Attorney General Advises Filing New Oath with Each Job or Title Change

By MAXWELL LEHMAN
Please don't run to the nearest notary public when you read this. Just sit tight for the time being. Here's the situation:
The State Attorney General has issued an opinion whose effect will be that all employees ought to take a new oath of office every time their positions or titles are changed. New regulations are soon to be issued.

Wide Failure to File
Employee interest in the filing of oaths has been at a high level since The LEADER revealed, in an exclusive article, widespread failure to file the required oath of office, particularly among local employees.

Failure to have one's oath on file may result in dismissal. After the article appeared, numerous questions arose. Do employees have to file every time they are reclassified? Every time they are given a new title? Ruth Miner, Executive Deputy Secretary of State, was deluged with such questions from employees. It is the Secretary of State whose office holds the files of employee oaths. City and County Clerks retain the oaths of local employees.

Miss Miner asked the Attorney General for an opinion about it. Said Nathaniel L. Goldstein, the State AG:

"State employees should be permitted to take and file a new oath in the form prescribed by the Constitution with respect to each new position in the State civil service which they may assume, whether upon reclassification, change of title, promotion or otherwise."

Consequences Serious
Another part of the opinion states flatly that "The consequences of failure to take and file such an oath in the manner required by law are serious. Any doubt regarding the necessity thereof should be resolved in favor of doing so."

The law states: "Every person employed by the State or any of its civil divisions or cities, except laborers in the exempt class in the service of the State or any of its civil divisions

U.S. to Offer Jobs To College Grads

Special to The LEADER
WASHINGTON, July 12—The U.S. Civil Service Commission is planning the announcement of scores of examinations before year's end. Among them are the popular ones for Junior Professional Assistant P-1 and Office Machine Operator, CAF-1 to CAF-5. Both of these will be announced in various regions, including the Second Region (New York and New Jersey). College grads are wanted.

In the Second Region there will be, as an added starter to the JPA test, one for Student Aid and a third title, not yet disclosed, all in the same announcement. James E. Rossell, Director of the Second

Region, will make the announcement, probably in October.

The Junior Agricultural Assistant test, P-1, also on the list, will be held in the Second Region, where most of the applicants are usually graduates of agricultural schools, particularly the Agricultural College at Cornell. In addition, employees of the NYC Parks Department seek these jobs.

New York-New Jersey Starter
As for the remainder of the titles, they require a college degree and specialized experience, and not many of them will be conducted in the Second Region. The Clerk, Grades 1 and 2, ex-

Higher Pay Makes Clerk Jobs Popular

The U.S. Civil Service Commission, Second Region, of which James E. Rossell is Director, will announce an examination for Clerk, Grades CAF-5 and CAF-6, toward the end of this month or early in August. The examination will be open to the public. The pay, at the new rates, is $2,974.80 and $3,351 for the respective grades. The exam will also be popular with war-service indefinite employees, who are desirous of attaining job security through the status that appointment from the list makes possible. The pay level a considerable number of experienced is just high enough to attract also

1,173 New Jobs Planned In Bigger NYC Police Force

By MORTON YARMON
Five hundred new Patrolman appointments will be made next September, according to tentative plans of Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallander. The fact became known following the making of 512 probationary Patrolman appointments.

Eligible number 1,193 was reached on the Patrolman list with that batch of appointments. The new Patrolmen have been assigned to the Police Academy, Recruits' Training School. The next group of appointments will be made as soon as these men complete their training.

Patrolmen now are being appointed at $3,150 a year.

Two More Job Sources
In addition to these appointments, other job opportunities may be created from two sources. The first will be necessary to fill vacancies created by promotions from the Sergeant eligible list. Promotions from this list are being held up pending a decision from the Court of Appeals on protests made on multiple "best" answers accepted by the NYC Civil Service Commission in the written test. The protest already has been upheld by the Supreme Court and the Appellate Division. The Court of Appeals will hand down its decision on Friday.

20,000 Quota Still Hot

The second source of job opportunities may be the increase of the police quota to 20,000; this would mean 1,173 new jobs. Mayor O'Dwyer, Police Commissioner Wallander and other municipal authorities have announced their support of the 20,000 quota. Also, the City Council is considering a resolution calling for the new quota.

1949 Police Exam Possible

Appointment prospects are such that it may be necessary to hold a new examination for Patrolman next year. This was disclosed recently by Joseph A. McNamara, President of the NYC Civil Service Commission. Such an examination will depend on the needs of the Police Department.

25 New Policewomen

Commissioner Wallander expects to appoint 25 from the new Policewoman eligible list, effective on Friday, July 16. In the following two months the remaining 54 vacancies are to be filled.

