President

John Breeze

John Breeze is as qualified for the job of president of the Student council as any other person in the junior class. John, besides being a capable leader, is interested in people and the things they do. John is interested in each and every person's views on the council and encourages people to present their ideas to him, in hopes that they will benefit the school in some way.

John has been an active member of the Red Cross for the past eleven years. In 1956 John was selected by the Red Cross to go to Andover, Mass. This trip acquainted John with the Red Cross programs in this country and abroad.

In 1957 John took a trip to Washington and met President Eisenhower. From there, he left for Europe and visited several different countries. Again, this trip was sponsored by the Red Cross.

Being picked for this trip out of twenty-two million numbers is quite an accomplishment, and shows the high esteem the Red Cross places on John's head.

I don't know how many of you good people realize it, but John is the student who did all the work in organizing a Junior Red Cross in our school. In its first year of existence, John became its president.

Being president of our Red Cross council at Milne, John is invited to attend the high schools of the Red Cross council presidents of the Capital district.

All that I have been trying to show you people throughout this short biography are John's qualities of leadership and his interest in people. If you elect John, you know you've got a man whose interest is you, so get out of that bed and vote for Red.

Howie Berkun

No matter how excellent the other members of the council may be, the council is only as strong as its president.

The first step toward this decision would be to look over the qualifications of an excellent president. These qualifications are: He will be intelligent and a good leader. An intelligent leader will run the meetings in such a fashion that the council will be able to help you the most. The popular president would be one of your friends and he will know what you want. Finally, one of the most important qualifications the excellent president would have is experience. The experienced president would know how the council is run and be familiar with its functions.

You may say to yourself, "Wow! One candidate with all of the qualifications. He must be a pretty exceptional guy. It's hard to believe."

Well it's true. The pretty exceptional guy is none other than Howie Berkun. Just to prove this, let's look over his qualifications. Howie is intelligent. He has superb marks. Howie is a fine leader. The fact that he was president of his homeroom is proof of this. Popularity is another one of Howie's qualifications. Howie is the kind of guy who is everybody's friend. Because of this he knows you and he knows what you want. Howie has experience. He is an active member of the Senior Student council, and he is treasurer of his class. Outside of Milne, Howie was president of his youth group.

So remember, when you are going to vote for the next president of your Senior Student council, vote for the candidate that will benefit the whole school and especially YOU the most: Howie Berkun.

Vice-President

"Doc" Hengerer

"Doc" came to Milne from Albany academy and has since proven his worth in both basketball and baseball. He has also been an active member of his sophomore and junior classes.

In speaking with Larry Giventer, the outgoing veep, we arrived at a list of the vice-president's major duties. First and most important is supporting and helping the council president. It is my firm belief that Doc's capable leadership qualities and diligent efforts will fulfill this obligation no matter who the president is. Secondly, he arranges for the informative program of Career series. In this field Doc will continue to ask you, the students, for individual preferences on career topics. He will try to promote more interest and better attendance through greater preparation. As chairman of the Assembly committee, Doc would encourage your ideas for assemblies and try to present more of them with a greater student appeal. The vice-president's work does not end there, but goes on to include other necessary tasks which Doc will execute with efficiency such as he has shown in the past.

It is important for you to know that my candidate is not an infalible genius; it would be unfair to him if I pictured him as such. However, in my opinion, and in many of his classmates', Doc is a sincere person with the good of Milne in mind.

In closing I would like to appeal to each and every senior high student to consider carefully the candidates and their capacity to serve you in relation to their office. May the best men and women win.

Tom Rider

Well, friends, here it is—the time has come for you to vote for your favorite candidates for the Student council. As campaign manager, I was told to write a short article introducing Tom Rider, who is running for vice-president. It is difficult to write a short article about someone who has so many qualifications for a job.

First, let me remind you of the duties of vice-president of the Student council. His main duties are to head the assembly committee and career series program. He also assists the president by helping him plan the agenda before meetings. He may be called upon to take over for the president in case of his absence.

Now, how is Tom Rider qualified to assume these duties? In school, Tom is Student council representative for his homeroom. Through this experience, he is familiar with the operation of the Council. Tom is an active member of Adelphoi. He has contributed to our school newspaper and has shown leadership as chairman of the music committee of the Alumni ball.

Outside of school, Tom is also an active leader. He is an officer of the youth group at his church. He is president of his Explorer club and is an assistant scoutmaster. In spite of all these activities, Tom has maintained honor grades in school.

If elected, Tom will give you, the students, the chance to choose the type of assemblies and career series that you want. He would like you to feel free to make suggestions at any time.

Because of Tom Rider's experience in program planning and leadership, I feel that he would make an excellent vice-president of the Student council. Don't you?

—ERIC YAFFEE

Secretary

Carolyn Walther

Attention boys and girls of Milne! I would like to introduce my candidate for secretary of the Senior Student council, Carolyn Walther, also affectionately called "Pee Wee." Do not confuse her with "Pee Wee" Reese, of baseball fame, although she does have his same ability to be captain of the team.

