigma also joined with the other societies in making the Q.T.S.A. "Sweetheart Ball" a success.

Dr. Snyder, our new male advisor, was a tremendous help to Sigma throughout the year.

Some other highlights in Sigma were as follows: our annual bowling match with Quin (at which our Rose Becker bowled 215), the basketball game at Sports Night, and of course, the Quin-Sigma Dance.

To wind up a terrific year, we held our installation banquet for the new Sigma officers.

QUIN

The "Quin Café" was the scene of our "rush" for prospective members. With a red and white awning, gaily colored table cloths and candlelight, we tried to create the atmosphere of a sidewalk café in Paris.

Silhouettes of the Eiffel Tower and the Arch of Triumph provided an appropriate background for our entertainment which was climaxed by a "Can-Can".

After selecting our new members, our next step was to install them into the society. We tried a new idea. We sent invitations to the girls' mothers inviting them to come for some entertainment, refreshments, installation of the new girls, and to learn just what Quin was about. Our plans materialized, and we were happy.

The Q.T.S.A. Dance followed and close on its heels were our contributions to the Q.T.S.A. Scholarship Fund.

In April we had a bowling party with Sigma. We again rivaled Sigma in a basketball game at the Tri-Hi-Y Sports Night.

Both societies worked together to put on the Quin-Sigma Dance.

At the close of the year we all "stepped out" to a banquet, and the newly elected officers were announced.

The Tri-Hi-Y year started with the election of new officers. Miss Glass again assisted us with our activities.

Page Hall gym was the scene of our Sports Dance at which we enjoyed ourselves. One of our projects was to present a bill at the junior legislature at Amsterdam, New York. Once more we adopted a family and provided them with a holiday basket. We sponsored a movie to build up our World Service Fund. During the course of the year, we had panels and speakers who spoke on various subjects of common interest. For recreation, we had bowling and swimming. Toward the end of the year, we had a tea for the parents of the members. Our final event, a new idea this year, was the installation of officers.

With another successful year behind us, we are looking forward to next year's activities in the Tri-Hi-Y.

This year the Hi-Y had one of its most active years. We began the year by reviving the practice of inducting new members and holding a formal induction ceremony to acquaint the neophytes with the more serious aspects of the Hi-Y.

The faculty-Hi-Y volleyball game was one of our many sports undertakings. We sadly discovered, however, that certain members of the faculty were more athletic than we had anticipated.

At the bill assembly held in Johnstown, the Hi-Y presented a bill which modified the hunting laws. Unfortunately, as a result of our "Operation Taffy", the cases of "lockjaw" in Albany were increased. We sold "great globs" of taffy to raise money for the World Service Project.

Other activities of the Hi-Y during the year included bowling matches after meetings, a skating party and a record dance. The year ended with the election of officers for next year.

THETA NU

This year Theta Nu chalked up another successful year. In the fall new members and our "snappy" jackets and pins kept us busy. Dixon Welt found that collecting dues was as hard as pulling teeth!

We shared in the spotlight for the Q.T.S.A. Dance and one of our own members was King. At the annual Sports Night, we played Adelphoi in a tense game of volleyball!

When spring rolled around, our Treasurer was again busy collecting money. This time it was for the Q.T.S.A. Scholarship, with much encouragement from our President—"Money, boys, money!"

When the end of the year came and our Seniors were about to leave, we elected the new officers to carry on next year and put Theta Nu on top again.

ADELPHOI

Milne's Adelphei Literary Society enjoyed an active and entertaining year. As usual we took in many new recruits at the season's start. With a full membership, we started planning the year's activities.

We were in charge of the refreshment concession at the basketball games from which the profits helped to support our future activities. In the annual volleyball game, Adelphei once again triumphed over Theta Nu in a close contest.

As the year continued, we helped sponsor the Q.T.S.A. Dance which we considered "the best ever". The year was closed with a picnic in the Helderberg Mountains. There, we said farewell to our present officers and elected new ones for the coming year. We hoped that the "Adelphei Men" of the future would enjoy as successful and as active a year as we had in '55.

THESEUM

The spirit of friendship and fraternity has always surrounded Theseum Literary Society. Our membership has been small this year. For this reason our activities have been limited, but well supported.

We are hoping to find Theseum a growing, active society in future years.

Richard Greene, Ronald Ruff, John Brennan, Frank Ward, Stephen Weinstein.

FRENCH CLUB

After hearing speakers from France and carrying on foreign correspondence, we felt like "pint-sized" diplomats. Ruthie, Mademoiselle la President, our able officers and Dr. Wasley, our advisor, provided the necessary leadership to complete a most enjoyable year in the French Club.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

This year's Jr. Red Cross membership numbers twenty-five. With Billy Airey, presiding and Jack Binley collecting the money, each Tuesday's Homeroom Period passes quickly. The faculty advisor, Miss Glass, is a great help in keeping us on the right track.