Loftus Gets Fire Chief Post in NYC

Deputy Chief Peter Loftus will be promoted to Chief of Department by NYC Fire Commissioner Frank J. Quayle. The appointment is effective Friday, July 16.

Chief Loftus headed the promotion eligible list with 82.85 per cent. He was granted disabled veteran preference. Chief of Department receives $11,500.

Previously the post was filled by Chief Harold J. Burke, who resigned last October 1 and is now an executive at Delehanty Institute.

Commission Quayle chose Chief Loftus from a list of three names certified from the Chief list by the NYC Civil Service Commission. The two others were Deputy Chiefs John L. Holian, 82,125, and Edward M. Conway, 81,650. All three are disabled veterans.

OK Given to Appeal DeMarco Case; $3,000,000 in Salary Is Involved

Special to The LEADER
ALBANY, July 12 — The DeMarco case will be appealed. The celebrated action, involving $3,000,000 of additional salary to certain groups of State employees if they finally win—is on its way to the Court of Appeals. This will be the final appeal. The State has lost the case before the Supreme Court and before the Appellate Division.

The Attorney General's Office applied to the Appellate Division on July 6 for leave to appeal. Even though that court had formerly held unanimously against the State, it granted such leave. The brief for the State held that "questions of law have arisen which in the interest of substantial justice ought to be reviewed by the Court of Appeals."

The case has been in the courts since August, 1947, when Daniel DeMarco, a Health Department laboratory worker, through his attorney John T. DeGraff, instituted a proceeding to compel the State to fix his salary at $2,180 per year, beginning April 1, 1947, instead of $2,080, which the State felt he should be paid. The difference came from an upward re-allocation which DeMarco had received. The $3,000,000 had been set aside by the State Legislature to take care of such reallocations. But only a small amount has been

Harlem Valley Wins Bowling Prizes

Harlem Valley Five monopolizes awards at Bowling Jamboree. Left to right, Louis Thurston, Nick Nanochi, Thomas Adamic, Aldo Sina, and John F. Rice, Captain. Trophies are for high single team, high three-game team, high three-game individual and high single individual. Rice won both individual trophies.

The 1948 Bowling Jamboree sponsored by the Employees Athletic Club of Central Islip State Hospital drew representatives of six institutions of the Department of Mental Hygiene to the Long Island hospital. In addition to those participating in the competition for sixteen trophies were visiting teams from Rochester State Hospital and Utica State Hospital, who engaged in exhibition matches. The event was sparkplugged by Patrick J. Gould, president of the athletic club. About 250 persons were present.

Who Competed

The institutions pitted against one another on the alleys were Central Islip, Pilgrim, Kings Park, Harlem Valley, Rockland and Creedmoor state hospitals. The largest trophy, awarded for the high 30-frame score, went to Harlem Valley State Hospital, captained by John Rice. This aggregation ran up a total pinfall of 2,645 in the A class. The Central Islip B team topped its class with 2,418. In the women's competition prizes for both the A and B classes were won by Central Islip, with scores of 2,136 and 1,918.

Awards Made

Individual awards for 30-frame scores were as follows: Class A, John Rice, Harlem Valley (592); Class B, William Eymmer, Central Islip (551); Class A, Women, M. Beckal, Creedmoor (480); Class B, Mary Lawlor, Central Islip (419). The best 10-frame scores were as follows: Team — Men's A, Harlem Valley

Individual—Men's A, John Rice, Harlem Valley (246); Men's B, William Eymmer, Central Islip (202); Women's A, G. Fraiser, Rockland (202); Women's B, Mary Lawlor, Central Islip (169).

Banquet Held

In the evening a banquet was held. It was sponsored by the Employees Athletic Club of Central Islip State Hospital. Dr. David Corcoran, director of the hospital, presided. He was given a surprise trophy in tribute to his sportsmanship in the development of athletic activities among the employees at Central Islip.

Dr. Frederick MacCurdy, Commissioner of Mental Hygiene, presented a most enlightening analysis of the history of bowling. At the conclusion of his talk he offered his encouragement to the proposed development of a face-to-face bowling league composed of four geographic divisions to replace the "paper" league previously in force. The concluding matches of the tournament were held after the banquet. Participants and rooters then proceeded to Robbins Hall, the hospital auditorium, where the trophies were awarded. Dr. Francis J. O'Neill, assistant director at Central Islip, acted as master of ceremonies and the awards were presented by George L. Cantzlaar, director of public relations of the Department of Mental Hygiene.