Her experience in past and present activities are so numerous that I will name just a few: She has been president of her Youth Fellowship for the last two years, member of the Girl Scouts' Senior planning board, and a Church school teacher. She is at present secretary of Tri-Hi-Y, secretary of Zeta Sigma, co-chairman of the card party, member of the Milne Girls Athletic association and president and secretary of her Girl Scout troop.

A very fine honor has come her way just recently. There are only sixteen delegates chosen from the Capital district to attend the National Girl Scout Colorado round-up in Colorado, and Carolyn is one of these girls. This is certainly a great privilege for "Pee Wee" and definitely points out her well-rounded character.

She entered Milne in the seventh grade and has shown her capacity for hard work ever since. I feel that she has earned by her diligence the position of secretary of Senior council. Certainly her experience in the secretarial field is outstanding. She understands the duties that the position entails, as well as the time that is consumed in the discharge of her office.

She is not a "green horn" when it comes to taking the minutes of any meeting. Her shorthand and typing are excellent, which is definitely a needed requirement for any secretary. All in all, Carolyn Walther has everything that is required and much more to be secretary of the Senior Student council.

Ann Wilson

I'm very glad that I was asked to be Ann Wilson's campaign manager and not someone else's, because I have a big busy week ahead, and she won't need a big, pushy campaign, that involves a lot of time, to win.

This kid has got everything it takes to do a truly great job for you and the Student council as its secretary, and even more than that ability, she has the desire. You know the expression, "If you want to get something done, give the job to the busiest person available." He or she is certain to complete your task.

Ann's many, many qualifications include these:

1. Secretary of the class of '60.
2. Secretary of Quintillian Literary society.
3. Class representative to the Assembly committee.
4. President of the Juliet Low council (a council of Girl Scouts formed in honor of the founder of the Girl Scouts covering and extending beyond the Tri-City area).
5. Maintains a "B" average.
6. Cheerleader.
7. Chairman of a commission in her church fellowship.
8. Has represented Albany in two International Girl Scout rallies in Colorado and Canada.
9. Nurses' aide at the Albany hospital.

Obviously, by this impressive list, you know that no one could be more active in community affairs, nor in Milne's functions, nor better equipped for the job of secretary to the Student council.

If a person has the ability and the desire to do an excellent job with your affairs through the Council, then why shouldn't you give her the opportunity?

—CATHY SCOTT

Treasurer

Marianne Maynard

Do you want leadership? Do you want experience? Well, if you do, there can be but one selection this week, for my candidate for treasurer of your Student council. Her name is Marianne Maynard. She has shown her ability and experience in and out of school since the ninth grade when she was elected treasurer of her homeroom. Marianne has had honor roll marks in math since seventh grade and has followed these up with similar marks in the rest of her subjects.

She is presently serving as treasurer of next year's senior class. A school could not ask for better leadership qualities than her's. Last year she was a delegate of the F.H.A. to a district and state convention. She works for both the Crimson and White and Bricks and Ivy, and for five years she has been a member of M.G.A.A.

Marianne is also active in organizations outside of school. She is a member of the Girl Scouts, where she has been elected treasurer and secretary of her troop. She is one of sixteen girls in Albany county selected to attend a Senior Girl Scout round-up in Colorado Springs. Marianne is also secretary and general chairman of a Girl Scout Senior Planning board and Steering committee. As a volunteer she has worked as a nurse's aide. When the community activities such as Community chest, Tuberculosis, and Cancer drives have come up, Marianne has been ready and willing to do any work necessary.

Can you request any more work from one person to gain the privilege of serving Milne's student body? She has been willing to give a good deal of her time to outside activities and still keep an excellent academic record. Money is a valuable substance, and you must be sure that an honest, capable, and experienced person takes care of yours. Remember, this is an election, not a popularity contest, so be sure you select the right candidate. If you take all of these factors into consideration you will come up with but one conclusion, and that is to vote for Marianne Maynard for treasurer.

—BOB CANTWELL

Jan Welt

Jan Pieter Welt (1942- ), also known as Jan, Pieter, Welt, JJ, P.W., Pete, and Hey You, is a great candidate. He has performed in movies, on radio, records and the stage. I will try to show, in the course of this article, why Jan is considered by many as an outstanding candidate for the office of treasurer of the Senior Student council. I will also show how Jan has helped Milne and, finally, my own personal opinion of Jan.

Jan is an outstanding candidate. He has shown his varied talents in many fields. Photography, acting, and record-producing are among his specialties. He is a photographer on the staff of the Bricks and Ivy, Milne's yearbook. Jan has acted in productions of the Albany Civic theater and received good notices. Jan, as vice-president of Astra Productions Incorporated, has released some fine records featuring another Milnite, Jed Allen.

Jan's aid to the Milne school also comes in many areas. He was the secretary-treasurer of the Chess club last year and treasurer of his eighth grade homeroom. These, plus his activities in Astra Productions Incorporated, show that Jan is very experienced in handling figures.