Some projects which Jr. Red Cross supports are as follows: gift boxes for foreign schools, swimming classes, and of course, the annual drive for funds. This year Milne students gave sixty dollars to help pay for expenses.

We found Red Cross to be a worthy part of Milne's extra curricular activities. It's really here to stay!

TRAFFIC SQUAD

Ever notice those strong, silent "guys" in the halls? It seems that they have nothing to do but wait for some hapless Seventh Grader to try to use the wrong stairs.

Actually, the austere figures are the members of an élite society. Each year, two Juniors and four Seniors are approved for the squad by the Student Council and the main office, and they must keep up a record of good grades and conduct in order to retain their position. These models of young American manhood are dismissed two minutes early from each class so that they may be reached their assigned posts before the rush begins. In them is vested the duty of subduing the chaos of our hallowed halls.

HAMS INC.

Every Monday, a group of young thespians gather in the Little Theater for a meeting of Hams Inc., our Milne dramatic club. Under the supervision of Mr. Laing, our advisor, we put on the play, The White Phantom, last year. Our group of young actors and actresses is made up of this year's Freshman and Sophomore classes. The purpose of our club is to prepare the future Seniors for a really wonderful Senior Play.

DEBATE CLUB

Much suspense and excitement has revolved about the activities of Milne's very active 1955 Debate Club. Beginning the year with the defeat of Vincentian, the debaters have continued to climb the ladder to success. With the apt counsel of Mr. Paul Saimand, the club has spent countless hours in research for their national topic this year: "Resolved: That the United States Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade Among Nations Friendly to the United States".

The club's curriculum, however, has not been all work. Fun and pleasure were gained from the various teams they have met and the jaunts they have taken. The high point of the year was their fabulous trip to the Utica Debate Tournament.

F. H. A.

We started the year off right with brand new officers . . . while Ann shouted for quiet, Carol tried in vain to collect dues, and poor Barbara tried to match wits with a shorthand book.

Came November and our new members were installed with proper ceremonies.

The annual bake sale went over with a bang, and the girls enjoyed selling almost as well as eating.

With money now added to our treasury, we sent delegates to Glens Falls for a conference with girls from other F.H.A. clubs in this area.

As the year drew to a close we found ourselves once again electing new officers, ready to fulfill our goal as "The Future Homemakers of America".

THE PAUL WOLFGANG MEMORIAL AWARD

The Paul Wolfgang Memorial Award is a five dollar prize given annually to the person submitting the best picture of school life to the BRICKS AND IVY. This award was established by the Class of 1950 on March 23, 1948. It is voted upon by the President of the Senior Student Council, Editor of the BRICKS AND IVY, Art Instructor, Director of Audio-Visual Aids, and President of the Junior Student Council.

M. B. A. A.

M.B.A.A. — this is the acrostic for Milne Boys' Athletic Association; so-o there you are!

The purpose of the M.B.A.A. is to help carry out any activities that are held in connection with athletics. The first thing one thinks of is the raising of money to support this association. Therefore, a movie was again sponsored, and what a movie it was! As usual, we handled the sale of tickets and "Coke" at the home games.

Of course, one can't forget the Father and Son Banquet: food — awards — and the entertainment to round things out — a real success. A big handshake to our advisor, Coach Grogan.

M. G. A. A.

It has been s. o. p. (standard operating procedure) for the M.G.A.A. Council to give awards to the girls who have participated in the intramural activities. The Council offers credits in basketball, volleyball, trampoline, horseback riding, bowling, cheerleading, softball, hockey, and soccer. Being an elected member of the M.G.A.A. Council earns another credit in this system.

Each sport is equivalent to one credit toward an M.G.A.A. insignia, worth three credits, a chenille M, worth eighteen credits, and the highest award, the honor pin, worth thirty credits.

The final awards are given to the girls at the annual Mother and Daughter Banquet which takes place each spring.

Linda Berg, Judith Dobris, Jane Armstrong, Stephanie Condon, Patricia Avrill, Sue Ann McNeil, Annabel Page, Dee Huebner.

Each spring, the cheerleading try-outs are held. Any girl from grades Nine through Eleven is eligible to try out for the Varsity squad. Seventh and Eighth grade girls compete for the Junior Varsity squad. The competition consists of a rigorous workout of cheering and jumping.

After deep consultation, Miss Murray, a "State" student, and the Captain of the previous year's squad select the girls who have worked best together. These girls then become our cheerleaders for the next year.

The following fall brings the squad together as they practice and choose their captain. With some new cheers and a store of vitality and agility, our cheerleaders are ready for a new basketball season.

OF DISTINCTION . . .

Your school Yearbook will some day become one of your most cherished possessions. Each time you thumb its pages memories will return to give you joy and pleasure. You will see the faces of old friends and chums—of campus sports and dozens of other pictures which will recall fond memories. ¶ These mementos should be preserved in an attractive cover, beautifully printed and bound. ¶ Annuals by Fort Orange Press, possess a certain beauty and distinction that experience alone can give.