The Public Employee

By Dr. Frank L. Tolman

President, The Civil Service Employees Association, Inc., and Member of Employees' Merit Award Board.

THE NON-COMPETITIVE MISNOMER

IT IS refreshing that the Civil Service Commission has under consideration an extension of the competitive class by including in the competitive service the Attendants at Dannemora and at Matteawan. The Association has pressed for such action for many years.

As Mr. Becker reminded us in last week's LEADER, "Positions once deemed impracticable to fill on a competitive basis may become appropriate for filling on the basis of competitive selection." In fact, the Civil Service Commission is mandated "to transfer positions from this (non-competitive) class to the competitive class whenever it may be found practicable to hold competitive examinations to fill them."

Laxity and Inconsistency Found

The Association holds that the Civil Service Commission has been lax and inconsistent in its jurisdictional classification. It is surely time to halt the flagrant disregard of the constitutional mandate by appointing officers and the too easy acquiescence of the Civil Service Commission in department requests.

As I wrote about a year ago:

"No one can read the tables of positions in the exempt and non-competitive classes in Civil Service of New York State without wondering what principles guide the jurisdictional classification and why positions are classified as they are.

"Requests and recommendations in respect to classification of jobs as exempt and non-competitive come to the Commission from the appointing officer. They are doubtless based more on immediate needs and desires than on the nature of the job. The Commission and the Governor are charged with the final decision, which must be incorporated in the Civil Service rules.

Lack of Uniformity

"The facts speak for themselves. There is no uniformity or principle evident. Not all positions classified as labor are properly defined as 'common unskilled labor.' Many in fact are of the highly skilled variety.

"Not all positions that 'practicably' can be filled by competitive examinations are in the competitive class. A very large number of such positions are in the non-competitive class and some are in the exempt labor class.

"It would seem that the mandate of the Constitution requiring appointment on the basis of competitive examination whenever practicable is not honored in the full use but rather in the frequent abuse.

"The Civil Service Employees Association has often called this situation to the attention of the Civil Service Commission. It is time that something be done to correct this situation."

Men Now Entering Armed Forces Lose Right to Jobs

ALBANY, July 12 — A State employee who voluntarily entered military service on or after January 1, 1947 cannot compel the State to hold his job open for him, Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein ruled.

What Is Military Duty?

The Attorney General's opinion was expressed in a letter to Brig. Gen. Ames T. Brown, Adjutant General. General Brown had forwarded to the Attorney General a request from an armory employee for information on his job status, should he accept a call for three years of extended active duty with the army on a volunteer basis. In his letter Attorney General

Goldstein said:

"The only statutory provision which gave a mandatory leave of absence and protection against prejudice to an employee's rights and privileges as such while voluntarily on military duty is found in Military Law Section 246. The term 'military duty' originally included any military service in the military, naval, aviation or marine service of the United States after July 1, 1940, under subdivision 1, paragraph (b), of the statute. However, this paragraph was amended by Laws of 1946, Chapter 214, by the addition of the following sentence:

"Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, the term military duty shall not include any of the foregoing services entered upon voluntarily on or after January first, nineteen hundred forty-seven."

"It follows, therefore, that the protection of Military Law Section 246 does not extend to public employes who now absent themselves voluntarily in military service."

Harry Fox Wins Swim Prize—Accidentally

ALBANY, July 12 — A picnic can be a wet proposition. Ask Harry G. Fox, supervisor of office services, State Civil Service Department.

Mr. Fox, who attended the third annual picnic of the Civil Service Department chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, won first prize in the men's swimming contest — but it was all an accident. Just as the men's swimming event was scheduled to begin, Mr. Fox appeared on the beach. He wasn't dressed for swimming, being attired in a natty new gabardine suit, white shirt, and tie.

He was entered in the meet just the same by popular demand as the swimmers swung him into the lake, suit, shirt, tie and all. Also by popular demand, the first prize for the race was awarded the dripping contestant.

He had won — hands down.

At the speakers' table when the Metropolitan Conference met were, among others, Angelo J. Donato, Janet Macfarlane, James Evans, Herman Boettjer, Mrs. Boettjer and Mrs. Victor J. Paltsits.

Seeking a Vacation Spot or Business? Just Ask the State Commerce Dept

Officials of the State Department of Commerce hear a new idea for promotion of business in the State and it strikes Commissioner Harold Keller (third from left) as of happy promise, as he confers with Deputy Commissioners (left to right) Alfred J. Worsdell, Jr., Jane Todd and Donald H. Davenport.

Art conference among artists Herbert Writer (seated), Stanley LeNoir, and Production Manager Perry Van Guysling (right).

A section of the stenographers' pool. The girls help to prepare copy for news releases, special articles, periodicals and the reams of correspondence which keep wheels of commerce rolling in the Empire State.

Half way up the hill to the capitol in Albany, in a business office building at 112 State Street, 100 State employees are engaged dustry about New York State, selling a new kind of job—telling in the State to the nation, and the facilities of the State to its own residents.

You didn't think New York State needed publicizing? Well, it wasn't very long ago that U.S. Senator Irving Ives (then a State Assemblyman) said time to time during the course of in a committee report: "from its hearings the committee received complaints that industries are leaving the State." Moreover, he declared, there was no agency to attract industry into the State, to advertise its industrial advantages, to help retain business already here and to make studies of industrial problems.

Like an Ad Agency

When you enter the precincts of the Commerce Department, you might imagine yourself in the offices of a modern advertising agency, except for the State seal. The artists are bustling about with layouts in their hands, the writers are gathered in little groups arguing about copy, the executives are engaged in conversations with businessmen; maps, photos, montages, and bulletin boards are stuck on the walls. The strange hum of the advertising office is in the air here. And among the employees one sees the kind of intensity that exists among newsmen or account executives racing against deadlines.

When you meet the industrious members of the New York State Department of Commerce staff, it isn't difficult to understand why this youngest of the State's departments has won praise for its work.

Directing the many functions of the Department of Commerce since December 1, 1947, is Commissioner Harold Keller, a former newspaperman who entered State service first as Director of State Publicity in this department. His job, according to the laws regulating the department, is to assist in improving the economic condition of the State and to serve as liaison between business and State Government. In this task he is assisted by a competent staff of business consultants, economists, statisticians, planning technicians and public relations experts.

Part of the department's job is to "sell" New York State to out-of-state industrialists and businessmen as an excellent place in which to locate their plants. Another job is to prove to businessmen within the State that they can enlarge their activities profitably. The Commerce Department also tells vacationists and tourists about the nation's finest vacationland—New York State.

The Divisions

To carry out these functions, Commissioner Keller has the support of three divisions—the Division of Commerce and Industry, Division of Economic Development and Division of State Publicity. In addition, there has been set up the Woman's Program of the Department of Commerce.

General administration is headed by First Deputy Commissioner Alfred J. Worsdell, Jr.

The Division of Commerce and Industry, headed by J. Harold DeNike, employs "Contact men" in many fields who process specific business inquiries. The Bureau of George B. Savitsky, Business Publicity Editor, prepares copy for the Division of State Publicity, Department of Commerce.

Aviation, which assists communities in their airport programs, is in this Division.

Economists, statisticians, planning technicians and other specialists, including librarians, make up the staff of the Division of Economic Development, of which Deputy Commissioner Donald H. Davenport is director. This division carries out research projects affecting the economic welfare of the State and assists in community planning and development.

The Staff

A staff of editors, writers, artists, photographers, radio, motion picture and other specialists is at work in the Division of State Publicity under the direction of Herbert C. Campbell, publicizing the diversified business and recreational attractions of the Empire State. Newspapers, magazines, radio and motion pictures, direct mail, advertising, exhibits and posters are the means by which the story of New York State is told, to stimulate its commerce and industry, and to attract tourists to the State as a vacation wonderland. The Division also supplies general information about New York State sought by the public.

The Woman's Program is directed by Deputy Commissioner Jane H. Todd, and a staff consisting entirely of women.

On-the-Spot Service

The department employs regional managers and consultants for on-the-spot service to businessmen at 11 important centers. The regional offices are at Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo, Elmira, Rochester, Mineola, Ogdensburg, Kingston, Syracuse, Utica and White Plains. Branch offices are maintained in Washington and New York City. The Washington Office, established during the war to help New York State industries get war contracts, serves as contact with the Federal Government agencies and with foreign embassies interested in international trade. The New York City Office serves the domestic interests of the metropolitan area and the foreign interests of many upstate concerns.

Election Committee Is Appointed

ALBANY, July 12.—Acting pursuant to a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the Board of Employees Association, First Vice president Jesse B. McFarland, in the absence of President Frank H. Tolman who was ill, appointed a special committee to study and report on election procedure. The committee consists of Francis C. Maher, Law Department, chairman; Mrs. Helen Nolan Allen, State Department; Robert R. Hopkins, DPUI; Leon S. Regu, Social Welfare, and Aaron Winig, Taxation and Finance.

The Board resolution asks consideration be given to the improvement in present constitutional provisions and to secrecy of the ballot.

Chairman Maher stated: "I trust that both individual members and groups of members will interest themselves in this matter, familiarize themselves with present provisions concerning Association elections and submit such plans for improvement as occur to them. The factors of cost and practicability should be kept in mind."

State Employees Watch Wallets

ALBANY, July 12—Since D. H. Beckett Lang, Assistant State Commissioner of Mental Hygiene, reported to Albany police the loss of a wallet containing $67 and identification cards, State employees have been watching their pocket-books while riding in elevators in the State Office Building.

Dr. Lang told police he believed his wallet was stolen from his pocket while he was riding in a crowded elevator in the building at about 4:15 p.m. on July 2.

Man First on Two Lists

ALBANY, July 12 — Five employees of the State Department of Public Works in Albany apparently don't believe in putting all their eggs in one basket.

This was revealed today when the State Civil Service Department announced results of promotion examinations for Junior Laboratory Engineer and Assistant Laboratory Engineer at opening salaries of $3,000 and $3,720 a year.

A Troy veteran, Nathan Benson, is first in line for the appointments, with a score of 86.38 for the top-paying job and 85.51 for the junior title.

The other candidates, all within four percentage points of one another, who qualified for either of the two jobs, are: Verne Osterhoudt, RFD 2, Altamont; Paolo Albertine, RD 1, Nassau; Michael Saran, 605 S. Saratoga St., Cohoes; Raymond Everleth, New Baltimore.

The examination results, announced last week by the Certification Division, revealed that the list is headed by a Willard State Hospital disabled veteran, James Murphy, who received a score of 85.35. Highest man on the list is H. Pleasure, of Central Islip, who is Number 9 on the list, after eight veterans.

The position of Assistant Director of Hospital pays an opening salary of $7,250 a year. The maximum salary is listed at $8,750,

Rules Are Waived For Selective Service Jobs

WASHINGTON, July 12—The U. S. Civil Service Commission has excepted positions in the Selective Service System from the competitive examination.

Those excepted under Schedule A are State Directors, Deputy or Assistant State Directors, Procurement Officers; Medical Officers in State Headquarters, and Branch or Division Chiefs in State Headquarters in charge of Selective Service Records, when such positions are filled by persons who were serving as State Directors or Assistant State Directors of the Office of Selective Service Records at the time the Selective Service Systems took over operations.

Positions excepted under Schedule B are those filled by persons who, as commissioned officer personnel in the armed forces (a) have previously been trained for or have been on active military duty in the Selective Service program, and (b) cannot, for some reason beyond their control, be brought to active military duty in the current Selective Service program.

EXAM-ELIGIBILITY LIMITED

The promotion exam for Bacteriologist has been amended by the Municipal Civil Service Commission. Instead of being held citywide it will be restricted to the departments of Health, Hospitals, and Water Supply, Gas and Electricity.

8-Hour Day Suspension Extended by Truman

Special to The LEADER

WASHINGTON, July 12.—President Truman has extended for one year, until July 1, 1949, the executive order suspending the eight-hour day for civilian laborers and mechanics who work for the Army and the Air Force. These workers will receive time and a half for all overtime pay.

The President said the extension was essential to the supply and maintenance of the military and naval forces, the completion of essential construction and the fulfillment of international commitments. The laborers and mechanics had been working in excess of eight hours a day under an executive order issued in October, 1947, and amended last January.

Classified Employees In Policy-Making Jobs Lose Job Security Rights

Special to The LEADER WASHINGTON, July 12 — Persons who have status in other titles but who occupy policy-determining jobs in the Federal Personnel Administration exempted from competition no longer are entitled to protection against separation that they enjoy in their competitive title. Under Presidential Executive Order 9973, this protection is withdrawn. The order provides that the U.S. Civil Service Commission shall decide which positions are of a policy - determining character. However, persons in the FPA who hold exempted jobs not of the policy-making type will continue to receive protection against separation if they have competitive civil service status. The executive order is an amendment to Order 9830, issued in February, 1947, which gave all such employees in the FPA protection.

FIRE LINES

THE project of a Fire Department Reserve Corps, composed of civilians, has gone a-glimmering, at least for a while, for two reasons: Corporation Counsel John McGrath, in an opinion rendered to Fire Commissioner Frank Quayle, has held that it would intravene the Administrative Code, and, second, the cost of indemnifying Reservists, or their families, would be considerable.

The emergency powers under which the Corps could have been established have expired, but it is believed that an amendment to the Administrative Code could be obtained, restoring the power, so that only the question of cost would remain. Some form of insurance for Reservists and their families would be necessary.

The main object of the Reserve Corps would be to provide an auxiliary group of civilians fully trained to aid the regular Fire Department members, in an emergency, particularly in an atom bomb attack.

The department has an enrollment of about 4,000. The plan of organization was worked out in conjunction with the Secretary of Defense's office, where Frank McLaughlin is in charge of the nationwide project. Mr. McLaughlin is president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs and a member of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The Fire Department has been working on the reserve project for three months and considers it still alive, although there are problems to solve.

One suggestion made by Commissioner Quayle to the Secretary of Defense was that a co-ordinated effort should be made to obtain enabling legislation in States and local governments, so that the nationwide plan can go forward without legal impediment, as soon as State and local funds are appropriated or allocated for Reservists.

The present department plans are far in advance of those that obtained during World War II, as the Reservists would be uniformed, trained by Fire Officers and Firemen, equipped with stirrup pumps, nozzles and other mobile apparatus, and would be instructed periodically at mass gatherings at armories. There would be, as a start, ten men to a company and 60 companies.

Lieutenant Terence Nugent, Engine Company 84, celebrates 20 years in the department on July 14, with a party at the Edward Grant Post, American Legion, The Bronx.

The sudden death of Dr. Leo Winter, Honorary Medical Officer of the department, and one of the leading dental surgeons in the East, shocked the department members, hundreds, if not thousands, of whom knew him personally. Commissioner Quayle rated him one of his most intimate friends and a man of singular no-

NYC Commission to Meet Twice a Month

Although the Municipal Civil Service Commission will meet only twice monthly, instead of weekly, during the remainder of the summer, there will be no delay either in publishing or promulgating eligible lists, said President Joseph A. McNamara.

"There'll be two Commissioners here all the time," he explained, "and as soon as a list is ready a meeting of the Commission will be called, and the list will be acted on."

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, July 20 and the following one on Tuesday, August 3.

bility of character. Dr. Winter did much to make a success of the department's Medical Division. He was a medical as well as a dental doctor.

Budget Director Thomas J. Patterson has approved budget certificates for the promotion of 18 Firemen to Lieutenant, one Fireman to Marine Engineer and the appointment of 85 Firemen, as of August 1. This is in line with the Fire Department's request and confirms the forecast made two weeks ago in The LEADER.

The City Planning Commission, of which Bob Wagner, Jr., is Chairman, has unofficially approved the request of Commissioner Quayle for two new fireboats, total cost $1,500,000. If one boat is purchased the cost is $800,000; buying two at a time saves $100,000. Commissioner Quayle convinced the Commission that two are needed, to replace boats more than 40 years old.

Of the fleet of ten fireboats the department owns, one isn't being operated, as it was condemned by the U.S. Shipping Board, and only six are ship-shape. The fireboats are important in fighting fires on piers and on ships in the harbor; also for emergency water supply to the City. The Golden Jubilee exhibit will show that.

Official approval of the appropriation will be voted on July 22.

There were more than 6,000 fires in automobiles last year. During the first five months of this year the number of false alarms increased about 600, the number of fires decreased about 160. The monetary losses increased although the quantity of merchandise and material loss decreased. That only reflects inflation.

The Fire Department is willing, ready and able to take over the Emergency Squad work of the Police Department, and the transfer of function would involve no additional cost, so the city would save $1,500,000 a year. Budget Director Patterson has the Fire Department's report of how it would perform the work.

"We can take it over without any cost," said Commissioner Quayle.

Latest to have their grades advanced on the strength of credit for service in the Police Department are Emil J. Knips, E. 320; Vincent Pandolfo, H. 124; Charles I. Ostrander, H. 277, and Finn N. Schanke, E. 223. Fireman Pandolfo went from 3d Grade to 2d, the others from 4th to 3d.

State To Decide On NYC Leeway For Provisionals

Special to The LEADER
ALBANY, July 12.—The State Civil Service Commission has received the resolution adopted by the NYC Civil Service Commission and approved by Vincent R. Impellitteri, as Acting Mayor, to extend the war-time provision hiring rule for another year, until June 30, 1949. It allows a longer period for employment of provisionals.

The NYC Commission is anxious to have the resolution approved by the State Commission. That would make the amendment effective. In support of his request, President Joseph A. McNamara, of the NYC Commission, sent a letter to President J. Edward Conway, of the State body, explaining why approval was in the public interest and giving his word that there would be no slackening of the effort to replace provisionals with eligibles.

Faster Improvement Soon
The non-existence of eligible lists, he explained, which brought about large-scale provisional hiring, as a consequence and aftermath of wartime conditions, was being cured, he added. Soon all the large eligible lists will be ready for certification and the decrease in the number of provisionals would be at a far more rapid pace.

If the resolution were disapproved, and provisional hiring were limited to six months, a large amount of clerical work would have to be performed to no advantage, he pointed out.

It is estimated that there are now 25,000 provisionals employed by NYC, the largest number in history. The NYC Commission expects to reduce this to the peacetime norm for provisional employment, about 2,000.

Welfare Dept. Reorganizes Board Is Liberal Service Rating Methods In Hardship Cases

By PHILIP FINE

Instructions have been issued by Welfare Commissioner Raymond Hilliard to Mrs. Margaret Burke, Director of the Division of Personnel and Training, to institute a simplified and expeditious method of service rating and to conform the rating method to what prevails generally throughout the city departments.

The action was taken on complaint of the Municipal Civil Service Commission that service ratings from the Welfare Department habitually came in late—the very last ones, in fact—that they were verbose and that they showed a decided trend toward favoring particular employees because of excessively high service ratings.

Over-Rating Charged

In promotion examinations, Record and Seniority have a combined weight of 50 and the other competitive element, the written test, a weight of 50 also. Anybody who gets a superior service rating is given a substantial lift in the examination, since the two percentage ratings are averaged to produce the final score.

other factor to change one's place on the list. The Civil Service Commission charged that the over-ratings

Waivers Must Be Signed for Pay Increase

The first official action in regard to making the $250 permanent pay raise legally effective will follow the holding of a public hearing on Friday, July 16, at 2:30 p.m. at the NYC Civil Service Commission, on a resolution waiving the classification rules, so that employees can sign waivers to get the extra money.

The raise pierces the grade maximums in many instances and otherwise affects nearly all the grades. Pending the adoption of a general plan of regrading, to incorporate the raise, waivers will be authorized. This practice has been followed in the past and many employees are still signing waivers on account of an old raise of $120.

The final solution of the grading problem will be reached after conferences between representatives of Budget Director Thomas J. Patterson and the Commission.

Not All Newcomers Benefit

One rub concerns inclusion of the raise in the salaries of those yet to be appointed to city service, or who have been appointed since July 1 last. As to some titles, it has already been decided that the raise applies, and it is being applied in appointments recently made or about to be made. The included titles are Patrolman (P.D.), Fireman (F.D.), Sanitation Man, Transit Patrolman (Board of Transportation), Bridge and Tunnel Officer, Correction Officer and Social Investigator. Other titles are about to be added. However, Mr. Patterson is convinced that not all titles will be included in the raise group. Just what plan will be worked out, so as to justify the granting of the raise to some while denying it to others, is not yet even in the surmise stage.

were numerous and handicapped other contestants in the promotion test for promotion to Clerk, Grade 3. The lists in this title for all the other departments have been issued, but the Welfare Department list won't be out for a couple of weeks, because it will take that long for an Examiner and four Assistant Examiners to mull through the wordy service ratings.

Commissioner Hilliard is most anxious to have his own department's lists processed as fast as the lists of other departments. He has completed his check-up of the accusations made by the Civil Service Commission and finds them substantiated. The conditions arose long before he, or even his predecessor, Benjamin Fielding, became Commissioner.

The Accountant promotion list in the Welfare Department was the last one issued in that promotion series, for the same reason.

Favoritism Charge Explained

The charge of favoritism arose from the fact that there were hundreds of service ratings higher than 1 1/2 in the Clerk, Grade 3 promotion test, compared to only dozens, or less, in the reports from other departments.

The Commission holds that nobody is entitled to a service rating higher than 1 1/2 just for doing a routine job well, but that to support such a superior rating the work must be of a calibre far beyond the call of duty and evidencing originality of thinking in attaining efficiency, economy, improvement of methods and procedures or other attainment in the higher reaches of administration.

Ratings Being Trimmed Down

The Commission felt that the department, whose supervisors had prepared the service ratings, had "thrown the book at us," as some of the service ratings were accompanied by tomes that ran into 3,000 words or more. Then, when the book was thrown back at the supervisors, the Commission reports that they, as well as employees who would have been benefitted had not a halt been called, "yelled blue murder." The yelling did no good. The service ratings are being scaled down by the Commission, so that they will be on a par with those of the other departments.

By JEAN GROSSI

A liberal policy is being followed by the NYC Civil Service Commission in disqualification and residence cases. The standard being applied, said President Joseph A. McNamara, is one of fairness and humanity, consistent with the best interests of the city.

A Car Cleaner in the Board of Transportation has just completed his probationary period satisfactorily. He was approved for appointment, because he had done well in the examination, even though he had served 13 years in prison for murder in the second degree. During the seven years preceding his appointment, the Commission's Division of Investigation ascertained, the eligible had led an unblemished life, was the father of a family of young children and had been industrious and penitent.

Triple Yardstick

The Commission therefore applied its three-fold yardstick: (1) nature of the offense; (2) time elapsed since its commission and the conduct of the candidate during that period; (3) the nature of the position.

Since a Car Cleaner job is not one of trust and confidence or one dealing with the protection of life and property, and the offense was old and expiated, subsequent conduct good and the period since the crime substantial, the Commission approved the candidate unhesitatingly. It now feels an added justification.

In the Welfare Department some internal effort had been made to prevent the appointment from the forthcoming Social Investigator eligible list of provisionals who had worked in that title but who had been dropped for slowness of work or work quantity below average. At the same time Welfare Commissioner Raymond Hilliard, new on the job, had been advised from within his own department that he could drop employees who were serving their probationary period if their work was slow or otherwise unsatisfactory. The probationers are appointed from eligible list and are not to be confused with provisionals, who pass no examination but simply fill necessary jobs as stop-gaps until an eligible list can be established and certified.

The Character Yardstick

The Commission notified the Welfare Department that eligibles are entitled to be appointed, so long as there is nothing shown against their character, and the slowness of work was no reflection on character. Therefore some employees who lost out as provisionals will go back as probationers and under the law, as the Commission explained it to Mr. Hilliard they are entitled to complete their probationary period, unless dismissed on proven charges. They can't just be dropped, so long as the jobs are necessary and the budget provision for them exists.

Residence Requirement

On the residence score, many veterans, including husbands, returned from the war only to face impossibility of finding a place to live in their native NYC. So they took what they could get nearby—usually on Long Island or in Westchester. If they keep trying to move back into the city from which they enlisted or were drafted, particularly if they've got a spot lined up in the city limits, the Lyons residence law is not construed against them. That law requires three years' NYC residence prior to appointment. The legal concept of domicile is used—that place to which one is determined to return after his travels.

Battle Rages Over Pay Rates For Men In Skilled Trades

By H. J. BERNARD

A tense situation has developed in connection with insistence by some city employees in the skilled and semi-skilled trades that they be paid the per diem rates prevailing in private industry, under Section 220 of the Labor Law.

The new move represents opposition to the signing of annual contracts, the legality of which was tested all the way to the Court of Appeals, where it was finally upheld.

Following that decision, Budget Director Thomas J. Patterson, acting for the Board of Estimate, attempted to conclude negotiations that had been suspended while the court case was pending. When arrangements were deemed nearly complete the sudden flareback occurred, pointing up the longstanding difference of opinion even among employees as to whether or not the annual contract basis is better for them.

Cites Maintenance Men's Case

An example cited on behalf of Mr. Patterson's argument that the annual basis is better for the men and their families is that of the Maintenance Men, who were receiving $2,830 a year on an annual basis. When they decided instead to receive the benefits of the Labor Law, and submitted their case to Comptroller Lazarus Joseph, they got a finding of $9.28 a day which, for 250 days totals $2,320. They were $510 a year worse off financially.

Mr. Patterson had argued with them in favor of accepting the annual basis, because of the assured steady income, the vacation, sick leave and other provisions, and especially the possibility that the prevailing rate in private industry might be found to be less than 1/250 of their $2,820 salary.

Other Groups Affected

Two other groups affected by the current stress are the Auto Enginemen and the Asphalt Workers. Here, too, there is division of opinion among the men.

In the Auto Enginemen's case, those favoring the prevailing rate method also want the $250 salary increase added and bonuses frozen, but Mr. Patterson pointed out that they could not eat their cake and have it, too, but if they wanted to be paid on the prevailing rate basis, as was their right, they could not share the extra benefits, and particularly not have bonuses frozen into base pay, as requested, a benefit that no other city employees received. One group of Auto Enginemen is signing waivers, to get the $250 permanent increase in annual pay.

Mr. Patterson felt hurt because charges were made by a representative of one group of Auto Enginemen that he was persuing a wage-cut policy.

Series of Exams Initiated by NYC

The Municipal Civil Service Commission at its last meeting ordered a new open-competitive examination and three promotion exams. They are:

- Promotion: Assistant Civil Engineer (Structural), all Depts. Foreman of Laundry, Grade 1 (Men) Dept. of Hospitals. Foreman of Laundry, Grade 2, Depts. of Hospitals and Correction. Open-Competitive: Foreman of Laundry, Grade 1 (Men).

The LEADER will publish information and filing dates of these exams as soon as they are released by the Commission.
